Finding that my former letter created quite a stir in the ranks of the "unterrified," I have concluded to give them the benefit of a semi-occasional notice. Bingham growled and snarled like a while Hatch gave his classic (?) face an additional pucker, and declared that he wouldn't be diverted from his original purpose of serving the democracy to the fullest possible extent even by criticisms. And so Bingham has kept on and Hatch has continued to implicitly carry out in his rulings the instructions of the caucus whenever the interests of the party demanded; consequently we are treated to the daily spectacle of the

CAGED BEAR,

PLAYING THE BULLY,

carried through under the lead and at the dictation of a partisan leader, aided and abetted by a partisan Speaker. And all this, too, by a class of men who, during the canvass of the State declared themselves to be in favor of reform and against special legislation in every shape! If these are political reformers, who, for Heaven's sake are the of the State? If their legislation is non-partisan and in the interests of the people, then where shall we look for legislation of the opposite quality? Reformers, indeed! Surely if they have attempted to play the role of reformers they have made a wretched failure of it.

Said the wife of a young doctor to her husband after his return from his first important case, "Well, how did you succeed?" "First-rate," was the reply; "my patient

HAD TWINS."

"Indeed, and how are they getting along?" "Fact is," said the doctor, "the mother is dead and the twins are dead, but I hope to SAVE THE OLD MAN!"

Perhaps Dr. Bingham or Dr. Hatch will be able to make the application without any help from me.

Let us see what this delectable "reform" legislature has done since it met, nearly three weeks ago. Why, aside from doing a little routine work they have succeeded in partially enacting a law to make naturalization so easy that every Irishman in the State will vote next March, even if he

about our institutions than a horse does about spectrum analysis; they have voted to practically disfranchise the young men of our State who are at institutions of learning, thus giving a fresh illustration of the fact that the democratic party is to-day in spirit as much opposed to the education of the masses as it was in the days when it was a criminal offence in the eyes of democrats for a poor slave

TO LEARN TO READ OR WRITE;

they have unseated one republican at least whose right to a seat was as clear as the noon-day sun, and this, too, in the face of the well-known fact that at least ten democrats occupy seats in the House to which they have not the least earthly claim, except that they have been promised protection by the democratic leaders; they have got in the hands of the Committee on Towns and Parishes a bill legislating out of office the

and putting your city, bound hand and foot as they suppose, into the hands of the democracy; they have under discussion a bill amending the charter of the city of Manchester, and changing the ward lines in a manner so outrageously unfair that even the ghost of

ELBRIDGE GERRY

couldn't contemplate it with any degree of satisfaction; they have under consideration several bills to re-organize the Judiciary, so as to make places on the Bench for several patriotic

THIRD-RATE DEMOCRATIC LAWYERS

to fill, and this, I believe, comprises the entire amount of valuable (?) work accomplished by this "reform" legislature thus far. It is possible that the people of the State will be satisfied with the record, but lest it should prove otherwise.

The Manchester bill and the Portsmouth bill will be crowded through without amendment. They had the misfortune to be sent to a committee the chairman of which (E. C. Bailey of the Patriot) is among the most unscrupulous democrats in the House. A chronic office-seeker, he is ready to do any work that is laid upon him if it promises to serve as a stepping-stone to the Governorship or Congress. Disappointed in his political aspirations in Massachusetts he drifted into a democratic town (Hopkinton) in this State, and from here, took a survey of the promised land of New Hampshire politics, and finding it to be rich in possibilities he carefully laid his plans to possess it. After trials and tribulations innumerable he succeeded, after two days' balloting, in getting elected to the legislature by the free use of money, and he is foolish enough to believe that the halls of Congress will yet be graced by his presence.

THE CONTEMPTIBLE MANNER in which he is discharging the duties of chairman of an important committee, while it may gain for him the temporary smiles of Bingham and will unquestionably earn for him the lasting disgrace of every fair-minded man in the State. He has not hesitated to say that the decisions of the democratic members of the committee were reached on purely party grounds, and when a man reaches that point he deserves the of all honest and right-thinking men.

The session might have been brief, but it will not be so, and the men who have flooded the legislature with bills of a partisan nature will be for it. The liquor bill has put in an appearance. This bill, I can assure you, will MEET FULLY THE REQUIREMENTS of the "License Alliance" men, and I trust that it may likewise meet the approval of Blackmer, Millen, Stone & Co.,

HELD RESPONSIBLE

WHO WORKED SO SUCCESSFULLY

to place the State in the hands of the democracy. It is prophesied that this measure will not secure the support of all the democratic representatives, but I am inclined to DOUBT THIS ASSERTION.

The democracy do not yet lose sight of the cardinal principles of their organization, which were once tersely explained to be to and unless I am wofully mistaken it will be found that the Boss will be able to bring them up to the task, and make them "go it blind" on any bill that Sinclair may see fit to introduce. More anon. STARK.

The Legislature.

After considerable debate, Thursday, the House passed the bill gerrymandering Manchester.

Mr. Kent gave notice of a bill to enable the county of Rockingham to purchase the bridge leading from Portsmouth to Kittery.

Mr. Mellows of Newmarket gave notice of a bill to remove Sheriff Odlin, of Rockingham county.

Mr. Sinclair introduced a bill to restrain the sale of intoxicating liquors. Its provisions are as follows:

The municipal officers of any town, on a petition of one-fifth of the voters, shall call a meeting to be held before the first Tuesday of next September, to take the sense of the voters as to whether the sale of liquors shall be prohibited in the town or not. The clerk of the court for any county may issue a license to any man whom fifteen citizens of his town may recommend, but the town or city must previously, by a vote at its last annual meeting, not prohibit the sale thereof. The person receiving the license must pay to the clerk issuing it the following fees, for the use of the town or city where the sale is to be carried on: For the sale of malt liquors and ciders at retail, $15; spirituous or mixed liquors at retail, $25; and for the sale of any liquors by wholesale and retail, $50; for the manufacture and sale of any liquors, $100. The sale of any liquors less than a barrel shall be considered retail, and more, wholesale. If a person sells without a license, or in a larger quantity than he is licensed, he shall for the first offence be fined $100, and for the second, be punished with imprisonment not exceeding a year, and for the third, not exceeding three years and not less than one year. If any person sell liquor to a person who is intoxicated or partly so, or who is a common drunkard, or has been convicted within a year of being a common drunkard, or who he has reason to believe will use the same for the purpose of becoming intoxicated, or to any minor under 18 years of age, to be drank on the premises, he shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $200 or imprisonment not exceeding six months. The municipal officers of the towns shall give a written notice to all licensed sellers of the names of persons convicted of drunkenness under this act, and, at the request of any one interested, they shall also give notice of any one unfit to be trusted with liquor or drugs. No liquor shall be sold after 11 o'clock at night nor on Sunday, except by innholders to their guests and by druggists and apothecaries in prescriptions of the same date as the sale, and the mayor and municipal officers can prohibit the sale on any public day. The governor and council shall annually appoint an inspector and assayer of liquors. If any person shall sell any adulterated liquors he shall be fined $50, and if any person sells liquor to another against any provision of this act he shall be liable to any one suffering injury or damage to himself, his family, estate, or property, by any act of such individual while in a state of intoxication caused by the sale to him of such liquor. If any person shall suffer persons to idle their time in his tippling-house he shall be fined $50 or be imprisoned six months. If any person is convicted under this act he shall not be licensed to sell or manufacture within two years. Delivery shall be prima facie evidence of a sale. The bill provides for the punishment of drunkenness and idling time in tippling-shops by fine and imprisonment. If the relative of any person shall notify any seller that such a person is unfit to be trusted with liquor, and the dealer sells to him, he shall be fined not exceeding $200, or be imprisoned not over two months. This act, if it becomes a law, is to take effect on the 1st of September next.

The Thing Begins to Kick.

[Manchester Mirror Correspondence.]

The foreneon fight sent the democratic leaders to dinner in a most unpleasant frame of mind. They came here, as Rolles said, to make partisan laws; but they came, too, pledged to give the people a short session, and they know well enough that people in general will not relish overmuch paying eight hundred or a thousand dollars for the purpose of unseating a republican member who was legally elected from a strong republican town. If they could have kicked him out with no resistance and without a noise it would have gratified a few Rochester democrats and done no great damage; but as it is, they see that the game doesn't pay for the ammunition expended. The report of the minority of the committee was a most exhaustive one, exhausting two clerks and an hour's time in its reading.

The speech of Rolles, referred to above, was one which nobody but a man so mad as to have lost his discretion would ever have made, and during its delivery it was amusing to watch the tantalized twitch which crept over the faces of the other democratic leaders. The saving feature about it was, it was delivered in Rolles' peculiar voice, which resembles the sound made by a load of pebble stones rolling out of a cart, and was therefore unintelligible to reporters, and will not be reported.

The minority report in the Rochester case was drawn by Hon. Daniel Hall.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, June 17, 1874.

The safe burglary in Assistant District Attorney Harrington's office last April, will yet attract much attention. The evidence taken has been printed and presents a strange medley. One cannot well resist the conclusion that the Assistant District Attorney, who was acting as counsel for the Board of Public Works, was the agent of one of the most villainous schemes ever laid before the public. The whole thing seems unaccountable when the characters involved are considered. It does not seem credible that men of sense and respectable standing would procure a burglary, and have the papers stolen, taken to the house of Columbus Alexander, a prominent and respectable citizen, to connect him with the crime, and by that means defeat and break down an investigation which he was managing on behalf of himself and others of the doings of the Board of Public Works. Yet that is the conclusion to which one is driven by reading the testimony. The Chief of Police evidently was of the same opinion, from his answers to the Congressional Committee. He says, "I believe it was a procured burglary by some party—there is no doubt about that."

Mr. Jewell asked him: "Is it your opinion that Mr. Harrington knew anything about it?" Mr. Richards said in answer: "I expected such a question as that might be asked me. I have purposely avoided forming an opinion in regard to it." Mr. Jewell: "Did it occur to you at the time while this was going on that that was so, probably?" Mr. Richards: "Such a thing flashed through my mind, thinking over the matter."

There were some half dozen following the burglar, who had to be told where the men lived, to whom he was to deliver the carpet-bag of papers. He rang all the door bells of the place, but couldn't get anybody up to take his carpet-bag, and the Chief of Police, getting out of patience, arrested him and took him to headquarters. From various circumstances it would seem the burglary did not come off as promptly as calculated on, and the people of Alexander's house had all got to bed and sound asleep, which was very bad for the theory that he had procured the burglary, as he would not then have gone off to bed instead of being up to receive the papers.

Since taking the testimony printed, Hays (who "put up the job") has been before the committee, and is reported to have testified that he was to have had two thousand dollars for the burglary and connecting Alexander with it.

The debate on the improvement of the mouth of the Mississippi drew out some statements from Mr. Lewis of Tennessee which may not be generally known, and is of sufficient interest for publication. He stated that from the mouth of the Ohio to the mouth of the Arkansas river, a distance of four hundred and ten miles, the average width of the river at high water is four thousand four hundred and seventy feet, and its average depth eighty-seven feet. From the Arkansas to the Red River, three hundred and seventy miles, the average width is four thousand and eighty feet, and the average depth ninety-six feet. From the Red River to the Bayou La Fourche, one hundred and thirty miles, the width is three thousand feet and the depth one hundred and thirteen feet. From there to the Passes, one hundred and seventy miles, the river is two thousand four hundred and seventy feet wide and one hundred and twenty-nine feet deep. Thus in passing down one thousand and eighty miles it grows two thousand feet narrower and forty-two feet deeper. The difference between the highest point at high water and the lowest point at low water is fifty-one feet at Cairo and Natchez, forty feet at Memphis, at the mouth of the Red River forty-four feet, at Bayou La Fourche twenty-four feet, at New Orleans fifteen feet, at Fort St. Philip four and a half feet, and at the Passes, where it forks into several channels, some ten or twelve miles from the Gulf, the rise and fall is but two and a quarter feet.

The overflow of the Mississippi leaves a large amount of sediment on its banks so that the land slopes from the river instead of toward it. This slope varies from three to twelve feet to the mile, and averages about seven feet. The mouth lies near the centre of a ridge of land which is higher than the country for many miles on either side. The bed of the river changes, so that towns once built on the river are miles away, while other towns, like Napoleon (Ark.) and Waterproof have been undermined and washed away.

The curves of the Mississippi are such that while the distance from the mouth of the Missouri to the Gulf is but six hundred and seventy-five miles in a straight line, with a fall of eight inches to the mile, the river runs thirteen hundred miles with a fall of four inches to the mile, to reach the Gulf. It sometimes makes a circuit of twenty-four miles to get ahead one mile. It is estimated that the sediment yearly carried into the Gulf would make a cake a mile square and two hundred and forty feet thick. It is by this process that the delta or alluvial lands have been formed, with an area as large as half a dozen States, or some twenty-five million acres. EXE.

State News.

John C. Ray, Esq., of Dunbarton, has been nominated for superintendent of the State reform school.

Ann Burns, who figured so prominently in the Pettee murder, fell into an old-fashioned lime kiln in Rockland, being intoxicated, on Wednesday, and received severe, if not mortal, injuries.

Albert Gray, a young man living at Concord, had an altercation with Thomas Mahan at that place, Thursday, and, picking up a gun, said to him, "If this gun was loaded I'd shoot you," and immediately discharged it at him. The gun was loaded with fine shot and took fearful effect on Mahan, striking him directly in the neck. It is feared the assault will terminate fatally.

Mr. Edwards, of Hollis, had a horse killed last week by being hooked by a cow.

A boy named John Merrill, at Milford, while playing ball ran against a rock and broke his right arm.

Two barns in the west part of Jaffrey upon the estate of the late George O. Richardson, were struck by lightning and burned during a thunder-shower on Wednesday afternoon. They contained fifty or sixty tons of hay and farming tools, which were advertised to be sold by auction next day. Loss $2500.

Stars and Meteors.

At certain seasons meteors dart across the firmament between the earth and the fixed stars. But they quickly vanish, while the fixed stars remain. In the medical firmament the great vegetable invigorant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, has long been a fixed star of the first magnitude. Little meteors in the shape of imitations, bearing various names, now and then attempt a glimmering competition with it, but they soon disappear leaving the field of vision to shine the glory of the true remedy unimpaired. The number of these will-o'-the-wisps that have come to grief within the last twenty years is beyond computation and those now in existence are in the last agonies of extinguishment. The standard tonic and alterative that cures and prevents so many distressing diseases, and which no debilitated invalid ever took without receiving a wonderful accession of strength and vitality, only derives increased popularity from the attempts of charlatans to run their failures in the Hostetter groove.

PILES can be cured only by ANAKESIS, the greatest discovery of the age and the sole, infallible remedy for the worst cases of PILES. Thousands of sufferers after trying in vain all manner of lotions, ointments, and internal remedies, have been instantly relieved and permanently cured by ANAKESIS. It is the happy discovery of Dr. Silsbee, a regular scientific physician, and Doctors of all schools endorse and recommend it.—Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists everywhere, and sent by mail from Principal Depot, 46 Walker street, New York.

Cocoa is known the world over for its great nourishing and strengthening properties. It is often difficult to select the best preparations of an article of such universal use. The Chocolates and Cocoas of Walter Baker & Co., Boston, have stood the test of nearly a hundred years, with a constantly increasing reputation for excellence and purity in all parts of the world. If you wish the best, at the most reasonable price, ask your grocer for Baker's Chocolate.

With the Modern Elevator, an upper room is fully as desirable as a lower one, yet the popular American House, Boston, has given notice of an advantage of a dollar a day in favor of transient guests who are willing to occupy such rooms. Every convenience for guests, and everything first-class.

For Breakfast most Americans ignore tea, and yet a vast number find coffee positively injurious. Walter Baker & Co., of Boston, by a peculiar process, now prepare a "Breakfast Cocoa," which while it preserves the Theobromine and nutritive portion of Cocoa leaves no sensation of heaviness after its use. Sold by all grocers. These choice goods have been in the market since 1780.

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously four sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other nuisance for the purpose of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any offal as meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed, and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

Cable Work.

The Boston Advertiser's reporter has an interesting account of cable matters which we copy. Of the process of splicing he says the cable must necessarily be taken up and on board one of the ships. The ends that are to be joined are then filed off flat, laid together and covered with silver solder. A coil of copper wire is wound round and again the solder is applied. After another filing the cable is covered with Siemens' composition, then with gutta percha and immersed in water till thoroughly cold. Soft hemp is wound tightly round, and several protecting strands of galvanized iron wire finish the splice. The whole operation of laying and splicing and landing will not take more than twelve hours. Either vessel can lay the cable, having the necessary mechanism on board, although it is not certain from which it will be done.

The interesting instruments which are to be used at this end of the line, and those brought over by Dr. Dehms, have been stored at Straw's Point in the house of Captain Locke, and left in charge of Mr. William Shanahan.

The instrument house will be located at Straw's Point, about 500 yards from high-water mark. Until such time as it can be erected the life-saving station at this point, which was discontinued some time ago, will be used, permission having been received from the government at Collector Howard's request. The wire will enter a trench about three feet deep at low water mark, and will be buried until the side of the instrument house is reached, where it will be brought out and paired to a smaller wire by a connection screw. The smaller wire will join directly to the galvanometer, and the splice outside the instrument house will be secured from moisture and interference. Inside the instrument house is the operators' room, from which the light of day will be excluded by heavy curtains. The centre of attraction is, of course, a table in one corner about four and a half by five feet, on which will be several peculiar, highly-finished instruments, their many polished surfaces reflecting the light from a spirit lamp. The operator sits half sideways near a round brass cylinder about a foot in height. This is a galvanometer. There will be two of these instruments placed in the house—one for testing and the other for receiving messages. On top of the galvanometer is an inverted bow-shaped steel magnet. On each side are two glass-covered apertures, very much like a stereoscope. At the bottom and on the resting-plate are several screws. About two feet from the galvanometer is a small blackboard on the lower half of which is painted a scale divided in the middle at 0. Below the scale is a spirit-lamp. If the curious gaze through the glass into the galvanometer all that can be seen is a very small looking glass about the size of a silver threepenny bit suspended by the minutest possible piece of raw cocoon silk. This miniature reflector completely fills the circumference of the aperture into which one looks, although perfectly movable. Below and connected with the mirror is a needle magnet, also swinging in a small tube-like aperture. This magnet cannot be seen by the spectator. On each side of this most delicately adjusted needle are the ends of the cable and the ground wire, which join resistance coils inside this instrument. Messages are received on the scale spoken of above. The single lamp throws its brilliant ray directly upon the tiny mirror suspended in the galvanometer, and which ray is reflected back upon the scale; remaining at 0 when the instrument is at rest. The Morse alphabet system of dots and dashes is used, and if that almost intellectual little ray of light moves to the right of the 0 the operator knows that a dash is meant, if in an opposite direction a dot. And thus he reads the quickly moving tiny light telling the message despatched three thousand miles away at the rate of five or six words a minute. Nine words a minute have been received, but it was considered rather a feat. The instrument that will be used for messages by the contractors was manufactured by Messrs. Elliott Brothers of London. On the opposite end of this instrument table will be another galvanometer similar in every respect, except that the Messrs. Siemens made it. It will be exclusively used for testing purposes. Both instruments are most beautifully constructed and the products of the most skillful workmen, such is the extreme nicety of every adjustment.

Occupying the centre of the instrument table is a piece of polished cherry on which are a variety of curious looking instruments, the whole being denominated the bridge. The use of this bridge is to obtain accurate insulation and resistance tests. At the back of it and on the extreme right of the board on which it rests is an oblong cherry box about nine inches high, with an ebonite top. On this top are seventeen small scalloped-cornered brasses in front of which are a series of numbers which represent Siemens' units of resistance. The numbers run from 1 to 5000 on this box. Between each brass is a small hole for a connecting pin, and attached to the brasses inside the box are a large number—upwards of two hundred and fifty—of small coins of the finest copper wire. Close beside this box is another smaller one on which the notation of Siemens' system of units is continued upwards to hundreds of thousands. Also on the board are insulators, connectors with batteries and ground wires, either zinc or copper; an instrument for a short circuit, and the key for turning on and off the current. This is a brief description of the bridge. To obtain the resistance or conductivity tests the proper connections are made, and the galvanometer is brought into the circuit of the bridge and the resistance coils. The current is then turned on—say for instance at 200—if the test is correct and the resistance, or conductivity, of the cable is obtained with the proper connections, the reflected light from the galvanometer's glass will rest at 0 on the scale; if not, the light will fly off on either side, and something is the matter which must be at once remedied. It is proposed by the contractors to make these tests alternately every ten minutes for six hours during each day until the cable is delivered up to the company, when of course all tests will cease, as the passage of any message is proof positive of a sound cable. The bridge is a very handsome looking piece of mechanism, and as the tests obtained by its aid are of the most delicate yet accurate character, it is necessarily beautifully made. It was made, as were all the other necessary instruments, except the message galvanometer, by the contractors. It may be as well to state here that by the word resistance is meant the amount of electricity which the cable can conduct, which is registered on the bridge by Siemen's system of units. The exact resistance of the cable in the present instance is kept a secret, but it is stated to be 3.—.

There will also be placed on this instrument table a simple switch of a serviceable pattern, two ebonite keys for double current (zinc and copper poles,) one of which will be used for testing, the other for speaking; and a condenser. This condenser, which has a power of ten microfards, is to be used in testing, in case of a failure of the resistance coils of the bridge. The majority of these testing instruments will of course be removed when the contractors surrender the cable to the company.

Beside the beautiful instruments mentioned above there are two or three dozen others, all of elegant construction, the majority of which are the property of Dr. Dehms, with which he will make his tests. These are largely resistance coils of different powers. The tests will in all probability be principally in regard to the amount of work the cable can do, how fast a message can be clearly transmitted, and the greatest amount of resistance that can be obtained. He has with him the Morse keys, sounders and printers, which will be experimented with. A copying press for his reports was noticeable, as well as a little German coffee-pot—which probably has satisfactorily been tested,—and the ever necessary spirit lamp under a chafing dish. He has also the Wheatstone needle instrument. The batteries are the ordinary zinc and copper with the porous jar. They are arranged in boxes of twelve, neatly packed in saw-dust. Eighty coils will be employed for testing purposes, but only twenty for working. There will be twenty at Straw's Point, twenty at the Torbay reinforce station, and twenty at the Irish end.

The permanent instrument-house will in all probability not be erected before September, and is intended to be a substantial structure. Wires will connect from there to Portsmouth. Extra batteries, cells, galvanometers and other instruments will be of course kept on hand of the Siemens' make. Those which are now at Straw's Point are valued at about $3000, and could not be replaced in this country under immense cost.

The cable will be taken ashore from the paying vessel in two boats lashed together. The present prospects of a banquet by the city are certainly dubious; those who should have been foremost in the matter are allowing it quietly to drop, to the disgust of those who had anticipated an appreciative extension of the city's hospitalities to strangers on such a mission. The experiments to be made by Dr. Dehms in the interest of his government are looked forward to with a good deal of interest by electricians generally.

Agreed to.

Story of Hannah Duston.

On the 15th of Morch, 1697, the Indians made a descent on the town of Haverhill, Mass., killed twenty-seven of the inhabitants, burned nine dwellings, and took Mrs. Hannah Duston, her babe only six days old, her nurse, Mary Neff, and 8 or 9 other prisoners, and brought them all into New Hampshire, excepting the infant, who was killed by having its head dashed against a tree. After fifteen days of fearful suffering, especially on the part of Mrs. Duston, who was taken from child-bed, the Indians and part of their captives arrived at the Island at the junction of the Contoocook and Merrimack rivers. Mrs. Duston, Mary Neff, and an English boy named Samuel Leonardson, who had been captured at Worcester, were assigned to the care of two Indian men and three women, who had seven children—mostly half-grown Indians—with them. Mrs. Duston and her nurse were told by their convoy that they would have to run the gauntlet through their village when they arrived there, and that they must be deprived of most of their clothing. Mrs. Duston, aware of the horrible tortures this threat included, formed the design of exterminating her captors, old and young, and managed to prevail on her nurse and the boy to assist her in their destruction. A little before daylight, on the 31st of March, finding the Indians asleep around their fire, Mrs. Duston and her associates armed themselves with their tomakawks, and despatched ten of the twelve. One woman, who had been believed to be killed made her escape, and one of the Indian youths Mrs. Duston and her associates designedly left unharmed. They then scalped the dead, took one of the tomakawks and a gun belonging to the Indians, crossed the river in a canoe, and made their escape. After enduring great hardships from want of food, and running much risk from meeting with Indians, the fugitives arrived at Boston with their scalps and their booty on the 21st day of April. The General Court was in session at the time, and voted Mrs. Duston fifty pounds in sterling money, and a similar sum to be divided between her nurse and the boy Leonardson. Presents were sent them from many quarters: among other givers was the Governor of Maryland. Forty years afterward, in appreciation of the act of Mrs. Duston, the Colonial Legislature voted certain valuable lands to her descendants, in testimony of their appreciation of her wonderful bravery.

FOR SALE.

TWO original historical OIL PAINTINGS, nearly three by four feet, in heavy gilt frames. One, the famous Capt. Smith of the Isle of Shoals history, advancing with his company in a boat toward what is now called Fort Point at Newcastle, about the years 1614 or 20; the astonishing Indians in canoes and on shore; Smith's antiquated bark at anchor near Wood Island, which at that period is said to have been covered with woods and connected above water with Gerrish's Island, &c.

The other, a vivid representation of Fort Constitution in its palmy days, the Light-House at its original height, and a lively sea view, at about 1820—a true picture of days when the white sail ships were flowing into the Piscataqua with their rich cargoes from foreign ports—days when Portsmouth ranked well in commerce. Such reminiscences of the past cannot fail to interest the present generation, and speak from the embalmed canvas with still greater interest to coming generations, particularly of this romantic locality. They are the works of a devoted son of old "Cheerry Tuna," so called, and will tell their own story, whether in the parlor, counting-room, saloon or City hall, for either of which they are adapted.

Friends are invited to call soon and examine them whether disposed to purchase or not,—at the author's, Music Room, opposite the Post-office.

Cats.

I have known a great many cats, and have never had occasion to change the opinion I first formed of them many years ago. They are very grateful creatures, seldom forgetting a kindness. If you take in a starved cat out of the street, and gradually restore it to health and comfort, it will never forget the obligation it is under to you. I have repeatedly done this, and have always gained a firm friend in the animal so rescued from poverty.

Cats have very good manners; they like to say "good-morning" to you after their fashion, when they first see you in the morning. Some people say cats have no real attachment to the human race: this I know to be a great mistake. They love people, and are very jealous in their fondness. Your cat will be very friendly out of doors with your neighbor's cat, but will by no means allow her to come into your house or be caressed by you, showing great anxiety if you notice the stranger.

The purring noise that cats make to express pleasure is a very pleasant sound, and never loud enough to disturb any one. Indeed, one great charm in these animals is the noiselessness with which they move about.

A French writer says that a cat is the only animal which is allowed entire liberty. We chain our dogs, we put birds into cages; but our cats go and come as they please.

Cats are accused of two faults,—of stealing and of being treacherous. The best remedy for the first is to feed them well. The charge of treachery cannot be borne out. If you hurt a cat, she thinks she has a right to punish you for it; but it is not necessary to hurt them.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. EDDY as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend All inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care. Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It recovers all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the comb, by its use, becomes white and clean. By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong. As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable. Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA. DEBILITY DROPSY AND HUMORS.

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an ailment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron, in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon. This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy, in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and buffeting upon an Iron Constitution. "Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial. See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

Breathing Spell.

SKYHIGH, June 12.

The maple leaves checker the page as I write with their shadows. Behind the valleys, near the summer sky, on those grand old hills that gird the purple river, upon the very apex, summer bound, I lie among the blades that dance and shiver. The blossomy winds go piping by. My cedar spires, with airy grace column up the canopy so freshly made, and orioles whistle in my colonnade.

Angeline says that ought to be rewritten in verses. Don't you make any mistake. It isn't poetry. It's spring fever. June is rather late for it. But I'm shaking with it. The sweet delirium of out-doors unmans a fellow that way. Doctor Ollapod had my wrist in his hand for a few moments. "Pshaw," says he, "your calculation's all right; it's morbid impulse; let me see your tongue. Want to call the wind æolus, eh? Fancy there's balm in a dung heap, don't you? Yes; well, it's morbid impulse; write it off!" So I fed the pigs an hour earlier and flung myself upon this summer throne, beyond the rugged gray of intervening quarries and the smoke, where nursling clouds unbare their breasts by day to mountain ash and slender stripling oak, where nature hums her mystic roundelay, and thieving Zephyrus with his magic stroke rifles the orchards and the fields he meets, and upward drives his caravan of sweets.

Æolus be hanged!

The river floats a skyey void between the hills. It's very emptiness is just belied by boats that break its surface into silver rills. Egad, those spectral motes strain every wing to catch the breath that fills, and cut like diamonds when they lightly pass the sleeping figures in the pictured glass.

Te rum, te dum, te dum, te di do!

"Been eating too much strawberry shortcake, perhaps," says Dr. Ollapad, "or reading 'Tempest-tossed,' or struck your head against something."

No, never better in my life.

It's only the natural buoyancy of spirits after getting away from Salvini and "Camille." The sweet overflow of thankfulness to be once more among my pigs and on my own dung heap, fork in hand.

O, the luxury of honest toil! The ineffable delight of dropping the thirty miles of green curtain between my hut and the theatre, with no Tom Baker of Tissington this side of it. Nobody but Bobolink with his one piccolo, that I can upset with a stone at any time that he should dare to pipe me three notes of the "Mulligan Guards."

I laugh at you, with rustic irony. You will see in my watery manuscript the hot tears of regret that have dropped upon it. But that's only the effect of my sticking my pen into the mint julep instead of the ink. You will attribute the bedraggled penmanship to my emotion, when it is all owing to the pismires that have run over the page. I will give a baggage-master, noble fellow, 25 cents to take this mountain letter down to you, and you will sniff the scent of clover on it, and mark the green stain of the dock-root, and your heart will bound at the prospect of a cheery, breezy, feuilleton poured out of the clouds round my Parnassus. And there won't be a single cheery, breezy pour in it.

I shall not say a word about the June roses and the new-mown hay. The genial John Brougham. Do you know if June would only consent to go away with its geniality I believe the Lotos Club would give it a dinner, and even the poets would fling their verses after it?

June this year has rheumatism in its right and hay-fever in its left hand. It is all weather from morning till night except summer weather. The early tourists carry water-proofs and shawls and overcoats on one arm and linen dusters on the other. Excursionists who venture beyond Harlem River get sunstruck in the middle of the day and frost-bitten in the evening. I saw a pickucker the other morning poking about Irvington in a great coat and wiping his nose. He was asking the country people if yet beneath the umbrageous multitude of leaves etherial mildness, gentle spring, had come. And they were all sticking their tongues into their cheeks and saying "no, but the Fourth of July was expected."

My peas hang podless on the astonished vines. My strawberries are blushing for shame at their own incompetency. My pet sow Tietjens has got the distemper, and those two fine pigs, Joe Jefferson and Jehosephat, are suffering with the sniffles.

And yet, with all these meteorological drawbacks, it is a luxury to be away from the city just now. If I were there would not my Skye terrier be in the pound or be chased by an ignorant policeman every time he yawned? Would not I have to go on with the rest of you at the benefits, and be swept with some of you to Long Branch or Jones' Wood or the Hippodrome? Would I not have to wrestle with Salvini and public opinion? Would I not have to subscribe to a dinner to John McCullough and go down to the dock to see Clara Morris off? Would I not find McKee Rankin with Wallack's "Caste" in his pocket, and Billy Floyd with the "Sphynx" sticking threateningly out of his? Would not everybody tell me that Charles Eytinge had gone into the dramatic profession, and that Matilda Heron had gone after him with a puff of Bijou? Would not Gilmore shout to me on the grand esplanade that they were tearing the boxes out of the Grand Opera House, and flooring the noble old ruins over for promenade concerts; and would I not know in my hearts of hearts that the Twenty-second Regiment was doing this thing, and that there were men who believed that Gilmore was to be the Joshua in the musical exodus that had had its Moses in Thomas?

I assure you that I am happier thus. With my dung fork in one hand and Emerson in the other I can mix metaphysics and muck as the season requires. A just estimate of Bartley Campbell's comedy and a proper attention to my new pig-pen are not incompatible duties. I can kill my spring chickens and talk about "Camille" with undivided mind. And there is nothing, I assure you, in the weeding of early beets that unfits a man for the discussion of the modern drama. It is better in the end to be bitten by mosquitoes than by McKee Rankin, and there is no guarantee, if you live in the city, that Miss Morant will not at any moment coax your daughters to go on the stage, or Dio Lewis prevail upon the partner of your bosom to become a moral tramp.

Here at least is safety if there isn't any season. I can see the sun rise from my back yard. Noble sight! Do you know the first morning I saw it I thought it was Charles Gayler coming to see me with the halo of a new play round him?

However, the similitude ends there, for Gayler doesn't set in the West nor in a day, and it is the moon, I believe, that meddles "With the Tide."

And then what fine opportunities for reflection in the barn-yard! What fresh, wholesome thoughts as one drives the cows home in the evening shadows! How easy to weigh current art as one with true Waltonian zest reposes by the babbling stream and throws the delicate fork after the dainty sardine.

I was thinking the other afternoon while hilling my potatoes how exquisite is the imitation of Fechter which Miss Le Clercq gives us in "Fate," and then fell to wondering whether Miss Le Clercq would be offended if, out of my rural sincerity, I should tell her that with true womanly self-abnegation she is more anxious to keep Fechter in remembrance by her acting than to do justice to herself. There was a time when I thought her Pauline was the best that all the Claude's could show. But I am forced to acknowledge that without Fechter it is the queen of night without the sun to illumine it. And a queen of night in this system at least ought to shine with her own internal fire, not with borrowed light.

She appeared at the Eytinge benefit on Friday afternoon at Booth's. She is at all times an actress who will win admiration even when she is only reverberating. For hers is one of those voluptuous natures that woo but never coerce you. Even an echo has a charm of its own. That benefit brought Miss Morris and Miss Le Clercq enough together for comparison. The play of "The Lady of Lyons" and the play of "Camille" are not more distinctly the outcome of two wide-apart epochs of the drama than are these two women. One is thorough mistress of theatric art, the other is the mistress and the victim of emotion. One loses the play in herself, the other loses herself in the play. One triumphs by execution, the other by feeling. One knows every inch of stageway and the duty of every muscle. The other hasn't an idea of stage building, and all her muscles are governed by nerves. One moves you with a stage balloo, the other thrills you with a human moan. In one there is always melodramatic action; in the other there is sometimes a shuddering reality that you recognize but cannot comprehend. One interprets herself, the other echoes the playwright. One is romantic, the other is psychologic—

But this is too much. To keep the grubs from early cabbage (brassica oleracea) there is nothing like wood ashes. I have tried lime and salt without effect. Those pests of the garden walk over the ground regardless of the prescriptions of the books. By the way, the early Wakefield is the only cabbage worth planting in our latitude. It is a shy seeding sort, but with good treatment always repays the grower. It makes its debut on my table in early August and always meets with a cordial reception. It is really star cabbage. No bill should be without it.

I remember Charles Eytinge came up last autumn, when we were getting in our apples, and called this royal plant the Shakespeare of esculents.

Poor Charles! I saw him walk the plank at Booth's on Friday and take the plunge into the vasty deep of theatricals. How his friends trembled for him when he came out upon that broad stage, supported only by a chair and a tumbler of water, and read "Barbara Freitchie." At first he was a little nervous, but presently he got warmed to it, and when he came to Bret Harte's noble poem, "The Outdoor Accouchement," everybody felt that he was safe.

I wonder how many readers could hold an audience like that between the fierce recollection of Morris and the fervid expectation of Le Clercq with only a little poem of "Cicely." There ought to be and there certainly is a place for Mr. Eytinge on the stage. He brings to it the very qualifications it most needs—scholarship, sensibility, taste.

By the time my corn is ripe I hope to have formed a definite opinion of his Iago, and to have told you what that opinion is.

And now I must to my hen-coops. Leaf-laden slide the yellow streams, with bloody leaves the maple teems, the season breathes like one in dreams. A wind rolls down the frosty earth, through all its measures north and south; blows up the roof and whirls the vane, knocks at the topmost lattice pane, and then dies off in slanting rain. In fact the sweet, sad June is here, the saddest, sourest month in all the glad new year.

MONDAY, JUNE 22, 1874.

The Legislature.

In the House, Friday, petitions and bills were acted on as follows:

PETITIONS PRESENTED.

By Mr. Kent of Portsmouth—Of William Simes, Joseph P. Morse and several hundred others against the amendment of the charter of Portsmouth.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The bill to amend the charter of the city of Portsmouth in a new draft. Ordered to a second reading.

For the more effectual prevention of cruelty to animals. Ordered to be printed.

On motion of Mr. Emery of Portsmouth, the amendments were ordered to be printed, and the consideration of the bill was assigned for Wednesday at 11 o'clock.

PASSED.

To increase the capital stock of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad.

The Senate asked for the concurrence of the House to the following bills:

In relation to the salary of the Adjutant General (reducing the same from $1,000 to $600.) Read a third time and passed.

The House bill to prevent gambling in railroad cars and steamboats, as amended by the Senate, was passed.

The act for the better protection of lobsters, as amended by the Senate, was passed.

From the Judiciary Committee—To authorize the Oceanic Hotel Co., to issue bonds. Read a third time and passed.

An act to amend Sec. 10, Chap. 57, Gen. Stats. providing that school district, officers may be elected by a plurality of votes. Ordered to a third reading.

An act in amendment of the charter of the city of Manchester.

Mr. Briggs of Manchester, said upon the final passage of the bill he desired the yeas and nays, but he supposed the House would not want to take them now on account of the thinness of the House; if it did he would take them now.

The yeas and nays were then called with the following result, 156 ayes to 127 nays, and the bill passed.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

By Mr. Jewell of Laconia—To reorganize the Councillor and Senatorial districts.

By Mr. Tuttle of Dover—To amend the charter of the city of Dover.

To amend the charter of the city of Nashua. On motion of Mr. Bingham of Littleton, the bill was assigned to Tuesday at 11 o'clock.

On motion of Mr. Bingham of Littleton, the above bills were read twice and ordered to be printed.

By Mr. Russell of Mason—To restrain officers and employees of railroads from issuing and members of the Legislature using free passes—providing penalties not less than $50 nor exceeding $500 for every violation of this act, either on the part of the party issuing or the party receiving. Every member of the Legislature convicted of using such pass, to be ineligible for election for five years.

The reading of the act caused some laughter. Mr. Mellows of Newmarket objected to the second reading. If the railroads issue passes to the members, he thought the members could stand it if the railroads could.

Mr. Russell of Mason said he expected as a matter of course opposition to this bill. As a general thing people whose interests were affected by a measure were expected to go for it, but he hoped the Legislature would have a sufficient regard for its own dignity to give the bill a fair hearing. Referred to Committeee on Railroads.

NOTICES OF BILLS.

By Mr. Kent of Portsmouth—To incorporate the Portsmouth society to prevent cruelty to animals.

By Mr. Healey of Keene—For the final adjournment of the Legislature.

By Mr. Hurd of Sandwich—To regulate the sale of spirituous liquors.

By Mr. Burrows of Plymouth—To regulate the sale of spirituous liquors.

State News.

One pleasant thing is to follow from the removals the democrats are making—a small host of able men will be added to the working elements of the republican party and improve somewhat its candidacy. By the application of the doctrine of rotation in the elective officers a "slimming down" process had set down in that once bade fair to be demoralizing in its effects.

About three acres of land has been raised by the ice of last winter upon Monomonock Lake, and has upon it several small trees, some of them from ten to twenty feet in height. This land has recently broken from its natural location and is now the sport of the wind. It has repeatedly been in all quarters of the lake, and attracts many visitors. Somebody has lost a part of a farm, but the public has secured a floating island which is being fully appreciated.

According to the statistics presented at the Brewers' congress in Boston, there were 121,225 barrels of ale brewed in this State in 1873, an increase of nearly twenty thousand over 1872.

The Object of Advertising.

[American Newspaper Reporter.]

The object of doing business is to make money. If two or more persons are engaged in the same trade, under the same circumstances the one whose transactions are largest will not only make most money, but the largest percentage of net profit. For example: A sells $20,000 worth of goods, which allows him an average gross profit of 25 per cent., or $5,000 a year. For store rent, he pays $800; for assistant, $500; for the fire and light, $100; for miscellaneous expenses, $600, a total of $2,000, leaving a net profit of $3,000.

In the same town, in a similar store, B, an older merchant, established and better known, sells $40,000 per annum. B gets along with about the same rent, clerk hire doubled, costing him $1,000 where A pays but $500. B's entire expenses for the year are $8,000, while his profits are $10,000 gross; $7,000 net; or 17 1-2 per cent. on the business done, while A made but 15 per cent. net. Any business man of experience will pronounce the above exhibit fair. A plan which will enable A to increase his business to an amount equal to that done by B without reducing his percentage of profit, will be worth $4,000 a year. If an expenditure of $2,000 a year in advertising will do it, such an expenditure would be justifiable. If an expenditure of $4,000 will make A's trade double that of B's, then such an expenditure will not be imprudent; for on the $80,000 of business there will be $20,000 profit, from which to deduct the expenses, increased to $4,500, and $4,000 paid for advertising, we will have $10,500 profit, or $8,500 more than that made by B.

The usual methods of attracting business are well known, and, to a certain extent, effective. Every man has a sign to show his name and trade. A handsome display of goods attracts casual observers. Better than these are the commendatory words of customers who have been served and pleased. A word in favor of a business house is often worth much. If one person's good report is worth something, the commendations often will be worth ten times as much, and of a hundred still more. Life is short, and it is every man's ambition to make a fortune. Every thing is sought which will tend to hasten the happy time when that fortune can be counted as made. Every man prefers to trade where he has formerly traded. The shrewd business man is therefore anxious to secure the first possible order from every man who has an order to give. The earlier the first order is secured the better prospect there is of making a regular customer at an earlier day.

A man intending to do business must first prepare himself to meet the requirements of his customers; next he must let every possible or probable customer know that he is so prepared. In a very small place he may tell all the people what he can do. In a large village a printed handbill, poster or circular, properly distributed, will be efficacious, but whoever is in a place large enough to support a newspaper will find that the cheapest medium through which to address the public.

B has the larger trade because he is better known; the facts that he is an old merchant, and long established, are of no value further than they have contributed to make him well known. They have advertised him. If A has equal advantages of capital, character and capacity, and is doing business in a region where the population and distributing facilities are equal to the support of so large a trade, he may equal that of B as soon as he convinces the public of the actual truth concerning his facilities. Advertising is the means of informing the public. Advertising attracts new customers. If they are well treated they remain and bring their friends. It is the report of those who trade with him that makes the reputation of the merchant. One who has never visited a store cannot speak of it from experience. Advertising brings the customer. He must be retained by being well served.

No man can do business unless he deals in something that people want. Unless he has a clear field and no competition, he must not only have what is wanted, but must have it of the better quality, at a cheaper price, or serve it in a more satisfactory manner than his competitors, otherwise he will attract only his share of the trade. Every successful business man must secure more than his share. In trade it is important that the profits shall be fair, but as the markets are equally open to all, the quality of goods offered by one dealer may be as good as any other can afford at the same price; the style of serving customers therefore becomes the natural avenue through which to force an increased trade. Suppose, then, that the price at which goods are to be sold is a fair, full, market price, the quality the best, selected with care and always reliable; attention must now be paid to the appointments for the transaction of trade. Efficient assistants must be secured and trained to understand the full value of prompt dealing, ready and pleasant adjustments of errors and careful attention to all wants of customers. With all of these a good trade can be secured, provided customers exist within a convenient radius, and are made aware of the facilities which are offered for their accommodation.

—The following concise and comprehensive note was sent to an Illinois merchant by a neighboring farmer: "Send me a trace chain and two hinges—Jane had a baby last night—also two padlocks."

—A Georgia negro was riding a mule along and came to a bridge, when the mule stopped. "I'll bet you a quarter," said Jack, "I'll make you go ober dis bridge," and with that he struck the mule over the head, which made him nod suddenly. "You take the bet, den," said the negro, and contrived to get the subborn mule over the bridge. "I won that quarter anyhow," said Jack. "But how will you get the money?" asked a man who had been close by, unperceived. "To-morrow," said Jack, "Massa gib me a dollar to get corn for the mule, and I take the quarter out."

Stars and Meteors.

At certain seasons meteors dart across the firmament between the earth and the fixed stars. But they quickly vanish, while the fixed stars remain. In the medical firmament the great vegetable laxipotant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, has long been a fixed star of the first magnitude. Little meteors in the shape of imitations, bearing various names, now and then attempt a glimmering competition with it, but they soon disappear from the field of vision, leaving the glory of the true remedy unimpaired. The number of these will-o'-the-wisps that have come to grief within the last twenty years is beyond computation, and those now in existence are in the last agonies of extinguishment. The standard tonic and alterative that cures and prevents so many distressing diseases, and which no debilitated invalid ever took with out receiving a wonderful accession of strength and vitality, only derives increased popularity from the attempts of charlatans to run their failures in the Hostetter groove.

PILES can be cured only by ANAKESIS, the greatest discovery of the age and the sole, infallible remedy for the worst cases of PILES. Thousands of sufferers after trying in vain all manner of lotions, ointments, and internal remedies, have been instantly relieved and permanently cured by ANAKESIS. It is the happy discovery of Dr. Silabee, a regular scientific physician, and Doctors of all schools endorse and recommend it.—Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists everywhere, and sent by mail from Principal Depot, 46 Walker street, New York.

Cocoa is known the world over for its great nourishing and strengthening properties. It is often difficult to select the best preparations of an article of such universal use. The Chocolates and Cocoas of Walter Baker & Co., Boston, have stood the test of nearly a hundred years, with a constantly increasing reputation for excellence and purity in all parts of the world. If you wish the best, at the most reasonable price, ask your grocer for Baker's Chocolate.

With the Modern Elevator, an upper room is fully as desirable as a lower one, yet the popular American House, Boston, has given notice of an advantage of a dollar a day in favor of transient guests who are willing to occupy such rooms. Every convenience for guests, and everything first-class.

For Breakfast most Americans ignore tea, and yet a vast number find coffee positively injurious. Walter Baker & Co., of Boston, by a peculiar process, manufacture a "Breakfast Cocoa," which mild by nature, preserves the Theobromine and nutritive portion of Cocoa leaves no sensation of heaviness after its use. Sold by all grocers. These choice goods have been in the market since 1780.

The Largest Stock,
The Latest Styles,
The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer: First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m23 d3m

Local Matters.

An Eccentric Pair.

Many of our readers will remember Mr. Andrew P. Clark, who was a music teacher in this city some ten years or more ago, and was considered rather an odd character. From the following, which we take from the Boston Journal, it will be seen that he is now a hermit in a mild way, and that one of his relatives is as harmlessly eccentric as himself:

"Andrew P. Clark is an eccentric character who lives on the easterly slope of the range of hills to the west of Worcester, his hermitage being in the midst of woods and rocks, the approach to it being a drive on the Cherry Valley road and Elmwood street terminating in a cart path. The house, built by the occupant, is a substantial stone structure two stories in height, with a cellar. Mr. Clark, who is about forty-five years old, keeps house here successfully, his habits being neat and correct. He was formerly a teacher of music in Cambridge, and at one time he was so seriously ill that the result was partial paralysis, and a slight affection of his mental organization. His present mode of life seems to satisfy him thoroughly. He keeps half a dozen goats, a number of fowls, and has a fine garden, from all of which he derives his food. A fine cabinet organ affords him much enjoyment, and as he exacts from visitors ten cents each for the privilege of hearing him play a tune, it furnishes him some little income. A register of visitors is kept with great exactness, and the book shows a large number of names. The only outside affairs in which Mr. Clark takes any interest are those of the Good Templars, of which order he is a member. The most singular phase in this man's singular life is that which relates to his religious habits. The land he occupies comprises about ten acres, and was purchased by his uncle, Mr. Solomon Parsons, who is also a man of eccentric ideas, and in making the purchase had the deed made to Deity, as the site for a temple. Not trusting to the official registry at the Court House, he had this deed recorded on the face of a solid rock, each letter being a capital and about an inch and a half in length. It commences as follows:

DEED.

Know all men by these presents, that I William G. Hall of Worcester in the County of Worcester and Commonwealth of Mass in consideration of 125 Dols paid by the hand of Solomon Parsons of the same Worcester the receipt of which I do hereby acknowledge do hereby give grant and sell and convey unto God through the laws of Jesus Christ which are made known to man by the reckord of the New Testament recorded by Matthew Mark Luke and John the Evangelist this land to be governed by the above mentioned laws and together with the fear of God.

Mr. Parsons has built a temple of stone about twenty-five feet square, but vandals have destroyed the roof, and it now stands with only three sides walled in, the south end being open. It is fitted with log seats, and here, on every pleasant Sunday, Mr. Parsons conducts religious services. The Bible is read and commented on, all present being expected to take part in the discussion if they feel disposed. The exercises are always closed with prayer. On pleasant Sundays there are frequently thirty or forty persons present at the primitive temple of worship. It is not singular that these two men should attract a great many curious ones. All are received with kindness and courtesy, but it will be well for intending visitors to know that Mr. Clark requires his guests to furnish their own provisions."

Not Very Singular.

The Times, in reply to our assertion that the compulsory-pilotage laws were not republican ones, as it had stated, but democratic ones, says "it seems a little singular that the republican party, having had it in their power for eighteen years to repeal "unjust and injurious' laws, should not have done so." We don't see anything very singular about their not repealing the compulsory-pilotage laws, which were enacted by the democrats, though their enactment was no more a party measure than their repeal; for many years all the pilots were democrats, (Mr. Randall being the first republican ever appointed pilot by this State, we are informed,) some of them being noted workers for the party, and the democratic party of Portsmouth therefore did not care to have the laws repealed, while the people of the interior of the State, of both parties, knew nothing about the matter and cared less. Several attempts were made to repeal or modify the "unjust and injurious" laws, but the strong opposition of sea-board democrats was too much for the indifference of the up-country legislators.

The Cable Buoy in a Scrape.

The schooner Caro Bell, Capt. Smith, from Ellsworth, Me., reports that on Thursday last at 11 P. M., when north by east from Cape Ann about 15 miles, ran into the telegraph cable buoy, made of iron and of very large dimensions, which hooked her anchor in such a way that she could not clear herself after two hours' hard work, therefore had to unshackle the chain, and lost ten fathoms of it and the anchor. The buoy is lying in the track of vessels, and cannot be seen at night, though it looms as high as an ordinary vessel out of the water.

Laconics.

Chaplain Geo. D. Henderson, U. S. N., is ordered to duty at this station.

Canker worms are doing considerable damage in this vicinity, many apple and pear trees which were in full foliage two or three weeks ago being now almost as bare of leaves as in January.

A correspondent says:

"The democrats in and about the legislature agree that Mr. Hatch is the poorest speaker that has occupied the chair since the days of Geo. W. Kittridge. He has no especial training or fitness as presiding officer, and in the ordinary routine of the duties which a less talented man would easily perform, he is slow, hesitating and tediously clumsy. It was a true prediction of a sagacious old Bourbon, in describing the merits of two candidates of the party just before the caucus, when he remarked, "whichever you take, Burrows or Hatch, you will soon wish to God you had taken the other.'"

A band of musical geniuses, equipped with sounding brass and tinkling cymbals, tin pans, bells, rattles, a huge gong and a fog-horn, and other melody-manufacturing machines, made music in the air, Friday night, in various quarters of the city in honor of the recent nuptials of several popular acquaintances. The charm of variety was forcibly illustrated by the way in which each musician performed a tune of his own selection and in time to suit himself, the chaps who warbled on the gong and fog-horn meriting especial commendation for the spirit and vigor of their solo, which called forth earnest and heartfelt prayers for their condition in a future world from many pleased listeners.

Mr. Thomas P. Moses, the veteran music teacher and artist, has so far recovered from his recent severe illness as to be able to attend to his business and appear on the streets once more.

Schooner Anna Bell, Hyer, from Philadelphia, in proceeding up the river on the 19th, ran ashore near Dover Point, but was pulled off by tug Clara Bateman on the 20th, and towed to Newmarket.

Base Ball.

The third of the series of base ball matches between the Granite State and High School nines came off Saturday afternoon at the Plains, the Granite States winning the "rubber" by the following score:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	Total
Granite State	15	9	3	0	13	1	0	4	4	—49
High School	2	7	1	0	2	2	11	3	3	—41

Score, Daniel Broderick; Umpire, Daniel Leary; Time of game, 3 hours. Chas. E. Parks of the Granite States made one home-run, the only one made.

The Beecher Departure.

It is not to be questioned that, since the trial of Mr. Beecher before the council of churches, he has switched off with unusual vigor and boldness upon a new and independent track. A recent discourse of his is full of suggestions in that direction. Let us just pick out a few plums from the pudding which he so generously served on his board: "Church organizations have exerted great power in the world, but I don't think you will find they have exerted as much influence for good as for harm. Organized Christianity has been the poorest part of religion. It would have sunk long ago if there had been no other power. It has not been the church that has preserved religion: It has been religion that has preserved the church." And again: "Christianity has made but little progress. Look over the world and see the condition of the nations after nearly two thousand years of Christianity. Where are they to-day? It is true there has been a great deal done, but, compared to what was to be done, how very little! Why has it been so very slow? First, because those that set forward Christianity in this world adopted a coercive conscience, announced the authority of men in God's name, attempted in religion that which was attempted in politics, namely, to govern men without their consent. It did not succeed with either. Liberty is best, either for the State or the Church. Religion should be spontaneous; it is the free offering of free souls, and it does not do to say, 'Believe this, or be damned!' * * * You can't force people to be religious, any more than you can force the grass to grow."

Another reason, Mr. Beecher said, why Christianity had not progressed faster was that men had employed malign elements to spread religion rather than spiritual ones. It was impossible to develop love by hatred, or peace by furious argument. The fruits of the Spirit could not be produced by quarreling. The gates of hell had opened into this world through ecclesiastical judicatories, and the greatest cruelties have been practiced by Christian sects, and the world has been presented with a hideous, bloody-mouthed God, that makes men only to devour them. The church dominion in the world had been simply monstrous; the church had been under the dominion of devils. Another cause for the slow progress of Christianity was that the church had aimed at knowledge rather than charity. Mr. Beecher here alluded to the divisions in the various sects as they existed to-day, and all these differences were about externals; not one of them touched in any manner the essential fruits of the Spirit.

Alluding to his own position among the Congregationalists, Mr. Beecher said it was said to him: "If you are so impressed with these liberal ideas, why don't you go out from the Congregationalists?" "I stay here," said Mr. Beecher, "because there are men that say that Congregational ministers shall not stand in the pulpit and say certain things, and I say that they shall." He then alluded to the perverted theologies of the past and of the present day as another reason why Christianity had made such slow progress. Men had made an image of a detestable devil and called it God. The God that he (Mr. Beecher) worshipped was a God of love, and sweetness, and gentleness, and patience and long-suffering.

THE fine country residence and farm formerly occupied by Rev. John F. Adams,—buildings in thorough repair, land well divided into mowing and tillage; fine fruit orchard, etc., well known for the large quantity of splendid strawberries produced.

The house has an evergreen hedge around it and the buildings are in thorough repair. There is a fruit orchard of 300 apple trees, 20 cherry trees and as many pear trees—and a nursery with 1500 young apple trees. From the grape vines on the place fifteen bushels of fruit have been sold in a season, besides abundance retained for home use. Part of the land heavily wooded and there is a great quantity of muck on the estate. In the pasture there is a never-failing spring. The farm is situated midway between depots of Eastern and Concord railroads. For sale at a bargain, if enquired for immediately,—of O. G. J. RIDER & SON.

HERE THEY ARE COMPLETED AND

FOR SALE.

TWO original historical OIL PAINTINGS, nearly three by four feet, in heavy gilt frames. One, the famous Capt. Smith of the Isle of Shoals history, advancing with his company in a boat toward what is now called Fort Point at Newcastle, about the years 1614 or '15; the astonished Indians, in canoes and on shore; Smith's antiquated bark at anchor near Wood Island, which at that period is said to have been covered with woods and silvereated above water with Gerrish's island, &c.

The other, a vivid representation of Fort Constitution in the palmy days, the Light-House at its original height, and a lively sea view, at about 1836—a true picture of days when the white sail ships were flowing into the Piscataqua with their rich cargoes from foreign ports—days when Portsmouth ranked well in commerce. Such reminiscences of the past cannot fail to interest the present generation, and speak from the enchanted canvas with still greater interest to coming generations, particularly of this romantic locality. They are the works of a devoted son of old "Strawberry Bank," so called, and will tell their own story, whether in the parlor, counting-room, saloon or City hall, for either of which they are adapted.

Friends are invited to call soon and examine them whether disposed to purchase, at the proprietor's Music Room, opposite the Post-office.

(Detroit Free Press.)

"Marier Jane!" called Bijah, as he handed out a lone woman and led her around to the chalk-mark.

"And Marier was drunk," added his Honor, in a sad voice; "forty-three years old, going rapidly to the grave, and yet so drunk that you had to be hauled down here on a wheelbarrow."

"On a hand-cart, sir," she corrected, showing considerable interest.

"Well, there is a difference between a hand-cart and a wheelbarrow," he went on, "but it doesn't make any difference in this case. In fact, the hand-cart was the easiest thing to draw you on, and more small boys could gather around it. I will alter the complaint to make it read 'hand-cart,' and now I want to know what you have to say about it?"

Tears came to her eyes, her corset gave a heave or two, and she whispered:

"I want to go to the circus."

"Ah! that touches a tender chord," sighed the Court, as he leaned back and listened to the music of the brass band floating on the early morning air, and saw in imagination the trick mule, the elephant, and the rhinoceros ambling around the sawdust ring—admission fifty cents.

"Marier," he said at last, in a changed voice, "you'll die in three or four years, anyhow, and perhaps it's just as well to let you go to the circus as to send you to the Work-House. Mayhap the growl of the sea-lion, the snarl of the tiger, the warble of the ostrich, and the gymnastic exercises of the monkeys, together with the stirring air of 'Old Dan Tucker,' as rendered by the band, may put thoughts of reformation into your head. Go, aged female, and remember it's fifty cents saved every time one crawls under the canvas."

John Maroney said it wasn't his fault that he had been arrested for vagrancy. He has hunted the town over to secure a situation, but everybody turned a cold shoulder. Bank Presidents said it wasn't a good day for hiring cashiers; wholesale merchants said they didn't want a head book-keeper that day, and leading jewelers advised him to go and learn how to hang himself. Thus he was rebuffed and discouraged at every turn. His ducats went one by one, his clothing gave out, and when found he was sitting upon a pile of clam-shells in an alley, straw in his hair, tears in his eyes, and a general lonesomeness about his face that made the policeman think of the time he was lost in a whortleberry swamp in the north woods.

"I'd like to take you off one side and sit down and struggle with you," said his Honor, "but there's others to come, and the struggling business is adjourned sine die. Have you anything to say why I should not send you up for three months?"

"I want a jury—three lawyers and a jury," replied the prisoner.

"I could send out and get you a dozen lawyers and a hundred jurymen," said the Court, "but it isn't necessary. You have had a fair trial, been convicted, and as soon as Bijah seats you in the buggy the curtain falls."

Bijah took him out and seated him, and when Maroney shed tears the kind old officer went across the road and got him a 3-cent lemon, cut the end off, and handed it up in such a kindly way that the newsboys threw up their caps and sung:

"He is good and he is kind,
You'll never, never find,
A better man than old Bijie Joy."

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately, often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus unsightly, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, its value for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessary for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part lead me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care. Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean. By its tonic properties, it nourishes the capillary glands to their vigorous action, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong. As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable. Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it, "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS. This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off. MANUFACTURED BY R. P. HALL & CO., NASHUA, N. H. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine. 5-sep2-cag

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY AND HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon. This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Foundation. Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial. See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

Daily Chronicle.

Gen. Butler Frees His Mind.

A special session of the House was held on Friday evening and Gen. Butler was complimented with the largest audience seen in the House this session. A large portion of the members were in their seats. The speaker was in the chair. The galleries on four sides of the hall were crowded with spectators, and correspondents of newspapers filled the reporters' gallery.

He said that failing health and the imperative orders of his physicians had prevented him taking part in the discussion of the bill to abolish the molety system when it was before the House, but he hardly regretted it, because, the amendment proposed by the committee on ways and means having passed, he could now speak without being charged with attempting to prevent what might be regarded by some as needed reforms in the laws. No personal relations should enter into what he was about to say. He desired only to raise a warning voice against what he regarded as unwise legislation. The moiety system had come down to us from the earliest English revenue laws. It had been engrafted upon our system by Hamilton and had the support of every Congress and every administration up to this one. The committee of ways and means had told the House that in England the system had been abolished, but they had forgotten to state the other part of the case—that England had also abolished ad valorem duties and now collected duties, and those specific duties, on only seven articles, while ours are mostly ad valorem duties, and are collected on more than 3200 different articles. The committee had forgotten to state, also, that England had a preventive service, consisting of trained men, while we with an infinitely larger frontier, have nothing of the kind, except twenty-five detective agents of the Treasury. The advocates of this change asked why with honest revenue officers the revenues could not be collected without informers. The answer was plain: Because we levy duties on every article of commerce, comfort and luxury, and it was impossible to get for $1500 a year the services of men so skilled in arts and sciences as to be able to distinguish and to value correctly so many and various articles; and even if the revenue officers had the necessary skill they would still need the cunning and experience of detectives in order to discover and defeat the devices of men whose intellects were sharpened by the desire of unlawful gain. The mere smuggler brings in his goods in small vessels; but the great importer brings in his three 3000-ton ships, and bribes the custom-house officer to let them in, or by a confederate partner swears them through, and makes hundreds of thousands of dollars by a single venture, and becomes a "merchant prince," and probably builds a church out of his gains, and becomes noted for his charities, which advertise his house and bring it custom. This is no fancy picture. But it is said that we must take it for granted that the merchants are honest; that it is not to be assumed that they will defraud the government, and that all this machinery only serves to vex and oppress them when they happen to make mistakes. The committee seem to have forgotten that when a merchant makes a mistake the law provides for the remission of the penalty. No penalty can be inflicted upon a merchant if he can convince the Secretary of the Treasury that it was only a mistake, but an illustration of this will do far better than argument, and lest I should be supposed to have some prejudice, I will illustrate by the tea trade of Boston, where, I have no doubt, men are as honest in merchandising as the lot of humanity will admit.

He gave some statistics to show the extent to which tea had been smuggled into Maine from the adjoining territory, until in 1858 a "pestiferous informer," accompanied by an agent of the Treasury department, went down and seized the books and papers and recovered very large penalties, the result being that the importation of tea to the obscure places from which it had been smuggled into Maine at once fell off to one-eighth the former quality. This case showed the necessity for the informers who stopped this unlawful trade. Yet, for doing just such work in the service of the government, these men were denounced by the chairmen of the committee of ways and means [Mr. Dawes] as "odious and despised beings,—putrescent informers." Surely men exposed to such denunciation ought not to be expected to work for less than half the penalties. How much tea ought a man to ask for being abused in this way? [Laughter.] But the chairman forgot that before the informer could make money by detecting a crime, a crime must have been committed. Somebody must cheat the revenue before anybody can inform against him. He declared, as a startling announcement, that the United States did not receive more than 67 per cent. of its duties on goods where the tariff is ad valorem. In other words, if the government should collect its present duties honestly, it could pay $100,000,000 of the national debt every year. And yet the people would have no higher taxes to pay than they have now.

Fraudulent importers by fraudulent invoices charged the people those duties and pocketed them as a part of their profits. By the enormous frauds the government and the people were the losers, and the importers were the only gainers. He would not have dared to make this very startling and wonderful, almost incredible, statement of the frauds perpetrated by undervaluation and false involves if he were not fortified by proof, to which he proceeded to call the attention of the House. Having given some figures to show the frauds committed in the importation of worsted goods, silks, velvets, ribbons, etc., he came down to the case of Phelps, Dodge & Co., which had been put forward. He said the committee on ways and means was the cheval de bataille of the encounter. If the story told by Mr. Dodge, the senior member of that firm, was true, then the government should reverently beg the pardon of that firm, pay back all it had got from the firm and a large sum for smart-money besides; but if it was not true, if there was not one single substantial word of truth in it at all, then they were simply smuggling, perjured villains, and they ought to have been followed with a great deal more strictness instead of less. Mr. Dodge has stated before the commitee of ways and means that up to 1872 no charge had ever been made against his firm. Was that so? Not at all. Congress has had to alter its revenue laws in order to meet the frauds, and marauding, and cheating and swindling of these highly Christian merchants. [Laughter.] That was a pretty harsh accusation, and it would require to be fully sustained.

He proceeded to relate how the law which authorized American statuary to be imported free of duty had been taken advantage of by Phelps, Dodge & Co., who imported statues of the Goddess of Liberty, of Washington, and of Jefferson in lead, tin and copper, and then turned them from the warehouse into the melting-pot, and he quoted from the Congressional Globe what Thaddeus Stevens stated as facts before the house in the thirty-eighth Congress, and yet William E. Dodge stated in the committee room of the ways and means, that up to 1872 his firm had never been charged with anything against the revenues, and he had drawn tears from the eyes of the committee, if the reporters were to be believed. [Laughter.] He could imagine how old Mr. James, the Liverpool partner of the firm, laughed as he chucked down the Goddess of Liberty into the hold. [Laughter.] He knew a Boston merchant [alluding to Mr. Williams, a wine importer,] who having been detected in frauds on the revenue, went and committed suicide, thereby confessing his guilt, and if old Mr. James had done the same thing, it would only have been a like confession of guilt; but importing lead, tin and copper as statues of the Goddess of Liberty, of Washington, and of Jefferson, was not by any means the most serious raid that Phelps, Dodge & Co. had made on the revenue. In 1864, before Grant had organized the Army of the Potomac to cross the Rapidan, when gold was 180, Congress passed a resolution increasing all tariff duties 50 per cent. for 60 days. Mr. Dodge went to the Treasury department and had a comma taken out of one place and placed in another, and thereby cleared $2,250,000. In comparison with that what signified the $300,000 fraud on the importation of fruit by the change of a comma? He had read a letter from Mr. Fessenden, the Secretary of the Treasury, on this point, and his comment on it was that Mr. Fessenden was a good lawyer but a poor tinman. [Laughter.]

The interruption by Mr. Dawes and an inquiry whether he had not given a fair answer to one of Butler's inquiries was met by the retort, "I suppose you would not give any other. What made you suppose you would?"

Mr. Butler resumed his speech and spoke of Mr. Dodge as making long sermons by day and prayers by night, while his partner was defrauding the government in the sum of millions, and he himself was giving by thousands for the church. Referring to the check for $99,000 sent by the treasurer of the Delaware and Lackawanna Railroad Company in payment of taxes, and to the fact that Sanborn in New York knew the number and description of the check sent to the Treasury department, he said that fact was not so remarkable after all, as the clerk who wrote the check was the same person who had given the information to Sanborn. (Laughter.)

There was a proverb that if you scratch a Russian you find a Tartar. So if you scratch one of Phelps, Dodge & Co., you find a defrauder of the revenue. [Laughter.] It so happened that W. E. Dodge was chairman of the executive committee of that very railroad company, which owed the $100,000 for delinquent taxes, and this, said he, is William E. Dodge of the firm of Phelps, Dodge & Co., the merchant prince, the Christian merchant who imports American statues at the risk of breaking the nose of the goddess of liberty when she is made of lead. [Laughter.] He had a letter from Mr. Tenny, the district attorney of Brooklyn, referring to Mr. Beck of Kentucky as a powerful member of the democratic party who would bring the Sanborn matter to the front. [Laughter.] He also had a letter read written by Mr. Foster of Ohio, which had been picked up in the streets of Brooklyn, in which he said he had been "prepared to rap old cock-eye." [Roars of laughter, in which Butler himself and friends joined most heartily.]

—Parisian ladies of eccentric taste are wearing earrings representing monkeys, guinea pigs, lizards, chandeliers with candles in them, bird cages with birds within, tortoises, spades, tongs, spurs, officers' epaulettes, etc. The effect is not pleasing. On the contrary!

—Slightly sarcastic was the clergyman who paused and addressed a man coming into church after the sermon had begun with the remark, "Glad to see you, sir, come in; always glad to see those here late who can't come early;" and decidedly self-possessed was the man thus addressed, in the presence of an astonished congregation, as he responded, "Thank you; would you favor me with the text?"

Daily Chronicle.

TUESDAY, JUNE 23, 1874.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, June 20, 1874.

At the time of the veto I predicted there would be no more financial measures perfected for the session, and that prediction seemed true down to the last action of the Conference committe on the House bill. They now propose to limit the legal tenders at $382,000,000, to take fifty-four millions of currency of National Banks from sections in excess for the benefit of sections not having their proportion, and to require no reserve to be kept on account of circulation, except the five per cent. to be deposited with the Treasury, for redemption purposes and on account of mutilated bills to be replaced.

I notice the city papers and most of the country papers cast approve the suggestion to repeal the legal tender feature of the greenback. What would they say to a proposition to repeal the provision for paying interest on bonds and the bonds themselves in gold? Would it be any more a breach of faith to the holder, than to repeal the legal tender feature of the greenback, to its holder? Or is there some virtue in a bond above a greenback, which makes keeping faith in one case a cardinal virtue, and breaking it in the other a thing to be commended? Let the holders of bonds be careful how they propose to break faith with the holders of greenbacks. The legal tender feature of the greenback is an essential part of its value, as much so as the provision to pay gold is an essential part of the bond.

Sunday was a gala day for the white and colored Catholic societies, who were out in full force and colors, and bands of music, to lay the corner stone of a colored Catholic church on Fifteenth street. The societies gathered in front of the City Hall to form the procession, and from there marched to the church. The crowd was immense during the ceremonies and without distinction of race or color. There was Patrick and Biddy and Sambo and Dinah and Hans and Gretchen, all packed in close together, and not a ripple of discord for the hours they were together so close you could hardly get through them. It is to the credit of the Catholic Church that she never had any "Nigger Bros." and could smell no difference between Pat and Sambo. When I saw all races, and colors, and shades of color, voluntarily packed together for hours I was certain no trouble would come from any mixing in the schools if the Civil Rights bill passed. I see some of the democracy and a few republicans are exercised over the mixed school question. They used to be in agony lest if a negro was free he would be round cutting throats, and every white person would have to walk sure if a negro was allowed to ride in horse cars, or any other cars. But I notice they all pack in close together now, and no grumbling, if they don't have too big market baskets.

The Bill just passed through both Houses wipes out the District Government and Board of Public Works root and branch, which is an indication of the estimation in which they and their doings are held. The administration is in the hands of a Temporary Commission, and all accounts are to be examined and audited by the Comptrollers of the Treasury. The feature which seems most objectionable is a tax of three per cent. ordered by the Bill. The tax last year was two per cent., and the delinquents who have let that run, are grumbling that they have five per cent. to pay during this year. The reckless scale of expenditures makes taxes excessive, but if property has been doubled in value as these people assert, it can afford to pay them. My own belief is that Government will have to pay most of the debt in the end. One good feature of the Bill is, it taxes church property, which has been heretofore exempt, and is said to be fifteen per cent. of all the property not owned by the government. Personal property is not taxed here, but undoubtedly will be now that general attention has been called to it.

The large discharge to be made from the Government offices and from the city offices, is sorely felt. It causes as much suffering as the sudden closing up of a large manufactory with you. It is even worse, for most of them know how to do nothing else, and have no means to live here. You can imagine the almost frantic desperation with which they appeal to all whom they think might save them, and especially members of Congress; and the dread anxiety with which they want to know whether they are to go or stay.

In the investigations, which have been carried on, one concern comes out unscathed, with a certificate of successful management, and freedom from all fraud; and that is the Market House Company, of which seven of the thirteen directors are natives of New Hampshire. They are just now having a controversy with the market dealers, whose leases of stands terminate in July. These dealers want to keep the best stands for the same rental price paid for the poorest.

The speech of Butler on the mojety and Sanborn contract question creates quite a sensation, though both are repealed. Butler always shows to best advantage, with overwhelming odds against him. He made hot work for the committee of ways and means, and claimed that the clamor comes from rich men who had unpaid taxes due, which would never be discovered or collected in any other way.

To the credit of this Congress it may be said of it that no corrupt jobs, or steals, have yet been passed; and when it leaves next Tuesday it will go back clean handed to report to its constituents. EXE.

About a Woman's Age.

[Mary Clemmer Ames.]

How good of you, my Independent, to tell everybody that my hair isn't gray, and that the time has not come for me to don it as a "crown of glory." Not that I mind it a bit. I am so used to being regarded as an object of antiquity by contemporaries that it is a remark to the contrary that startles me. When I was seventeen I wrote a rhyme called, "No Longer Young." I've lost it, but these lines were in it:

> "To catch a shadow in the glass,
> A face no longer young, alas!
> To hear in mirth of girls and boys
> The refrain of our former joys."

I have been paying the penalty of such precocity ever since. Let me tell you girls, to get into the newspapers before you are sixteen is not only ridiculous and silly, but disastrous, if you want any one to imagine that you ever had any youth, and especially if the writing demon who pursues you compels you to write in the tone of an old woman without any of her wisdom.

Two facts springing from this age-in-advance reputation are really melancholy. When I am fairly old, a whole generation will spring up and exclaim, at mention of the name: "Why, isn't that old woman dead yet? I'm sure I heard of her as gray-haired when I was young!" Now it will mortify me dreadfully when people shall assert that I have outlived my time—a period never too long delayed in this country. Then, when you have grave suspicions that you are neither very strong nor wise, and are attacked by sudden impulses to say or do something ridiculous, if only to burst for a moment the heavy chain of responsibility that holds you unceasingly to daily and hourly toil—to feel blithe and bright and free as any girl—just to be jerked aplomb by a letter? Aye, by scores of letters from sister women, addressing you as if you were a Methuselah. (Brother men usually write to lecture and to dictate.) I mind them not. It's women letters that tug at my heartstrings. Ah! my dears, if you could see me take to my bed after some of your effusions, literally sick because I am not wise enough nor strong enough to help you, you would pity me. If I cannot solve the problem of my own existence, how can I unravel yours? If I had lived a thousand years, I could not do that. Then the conditions and influences in each individual lot are so distinct and often so conflicting, no life in its details may measure itself by another, and very rarely make the special work or success of another its own. To make the most and the best of every day as it comes to us is the finest secret of daily living that I have ever yet been able to learn.

Now for a little story, so egotistic I'm afraid of it, and so pat that I hope you will like it.

Two gentlemen came to Washington to see the sights, and, among others sought an "aged lady" whom they had only seen through the columns of the Independent.

"It's the one who writes the 'Woman's Letters from Washington' whom we wish to see," said the spokesman.

"I am she."

"Some mistake;" and both men set their elbows and stared.

"Pardon," said the spokesman, "I'm sure everybody who reads the Independent thinks that the 'Woman in Washington' has reached an age when she no longer desires the approbation of men."

"I never expect to reach that age. Why did you think I had gained it?"

"Because I was sure you were so old that you knew it was impossible that you could ever be personally agreeable to gentlemen; and that's why you dast to write about 'em as you do, and pictur' 'em (members of Congress, I mean), as you do in the Independent."

—Bald Mountain is likely to become more bald than ever; worn by the feet of many tourists, particularly ladies, who think a volcano is "so sweet."

—An Omaha girl has introduced a romantic mode of suicide by stuffing her lover's letters down her throat until she choked. She couldn't swallow his unkind words, and so came to her end.

Stars and Meteors.

At certain seasons meteors dart across the firmament between the earth and the fixed stars. But they quickly vanish, while the fixed stars remain. In the medical firmament the great vegetable invigorant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, has long been a fixed star of the first magnitude. Little meteors in the shape of imitations, bearing various names, now and then attempt a glimmering competition with it, but they soon disappear from the field of vision, leaving the glory of the true remedy unimpaired. The number of these will-o'-the-wisps that have come to grief within the last twenty years is beyond computation, and those now in existence are in the last agonies of extinguishment. The standard tonic and alterative that cures and prevents so many distressing diseases, and which no debilitated invalid ever took with out receiving a wonderful accession of strength and vitality, only derives increased popularity from the attempts of charlatans to run their failures in the Hostetter groove.

ANNOUNCE THEIR

SPRING OPENING

—OF—

Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons.

The Largest Stock,
The Latest Styles,
The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay be tue fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other nuisance, capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any state meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for curying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

Local Matters.

That Awful Navy Yard.

The Times, in its report of the hearing before the legislative committee on towns and parishes, on the bill designed to make Portsmouth a democratic city in spite of a large republican majority, says "Hon. Daniel Marcy stated to the committee that the navy yard influence had done great injury to the material interests of Portsmouth, and that he could not build his ships in consequence of his workmen leaving for the navy yard when most needed, where they were only required to loaf eight hours a day and draw their pay." We cannot help wondering whether or no Capt. Marcy considered the navy yard influence to be doing great injury to the material interests of Portsmouth at the time he was using the navy yard mould-loft to lay down his ship, or using the navy yard sheers to step her lower masts? We also wonder how much political capital he expected to make, among working men, by announcing after the hearing was over that "when we get a democratic Congress" there won't be much money laid out on the navy yard? The talk about the navy yard having destroyed shipbuilding on the Piscataqua is all buncombe, for ship-building flourished and paid as well here as it did in any part of the country, when there were any wooden ships to build, and the navy yard was here all the time; and when wooden ship-building on the Piscataqua went down it was went down all over the world,—the Canadas and Maine, where no navy yards existed, suffering in the same way and to as great an extent as Portsmouth.

Complimentary.

The passengers on steamer Colima, recently arrived at New York, united in complimenting a Portsmouth boy, as follows:

"Letters enunciating the merits of commanders and officers are of very frequent occurrence; but when they are prompted by the feeling of gratitude and appreciation that we experience toward Capt. W. G. Shackford, words are really inadequate to express our true sense of appreciation of him, both as a gentleman and a commanding officer. His watchful eye over his precious cargo of human lives is only equalled by his unremitting kindness and attention toward every one about him. The very pleasant associations with him resulting from our voyage from San Francisco on our way to New York, will indeed be long remembered and cherished as one of the happy moments of our lives. On bidding adieu to Captain Shackford, we do so with a sincere regret at parting, with hearts replete with thankfulness, and an ardent desire for his future success, welfare and happiness, and may it be the lot of all ocean travellers to meet with officers like him."

New Telegraph Line.

The Boston Globe reporter says that Mr. E. D. L. Sweet, executive manager of the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Company, under whose management the Franklin Northern lines in New England and all the largest opposition companies in the United States are operated, has already decided upon routes over which two wires he has contracted to build, from New York to Rye Beach, shall pass. Materials for building have already been purchased and are now on the way hither. The first wire to be built is from Rye Beach to Boston direct, connecting at Boston with the shore line to New York, upon which an extra cable wire will be hung, according to contract. This piece will follow the highway and will be about fifty-six miles long. The other wire will be laid from Rye Beach through Portsmouth, Exeter, Haverhill, Lawrence, Lowell, Worcester, and from thence go on by the Springfield route to New York. On this route about eighty miles of telegraph must be built. It will be seen that by the use of the two short pieces of telegraph the opposition wires will be brought into all the important towns of New Hampshire, and additional ones in Massachusetts, giving them new communication with each other and all points in the United States and the Old World, and ensuring a liberal reduction of tolls not only in New England, but so far as these opposition wires extend. The arrangement of the lines is also most excellent, in case of injury by weather or other cause; for there are by it two routes to New York, Boston and all points connecting with either city. By means of other port lines contemplated by the company the number of routes will be doubled, and in case of some cities more than doubled, as regards increased facilities for accommodating the press. Mr. Sweet authorizes your correspondent to state that the organization he represents is about completing a contract with the American Press Association to continue for a long series of years, the result of which will be an organization that will furnish news from every quarter at rates much below the present rates of the Associated Press. With respect to this undertaking, it is proposed to build lines from Rye Beach to Portland, thence diverge to all points in the East. From Concord a line will run to White River Junction and thence on through St. Johnsbury, to complete connections with Montreal and Ogdensburg. In other parts of the country additional lines will be built, till soon there will be a system of wires that will enable the Press Association to be in ready communication with every considerable town. The United States Direct Cable Telegraph Company, which is the title of the new ocean company, will take possession of the cable, when after thirty days of its successful operation the final payment shall have been made to the contractors.

Laconics.

Mr. Daniel J. Spinney advertises to do any work coming under the heads of house, sign, ship, carriage and ornamental painting, for $2.50 per day.

The Secretary of the Navy has appointed Mr. Frank B. Randall, of this city, Second Assistant Engineer in the Revenue Marine.

Chief Eng'r George D. Emmons, U. S. N., has reported for duty at the navy yard, where he is to take charge of the Steam Engineering stores.

The bill gerrymandering this city is assigned for consideration by the House tomorrow at 11 o'clock. We have made arrangements for a full short-hand report of the speeches of Messrs. Emery, Kent and others.

Sometimes in hot weather everybody about a daily newspaper office wishes that he was a beloved pastor of a rich congregation, that he might have two or three months' vacation with salary running along all the same. But religious services can be dispensed with, and the daily paper can't, of course.

Mr. Ammi R. H. Fernald, clerk at the Kearsarge Mills, was presented by the operatives, on Saturday, with a fine Turkish easy-chair, a foot-stool and a meerschaum pipe. Mr. Fernald has been employed at the mill for the past twenty-nine years.

Mr. Edgar Bascom was taken to the insane asylum at Hartford, just three months from the day his son Joseph purchased a fiddle. That Portsmouth trombone would send him there in half that time.

We hear of men confessing on their death-bed to the crimes of murder, abduction and incendiarism, but who ever heard of a dying man confessing to stealing papers? Nobody! Death cannot scare that man.

A new stage, driven by Mr. A. H. White of Newcastle, runs between this city and the "The Wentworth" every day on the arrival of trains.

A young man named Frank Devine, employed in the Kearsarge Mills, while in an overheated condition one day last week, placed his head beneath a pump spout in the mill and let the water run upon it, to cool off. Later in the day, feeling faint, he was carried home and put to bed. He died the next morning.

Three fellows who were attempting to get into Mr. John Kelley's store, on Market street, at about 10 o'clock Saturday evening, were driven away by the barking of a dog, which attracted the attention of parties living near, when the rascals ran away.

—The Petersburg Index and Appeal has disposed of Gambetta for good and all. It hold that the Frenchman's refusal to fight a duel has cost him his influence. "In France, as in the southern States, a man who takes a prominent part in public life must be prepared promptly to defend his assaulted honor; and men who are not strong enough to meet such frequent occurring responsibilities, might as well keep away from the arena." Yet the South asks people to emigrate thither! And the Index and Appeal in an adjoining column advocates the whipping-post.

—A large frog, whose age is placed in round numbers at 1,000 years, was recently found ten feet below the surface at Sodus, N. Y. He jumped away quite lively, as soon as he could remember how he used to do it.

—"For a young woman to begin to pick lint off a young man's coat collar" is said to be the first symptom that the young man is in peril.

New Publications.

The London Quarterly Review for April, just reprinted by the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, has articles on the War between Prussia and Rome, Russian Advances in Central Asia, Discoveries at Troy, Medical Charities of London, The Alleged Apostasy of Wentworth (Lord Strafford,) an essay on the character and works of Samuel Wilberforce, late Bishop of Winchester, a description of the caricatures of Gillray, the "Nast" of the early part of this century; Irish Home Rule in the Eighteenth Century; and The Fall of the Liberal Party. By a singular coincidence, there are no fewer than four articles in the present number of this Review, and in the current number of its great rival, the Edinburgh, devoted to the same subjects—the religious contest in Prussia, Russian Advances in Central Asia, Schliemann's Discoveries, and Froude's Ireland.

THE fine country residence and farm formerly occupied by Rev. John F. Adams,—buildings in thorough repair, land well divided into mowing and tillage; fine fruit orchard, etc., well known for the large quantity of splendid strawberries produced.

The house has an overgrown lodge around it and the buildings are in thorough repair. There is a fruit orchard of 300 apple trees, 20 cherry trees and as many pear trees—and a nursery with 1300 young apple trees. From the grape vines on the place fifteen bushels of fruit have been sold in a season, besides abundance retained for home use. Part of the land heavily wooded and there is a great quantity of muck on the estate. In the pasture there is a never-failing spring. The farm is situated midway between depots of Eastern and Concord railroads. For sale at a bargain, if enquired for immediately,—of O. G. ROBINSON, on the premises, or Butler & Laighton, Market Square, or Bailey & Co., Market street. jel

FOR SALE.

TWO original historical OIL PAINTINGS, nearly three by four feet, in heavy gilt frames. One, the famous Capt. Smith of the Isle of Shoals history, advancing with his company in a boat toward what is now called Fort Point at Newcastle, about the years 1616 to '20; the astonished Indians, in canoes and on shore, beauty's antiquated bower at ancient Wood Island, which at that period is said to have been covered with woods and connected above water with Garrett's island, A. D.

The other, a vivid representation of Fort Constitution in its palmy days, the Light-House at its original height, and a lively sea view, as about 1850—a true picture of days when the white sail ships were flowing under the Piscataqua with their rich cargoes from foreign ports—days when Portsmouth ranked well in commerce. Such reminiscences of the past cannot fail to interest the present generation, and speak from the embalmed canvas with still greater interest to coming generations, particularly of this romantic locality. They are the works of a devoted son of old "Strawberry Bank," so called, and will tell their own story, whether in the parlor, counting-room, saloon or City hall, for either of which they are adapted.

Friends are invited to call soon and examine them whether disposed to purchase or not—at the author's Music Room, opposite the Post-office.

The St. Louis of To-Day.

[Edward King; Scribner's for July.]

Looking down upon the St. Louis of to-day, from the high roof of the superb temple which the Missourians have built to the mercurial god of insurance, one can hardly believe that the vast metropolis spread out before him represents the growth of only three-quarters of a century. The town seems as old as London. The smoke from the Illinois coal has tinged the walls a venerable brown, and the grouping of buildings is as picturesque and varied as that of a continental city. From the water side, on ridge after ridge, rise acres of solidly built houses, vast manufactories, magazines of commerce, long avenues bordered with splendid residences; a labyrinth of railways bewilders the eye; and the clang of machinery and the whirl of a myriad wagon-wheels rises to the ear. The levee is thronged with busy and uncouth laborers; dozens of white steamers are shrieking their notes of arrival and departure; the ferries are choked with traffic; a gigantic and grotesque scramble for the almost limitless West beyond is spread out before the vision. The town has leaped into a new life since the war; has doubled its population, its manufactures and its ambition, until it stands so fully abreast of its wonderful neighbor, Chicago, that the traditional acerbity of the reciprocal criticism for which both cities have so long been famous is latterly much enhanced. The city, which now stretches twelve miles along the ridges, branching from the water-shed between the Missouri, the Meramec and the Mississippi rivers, flanked by rolling prairies richly studded with groves and vineyards; which has many railroad lines pointed to its central depots, and a mile and a half of steamboats at its levee, a thousand miles from the sea; whose population has increased from 8,000, in 1835, to 450,000, in 1873; which has a banking capital of nineteen millions; which receives hundreds of thousands of tons of iron ore monthly, has bridged the Father of Waters, and talks of controlling the cotton trade of Arkansas and Texas,—is but little like the St. Louis of the days when Col. Stoddard had his headquarters in a rude cottage, and the United States, in his person, had just adopted the infant city. In those days the houses were nearly all built of hewn logs, set upon end, and covered with coarsely shingled roofs. The town extended along the line of what are now known as Main and Second streets; a little south of the square called the Place d' Armes, Fort St. Charles was held by a tiny garrison, and in the old stone tower which the Spaniards had built, debtors and criminals were confined together. French customs and French gaiety prevailed; there were two diminutive taverns, whose rafters nightly rang to the tales of hair-breadth escapes told by the boatmen of the Mississippi. The Chouteaus, the Lisas, and the Labbadies were the principal merchants; French and English schools flourished; peltry, lead and whisky were used for currency, and negroes were to be purchased for them; the semi-Indian garb of the trapper was seen at every street corner; and thousands of furs, stripped from the buffalo and the beaver, were exported to New Orleans. The mineral wealth lying within a hundred miles of St. Louis had hardly been dreamed of; the colonists were too busy in killing Indians and keeping order in the town, to think of iron, lead, coal and zinc.

—The difference between muzzling and muslin is that when dogs are dressed in muzzling, men feel safe; when women are dressed in muslin, men go mad.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the life and beauty of the hair. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. EDDY as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard Article is compounded with the greatest care. Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean. By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong. As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable. Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes." BUCKINGHAM'S DYE, FOR THE WHISKERS. This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and, quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off. MANUFACTURED BY R. P. HALL & CO., NASHUA, N. H. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine. 8-sep2-cao

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA- DEBILITY DROPSY AND HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon. This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhea, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Constitution. Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial. See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

Daily Chronicle.

The Practical Lover.

It was agreed on all hands that Ned Stone was a very practical fellow. He was a broker in the city. He had been a very poor man at one time in his life, and had to work very hard. His industry had in the end, however, met its due reward. At middle age he was comfortably circumstanced. When he announced to his friends, therefore, that he thought of taking to himself a wife, it was thought generally that the step he meditated was a prudent one. And when he further stated that he had made an offer of his hand to one Georgiana Warren, the daughter of a wealthy merchant, and that his offer had been accepted by the lady, we, of course, hastened to tender our hearty congratulations on the occasion.

Ned Stone spoke of the matter in his own simple, sober way.

"Well, you know, I'm getting on," he said, "and if I'm to marry, it's about time I should think of setting about it. You're very kind. I think I shall be very happy—in fact I have no doubt of it—as happy as a fellow has a right to expect to be. One has no right to expect too much, of course. But I'm quite fond in my way of this Georgiana Warren, and I think that she is in her way fond of me. She is not too young or too old, not too good looking, nor yet too plain; she is sensible and accomplished enough; and I don't see why she should not make a good sort of a wife, and, similarly, I don't see why I shouldn't make a very good sort of a husband. Perhaps I'm not very fond of old Warren, the father, and perhaps he isn't very fond of me. But I don't know as that matters much. I dare say we shall understand each other better by and by; meantime, I must try and make the best of the old man's humor, and not run counter to him more than I can avoid. And it seems to me that the old fellow would be no fonder of anybody else who might want to marry his daughter than he is of me. You see it's our affair—Georgiana and mine—and not his: though it's hard to make him see it in that light. But I dare say it will come right in the end. That's what I tell Georgiana, when she takes up with rather gloomy views about her father's temper. She has good sense, and, I think, looks at the matter very much as I do—only, of course, she can't help feeling that he is her father, whereas, thank goodness, he isn't mine."

It will be seen that Ned Stone was not a lover to "sigh like a furnace." As to writing a woeful ballad to his mistress' eyebrows, I don't fancy he could have accomplished such a feat, even if his life depended on his doing so. The thermometer of his love stood at temperate, with no tendency toward an upward rise. The "marks of love," as they are generally understood, were not discernible upon him.

He never said a word as to the agitated state of his breast, nor to the excitement of his feelings. He did not regard Miss Warren as an angel or a goddess. Probably he would have been the first to contradict any allegation that might have been made to the effect that she was anything of the kind. Miss Warren appeared to him what she seemed to everybody else—a nice, sensible girl.

I called upon Stone one evening. He was alone. He looked a little grave, and held a small sealed packet. We discussed various indifferent subjects, then I inquired concerning Miss Georgiana.

"Oh, haven't you heard?" he answered. "But of course you couldn't have heard. The affair is off. Our engagement has come to an end."

"You don't really mean that?" I asked, in surprise.

"Yes; the thing's 'broken off,' as people say. It's a hard job, and I'm sorry for it, but it can't be helped."

Had the lady resented his serenity and discharged him, I asked myself.

As though he had heard the question, he went on; "It's the old man's doings. I hope he is satisfied now. He's the most unreasonable and disagreeable old fellow I ever had the misfortune to meet."

"But what did he do?"

"We fell out about the settlements—that was where the hitch arose. I'm sure I did all I could to please him. I gave up condition after condition, quite in opposition to the advice of my solicitor. I told him to settle what money he proposed to settle on his daughter—it wasn't much, after all—just as he pleased—I didn't want to touch a half-penny of it. He might settle it, I told him, just as strictly as ever he pleased, or he might settle nothing at all upon her, if he liked that better. It was his daughter I wanted, and not his money. And now for my part, I'd take care my wife never came to want. I undertook to insure my life for a large amount, and to assign the policy to trustees for her benefit, in case of my death, covenanting of course, to have the premiums regularly paid to keep up the insurance in the regular way. I thought that a fair arrangement, but it did not content him. He wanted to tie my hands completely. He hadn't a ha'p'oth of confidence in me. He gave me credit for no sort of affection for his daughter. He insisted that any money that I in the future might become possessed of, I should covenant into a settlement. It is absurd. Of course I couldn't consent to it. I had business to consider. Of course my wife and children—if I had any—would reap the benefit as much as I shall. I told Georgiana exactly how the matter stood. She's of age. I asked her whether she'd marry me without the old man's consent. Poor girl! she was in an awful way. But she did not care to do that. She shrank from offending her father, so there's no help for it—the thing's broken off, and I'm not to be married, it seems—this time, at any rate."

He spoke rather sorrowfully, but still without the slightest trace of ill temper. I endeavored to console him in a common sort of way.

He opened a small packet that he had been holding in his hand.

"This is pleasant," he said, quietly, "here are all my letters to Georgiana. Ah! and here is a little present I gave her, sent back to me."

There were not many letters. Their contents I could guess; little enough like conventional love letters, probably very unexatic compositions, yet simple and to the purpose, and practical enough. The present was a ring—a large diamond, heavily set in pure gold, just the valuable, simple, substantial present which I could have fancied Ned Stone selected for his betrothed.

"I suppose they'll expect me to send back Georgiana's letters to her?"

"Undoubtedly."

"It's the usual way when engagements come to an end?"

"Certainly; it's the usual way."

He rubbed his chin and seemed to reflect a little.

"Have a cigar," he said, presently, "and let's talk about something else. This is hot the most agreeable subject in the world. Tell me what you have been doing with yourself lately."

We fell to talking about this, that, and the other. Presently I went away. As I went away, he said, quietly: "I think I shall try to see Georgiana once more, for a particular reason."

I did not ask what the particular reason was, and he did not tell me.

A few nights afterwards I saw him again. He was at no time subject to much change of mood, or at any rate seldom betrayed any variation of that kind. Yet it struck me that, if anything, he was in better spirits than usual.

"You did not mention," he said, "what I told you the other night—that my engagement was broken off?"

I explained that I had not mentioned it for a particular good reason. I had not seen any person whom it would interest to be informed of the fact.

"It's just as well," he said, "because the engagement isn't broken off, or rather it's on again."

"Indeed! I'm very glad to hear it."

"I told you I should try and see Georgiana again. Well, I knew that she often went with her father and other relations to the Zoological Gardens on Sunday. So I went to the Zoological. I soon discovered her with Warren and a lot of other people. She saw me, and understood by my sign that I wanted to speak on the quiet. Well, she lingered behind a little, and when the rest of the party went to look at the kangaroos, she slipped with me into the snake-house. She looked a little frightened, and the tears were standing in her eyes.

"So I put my arms around her—it didn't matter to me who saw, you know—and told her there was nothing to be alarmed at, and that I only wanted to say a word or two. I told her that I was sorry I had not sent back her letters, as I ought to have done, but the plain fact of the matter was, I couldn't do it."

"You love me still then, Ned?" she said.

"'Of course I do, Georgie', I said, 'Who's been telling you I didn't?'"

She began crying bitterly.

"'Come, Georgie,' I said, 'let us get married whether papa likes it or not; only say the word.'"

"She didn't say a word. Poor child. She could not speak for crying, and she looked at me, and gave me such a little nod, and then she began laughing through her tears. It was the prettiest sight you ever saw. Of course I kissed her; and then I turned, and who should be standing close by my side but old Warren.

"Georgie gave a little scream, and then tried to make believe that we were looking at the boa constrictor. But of course that didn't work, so I said to old Warren, in a cheery sort of way, and putting out my hand cheerfully, 'Mr. Warren, Georgie and I are going to be married; that's quite settled. But you and I may as well be friends all the same. We'd much rather have your consent than not. Suppose you give it to us?'

"He was so astonished that before, I think, he knew quite what he was doing, he'd taken my hand, with all his friends standing around and looking on. Of course he could not go back after that. And—so—the thing was settled."

I congratulated him heartily. Presently I said, by way of change:

"How lucky it was that you didn't send back Miss Warren's letters."

"My dear fellow, that was what I wanted to explain to her; I couldn't send them back."

"You found them too dear to you?"

At last, then, he had been betrayed into a feeling of romance.

"Not at all," he exclaimed: "I could not send them back, because I hadn't kept them. I'd destroyed them.

"Destroyed them?"

"Yes, what was the good of them? I only keep business letters; they're regularly docketed at my office. But for Georgie's letters, they were no use. I made them into pipe lights."

"You didn't tell her that?"

"No—I hadn't time. I never arrived at an explanation about the letters."

"Then, my dear Stone, let me entreat you, whatever you do, don't give Miss Warren your explanation about the matter."

"Why shouldn't I?"

"Don't you see? She thought you didn't send back her letters for a sentimental reason, because they were so dear to you that you could not possibly part with them; and so, in point of fact, that little misunderstanding of hers led to the re-establishment of your love affair."

"Do you think so?" he said musingly. "But if Georgie has made any mistake about the matter, I think that I am bound to set her right."

"My dear Stone, take my advice, for fear of accident; set her right after the wedding ceremony, not before."

Whether or not he took my advice, I am not aware. He was married in due course of time, to Miss Warren, and I know that lady was heard to declare that she married the best husband in the world.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 24, 1874.

The Legislature.

On Monday, Mr. Sanborn of Franklin, republican, offered a joint resolution, that whereas the tax-payers of the State demand and have been repeatedly assured that the present session of the Legislature will not exceed three weeks, and whereas no longer time is required to finish all business of a public character, that (the Senate concurring) the present session to be brought to a close on the 24th of June. On motion of Mr. Mellows, democrat, of Newmarket, the resolution was laid on the table.

NOTICES OF BILLS

By Mr. Jackson of Manchester—Relating to the sale of spirituous liquors.

By Mr. Marcy of Portsmouth—To secure freedom of elections; also in relation to the police court of Portsmouth.

READ A SECOND TIME.

By Mr. Marcy of Portsmouth—To disannex part of the homestead farm of Dudley C. Littlefield in Greenland, and annex the same to district No. 2, Stratham. To Committee on Education.

By Mr. Sinclair of Littleton—To prevent the running of stationary engines in compact parts of towns and cities.

By Mr. Marcy of Portsmouth—To incorporate the Safety Railway Company.

By Mr. Kent of Portsmouth—To enable the county of Rockingham and city of Portsmouth to purchase the Portsmouth Bridge.

Mr. Lamprey of Manchester—To place the inmates of the Insane Asylums under the protection of laws.

By Mr. Bailey of Hopkinton: An act in amendment of an act to establish the city of Concord. (Annual meeting to choose ward officers to be held the first Tuesday in November, and all city and town officers to be chosen by the people to be elected by ballot.)

Democratic Doings.

The Boston Globe's Concord correspondent, under date of Monday, telegraphs as follows: The Nashua gerrymander is without excuse, except of a partisan character, and will change ward lines that have been undisturbed through all the mutations of politics for twenty-one years, or since they were established by the democratic legislature of 1853.

The sentiment of both the legislature and the public regarding the Sinclair local option license law is rapidly finding expression, and it is already apparent that it cannot pass in its present shape, and probably not at all, however amended. Many democrats object to it, because it contains the local option feature, while the liquor dealers denounce it loudly. Its penalties and prohibitions are very severe, and a Concord liquor dealer, in expressing his opinion of it, said it ought to be entitled "A bill to send rumsellers to State Prison."

The Rockingham Conference

Of Congregational and Presbyterian churches met at Candia, June 9th and 10th. Rev. J. H. Stearns was moderator, and Rev. E. Robie secretary. Rev. C. Tenney, of Chester, preached from "I am doing a great work," etc., showing the danger of turning aside from the great work of life. After the written reports from the churches, Rev. J. Bartlett spoke on "Growth in Grace." An interesting Sabbath School meeting followed, with short addresses.

In the evening, Rev. C. Packard, of Windham, read an essay upon "Religion in the Family," which was followed by remarks. Rev. C. F. Morse of Atkinson, read an instructive essay upon the need of a Woman's Board of Missions.

Wednesday, at 8 o'clock, A. M., there was a prayer meeting, followed at half-past 9 by transaction of business. At the same hour the Rockingham County Woman's Missionary Society held a meeting in the vestry of the church, which continued with interest till 12 o'clock, noon. At the same time the question was discussed in the church, by ministers and laymen, "What can and ought the church to do to check the prevalent corruption in public life?" Rev. A. B. Peabody, of Stratham, opened with an essay, which awakened such interest that it was voted that he prepare it for the press. It is hoped that many who did not hear it, may be able to read it. The next exercise was an essay by Rev. E. Robie, upon "Ministerial Support," which was discussed with interest, developing some difference of opinions.

The meeting closed with a sermon by Rev. E. W. Bullard, of Hampstead, followed by the Lord's Supper.

The conference passed a vote of thanks to the people of Candia, for the abundant liberality with which the members were entertained.

Congress adjourned on Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

A daughter of Simeon Fitz, of Auburn, Me., assaulted her mother with a knife, on Friday, and cut a gash in her neck, barely escaping the jugular vein. The girl has been taken to the insane hospital.

The members of the Massachusetts Press Association and friends, to the number of 200, arrived at Quebec, on Sunday morning, on their annual excursion. Some left for the West on Monday, and the others Tuesday morning for the Lower St. Lawrence.

Purchasing one of the patent punches, knowing it to be stolen, cost a New York horse-car conductor three years and six months in the State prison. The judge gave the remarkable explanation of the sentence that there were thousands of conductors in the country who looked upon this trial with considerable interest, and he imposed this severe penalty as a warning to them.

On the 20th inst., Professor Pierce attempted a balloon ascension from the Fair Grounds at Allentown, Pa., and a performance on the trapeze bar, but the lifting power being insufficient he was dragged through tree tops and against a house. More gas was supplied and an attempt was made when he sailed above the houses for a block, but in descending the balloon struck a window breaking the collar bone and several ribs of Pierce. He also received internal injuries threatening his life.

On Saturday quite a tragedy occurred in Portland harbor. A drunken man jumped overboard from the schooner Mary C. Marriner, but was fished out. Shortly after he jumped for the mate, Wm. Patch, and in the ensuing struggle both went overboard. Then came a terrific struggle. The sailor had the mate by the throat, holding his head under water, and saying, "I'll drown you." At last the mate managed to shake him off, and grasp a line lowered down by the captain, by the side of the vessel. Scarcely had he done this when the sailor made another spring at him, when he gave the fellow a kick. He sprang back, and throwing up his hands, sank at once, and was not seen afterward. The tide was running very swiftly at the place, and he was doubtless carried out to sea. The mate was so exhausted that he was unable to get aboard on the rope, and was taken off in a boat.

The Wolfeborough News goes hard after a man named Simonds, who wants to be Superintendent of Public Instruction. The News is led to state that "there is plenty of evidence in Wolfeborough that Mr. Simonds is neither a gentleman nor a scholar," and also observes that it has "hitherto supposed there were some men left in the (democratic) party who were both." Stars and Meteors.

At certain seasons meteors dart across the firmament between the earth and the fixed stars. But they quickly vanish, while the fixed stars remain. In the medical firmament the great vegetable invigorant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, has long been a fixed star of the first magnitude. Little meteors in the shape of imitations, bearing various names, now and then attempt a glimmering competition with it, but they soon disappear from the field of vision, leaving the glory of the true remedy unimpaired. The number of these will-o'-the-wisps that have come to grief within the last twenty years is beyond computation, and those now in existence are in the last agonies of extinguishment. The standard tonic and alterative that cures and prevents so many distressing diseases, and which no debilitated invalid ever took with out receiving a wonderful accession of strength and vitality, only derives increased popularity from the attempts of charlatans to run their failures in the Hostetter groove.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent, which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter, capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No render of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

Local Matters.

Laconics.

We received a pleasant call, Tuesday, from Mr. Marcellus F. Berry of Chicago, a Portsmouth boy who went west at the age of sixteen and after years of hard knocks worked up to a lucrative and very responsible position in the American Express Co. Success to all such enterprising young men, for of such are cities like Chicago made thriving.

There were about one hundred passengers on each of the trains on the Eastern Railroad on Sunday.

By the death of Rev. Charles Lowe, which occurred at Swamscott, Mass., on Saturday, the Unitarian denomination loses an honored and efficient leader. Born in this city November 18, 1828, he was educated at Phillips academy, Exeter, and at Harvard College, where he was graduated among the first scholars in his class in 1847. After leaving college he pursued his theological studies with Rev. Andrew P. Peabody, D. D., then minister of the Unitarian church in this city; and subsequently he went abroad, spending a year in study in Germany and another year in travel in Europe and the East.

That Ward-Room Extravagance.

The Times gives its readers the following, as a proof of the unscrupulous extravagance of the republican party of this city; but we consider it too rich to be left entirely to the democrats, and therefore reproduce it for the benefit of the republicans:

"A false impression is being created by the unscrupulous navy yard and custom-house cliques, that the bill to amend the city charter will increase the expenses of the city materially. Under the present extravagant system inaugurated by this branch of the Washington ring, three ward-rooms have been erected at great cost, to enable the navy yard bosses and custom-house officials to have a comfortable loafing place to button-hole and browbeat free citizens to vote the Grant ticket on election days."

Let us see just where the "false impression" conveyed in this statement comes in. The Times says "three ward-rooms have been erected at great cost, to enable the navy yard bosses and custom-house officials to have a comfortable loafing-place;" we should like to know just where those three ward-rooms are, and when the republicans built them. Ward One ward-room no doubt was built for a "loafing-place for navy yard bosses and custom-house officials," for it was built by the democrats, (in 1851-52, during the democratic administrations of Abner Greenleaf and John Laighton,) at a time when that party had the national government and was running the navy yard entirely in the interests of the democratic party,—though the ward was captured from the democrats in 1855, in spite of the "navy yard bosses" and "custom-house officials," to furnish whom with a "comfortable loafing-place" the Times says the ward-room was built.

The Ward Two ward-room was probably built before Columbus discovered America,—at least we went to school in it some twenty-five or thirty years ago, and it was then complained of as being utterly unfit for school purposes, owing to the very bad light. For many years the voters of ward two voted in the Court House; and it was only after the lower story of the State street school-house had been condemned by the school committee, and absolutely abandoned, that the republican city government utilized it and at last gave the most strongly republican ward in the city a decent ward-room, at the "great cost" of a new desk and railing, and a few other alterations and necessary repairs.

In Ward Three the republicans did build a ward-room,—the only one built "under the present extravagant" republican rule,—and that one was built in the only democratic ward of the city, and only after years of furious clamor from the democracy. Thus it will be seen that the erection of one ward-room, in a democratic ward, to satisfy the persistent (and not ill-grounded) demands of the democratic party, is the only foundation for the charge that the republicans "erected three ward-rooms at great cost, for loafing-places for navy yard bosses," etc.

The article in the Times from which we have quoted, closes as follows: "Our honest belief is, that with a democratic administration in this city, the expenditures can and will be reduced three or four thousand dollars per annum." We don't know of any tax-payer who would object to such reduction; but, unfortunately, democratic professions when the party is out of power and democratic actions when the party is in power, are very different things. No old line whig or early republican of this city need be told how magnificently the democrats handled the navy yard as a political crushing machine, so long as they held the reins of the national government, though they have ever since loudly denounced such conduct as corrupt and tyrannical to the last degree; but a still better illustration of the change which comes o'er the spirit of the democratic dream with a change of circumstances, may be found by comparing their furious denunciations of "partizan legislation" and "partizan proscription" for the last seventeen years, with the unscrupulous partizan work which has taken up almost the entire time of the pure and non-partizan democratic State legislature, so far during the present session.

A California Ranch.

The Chicago Journal publishes a letter from Rev. H. D. Kitchell, dated Oakland, Cal., in which he says:

"I met here last Fall Mr. Francis Delong, from Cornwall, Vt., who invited me in the Spring to come up and see his ranch. So I ran up by steamer fifteen miles to San Rafael, where he met me with a carriage and took me eleven miles out to his place. About fifteen years ago he got hold of an old Spanish claim here of 13,000 acres, 1,000 of which is intervale, level and smooth, dotted with oaks, and now waving with wheat and barley. A navigable creek enters it, so that his own schooner does his carrying. A mile and a half up, at the head of the valley, he has a fine spacious dwelling and a whole village of out-houses. Around this 150 acres are in fruit trees—17,000 apple, 500 peach, as many plum—and fig, almond, English walnut and pear, enough—and all as clean-kept as a flower-bed. Of vine-yard, eight acres. Good market at San Francisco, for best fruit; but he finds profit in turning most of it into vinegar. The wheat and barley are for hay, which is in great demand. Green hills circle round this valley, and he owns to the tops of them; and on these thousand hills he has just about 1,000 cows. These are divided into nine droves, each drove assigned to its own ranch up in some ravine, let to some dairyman, with dairy buildings and implements, and to the amount of ten acres per cow, on terms of half the butter, calves, and pork to each party. There are nine such complete dairies. He took me through eight of them—clean, sweet, perfect—and the six months up to May 1 had yielded twenty-seven tons of butter, bringing an average of thirty centsthe pound. I rode with him two whole days all over his ranch, and a richer piece of scenery or a finer business stroke I have never seen.

Strange how perfectly things are fitted for their place! Here now are to be six rainless months, and all grasses are to die, and how shall any cattle kind live? Go up those hill-sides and pluck up a handful of the grass. It is thick as a mat, and about six to eight inches in height. Half the handful is burr clover, full of rich, oily seed. Another quarter is wild oats, as nutritious as the tamer; and the rest is of two other smaller sorts of clover, and all sorts of seedy flowers, that now make all the hills as gay as a garden. Already all this is ripening and ready to dry or die, but will hold there as good hay, and the ground be covered with seeds, and cattle and sheep will feed and fatten on those dead looking hills, till the rains come in November. On such feed these cows give their pound of butter a day. Each dairy has its little field of barley and beets, to feed for a little time after the first rains, till new grass starts. Nothing lives by the root—all starts again from seed.

And you should see these immensities of wheat, measureable only by miles. This year, again, California will be the banner State for wheat, for the rain, the one grand condition of fruitfulness here, has been all they want.

Wool buying has already commenced in Lebanon, the clip bringing 40 cents per pound.

The regular stages between Plymouth and the Profile House will commence running this week.

They are to have a $25,000 school house in Franklin.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the detention of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism and Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leuchorrhoea arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure, health returns.

HERE THEY ARE COMPLETED AND

FOR SALE.

TWO original historical OIL PAINTINGS, nearly three by four feet, in heavy gilt frames. One, the famous Capt. Smith of the Isle of Shoals history, advancing with his company in a boat toward what is now called Fort Point at Newcastle, about the years 1616 to '20, the actual ground, Indians, in canoes and on shore; Smith's antiquated bark at anchor near Wood Island, which at that period is said to have been covered with woods and connected above water with Gerrish's Island, &c.

The other, a vivid representation of Fort Constitution in its palmy days, the Light-House at its original height, and a lively sea view, at about 1830—a true picture of days when the white sail ships were flowing into the Piscataqua with their rich cargoes from Foreign climes—days when Portsmouth ranked well in commerce. Such reminiscences of the past cannot fail to interest the present generation, and speak from the enchanted canvas with still greater interest to coming generations, particularly of this romantic locality. They are the works of a devoted son of old "Strawberry Bank," so called, and will tell their own story, whether in the parlor, counting-room, saloon or City hall, for either of which they are adapted.

Friends are invited to call soon and examine them whether disposed to purchase or not—at the author's Music Room, opposite the Post-office.

THOS. P. MOSES.

Prayer of the Liquor Seller.

The Catawauqua (Pa.) Dispatch suggests the following as an appropriate "form of prayer" for a "conscientious" liquor-seller:

"Our Father, which art in Heaven, I feel that it would not be right at this late hour to retire without asking thy blessing on my business during the day. Pardon my sins, and bless the good I have done this day. I know thy Word pronounces a woe on my business; but my own conscience tells me it is right to sell intoxicating drink to all who will buy it. Bless the liquor I have sold for medical purposes. May it prove an effectual cure. Bless the brandy I have sold to those poor men who took five drinks each to-day, at ten cents a drink, out of their daily wages of one dollar and twenty-five cents. Bless the rum I have sold to that poor brother who had the mawa-a-potu; may it take away all foulness from his breath, and all the red blotches from his face, and make him clear and right in his mind, and sober, and pure in heart, and strong in body to work for his poor, heart-broken wife and helpless children. Bless that neighbor who gave me his last dollar to-day for drink. Don't permit him to go beyond a moderate drinker; and be pleased to provide him clothes for his wife and bread for his starving children. May the liquor business prosper, and extend over the earth. Bless all my brethren engaged in it, and make them all instrumental in turning multitudes of poor drunken and profligate sinners to thyself, and to live lives of sobriety and virtue. I thank thee that I am not like those other publicans who sell rotgut, and who are never sober; nor like those raving topers who frequent my bar-room, and who are so scared with the snakes and devils that run over their pillows that they cannot rest. Hear my prayer, Lord, and send me multitudes of customers that I may do them good; and make me a blessing to poor widows and orphans, and to the bodies and souls of my fellow-men in this world; and at last take me to thy bar above, and grant me and all my companions in the liquor traffic a place in glory with our dear brethren, Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob. Amen."

—A school boy, being requested to write a composition upon the subject of "Pins," produced the following: "Pins are very useful. They have saved the lives of a great many men, women and children—in fact, whole families." "How so?" asked the puzzled teacher. And the boy replied: "Why, by not swallowing them." This matches the story of the other boy, who defined salt "as the stuff that makes potatoes taste bad when you don't put on any."

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is prized for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

FIFTY PER CENT.

SAVED.

No power is so costly as that of human muscle, and fifty per cent. of the power required to run a Sewing Machine may be saved by using the

LIGHT RUNNING

"DOMESTIC."

—IT MAKES THE—

with the least and most simple machinery of any SHUTTLE Sewing Machine. It, therefore, WEARS LESS than any other, and combines, with its remarkable simplicity and ease of running, great quietness of operation with a wonderful range of work. Don't fail to examine it.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence. Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used. Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are put up in neat style and in a convenient form for use, rendering it much more convenient than any other polish. In each box are 1 stick in such a form as to fit closely against the stove, thus all waste is saved

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, yourname, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, or dollar boxes of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Blueing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing!

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

No. 75 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable rates.

JOHN TAGGART."

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care. Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean. By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong. As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable. Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS. This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY DROPSY AND HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined, as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

The Wives' Stratagem.

[Clare Vernon, in Cincinnati Times.]

Now that there is so much sighing over the good old days, when the feminine portion of humanity kept in their "sphere," and "strong-minded" women were unknown, I am tempted to relate an event that took place at least sixty years ago, if not more.

In a thriving village in one of the New England States—which has since become quite an important city—there lived two young and clever men, who subscribed themselves as Richard Flagg and Daniel Hazelett. Now, these two young men, after going the rounds of flirtation and courting, having laid by enough to purchase and furnish each a snug little house, brought as mistresses to them two cousins, Elizabeth and Huldah Gurney.

Richard and Huldah, Daniel and Elizabeth, promised themselves any amount of happiness in the connubial state; and, indeed, there was a reasonable prospect of this result, for Richard and Daniel were industrious and generous. Elizabeth and Huldah kept their houses in admirable trim, and, what was much better, their tempers also. The two husbands had good trades and good wages; the two wives husbanded those wages, and the streams of their lives flowed smoothly on in the channel of domestic peace. Not without some ripples, truly, but without any dangerous rapids. Yes, they had fair prospects of being happy, and, for a time, were really so. But the years went on, as years will go, bringing with them baby faces to both households, and they brought something else the young wives would gladly have dispensed with—something which, although at first it seemed unimportant, yet finally took such proportions and privileges that it gave promise of drawing to an awful though common ruin, those two happy, prosperous families.

Richard and Daniel began to love the haunts of Bacchus, and Saturday night was sure to find them pouring libations at his shrine. The consequence was that when they sought their homes it was with depleted pockets and light-headed bodies. At first, when they came home in this condition, their wives gave curtain lectures for their express benefit. When these were found to be without avail tears and importunities were exhausted upon them, but to no purpose, for every succeeding Saturday night they presented themselves to their wives which emptier pockets, fuller stomachs and lighter heads.

Huldah and Elizabeth were wise women, and they could see, what their infatuated husbands would not, whither all this was tending. They felt assured that if their companions were not checked in their career, although they had not yet lost all self-respect, they speedily would; and after that they felt that ruin—not only earthly, but eternal—would probably be the culmination. If they could but be arrested before they had reached the reckless stage all might be well. But how, was this to be effected? How could they avoid the calamity they feared? How could they rescue their husbands and the fathers of their innocent children from the doom to which they were speeding? How could they avoid becoming the most pitiable of objects—drunkards' wives? How could they save their children the burning shame of being the offspring of drunkards?

One afternoon Mrs. Flagg called upon her cousin, and found her alone and in tears; putting her arms round the careworn form, she said:

"My dear cousin, I do not need to inquire what has occasioned these tears; I am by bitter experience too well aware of the cause."

"O, Elizabeth, can we not do something? Must we sit with folded arms and see ourselves, our children, and our husbands disgraced and ruined, and do nothing to ward off the fatal blow?"

"Nothing, I fear," replied Elizabeth, sadly, "but pray, and that I have done; but God has turned a deaf ear to my entreaties; He will not hear my supplications, nor give balm for my wounds. O, Huldah, when I reflect that Daniel is going the certain road to death—death of independence, of respectability, of peace, of reputation, of morality, and of the soul—when I realize that my babes will surely be involved in his downfall and share his shame, my faith in the justice of a God who permits such things to be grows very weak."

"But, Elizabeth, you should not be so despondent. You should trust God more. Are you sure, my dear cousin, that you are willing to do all you can in this matter?" said Mrs. Flagg, earnestly.

"Oh, yes, anything, anything. I fear my efforts would be fruitless. But I would suffer anything, the tortures of the stake even, if it would be of avail," was Mrs. Hazelett's reply.

"Then, Elizabeth, I think God will answer your prayer, though not perhaps in a way you might anticipate. But are you sure," continued Mrs. Flagg, "that you are ready to make any sacrifice that could be required of you? I have something to propose, and, though it does not partake of the painful character of torture at the stake, yet your sensitive nature might dread it far more."

"Oh no, that cannot be," exclaimed Mrs. Hazelett, excitedly. "If I can do aught to aid Daniel I shall not shrink, however painful. If you have anything so joyful to communicate please tell me at once."

Mrs. Flagg, in a few words, made known her plan, and then her cousin said:

"But it may make Daniel angry with me, and he may cease to love me."

"Well, if it does," said Mrs. Flagg—"I do not think it will—will that be so dreadful as to have him cursed forever? And if you refuse, and he does not repent him of the evil of his ways, to have a voice on the day of doom pronounce against you, saying: 'Ye knew your duty, but ye did it not?' On the other side, if we do this and are successful, how happy you will be in the thought that you were instrumental in saving him."

"Oh, yes," said Mrs. Hazelett; "I am now ready to act with you."

It was night in the middle of January, and any person who has experienced a New England winter will understand that it was a cold as a breeze from the Polar Seas, and that it was a night to sit close to the fire and rejoice that one was comfortably housed; when many a poor wretch was exposed to the tender mercies of old winter without the intervention of a warm roof, blazing fire, sufficient food, and suitable clothing.

A person would naturally suppose that no one would have gone out on such a night, unless compelled by want of the extreme necessities of life; but any one looking into the bar-room of the Warren House would have discovered his mistake, for seated around the well-filled fireplace, standing before the bar, &c., were a dozen men, who were passing the time drinking, smoking, telling stories, singing songs, and the like, who were surely not there for the necessities of life, unless, indeed, tobacco and rum can be reckoned as such.

The Warren House stood about a mile distant from the town previously mentioned as being the residence of the characters of this narrative. It was a favorite place of resort for those who wished "to make a night of it," unknown to their families and neighbors. Among the ones assembled the night in question, were the two friends, Daniel Hazelett and Richard Flagg.

The company was beginning to wear its jolliest looks. The landlord's son—a fine-looking young man, who would have graced a more honorable position than that of bar-keeper—was busy "mixing drinks" and serving the company, when a furiously-driven sleigh drew up before the tavern, and the landlord hurried out to make welcome the new comers. He was greatly surprised to find that the occupants of the sleigh were two women, who greeted him with:

"How are you, old fellow! Just have our nags well cared for, will you?"

Then, without heeding the landlord's polite offers of assistance, they leaped out and stamped loudly into the hall.

"This way, ladies," said the host, leading the way to the parlor. But ignoring his words, one of them said:

"Let's hurry up, old gal, and get a drink," and pushed open the bar-room door.

Daniel Hazelett, with his feet on the mantle-piece and a pipe in his mouth, was relating some of his exploits to a listening few, some two or three others were singing a drinking song, while Dick Flagg, who had a notion of "being up in the world," was standing on a box delivering a rather hiccoughy speech. The room was full of nauseous tobacco-smoke, and it was truly and unqualifiedly a scene of unlimited, drunken confusion.

What a sensation the appearance of those two women caused! The song died a sudden and premature death; the speech ended in the middle of a word, and the orator of the night, Richard Flagg, Esq., placed his just-filled glass so hastily down that it missed the bar and crashed upon the floor. The story stopped in the most exciting part without any reference to a conclusion, and the narrator, Daniel Hazelett, removed his feet from their elevated position and stood up, staring with all his eyes at the interlopers. Surely they were not his wife and her cousin? Ah no, those red-faced, swaggering women, with pushed-back bonnets, cloaks all awry, and a rowdyish appearance generally, were not, they could not be, the quiet, gentle wives of an hour ago? But woeful fact, they were. What had wrought this transformation?

"Hollo, Dick, that you?" said Huldah. "Go on with your speech, we won't interrupt, will we Lib?"

"No!" replied Mrs. Hazelett, boisterously; "but I'd relish a hot drink better than a speech just now. What do you say, Hul?"

"Just my opinion exactly. Your treat this time, you know," said Mrs. Flagg.

"Is it? Well, Leigh, toddy for two. Make it stiff!" said Mrs. Hazelett, swaggering up to the bar, followed by her cousin.

The clerk, who saw through the affair at a glance, and who relished a joke hugely, prepared two glasses of weak toddy and placed them on the bar.

"Elizabeth!" thundered Hazelett, "what do you mean?"

"O, come, old fellow, don't try the lordly dodge—it won't do any good; and we shall all hear you just the same if you don't speak in quite such a high key," replied Elizabeth, nonchalantly touching glasses with Huldah and seating herself on the counter.

"Oh, Huldah!" gasped Flagg, "What are you here for?"

"For the same reason that you are, my dear Dick—something to drink and good company."

"But—but," stammered poor Dick, "hadn't you better go in the parlor and have it sent in to you?"

"Oh, no, indeed!" said Mrs. Flagg. "Whatever's good enough for Dan and you'll do for us."

"You're right there, Hul; but it's your treat," said Mrs. Hazelett.

"So it is. Two more glasses, Leigh," said Mrs. Flagg.

"Elizabeth," commanded Hazelett, looking ready to creep into a beer-keg to hide his mortification; "go home immediately."

"That's very easy to say, Dan, but I don't intend to obey," said Elizabeth, spiritedly.

"No," said Huldah, "we are not going home till we please."

"But the children," suggested Dick.

"The children, indeed!" retorted Mrs. Flagg. "I find this vastly more entertaining than the society of squalling children."

"Elizabeth, return home at once," stamped Daniel.

"Yes; Huldah, you'd better go, hadn't you?" urged the milder Dick, wishing himself any place other than there.

"Not a step do we stir, unless you accompany us," exclaimed the cousins. "We've had altogether too much of loneliness and watching, and we are not going to submit to it any longer. You will do as you please, of course, but we shall stay as long as you do."

"Well, Dan, let's go then."

"We'd better, I guess," said Richard.

"Yes; anything better than this!" cried Hazelett.

"Well, landlord, send our team around," called Elizabeth; "say, Hul, let's have another glass and go."

"Don't drink that," cried the husbands, as their wives raised the toddy to their lips.

"Why not?" queried the imperturbable Huldah. "If it does you good it surely cannot harm us."

"Of course it can't," said Mrs. Hazelett, draining hers to the bottom. "Leigh is a good hand on the mix. He manufactured toddy, doesn't he?" continued she, smacking her lips in an audible manner.

"Let's go, Dick," said Hazelett, in despair, "or we'll have both these women drunk on our hands."

"That isn't anything; we've had drunken husbands on our hands these three years," said Elizabeth. "But come, Hul, we'll go; the boys want to so very bad."

"So we will," said Huldah, and they quitted the bar-room with their husbands, much to the relief of the latter.

"What made you commit such foolishness?" demanded Hazelett, as he drove away from the tavern, in the sleigh in which Flagg and himself had come, followed by Dick and Huldah in the other one.

"Because I was driven to desperation at the sight of the husband I love better than anything else in the world, rushing headlong over the brink of dissipation into the gulf of drunkenness, disgrace, and death! O, Daniel! shall it be in vain?"

He made no reply, but drove on in silence.

"My dear Huldah, how could you humiliate me so?" said Mr. Flagg, reproachfully.

"O, Dick! my life has been a constant humiliation for the last few years, and cannot you endure a single hour?"

"Well Huldah," said Dick, deliberately, "the next time I go to the Warren House, or any other house, I shall take you with me."

"Oh, you dear, good darling," sobbed Huldah, as she kissed him. Dick returned it, gathered her closely to him, and drove on, thanking God for his true and faithful wife.

Hazelett made no promises, but he never needed another lesson, and Dick Flagg's wife was never taken to a drinking bout.

And now my story's done.

Daily Chronicle.

THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1874.

Congress.

Previous to the adjournment of Congress, the Senate laid on the table the bill admitting Colorado to the Union.

The President sent in the names of Gov. Shepherd, Gov. Dennison and Mr. Blow to be District Commissioners. The first named was rejected, 36 to 6. Alexander G. Cottle was then nominated and confirmed with the others.

The tariff bill goes over till December, the senate refusing the request for a second conference. The civil rights bill was not reached a second time and remains on the speaker's table. The matter of newspaper postage, under the lead of Senator Sherman, was fixed by the conference at two cents and three for books. There was great opposition manifested to this in the house, but time was so precious that rather than order a third conference the rate was agreed upon. There was also this consideration, that this provision of law does not take effect till January, and Congress can act in regard to the matter during December. The bill paying Mrs. Captain Hall $15,000 for her husband's manuscripts and about $2000 due him, was passed.

The Legislature.

On Tuesday, the Senate passed bills

To repeal an act relating to the naturalization of aliens passed June session, 1868.

In amendment of the charter of the city of Manchester.

Relating to the right of students to vote and their taxation.

To increase the capital stock of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad.

In the House, Mr. Bailey of Hopkinton called for the special assignment to annex a portion of the town of Gilford to Laconia.

Mr. Edgerly of Haverhill moved to lay the bill on the table, that the minority report might be produced, and called for a division, when there appeared 78 in the affirmative and 74 in the negative.

The Speaker decided that the motion did not prevail, on the ground that two thirds did not vote.

The Nashua gerrymandering bill was passed, 165 to 143.

The bill to amend the charter of the city of Dover, was referred to the Committee on Towns and Parishes.

NOTICE OF BILLS.

By Mr. Yeaton of Enfield—For the removal of Marcellus Bufford of Portsmouth as Special Justice of Portsmouth Police Court.

Just So.

The Manchester Mirror's Concord correspondent thinks Sinclair's liquor bill will not pass without amendment, and says:

"This liquor question is the one in the consideration of which the average democrat becomes an independent, thinking being, and refuses to be bound by the trammels of caucus. On all else you can count on strict obedience, but when it comes to saying when and to whom and of whom he shall buy or sell rum, he ceases to follow his file leader, and picks his uncertain way along."

State News.

Miss Annie Hope had her hair caught in a revolving shaft in the Kearsarge Mills, at Wilmot, on Monday, and is seriously, if not fatally injured.

On Wednesday, the 10th inst., Mr. John Parker of Antrim, while backing an ox cart out of a barn, was struck by the hub of the wheel and thrown down, the tongue of the cart striking him in the stomach, causing death the next day.

A petition is in circulation by the citizens of Keene, for the appointment of Mrs. Henderson, widow of the postmaster, who recently committed suicide at that place, as postmistress.

The executive committee of the New Hampshire Press Association may well be pleased with the result of its labors in selecting a route for the annual excursion, which is the most pleasant yet chosen. The editors and lady guests will start on Monday, July 6th, for Lake Champlain, Ticonderoga, Lake George, Saratoga, the Hudson river and New York city, rendezousing at the "Van Ness House," Burlington, Vt., on the night of the 6th, at "Fort William Henry Hotel," Caldwell, N. Y., on the 7th, "Congress Hall," Saratoga, on the 8th and 9th, and the "St. Nicholas," New York city, on the 10th, 11th and 12th, leaving New York via the Fall River Line of steamers on the evening of the 12th, and arriving home on the 13th. The trip is not as hurried as those of previous years, the first day's ride of 230 miles in the cars being the most tedious. There will be only about 20 miles of staging, the greater part of the travelling being done on steamers. The party will be exclusively confined to active and honorary members and ladies, and assessments will be paid to the Treasurer at the start, saving time and trouble.

Dr. Frank Nute of Farmington was struck by lightning, Monday evening, the 22d, and completely paralyzed for a time.

Bells on their Toes.

A writer on the dress of the ancient Hebrew women says: "Shoes and stockings were unknown, but soles of leather were fastened with two latchets. The ladies, who carried luxury into every department, and who are supposed, even in the present day, to be far from indifferent to a nice, neat boot or elegant slipper, had their shoes, or rather sandals, and their latchets made of beautifully colored leather; dark blue, violet and purple were favorite colors. Solomon admired Shulamith's shoes very much, and also the feet which wore them, for he says, 'How beautiful are thy feet with shoes, O prince's daughter.' Round the ankles bracelets of gold or dainty silver chains and rings, with tiny silver bells, were worn. In the time of Isaiah they were used for attracting the attention of the passers-by; of course, all women did not tinkle with the ornaments about their feet or squint with their eyes for such a purpose; we are bound to believe that the women of Isaiah are not a description of the whole nation."

Obituary of a Western Editor.

Ye Editor sat in his ricketty chair, as worried as worried could be, for ye Devil was grinning before him there, and "copy" ye Devil sayed he.

Oh, ye Editor grabbed his big quill pen, and it spluttered ye ink so free, that his manuscript looked like a war map when—"Take this," to ye Devil spake he.

He scribbled and scratched through ye live-long day, no rest or refreshment had he; for ye Devil kept constantly coming that way, and howling for more "cop-ee!"

Day after day he scissored and wrote, a-slaying the whole countree; while ye Devil kept piping his single note, "A little more outside cop-ee!"

And when ye boys in ye newsroom heard ye noise of ye fearful fray, ye sound of a blow and a blasphemous word, "He's raising ye Devil!" say they.

And oft when a man with a grievance came in, ye Editor man to see, he'd turn his back with a word of sin—"Go talk to ye Devil!" sayed he.

And ever and oft, when a proof of his work ye proprietor wanted to see, "Ye proof shall be shown by my personal clerk; you must go to ye Devil," sayed he.

And thus he was destined, through all of his life, by this spirit tormented to be; in hunger and poverty, sorrow and strife, always close to ye Devil was he.

Ye Editor died. Bnt ye Devil lived on! And ye force of life's habits we see; for ye Editor's breath no sooner was gone, than straight to ye Devil went he.

—One thing, said an old toper, was never seen coming through the rye, and that's the kind of whiskey one gets nowadays.

—A big diamond is now on exhibition in Boston. It is as large as a hazelnut, and is worth 600 tons of railway iron, 300 tons of sugar, or 5,000 barrels of flour.

—"What becomes of dogs when they die?" was what a juvenile in Burlington asked his pa. "They go to the happy land of canine," his parent quickly replied.

—School children are now in all the agony of "getting up a present for teacher," and teachers are trying not to look conscious when they see the collection of the money going on.

—The ranks of that much calumniated class known as bachelors will be swelled by the accession of two Kansas ladies, one of whom has been made a Bachelor of Science and the other a Bachelor of Arts.

—Parisian ladies of eccentric taste are wearing earrings representing monkeys, guinea pigs, lizards, chandeliers with candles in them, bird cages with birds within, tortoises, spades, tongs, spurs, officers' epaulette, etc. The effect is not pleasing. On the contrary!

—Mr. Nelson Varley, the tenor, sang appropriately "The Anchor's Weighed," when his friends went to see him off, the other day. The reason why he did not sing "Good-by, Sweetheart, Good-by," was because his sweetheart (siene Liebe) went with him.

—Orange peels are found to be much inferior, for upsetting purposes, to large peapods. A lady stepped on one of the latter yesterday. She kicked with both feet as high as a ballet star, gave the peculiar, shrill, feminine scream, sat down, said "Oh my!" smoothed down her disordered attire, looked around wildly, rose quickly, shook herself to see if anything was loose, gave a withering glance at the place where she had fallen, and, with all the spare blood she had in her face, went on with her shopping.

—Chicago believes with all its heart that success is a duty, and when Chicago's base ball club is unsuccessful Chicago has no patience with it. When the Red Stockings defeated the Western nine 11 to 10, it was Hughey Reed, "the wicked tenth man," who did it; but when the Mutuals took them down and fairly sat upon them last Thursday the case was too plain. They are no longer the Chicago nine, nor the White Stockings. They are "Gassette's gang," "Malone's muffers," "bragging professionals."

Life Without Enjoyment.

No human being whose stomach and liver are disordered can enjoy life. Business is a fatigue and a bore, and all amusements "dat and unprofitable," to the victim of indigestion, billiousness, and disturbances of the bowels and nerves which always accompany them. The shortest, surest, safest way to get rid of these evils, and of the mental despondency which grows out of them, is to tone and regulate the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Of all stimulants it is the purest, of all vegetable tonics the most active, of all cathartics the mildest, of all anti-bilious preparations the most swift and certain in its operation. During the twenty odd years that it has been in use it has lived down professional prejudices, distanced competitors, and taken rank as the standard restorative of the age.

They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction to other men and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

Local Matters.

Ten Years Ago.

Messrs Editors: In the CHRONICLE of Friday morning, June 19, appeared the following brief notice of an event which at the time of its occurrence sent a thrill of joy through the heart of every patriotic American:

Ten years ago to-day the Kearsarge sunk the Alabama. A half-dozen of the Kearsarge crew now reside in this city.

Ten years ago! "How old Tempus does fugit?" What vast changes have taken place in the decade since the dreaded Alabama, "built of British oak by British mechanics in a British ship-yard, armed with the most approved British engines of war and manned by British seamen-gunners from the British naval training-ship 'Excellent,'" (as a British-colonial paper proudly described her,) went down a shattered wreck under the guns of the Kearsarge, an American vessel, built, launched and sent to sea in a hurry, armed with "Dahlgren junk-bottles" and manned by a crew of whom few had "got the hayseed out of their hair" at the time of the now famous duel.

I well remember the immense sensation created by the news of the rebel cruiser's destruction, in the community where I was then living,—the dazed, half-incredulous astonishment of the persons who had so often boasted of the "daring" feats of the Alabama and "the hero of sixty chronometers" as virtual triumphs for the British navy. I was then in a distant and thriving colony of the mighty British Empire; and only those who were similarly situated can form a just idea of what an open sympathizer with the Union cause had to bear from the unreasoning and ignorant prejudices of even the working men in favor of the cause of the Confederacy, secession and slavery of the working classes. The manner in which the Shenandoah was favored and the American consul snubbed in Melbourne, Australia,—the pirate officers being treated with marked consideration, the pirate ship allowed the use of the government slip to make repairs and wear away time while more men were procured, and the Melbourne papers exultingly announcing that the Shenandoah's crew had been increased by eighty-five good men and true at that port, while the American consul could not even obtain an audience with the colonial officials,—is a faint indication of the blind hostility to the Union of thousands of unthinking men in those distant British colonies, who knew no more and cared no more about the merits of the American conflict than a pig does about broadsword exercise or the rule of three. Remembering all this as I do, (for I was there at the time,) it is with a feeling something like that with which Charles II. hung Oliver Cromwell's skeleton that I often read Caleb Cushing's scathing review of the conduct of the Victorian government, in his Geneva "case," and of the subsequent payment by England for all the damage done by the Shenandoah after leaving Melbourne.

Up to the time the Alabama was sunk the numerous victories of the Union arms had produced no perceptible effect either on the prejudices of the British colonists or their faith in the ultimate success of the Confederacy. Did a rebel army get shattered and driven back, or a rebel stronghold fall into the hands of the Union forces, the most extravagant stories were set afloat concerning the immense superiority in numbers of the Unionists, and the awful manner in which they were slaughtered by the rebels before the victory was gained. Did the patriots meet a repulse, similarly extravagant stories were circulated concerning the overthrow of an immense Union force by the merest handful of traitors. Soul-harrowing accounts were given in the papers of the starvation of Confederate prisoners-of-war by the federal authorities, and rose-colored accounts of the generous and honorable treatment of Union prisoners by the rebel authorities; such stories were never contradicted, so far as I know, and to-day there are probably thousands of men in the British colonies who execrate the United States government for deliberately starving Confederate prisoners to death, while the Confederates were treating Union prisoners with a tender consideration little short of that accorded the most honored guests!

On such a community the news of the Alabama's destruction by a vessel of no more than equal force fell like a thunderbolt from a sunny sky. There was no chance to make the little steamer Kearsarge assume the dimensions of a seventy-four, or to man her with a thousand men, —the tactics which had proved so efficacious in convincing the colonial mind that every Union victory on land had in reality been a Union defeat. True, the first reports of the engagement made the Kearsarge "one of the new Yankee iron-clads," but the facts were too notorious to admit of permanent falsification, and the rebel sympathizers who had so often declared that the American naval officers would take the best of care not to find the terrible cruiser they pretended to be searching so earnestly after, were compelled reluctantly to acknowledge that the Alabama had been wiped out in a fair fight with an equal antagonist, in which the damages inflicted on her foe were ridiculously disproportioned to those she herself received and to the extravagant estimates made of her powers and invincibility.

New Hampshire was largely represented in the Kearsarge's crew, and a number of her men were from this city. Her executive officer, Lieut. James S. Thornton, (now Capt. Thornton, in command of the Monongahela,) is a native of this State. The facts that she was built at this navy yard and had so many New Hampshire farmers on board, took nothing from the satisfaction I experienced in recounting to my British acquaintances the full details of the way in which she smashed the Alabama,—a story which I must confess lost nothing of embellishment with each repetition. Concerning her "iron-clad" feature, —it may not be out of place here to say that I have been told by one who filled a responsible position on board the "Pensacola" when Farragut's fleet ran past the forts and batteries below New Orleans, that the plan of protecting a wooden ship's boilers with her chain cables originated with Chief Engineer Jno. W. Moore, at that time in charge of the "Richmond's" engines and since then Chief Engineer at this naval station. This expedient saved the Pensacola, a solid 32-pound shot striking her exactly in the wake of her boilers, cutting off two parts of her sheet cable and burying itself fourteen inches in the oak; so that but for the protection afforded by the chain the ship must have been disabled, if indeed she had not been blown sky-high. The Kearsarge's boilers, too, were probably saved in the same way, as several of the Alabama's shot struck the ship's side, abd the chain was all the protection the boilers had, her coal-bunkers being nearly empty. Be all this as it may, the Kearsarge-Alabama duel created great excitement and astonishment among those who had been drilled into speaking of the Yankees only with contempt, and nullified a thousand malicious tales of Yankee inefficiency and cowardice.

New Orleans, Vicksburg, Gettysburg, Antietam,—all these and other Union triumphs had been figured out to be Confederate victories in disguise,—successes won at a fearful cost by hordes of cowards against handsful of heroes, and this no doubt had large influence in shaping the prejudices of the British colonist, who is an ardent admirer of and always sympathizes with "pluck;" but from the time the Kearsarge sank the Alabama the mighty efforts of the American people, government, and military and naval forces to preserve the Union were better understood and more justly estimated. No battle of the war exercised so great an influence on public opinion in the British colonies as the naval duel off Cherbourg on that bright Sunday morning in 1864; and Sherman's successful march through the South, the fall of Richmond, Lee's surrender and the utter collapse of the Confederacy, all put together, did not begin to create the wonder and excitement resulting from the reception of the news "The Alabama has been sunk by the Yankee man-of-war Kearsarge."

RETROSPECTATOR.

Prevention of Cruelty.

A new bill which has passed the House provides that justices of the peace and police courts shall have jurisdiction in all complaints for any violation of the provisions of the act entitled an act for the more effectual prevention of cruelty to animals, approved July 1, 1870, in cases where the fine imposed does not exceed the sum of twenty dollars, which shall be final, unless appeal is taken therefrom as in other criminal cases. Also that any officer of such society or organization may take without legal process therefor into his custody or possession, any animal or animals which he may deem to be ill-treated or ill-used by any person in violation of the laws of this State to prevent cruelty to animals, and such animal or animals shall be detained and cared for by such person so taking them until the offender in respect to such animal or animals can be arrested and tried for such offence, and if found guilty the expense of the taking and detention of such animal or animals shall be taxed against such offender, as part of the costs of the criminal proceedings against him, and the justice or court before whom such trial may be had, if it shall find such animal or animals unfit for labor, may order the same to be disposed of by said society or organization, as they deem humane and proper, otherwise to be restored to the owner or the person having the custody thereof.

Laconics.

Persons who wish their pianos put in perfect tune will be pleased to learn that Mr. Edwardo De Anguera will be in town in a few days. See advertisement.

Tuesday was a political field day at Concord. The outrageous actions of the democrats caused the republican leaders to express their minds freely. Messrs. Emery and Kent of Portsmouth and Sanborn of Franklin freed their minds, Mr. Kent saying that he (Kent) was indignant at the acts of the majority, but one in particular (Bully Bingham,) he looked upon with contempt.

A miserable looking wretch got on the cars to go to Hampton. He sat by himself, as everybody appeared to shun him. He was the man who paints signs on the rocks.

The following are announced as season ticket rates on the Eastern Railroad, from Boston, beginning July 1: To Portland $68, old rate $60; Saco $63, old rate $50; Wolfboro' $65, old rate $50; Rochester $54, old rate $38; Salmon Falls $52, old rate $38; Dover $50, old rate $35.50; Newburyport $27, old rate $25; Danvers $27, old rate $25.

For the first time within the knowledge of the present proprietors of this paper we have indulged in a half "form" of "pi." After printing the GAZETTE Wednesday evening, one "form" was placed in the dumb waiter to go aloft, and as it was raised the top struck, the "form" canted and slid out on the oily iron bed used to receive it, and started for the floor. Its momentum, however, was not great enough to carry it over, and so one page only projected. That page showed the handsomest amount of "pi" you ever saw, but as the matter was "dead," with the exception of two columns of well displayed advertisements, the damage was so small that only the "devil" complained.

Laighton Brothers, the popular landlords of that widely-popular summer resort, the Appledore, announce by advertisement the time-table of the steamer "Appledore," which as in years past will make the season between this city and the Shoals, under command of Capt. Ed. M. Baker. According to custom, the "Laighton boys" have largely increased their hotel facilities for taking in and comforting their patrons since the previous season; and the steamer has been greatly improved to match, having been extensively overhauled and altered in her upper works, received new boilers, etc., making her now as serviceable a boat for the trade as could be procured. The steamer can be secured for excursions by arranging with Mr. Waterman K. Pryor, on board.

"Washburn's Last Sensation" is coming July 6th, and "Maginley's Museum and Circus" July 11.

An order was received at the navy yard on Tuesday, to reduce the salaries of the clerks in the drafting room of yards and docks, steam engineering, and equipment and recruiting, forty per cent.

We do not know who has such a petty enmity to Judge Page as to desire his salary as Police Justice reduced from $600 to $450, yet such a bill has been introduced in the legislature by Mr. Marcy. The extra $150 is not to be saved, you understand, but is to be paid to a clerk to be appointed to do Judge Page's writing. The present salary of the Judge is small enough and no clerk is needed, unless the business of naturalizing foreigners free is to occupy the time of the court hereafter.

The inventor of the idea which germinated in an overwrought brain till a bill was drawn removing Associate Justice Bufford of this city must have been an impecunious "kuss," for the yearly emoluments of that position can hardly exceed $20. It will probably cost the State ten times that amount to pass the bill. Why not patch in and give the chap who wants the place a shilling a day to study law and become "part of a man?"

All rumors to the effect that the present legislature will decide to remove the organ-blower at the Unitarian church have thus far failed of confirmation.

Mr. George Hersey, while digging for gas-pipe on Hanover street, near J. F. Jenness' residence, Wednesday, unearthed two shining gold pieces of Portuguese make, at a depth of six feet, one dated 1750 and the other 1759, par value worth about $20 each. Mr. Hersey was offered $42 for one, but refused to sell.

The "Gentleman in Black," who is the nuclear demon of dram-shops, assumes his counterfeit when the rapid progress of VINEGAR BITTERS is reported "down below." The People's Vegetable Tonic is playing the mischief with his bitters fired with rum. All diseases which those demoniac nostrums aggravate, under pretense of relieving, such as indigestion, sick-headache, constipation, rheumatism, gout, and intermittent fevers are cured by it. je24 4w

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured a wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long-continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well-founded, if taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

ATTENTION.

Keep Cool! Keep Cool!

SUMMER is coming! I want a piece of ICE; where can I get it? Why, just send a boy to Perkins', No. 30 South St., and you are sure of it. The Subscriber, having purchased the entire interest of the Portsmouth Ice Co., would take this opportunity to thank his old customers for their past patronage, and would solicit the continuance of the same as well as that of the public generally. Shamed as I am, with a large Ice House on Mt. Vernon St., I am prepared to deliver ICE cut from pure spring water, in any part of the city, on the shortest possible notice. By strict attention to the wants of the public and by selecting honest and accommodating drivers, I mean to merit and hope to receive a large share of the public patronage. Special attention given to delivering ICE to the Sick. Orders from Fishermen promptly attended to.

N. B. Hoping all misdemeanors of drivers will be reported to the subscriber before other steps are taken, I promise that all complaints will receive immediate attention. ORDER SLATE at H. M. Clark's provision store,—or orders may be left with the subscriber at No. 30 South St., or sent through the post office. dawtf GEORGE A. PERKINS.

Hot House Students.

[Carson (Nev.) Appeal.]

Too much study, is quite as bad, if not worse, than too little. The sad result of overtaxing the mind was shown at the public school yesterday morning. Miss Laura Berry, while at examination with her class, fainted and fell heavily to the floor. Within three weeks she had committed to memory quite 200 pages of natural philosophy. Night before last she sat up with a young lady classmate, and they studied together till 3 o'clock in the morning. Arrived at the school house her nerves were shattered, and were well-nigh beyond control. She had steadied herself sufficiently, however, to make a beautiful recitation just before her strength gave way. She is a highly intellectual and amiable young lady, and it is a subject of regret amongst her friends that she should have been so ambitious, for she always takes place with the first in her class, and could have done so at the examination without such exertion.

"Dear George," said a tender-hearted young woman, "I am willing to marry you if we have to live on bread and water." "Well," said the enthusiastic George, "you furnish the bread and I'll skirmish round and find the water."

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidney, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism and Neuralgia, Pain in the Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leuchorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure, health returns.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY DROPSY AND HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning-up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the system. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

The Coming War in Europe.

[U. S. Economist.]

The London Times, the best informed and most cautious journal in Europe, has sounded the keynote of alarm by a recent article indicating that Europe is on the verge of another mighty war. The edge is somewhat taken from the warning by the fact that it is apparently deduced from general, and therefore somewhat vague principles, rather than from direct specific information as to actual facts. But even when thus softened down the notes of alarm are only too ominous and appalling. They indicate that the coming conflict may be precipitated at almost any moment, and that scarcely any nation in Europe can hope to escape exemption.

The inferences of coming war are drawn in the first place from the amazing armaments of the European nations. The expense of the standing armies of all the Great Powers—except England—and many even of the smaller ones—are such as to render their bankruptcy a mere question of time and opportunity. All the varied resources of taxation and credit are pushed to their utmost limit, and the pressure upon the people is so great as to prove an absolute bar to industrial progress. In fine, Europe is arriving at a point where almost every man is a soldier, and it is felt that the coming actual collision or crises would be a positive relief as terminating at least the present strain, and affording an opportunity for the development of new principles of progress.

Russia still stands at the head of the list among the armed nations, her forces numbering a total of 1,518,000 men. But of these scarcely more than one-half are available, the remainder consisting of home reserves and garrisons of remote stations. Germany comes next, and is beyond all question the most powerful nation in Europe either for defence or attack, or both. Her force consists of 1,261,000 men, of whom about 700,000 could be put in the field at a few days' notice. France comes next, with armies of nearly a million, constantly increasing in effectiveness and strength. Austria has 860,000, and Italy 600,000. England is put down for 478,000, but this includes 160,000 volunteers, upon whose efficiency too great stress need not be laid by those who remember the poor display made by American militia regiments and volunteers at the commencement of our civil war. England would find herself sorely taxed to concentrate an army of 35,000 soldiers at any given point.

The question arises, "What is all this great armament about?" It would scarcely be a reply to say that every nation is afraid of all the others. Each nation finds it necessary to its safety to preserve an unrelaxing vigilance. Germany is now regarded as the aggressive power, and Prince Bismarck makes no secret of the pressing, urgent necessity for the German display of strength. The other powers are forced to imitate the example of Germany. But then there was a general increase in European armaments previous to the war between Germany and France. In the same way the increasing armaments now indicate no less clearly the coming struggle.

The next war will arise on the new, or rather partially unsettled, issues of the last one. The last war established the unity of the German people. The next one will give them, in the annexation of Belgium and Holland, the territorial expansion to the seaboard which they need, and which is indeed necessary to their growth. The German people are now in nearly the same position that the Americans would be in if the entire tiers of Atlantic and Pacific States were held by foreign powers, with their only outlets to the sea limited to the St. Lawrence and the Mississippi rivers. The Germans are the most thrifty and industrious race in Europe, and forty millions of people, united, brave and flushed with victory, cannot long be restrained from their true destiny.

Of course, France also wants Holland and Belgium. But she has a lengthy sea coast of her own, and therefore the powerful political and commercial reasons which stimulate German ambition do not exist in her case. She is animated, however, by the scarcely less powerful incentives of passion and revenge, and will resent the annexation of these kingdoms to Germany to the very last. It is also to be remembered that any nation which might acquire Belgium and Holland would at once become the chief power on the continent.

This brings in the old "balance of power" principle which has deluged Europe with so much blood. The exaltation or supremacy of any one power is naturally obnoxious to all the rest. England, since Waterloo, has gradually ceased to interfere in continental politics. But on the subject of the neutrality and independence of Belgium and Holland as guaranteed by her, she has always strongly insisted. Indeed it is asserted, but not positively known, that Bismarck, after the capture of Sedan and Metz, was only prevented from marching the victorious German armies into the coveted territory by significant demonstrations by England and Russia. The latter however, has no great interest in opposing the aggrandizement of Germany, providing it can obtain equivalents—such as the capture of Constantinople and the annexation of a few provinces of Turkey, which Germany would have no great interest in opposing. It is significant of the immediate future, that Earl Derby, the present Foreign Secretary of the Disraeli cabinet, declared recently in reply to questions by Earl Russell, that the English Government would be steadfast in maintaining the independence of Belgium and Holland. This shows that any power that attacks these countries may count on the enmity of Great Britain. The latter country has no large army, but her navy is equal to the combined maritime forces of the rest of the world—the United States included—and her credit and money, which go far in war time, are practically unlimited.

Indeed, it scarcely required this official declaration of the the Disraeli cabinet Earl Derby, to determine which side the English nation would take in any struggle involving the acquisition of the Belgian and Dutch sea front by any first-class continental power. All her traditions show that she is comparatively indifferent to the mere military aggrandisement of any country. But the moment the question of any increase of any maritime and naval power is raised, British statesmanship takes the alarm. Judging of the future by the past, they may, indeed, feel indifferent respecting any possible increase of the naval power of France. But not so with Germany. The annexation of Belgium and Holland would at once convert that nation into a first-class commercial and maritime power, and render her as powerful at sea as on land. Against such a result England and Englishmen would fight to the last. German sea ports and a German navy have long figured largely among the cherished day dreams of the German people as the natural results of their union and freedom from foreign interference, but they will be never realized if England can prevent it. Forty millions of Germans, invincible on land, and with an army of a million and a quarter, may lord it in Central Europe with impunity so long as they are hemmed in from the sea. But the moment they acquire an exclusive sea front the conditions are changed, and the very sources of British power and wealth are threatened by the most formidable rival in the world.

This is only one of the many issues involved in the present disquieting conditions of European politics, and it is one that cannot be much longer evaded or postponed. It opens many more scarcely less important or interesting, and among others that long unsettled, terrible Eastern question. Of the results of the contest the indications at present are all in favor of Germany, principally, perhaps, because she has a Bismarck to control her policy and a Moltke to direct her armies. When the struggle will be precipitated baffles human conjecture, but the difficulties of the situation are intensified by the chaotic condition of French politics.

Tilton and Beecher.

Theodore Tilton publishes a seven column letter in the Golden Age, addressed to Rev. Leonard Bacon, ex-moderator of the Brooklyn Council, which is calculated to make an extraordinary sensation. Tilton says that he had been for fifteen years a member of Plymouth Church and "had become meanwhile an intimate friend of the pastor. The knowledge came to me in 1870 that he had committed against me an offence which I forbear to name or characterize. Prompted by my self-respect I immediately and forever ceased my attendance on his ministry. I informed him of this determination as early as January, 1871, in the presence of a mutual friend, Mr. Francis D. Moulton. The rule of Plymouth Church offered me a choice between two methods of retirement; one, to ask a formal letter of dismissal; the other, to dismiss myself less formally by prolonged absence. I chose the latter. Several powerful reasons prompted me to this alternative. The pastor communicated to me, in writing, an apology signed by his name. He also appealed to me to protect him from bringing reproach to the cause of religion. He alleged that an exposure would forbid him to reascend the pulpit. These and other similar reasons I had no right or disposition to disregard. At length my absence from the church, an absence the cause of which not three members of the congregation beside the pastor knew, began to excite comment in private circles. After many calumnious whisperings, near and far, a weekly paper in New York, in November, 1872, published a wicked and horrid scandal, a publication which some persons in the church ignorantly attributed, in its origin and animus, to me; whereas I had previously spent many months of constant and unremitting endeavor to suppress it, an endeavor in which, with an earnest motive but foolish judgment, I made many ill-directed sacrifices in my reputation, position, money and fair prospects in life. In May, 1873, occurred the surreptitious publication of a tripartite agreement, signed by H. C. Bowen, H. W. Beecher and myself, an agreement which, so far as I was concerned, for its object to pledge me to silence against using or circulating charges which Mr. Bowen had made against Mr. Beecher."

Tilton then relates, at some length, the steps taken by Mr. West to cite him before Plymouth Church on a charge of circulating scandal against the pastor. The charges formally brought a few weeks after, though nominally against himself, were really against the pastor.

He cheerfully co-operated in defeating West, and wrote a letter declining to accept a copy of the charges addressed to him as a member, on the ground that he had four years previously ceased connection with the church. For this letter he received the pastor's prompt and hearty thanks. An understanding was then had between Mr. Beecher and himself that West's indictment was to be disposed of by a simple resolution that he (Tilton) had four years previously terminated his membership. This was to put West's case quietly out of court without scandal. To Tilton's surprise and indignation he subsequently learned that the report would declare that, whereas, he had been charged with slandering the pastor, had been cited to meet the charge, and had pleaded non-membership, therefore resolved, etc.; and upon appearing in person at the meeting, he was told by the report that he had been served with the charges and requested to answer them; whereas the truth is, he was requested not to answer them. He consequently arose in the meeting and said in Mr. Beecher's presence that if he had slandered him he would answer for it to his face, and Mr. Beecher replied in an equally public manner that he had no charge to make. Next follows the history of the Congregational Council, accompanied by letters from various persons and criticism upon the acts and language of that body.

Tilton continues: "I solemnly aver, and no man shall gainsay me, that the reason why Plymouth Church avoided an investigation into the scandal with which I was charged was not because I, but another man, had brought dishonor on the Christian name; and yet the other person, a clergyman, permitted his church to brand me before the council with an accusation which had I been in his place, and he in mine, I would voluntarily have borne for myself, instead of causing another to bear it. I will add another instance by a quotation from a letter addressed Mr. Beecher, dated May 1st, 1874:

Henry Ward Beecher — Sir: Mr. F. B. Carpenter mentions to me your saying to him that, under certain conditions, involving certain disavowals by me, a sum of money would or could be raised to send me and my family to Europe for a term of years. The statement compels me to state explicitly that so long as life and self-respect continue to exist together in my breast, I shall be debarred from receiving either directly or indirectly, any pecuniary or other favor at your hands. The reason for this feeling on my part you know so well that I will spare you the statement of it.

Yours, truly, THEODORE TILTON.

After some further remarks, Tilton says: I am at last forced to the disagreeable necessity of publishing the following:

Brooklyn, Jan. 1, 1871. I ask Theodore Tilton's forgiveness, and humble myself before him as I do before my God. He would have been a better man in my circumstances than I have been. I can ask nothing except that he will remember all the other hearts that would ache. I will not plead for myself, I even wish that I were dead.

H. W. BEECHER.

Disappointed Lobbyists.

The Boston Globe's Washington special says:

The prospects for large gains in the lobby at the session just closed were bright at the start, but it may safely be said that no session for years has been so free from jobs as the one just closed. The appropriations have been less than for the past five years, and it is the boast of the leaders in the House and Senate and of the President's friends that not a single dishonest scheme or job has passed, this session. There were many anxious faces in the lobby during the closing hours of the session; but, as scheme after scheme failed, the anxiety turned to terror or indignation, and a more unhappy crowd than that which witnessed the close of the first session of the Forty-third Congress was never seen in Washington.

Readables.

Postmaster-General Creswell handed his resignation to the President in Cabinet meeting, on the 24th, and it was accepted. The resignation led to considerable talk in the Cabinet, and a number of names were considered in connection with his successor. It was finally decided to tender the position to Hon. Eugene Hale, member of the present House from Maine, who was renominated for Congressman the same day.

The Bureau Veritas publishes the following list of maritime disasters reported during April, 1874, concerning all flags: Sailing vessels lost, 236, viz: 93 English, 29 Norwegian, 27 French, 25 German, 24 American, 8 Dutch, 6 Italian, 6 Swedish, 3 Austrian, 3 Danish, 3 Spanish, 3 Russian, 2 Greek, 1 Brazilian, 1 Portuguese, and 2 of which the nationality is unknown. In this number are included 30 sailing vessels reported missing. Steamers lost, 23, viz: 15 English, 1 German, 1 American, 1 Spanish, 1 French, 1 Dutch, 1 Italian, 1 Norwegian and 1 Swedish. In this number are included 5 steamers reported missing. Total, 259.

The mansion in which the Nathan murder was committed in New York is doomed. No one has offered to rent or purchase it, though it could have been obtained at a vast reduction, owing to the tragedy enacted in it. It is now being pulled down level with the dust, and a new mansion, where no ghost of murder stalks, is to be built upon the site.

State News.

William Hartman, belonging in Madison, attempted to get on a moving train on the Eastern road at Wolfeborough, on Monday, and fell under the wheels. He lost his right arm.

The picture gallery of the distinguished sons of New Hampshire, at the State capitol, has been enlarged by a copy of Stuart's painting of General Henry Dearborn, who went from Nottingham to Bunker Hill in 1775.

Officer Horn of Berwick was shot at twice while attempting to arrest a prisoner at Great Falls on Tuesday evening, by a man named Michael Kahill. One ball took effect in his right leg and the other lodged in the pocket-book which the officer carried in his breast pocket. The prisoner escaped but the police are on his track.

Rev. D. Glines of Hudson and wife were returning home a few evenings since, and in some way drove off an embankment, injuring Mrs. Glines very seriously.

The Legislature.

On Wednesday, the Senate passed the following bills:

To repeal an act relating to the naturalization of aliens, passed June session, 1868.

In amendment of the charter of the city of Manchester.

Relating to the right of students to vote, and their taxation.

In the House, petitions were presented by Mr Marcy of Portsmouth—Of Wm. T. Fry and 248 others of Portsmouth, in favor of the bill relating to Portsmouth, then before the House; also of C. C. Rand and others for the same.

The bill to amend the charter of the city of Portsmouth came up by special assignment at 11 o'clock.

Mr. Kent of Portsmouth moved a series of amendments to the bill, which were read. He then called for a remonstrance which had been presented from the citizens of Portsmouth. The speaker said that judging from the course of past legislation there would be no power on earth that would prevent the bill passing, but he should not do his duty unless he protested against the bill to the utmost of his power. He read the remonstrance referred to, signed by several hundred of the influential citizens in Portsmouth; he did not know whether any democrats were among them, but he understood that many were ready to sign. The main reasons alleged in the remonstrance against the bill were that there was no occasion to increase the number of wards, or for an increase in the number of the City Councils; that the bill legislates out of office a city government chosen in March last, before the expiration of one half of their term; that if additional wards were necessary the apportionment of Aldermen and Councilmen was glaringly unjust; that the bill would entail large expense in providing ward rooms; that there was no provision to submit the bill to the people; that it deprived the Mayor of the qualified veto he possessed, thus abolishing a salutary check, and showing that the framers of the bill expected to select the election officers, and that the people would choose a Mayor opposed to them; that it repealed a law for closing the polls at half past six. The speaker addressed the House in relation to the above and other points, and gave additional reasons against the bill. No doubt much would be said of republican abuses by the other side, but the hands of the republicans were as clean as the democrats. If knowledge and justice prevailed the former would succeed, if might made right the latter would triumph.

Mr. Marcy of Portsmouth addressed the House, stating that the Czar never ruled Poland more tyrannically then two wards in Portsmouth had been ruled. There were names on the check-list of men who had been dead seven years and others who were not in the city. He argued that before the affairs of cities could be properly conducted their management must be taken out of the hands of political parties. He maintained that the navy yard injured Portsmouth rather than benefited it; private ship-building firms could not compete with the government under the eight hour system; the men went away from the latter to the former.

Albert R. Hatch said he considered it his duty to vacate the chair and address the House in support of the bill, which should be decided on with regard to its merits alone, for no measure would ever obtain lasting support unless based on right and principle. He briefly traced the history of Portsmouth from the date it first received a city charter, and endeavored to show that the various evils that had called for the city charter, now existed and in an aggravated form.—increase of taxation, incorrect check lists, uncollected poll-taxes and wholsale bribary and corruption of voters by the Federal government. He gave a sketch of what he designated a sample of this interference. The democrats, entitled to four-tenths of the representation, for years had but two-tenths, and to-day the representation was two to eight, although a fair division of the votes at the last election would double the number of the democratic representatives. The object of the present bill was to overcome these evils, but the amendments were intended to defeat the bill. Other men, good republicans, he asserted, had been dismissed to make room for men who resided and voted in the State of Maine. The men in the navy yard were marched up to the polls as though they were the actual slaves of those under whose charge they were. He exhibited two specimens of votes that had been cast, and which, he argued, showed the necessity of a bill for printing ballots on white paper. To refer the bill to the people of Portsmouth for approval, as urged by the minority, would hardly be a fair tribunal, as the people of the whole State were interested in the integrity of the representation from Portsmouth. He urged that the bill would reduce the expenses of the city, and improve the character of the city government.

Mr. Kent of Portsmouth replied to Hatch at some length. The democrats complained of the unfairness of the representation; but this bill proposed to give the democrats seven representatives, and leave the republicans three. Was that fair? The graphic descriptions of processions to the polls were greatly exaggerated; he had not seen them, and somebody must have misinformed the speaker. Processions did take place after the voting for the purposes of celebration. No doubt there was great zeal in both parties, and the republicans were obliged to fight them hand in hand. Great stress had been laid on the dismission of voters from the navy yard. If it was wrong to dismiss voters from the navy yard for political reasons, was it not wrong to dismiss solicitors, judges of probate, justices of the peace, for the same and no other reasons. [Applause] He asked him (Hatch) to answer that, and he thought he would answer it before twelve o'clock that night.

Mr. Emery of Portsmouth also replied to Hatch, and asserted that the democrats had themselves counterfeited the style of ballot of which Hatch had so much complained, put it into the hands of republicans who thought they were voting the republican ticket when in reality they were voting the democratic ticket. If the question was, as asserted, non-political, he appealed to the democrats to vote independently and not according to the dictates of party.

The question of the first amendment to strike out sections 4, 5, 6, and 7, was then put. Mr. Emery called for the yeas and nays, when there appeared nays 154, yeas 138.

The second amendment to strike out section 9 and insert a substitute was then put.

Mr. Jenks of Concord, called for the yeas and nays, when the amendment was rejected by 161 nays to 133 yeas.

The third amendment to repeal the act fixing the time for closing the polls, and to repeal the act of 1871, in relation to the power of mayors of cities, and to repeal Sec. 8, Chap. 44 of Gen. Stats., so far as relates to Portsmouth, was then put.

Mr. Kent called for the yeas and nays, when the amendment was lost by 154 nays to 130 yeas.

The fourth amendment for submitting the bill to the voters of Portsmouth for approval or rejection, was also rejected on a call of the yeas and nays by 162 to 130.

The last amendment giving to voters residing in said wards the right to vote at the next election, was on the call of the yeas and nays, rejected by 156 to 118.

The bill was then ordered to a third reading.

The bill passed the House Thursday afternoon.

BILLS INTRODUCED

By Mr. Hurd of Sandwich—A supplementary act to chap. 99 of the General Statutes relating to the sale of spiritnous liquors. To Committee on Judiciary.

By Mr. Burrows of Plymouth—To regulate the sale of spirituous liquors. To Judiciary Committee.

READ A THIRD TIME.

The bill to annex a portion of the town of Gilford to Laconia.

On the question that the bill pass, Mr. Briggs of Manchester, on behalf of certain parties who opposed the bill, called for the yeas and nays, when it was passed by a vote of 183 to 61.

REMOVAL OF OFFICERS.

Mr. Bingham of Littleton, called for the unfinished business, which was the address for the removal of Elisha F. Lane, Sheriff, Dauphin W. Buckminister, Register of Probate, and Leonard Wellington, Solicitor of Cheshire County.

Mr. Jenks of Concord, called for a division of the address, and for the yeas and nays.

The question of the adoption of the address so far as related to the removal of Elisha F. Lane was then put and carried by 157 yeas to 114 nays.

Mr. Richardson of Manchester, moved that the House adjourn, and called for a division, when the motion was rejected by 140 to 112.

On the question of the removal of Dauphin W. Buckminister, Mr. Emery of Portsmouth called for the yeas and nays, when there appeared 190 yeas to 144 nays.

On the question of the removal of Leonard Wellington, Mr. Healy of Keene, called for the yeas and nays when it was carried by 157 yeas to 129 nays.

By Mr. Owen of Stewartstown—An address for the removal of E. George Rogers, Sheriff; Edgar Aldrich, Solicitor; Benjamin F. Whidden, Judge of Probate, and John M. Whipple, Register of Probate of Coos county.

Mr. Sanborn of Franklin called for a division of the address.

Mr. Briggs of Manchester—I would like to ask the reasons for these removals,—whether it is for cause or for political reasons. If it is for political reasons that is one thing, but I think in justice to the men in the various positions in which they stand that it should be stated by somebody that the reason for removing them is purely political; they won't want in after life to have the matter thrown up in their faces that they were removed unless a satisfactory reason be given.

Mr Sinclair of Littleton: I will state, in answer to the gentleman, that the reasons for these removals, as I understand them, are purely political.

On the question of the removal of E. George Rogers, Mr. Durgin of Concord called for the yeas and nays, when there appeared 151 yeas to 110 nays.

On the question in relation to Edgar Aldrich, Mr. Phillips of Alton called for the yeas and nays, when there appeared 138 yeas to 82 nays.

Boss Bingham Boorish.

[Special Dispatch to CHRONICLE.]

CONCORD, N. H., JUNE 25.

Boss Bingham came very near creating a rupture in the House this afternoon which might have resulted more disastrously than it did. He was in the chair and after having once unceremoniously snubbed Mr. Richardson of Manchester he grossly insulted and outraged Mr. Sanborn of Franklin, who rose to a question of privelege; and not only decided him out of order when he was clearly in order, but by his bullying, offensive and insulting language and manner won the contempt of every sincere and honest man in the House of both parties.

He not only did this, but he outrageously insulted Hon. J. G. Hall of Dover and other republican members of the House. He sneeringly ruled that an appeal taken from his decision to the House was out of order, and twice ordered the Sergeant-at arms to arrest Mr. Hall. At last Mr. Blodgett of Franklin, democrat, no doubt ashamed of Bingham's conduct, moved to adjourn. A caucus of the republicans is now in session and is very largely attended.

The feeling of indignation and contempt for Bingham is unanimous. He sent a messenger apologising to Mr. Sanborn, disclaiming any insult to him, which settled the matter so far as he was concerned, but from present appearances there will be war to-morrow, unless full and ample apology is made to the republican members of the House. Life Without Enjoyment.

No human being whose stomach and liver are disordered can enjoy life. Business is a fatigue and a bore, and all amusements "flat and unprofitable," to the victim of indigestion, billiousness, and disturbances of the bowels and nerves which always accompany them. The shortest, surest, safest way to get rid of these evils, and of the mental despondency which grows out of them, is to tone and regulate the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Of all stimulants it is the purest, of all vegetable tonics the most active, of all cathartics the mildest, of all anti-bilious preparations the most swift and certain in its operation. During the twenty odd years that it has been in use it has lived down professional prejudices, distanced competitors, and taken rank as the standard restorative of the age.

HENDERSON & CO.,

ANNOUNCE THEIR

SPRING OPENING

—OF—

Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons.

The Largest Stock,
The Latest Styles,
The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

And five dollar Trimmed Hats will compare favorably with any ten dollar one in the city.

SASH RIBBONS, ... 25 cents per yard.
SILK TIES . . . . . 20 cents each.
FRAMES . . . . . 15 cents each.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

Local Matters.

Fires.

Fire was discovered in that portion of the five tenement block of Marcellus Eldredge on Islington street occupied by John McCrombee, shortly after seven o'clock, Thursday morning. An alarm was soon given and the brewery men rallied with buckets, and speedily extinguished the flames. The whistle at Eldredge's brewery was blown continuously by the engineer, and as the fire alarm signal is known to be seven whistles, people down town were at a loss for a while to determine the cause of the noise. Finally a locomotive chimed in on the regular signal; then the bells rang and the engines rushed off, arriving too late to be of service. One extinguisher was used for a few minutes. The fire caught from a cooking stove and would have been a serious affair but for the proximity of the breweries to it.

About three o'clock the same afternoon, fire broke out in the shed of Mr. Hall Varrell, State street, and soon communicated to an adjoining addition to his residence in a brick block of three tenements. The engines and extinguishers were sadly needed, for the aqueduct water soon gave out in the contiguous houses. The residence of Mr. William B. Lowd was at one time threatened, but the powerful streams from the steamers soon drove off the flames, and the hook and ladder men pulled down the burning shed. The tenement occupied by Mr. Varrell was completely drenched and partially gutted, and the adjoining tenement in the same building, occupied by Mrs. Christian Johnson, was damaged to the amount of about $500 by the flames, which crept behind the ceiling and under the roof. A family named Goodwin lived in the lower part. The total damage to the building will amount to $3000. The furniture in both tenements was mostly saved. The easterly end of the house, occupied by Mr. Daniel L. Randall, was uninjured except by water. Mr. Varrell thinks the fire was set in a barrel of shavings, by children at play with matches. His house was insured in the Hartford Co., for $3000; and his furniture with Morse & Ilsley's agency, for $500. Mr. Wm. Goodwin's loss will bear very heavily upon a respectable and industrious man, sick and not overburdened with the world's goods. Mrs. Johnson's house is insured in Sise's agency.

It will be seen that the sample has progressed from the first rude admixture of the ingredients by the tutelar demon, to its second stage, the labors of the intelligent compositor, aided by the muttered objurgations of the irate foreman, having evolved order (such as it is) out of chaos. Any subscriber to the CHRONICLE of ten years' standing, who shall decipher the foregoing and place each letter in the position it occupied before the GAZETTE form was "busted," accompanying the solution of the problem with a ten-years' subscription in advance to either paper, may ask us for five dollars.

Laconics.

Rev. R. G. Toles will deliver an address upon the work of the Baldwin Place Home for Little Wanderers, in the Baptist church on Sunday next at 10:30 A. M., at the Methodist church at 2:45, and at the North church at 7:30 P.M.. A Choir of Children will be present and sing some choice pieces of music. All are invited. A collection will be taken.

Hon. James Shaw, recently connected with the CHRONICLE, has purchased a half interest in the Aurora Herald, a prosperous weekly newspaper published in one of the most thriving cities of Illinois. Mr. Shaw is a keen writer, able and quick of perception, and with his extended experience in the newspaper business can hardly fail to be a valuable acquisition to the Herald Success to himself and it.

The tulip and linden trees are in bloom, the woods are merry with the gaieties of picnic parties, and the gatherers of pond-lilies are reaping a fragrant harvest.

Perhaps the most dilapidated fences on record are those that afflict Richards avenue.

The Boston Globe's Concord special says Portsmouth will send seven democrats and only three republicans to the legislature under the new charter. Don't be too confident, Mr. Globe reporter! It is next to impossible for the democracy to over-ride a majority of 550 in this city and got seven-tenths of the representatives. Just wait a few months and see.

A. H. Tucker & Co. have opened a nice lunch room in the store under the Franklin House recently occupied by Mr. Chas. E. Sanborn, which being greatly needed will doubtless be liberally patronized. The store is "as neat as wax" and will be kept so by Tucker & Co. A fresh stock of confectionery and daily arrivals of pastry will tempt to call frequently. Chinese fire crackers in abundance will be found there by Young America during the next two weeks. Messrs. Albert H. Tucker and William H. Lovell are the members of the firm and are well known as deserving young men who will cater for first-class trade. Give them a call.

The "Singer Sewing Machine Co." has finally succeeded in getting a reliable and trustworthy agent in this city by securing the services of Mr. Samuel A. Joy, who relinquished the agencies of the "Domestic" and other machines, and will hereafter devote his whole time to the "Singer." Had the latter company been more careful in the selection of its agents here it would have been in better repute than it has been for the past six months. Mr. Joy takes charge of the agency under difficulties which none but an honest as well as capable man could overcome.

The semi-annual dividend on the stock in the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad will be paid on Saturday at the office of William H. Hackett.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and active use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; offers renewed the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus baldness, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair is regrown with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessary for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great skill and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. Keep Cool! Keep Cool!

SUMMER is coming! I want a piece of ICE; where shall I get it? Why, just send a boy to Perkins', No. 30 South St., and you are sure of it. The Subscriber having purchased the entire interest of the Portsmouth Ice Co., would take this opportunity to thank his old customers for their past patronage, and would solicit the continuance of the same as well as that of the public generally. Situated as I am, with a large Ice House on Mt. Vernon St., I am prepared to deliver ICE cut from pure spring water, in any part of the city, on the shortest possible notice. By strict attention to the wants of the public and by selecting honest and accommodating drivers, I mean to merit and hope to receive a large share of the public patronage. Special attention given to delivering ICE to the Sick. Orders from Fishermen promptly attended to.

N. B. Hoping all misdemeanors of drivers will be reported to the subscriber before other steps are taken, I promise that all complaints will receive immediate attention. ORDER SLATE at H. M. Clark's provision store,—or orders may be left with the subscriber at No. 30 South St., or sent through the post office. dawtf GEORGE A. PERKINS.

LAWS

UNITED STATES

PASSED AT THE

FIRST SESSION OF THE FORTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

[GENERAL NATURE—No. 32.]

AN ACT for the benefit of occupying claimants.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That when an occupant of land, having color of title, in good faith has made valuable improvements thereon, and is, in the proper action, found not to be the rightful owner thereof, such occupant shall be entitled in the Federal courts to all the rights and remedies, and, upon instituting the proper proceedings, such relief as may be given or secured to him by the statutes of the State or Territory where the land lies, although the title of the plaintiff in the action may have been granted by the United States after said improvements were so made.

Approved, June 1, 1874.

[GENERAL NATURE—No. 33.]

AN ACT to amend an act entitled "An act to amend an act entitled 'An act to reduce duties on imports and to reduce internal taxes, and for other purposes,'" approved March third, eighteen hundred and seventy-three.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That section third of an act entitled "An act to amend an act entitled 'An act to reduce duties on imports, and to reduce internal taxes, and for other purposes,'" approved March third, eighteen hundred and seventy-three, be amended so as to read as follows:

"SEC. 3. That foreign merchandise which arrived at a port of the United States on or before the thirty-first day of July, eighteen hundred and seventy-two, and upon which duties were not paid prior to August first, eighteen hundred and seventy-two, though the same were not entered or transferred to a public store or bonded warehouse, shall be entitled to the benefits provided for in the eighth section of the act entitled 'An act to reduce duties on imports, and to reduce internal taxes, and for other purposes,' approved June sixth, eighteen hundred and seventy-two, the same as such merchandise would have been entitled to had it actually been in public store or bonded warehouse on or prior to the thirty-first day of July, eighteen hundred and seventy-two: Provided, That the owner of such merchandise shall, within thirty days from the passage of this act make application therefor in writing to the collector of the port at which such merchandise arrived."

Approved, June 3, 1874.

[GENERAL NATURE—No. 34.]

AN ACT changing the time of holding circuit and district courts in Vermont.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the term of the circuit court holden at Rutland on the third day of October shall be held on the first Tuesday in October, and the term of the district court holden at Rutland on the sixth day of October shall be held on the first Tuesday of October. The term of the circuit court holden at Windsor on the fourth Tuesday in July shall be held on the third Tuesday in May, and the term of the district court held at Windsor on the Monday after the fourth Tuesday of July shall be on the third Tuesday in May: Provided, That this act shall not apply to the next terms of the circuit and district court to be holden at Windsor, but the same shall be held at the times now provided by law.

Approved, June 5, 1874.

REASONS WHY FARMERS SHOULD PURCHASE WM. ANSON WOOD'S

NEW EAGLE MOWER:

It is the Lightest Draft Machine.
It is the most Durable Machine.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and purifying the Blood,

are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skilful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a modern store polish, far better than any other in existence. Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used. Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish. In each box are 1 sticks; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove thus all waste is saved

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Bluing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN

HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY DROPSY AND HUMORS.

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an ailment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron, in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and incalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

HENDERSON & CO.,

ANNOUNCE THEIR

SPRING OPENING

—OF—

Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons.

The Largest Stock, The Latest Styles, The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollar to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices asked by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously our sales in the summer of 187 3 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

Daily Chronicle.

Work of the Harvard Men.

Harvard will be represented at the Saratoga meeting solely by the University crew. The correspondent of the New York Times says: In spite of the great good fortune that had attended this college in its various contests, the failure of last year seems to have thrown a damper upon the boating enthusiasm of the students. Paul Dana (the son of Charles A. Dana of the Sun), who graduated, last week, with great distinction, is an admirable sculler, and has won several of the class matches. But the persuasions of the captain have not been sufficient to induce him to go to Saratoga. Silsbee, another good sculler, who goes to Saratoga as second substitute, will not enter either, and the probabilities seem to be that Yale will have something tantamount to a walk over in this particular. The failure of the university to produce a Freshman crew still more prominently marks the effect of last year's defeat on the men generally. There was one, indeed, which had made some considerable progress in training, but it fell to pieces when the stroke oar was taken away to become the bow oar of the University crew.

This gentleman, W. J. Otis, was last year a Freshman in the Academic School, and rowed with the Freshman crew as starboard stroke. This year he changed to the Scientific School, so that he still remained a Freshman. The captain of the University crew, Mr. Wendell Goodwin, out of 800 men, had at the commencement of the Winter term selected fourteen, and at the commencement of the Spring term he chose his crew out of these. Four out of the six, including himself, had been in last year's race, and but two were new. Yet the men whom he had as bow oars were not satisfactory, and he was compelled to rob the Freshman crew of Otis. That settled them. One by one the others backed out, and at last there was no crew. This seems a pity, but a captain of a university crew has no bowels of compassion. There is no doubt that Goodwin has set his heart upon winning, and will do all in the power of man to bring about that consummation.

Otis is a great acquisition. It requires a considerable mingling of qualities to fill this position suitably. The bow oar must be a man of brains, for he has to do the steering, which is managed by an apparatus worked by the foot. He must be light, or otherwise the boat will be out of trim, and he must be very muscular, because, being shorter in the reach that the others he must lay a greater strain on the muscle behind the shoulders. These qualifications are not easily found, and hence a captain has generally considerable trouble in finding his bow oar.

Of one thing there can be no doubt, and that is their determination to do their utmost to win. The three leading spirits of the crew graduate, this year, and will be forever lost to the Harvard boat. Their great rival, Yale, is headed by a captain of remarkable powers, a far-seeing individual, who thinks of more than present victory. No man in this crew is in more than his second year, and he is not only training them for '74, but preparing an invincible crew for '75 and '76. Next year the Harvard crew will be picked up, so to speak, and the Yale crew will be at its best. All the chances of war will be against them. Therefore if they are to win it must be now.

And so all through the academic year there has been a determination to omit no detail that might tell in the day of contest. All through the Winter the picked fourteen labored in the gymnasium, working at the rowing machine, and at other trials which best developed the muscles most needed. There were four already chosen, the four of the Springfield regatta, and but two were needed. Taylor was chosen, and then several were tried for bow and were rejected, and Otis was taken. The work done by each man in the gymnasium was carefully recorded, and every week the men were weighed and their chests and arms measured. Then when the Spring term commenced, the crew walked so many miles in the morning and rowed so many in the afternoon. A weekly average of so much for both branches was insisted on, and had to be maintained. The most rigid rules of abstinence concerning forbidden things were enforced, and the men who burn with ardor for victory have kept them faithfully. No temtation could induce one of them to smoke a cigar or to drink a glass of wine, or to eat an ice, or to touch pork or pastry. Anchorites could not be more abstinent than those young men. And they have been equally careful not to overtrain. If any man commenced to lose flesh with undue rapidity he was taken off certain training. The captain holds, with all good captains, that to lose flesh rapidly is to lose vitality. And it is vitality that wins the race.

A Baffled Barber.

(Utica Observer.)

A travelling friend of the Observer was at Rochester the other day, and he dropped into a barber-shop near the Osborn House to get shaved. After he had been deprived of the useless hairs upon his face, and a portion of his skin, by a garrulous and clumsy knight of the razor, the tonsorial artist tossed the ends of his hair lightly, and the following dialogue ensued: "Have a cut?" Victim—"No, it was cut last week, and I'm in a hurry." Artist (looking at the clock)—"You have plenty of time before the train goes East." Victim—"I'm not going East!" Barber—"Oh, then you are in no hurry! Had your dinner?" Victim (rather gruffly)—"Yes!" Barber (still toying with our friend's waving locks)—"Which way are you going?" Victim—"West—if I ever get out of this shop!" Barber—"How far?" Victim—"Buffalo!" Barber—"Oh, ho! Buffalo, eh? You can't get your hair cut decently in Buffalo. There is only one good barber there, and he's drunk half of the time! Shall I cut it? The train don't leave for half an hour!" Victim (thoroughly enraged)—"Look here, you wooden-headed numskull, and listen. I don't want my hair cut! I don't want a shampoo! I don't want tonic! I don't want bay rum! I don't want any more of your tongue, information, or impudence! I don't want you to finish this job, and if you don't close your infernal lather-box, and let me out of this chair, I'll saw your thick head off with one of your dull nutmeg-grating razors! Do you understand that?" The astonished nuisance comprehended.

Daily Chronicle.

SATURDAY, JUNE 27, 1874.

The Legislative Bully.

The exhibition of Bowery-boy tactics and manners by Boss Binghim, while in the chair of the House, Thursday afternoon, was a disgrace to the legislature and the State, and would have been disgraceful to the Boss and his party had further disgrace been possible in that direction. His arbitrary rulings, setting the adopted rules and established customs of the House at defiance, and his bullying endeavors to cram his outrageous and insolent decisions down the throats of the other legislators, in open contempt of the commonest courtesy, would perhaps have been in place had he been acting chairman of a Tammany primary or a meeting of the notorious Moyamensing hose company of Philadelphia; but such conduct in the chair of the New Hampshire House of Representatives is a reproach to his party, an insult to every respectable citizen and a stain on the fair fame of the State. What a choice morsel for reproduction by the papers of States hitherto less favored than our own in the choice of respectable men as legislators, will be the account of how the New Hampshire House is now governed by "plug-ugly" rules and rowdyism, introduced by the leading man of the dominant party! But there can hardly be an occurrence so evil that some good cannot be derived from it; and Bingham's outrageous conduct has at least saved Portsmouth from the reproach of having furnished the House with the most contemptible chairman since the days of George W. Kittredge. It is charitable to suppose that Bingham must have been in a rage, when he made such a show of himself.

It would seem to be humiliating enough to have the State in the hands of two such notorious opponents of the war for the preservation of the Union as Harry Bingham and John G. Sinclair, without the shameful exhibition given by the former on Thursday. If the democratic party must have secessionist leaders, why don't they select one who has borne himself as a gentleman, so far in the session, at least? Mr. Sinclair, bitter partizan though he is, we believe is not open to the charge of undignified and ungentlemanly behavior in public, or needless insolence to his political opponents.

The Legislature.

On Thursday the House passed the bill to amend the charter of the city of Portsmouth. The yeas and nays were called on the question of the passage of the bill when there appeared 168 ayes to 133 nays.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND READ TWICE.

By Mr. Marcy of Portsmouth—A bill to constitute the Police Court of Portsmouth a Court of Record.

Also a joint resolution concerning the Navy Yard patronage at Kittery, Me., and in the part of the State adjacent thereto.

DEMOCRATIC NON-PARTIZANSHIP.

On motion of Mr. Sinclair of Littleton, the address for removing Edgar Aldrich, Soliciter of Coos county, was taken up.

On the yeas and nays being called there were 161 yeas to 144 nays.

On the question of the removal of Benjamin F. Whidden, Mr. Richardson of Manchester called for the yeas and nays, when the question was carried by 161 to 134.

On the question of the removal of John M. Whipple there were 160 ayes to 133 nays.

An address for removing Isaac A. Hill, Register of Probate, and Frank S. Dodge, Sheriff of Merrimack county, was taken up.

Mr. Sanborn of Franklin said that at the last session of the House an address was put in for the removal of Asa P. Cate, a democrat, and Judge of Probate for Merrimack county. The House would recollect that on that occasion he maintained that these offices ought not to be of a political character solely, and he took occasion to eulogize the manner in which the duties of that office had been performed, and he thought he took an active part not only in commending Mr. Cate but in increasing his salary $100.

He asked the majority to remember what they (the present minority) did then, and if they could find a generous spot in their hearts the minority would be very glad to have the benefit of it.

Mr. Richardson of Manchester, moved that the further consideration of the address be indefinitely postponed.

The motion was rejected.

The yeas and nays were then called on the removal of Isaac A. Hill, when there appeared 195 yeas to 124 nays.

The yeas and nays were then called on the removal of Frank S. Dodge, when there were 160 yeas to 144 nays, and the address was passed.

An address for the removal of Larkin D. Mason, Judge of Probate, Leavitt H. Eastman, sheriff, and Josiah H. Hobbs, Solicitor of Carroll county.

Mr. Sanborn of Franklin, called for a division of the question, and Mr. Jenks of Concord, for the yeas and nays.

On the question of Larkin D. Mason 159 voted yea and 130 nay.

Mr. Richardson of Manchester moved in amendment that the public good required the removal of William Little, and Samuel L. Bell, Justices of Hillsborough county.

The chair ruled the amendment not in order.

On the question of Leavitt H. Eastman 166 voted yea and 136 nay.

On the question of the removal of Josiah H. Hobbs there were 165 yeas and 115 nays, so the address passed.

DISGRACEFUL RULINGS.

During the pending of the above addresses, Mr. Bingham of Littleton, the recognized leader of the democratic side, occupied the chair. Before announcing the vote on the last address, Mr. Sanborn of Franklin asked how he had voted, in the confusion not being certain that he had been correctly recorded. The Speaker, in a stern and arbitrary manner, ruled the gentleman out of order. Mr. Sanborn immediately took an appeal, and the Speaker peremptorily refused to entertain the appeal. A scene of confusion and excitement at once followed that has rarely been witnessed in the House. Mr. Sanborn moved to adjourn, which motion was lost on a call of the yeas and nays. Mr. Emery of Portsmouth called for the unfinished business, and this motion Mr. Sanborn moved to lay on the table. Mr. Hall of Dover, a quiet and gentlemanly member, declined to vote, declaring that he did not understand the force of the question. The Speaker decided that he must vote. Mr. Hall rose to explain, when the Speaker declared him out of order. Continuing to speak, the Speaker, amid a thrill of excitement all over the House, directed the Sergeant-at-Arms to arrest the gentleman from Dover. Before he reached him, Mr. Hall had finished his speech and sat down. The Speaker directed the clerk to call Mr. Hall's name, when he again arose. The Speaker declared the gentleman from Dover out of order. He proceeded to address the House, however, declaring that his reason for not voting was not evasive. Again the Sergeant-at-Arms was ordered to arrest the gentleman from Dover, but he was restrained from doing so, and Mr. Blodgett of Franklin moved an adjournment, which was almost unanimously sustained by the House.

Friday, at opening of the morning session the clerk proceeded to read the journal, which embraced no less than ten lists of the yeas and nays taken on diffarent questions.

Mr. Mellows, of New Market, moved that the reading be dispensed with, but Mr. Kent, of Portsmouth, objecting, the reading went on. After one list had been read, Mr. Blodgett, of Franklin, moved another suspension, but Mr. Jenks, of Concord, objected. Finally, after half an hour thus spent, the remainder of the nays were omitted and the reading was finished.

During the day, Mr. Bingham apologised to the republican members for insulting them the day before while in the chair.

What Can It Mean?

Early in the session of the legislature, the Concord correspondent of the Manchester Mirror,—and a capital correspondent he is too,—said in reference to the contested seat of Abner Frost, the republican representative from Weare, that if Josiah G. Dearborn, the democratic contestant, was elected State treasurer by the democratic caucus, the House committee on elections would be instructed to render a decision on the merits of the case; but if Dearborn was defeated in the caucus Mr. Frost would have to go home, as Dearborn must have a place somewhere. Mr. Dearborn was chosen treasurer, and consequently the committee on elections has reported that Mr. Frost is entitled to his seat in the House. But though the reason for allowing Mr. Frost to retain his seat is apparent, such is not the case regarding the decision that representative Allen N. Clapp, of ward seven, Manchester, is entitled to a seat in the House. A choice delegation of democratic wire-pullers from Manchester have been in Concord demanding that Mr. Clapp be sent home; and as he had no other claim to his seat than that conferred by a legal election to it, the action of the democratic majority is unaccountable. Do the democratic leaders think their majority so large and their followers so thoroughly disciplined to follow the crack of the whip that there is no need of unseating any more legally-elected republicans? Or do they fear that their glaring partizanship has already been carried too far for the health of the democratic party at the next election? Quien sabe?

An Infamous Measure.

[Concord Monitor.]

The bill prepared by the star-chamber for re-districting the Senatorial districts is worthy of its source. It is the cap-sheaf of gerrymanders, and demonstrates the desperate shifts the leaders are willing to support in order to secure another year of power and the much-prized seat in the United States Senate. No regard whatever is had for the constitutional requirements of the case, and all geographical considerations are set at complete defiance. If this piece of villainy is consummated, the prophecy of Mr. Sanborn, made in connection with the Nashua gerrymande, will be sure of fulfillment. "Such legislation," said Mr. Sanborn, "would blot out all forgiveness and make the night of eighteen years of oblivion but the beginning of eternal night."

State News.

The roll of the house of representatives comprises the names of 343 members, and the call for the yeas and nays is gone through by Mr. Smith, the clerk, in eight minutes. It is related of Colonel Henry O. Kent, who was clerk many years ago, that after a severe day's labor in the house, during which the yeas and nays had been called nineteen times, the wearied clerk, after he retired, was heard to call the entire roll of the house in his sleep, without omitting the name of a single member of the roll.

On the 24th ult., Dudley L. Avery, eldest son of A. D. Avery of Lake Village, went out upon Lake Winnipesaukie in a small dory. Later in the day it was discovered adrift by the pilot of a passing steamer. It is thought Avery is drowned.

Just as the school was dismissed at George Hill in Grafton on the afternoon of the 24th, a large black bear made his appearance from the bushes, and started for the children. They at once took refuge in the school house, where they remained until a party of armed neighbors went to their relief. The affair created much excitement, and a large party next day engaged in a genuine bear hunt.

On the afternoon of the 24th, as two men were fishing at the Falls, about twenty-five rods below the railroad bridge in East Kingston, they found floating in the river the body of an unknown woman, about twenty-five or thirty years of age, and about five feet two inches in height. She had black hair, and was well dressed in a black alpaca dress and water proof cape. She wore a gold finger ring marked "C. G.," and had probably been in the water six or eight weeks.

Nashua High School has a graduating class of four.

Mrs. Hannah Turner of Candia has been painfully bitten by a large dog.

A rigging is being constructed whereby the doors of the Nashua steam fire engine house can be thrown open by simply slacking a rope.

Says the Manchester Mirror's legislative reporter, of Hatch's talk in favor of the Portsmouth gerrymander: His speech was intensely bitter and partisan. Perhaps he did as well as could be expected under the circumstances, but it is generally remarked that he disappointed both the friends of the bill and of himself.

Bostons 14, Hartfords 13; Philadelphias 13, Mutuals 12.

Henry L. Dawes, the biggest political humbug sent to Congress from Massachusetts since the republicans have been in power there, declines a renomination in the eleventh district. His defeat for the Senatorship evidently crushed his ambition for notoriety.

Hon. W. H. H. Bingham is the democratic nominee for Govornor of Vermont.

Police Commissioners Gardner and Charlick, of New York, have been convicted of malfeasance in office.

The Brooklyn Eagle's version of the Beecher scandal is as follows: Tilton is understood to have discovered, from Mrs. Tilton, that Beecher made to her an improper overture in her own parlor, while calling upon her as a pastor. The overture was not mistakable, it is alleged, and it was repelled with indignation and scorn, and, after retaining the subject in her own mind for some time, Mrs. Tilton was finally constrained to tell her husband.

There have been violent storms in New Brunswick.

The Woman Who Listens.

[Cor. Cincinnati Times.]

Nature has endowed her with auricular powers that are truly remarkable. Her whole appearance gives evidence of this ruling passion. Every bow on her dress is cocked up, and turns the hollow of its loops to the front, as though listening. Her hands are constantly pawing the air, as if to demand silence from even inanimate objects. Conversation is impossible where at each second or third step in its pathway a sudden check-rein of "Hush!" "Hark!" "Listen!" or "I hear something!" is imposed.

Tradition has it that she never married, because during her lover's proposal she interrupted him sixteen times with her irrepressible harks and hushes, at which he took offence and walked away, leaving her to decide alone the important question as to whether she heard a two-horse vehicle coming down. Since that time she has been too busy listening to ever think of matrimony.

When riding out with friends, she has the carriage stopped once in three minutes, while she listens for danger ahead. What precise danger is not known, and consequently her good offices are not appreciated by hurried friends. She has the shutters closed and windows down about three times a day in summer, from a conviction that she hears thunder and other signs of a storm... Sweltering relatives, who are not considered deaf, mildly remonstrate, and suggest coal-carts. With a withering glance she merely retorts, "Listen!" Nearer and nearer draw the coal-carts. Relatives, meekly triumph: "There, we told you so." Listening woman, pawing the air to quite them: "Don't you suppose I can hear those coal-carts? I tell you it was thunder I heard." Carts having passed beyond hearing is restored until cart-time again.

Since the Williamsburg affair, she is constantly on the alert for a similar catastrophe, and gives warning more energetically than did Collins Graves, although there is no reservoir larger than a town well within fifty miles of her home. Earthquakes and mill-explosions are of daily occurrence if we believe all she hears, which, thanks to our common sense, we do not. If the world were on fire, I verily believe, instead of hastening to make peace with Heaven, she would stop everybody to listen for the trumpet of Gabriel.

The woman who talks until her tongue is fringed out, grows somewhat annoying, and the man who sits in the corner and answers monosyllables to the most frantic attempts at entertaining him is exasperating, but these are as naught compared to the indefatigable women who listen.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

City Council.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, leave to encumber streets for building was granted to John Stokell on Rockingham street, and Joseph Parry on Fleet street.

Voted; That the committee on Gas Lights be authorized to provide gas light fixtures at the corner of Congress and Vaughan streets.

The committee on Fire Department recommended that the subject of a new engine house be referred to the committee on city lands, etc., with power to secure a lot and build a one-story engine house with hose tower near the Hanover street school house. The subject was recommitted with instructions to report in one week.

The committee on city lands and buildings reported that a primary school house is very much needed, but there being no appropriation they made no recommendation.

Mount Horeb Commandery of Concord, and Trinity Commandery of Knights Templar of Manchester have arranged for an excursion to Portsmouth, the Shoals and Haverhill, Mass., on August 26 and 27. Brown's Band of Fisherville and Dignam's of Manchester will accompany them.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire, and of the Portsmouth, Great Falls and Conway Railroad, will be held in this city on Tuesday, July 14.

The Portsmouth republicans present their compliments to their friends throughout the State, and promise to administer such a "warming" next March to the democratic jugglers who have endeavored to put them in leading strings, as will show that opposition only was needed to cause them to close ranks and move on the enemy's works. There is a sorry day for reckoning ahead for the democratic scamps who are legislating at Concord for partizan purposes only, while the interests of the State suffer.

Carpenter E. D. Hall, U. S. N., is ordered from duty on U. S. S. Sabine to U. S. S. Colorado at Norfolk navy yard. The Colorado joins the North Atlantic squadron.

Miss Cary, the songstress, has engaged rooms at the Oceanic House, Star Island.

An improvement has been made at the Navy Yard landing on Daniel street, by the erection of a flag staff; a complete set of signal flags is placed there, so that whatever is wanted at the yard, or on this side, is easily made known by signal.

Several Manchester people are erecting cottages at Hampton Beach.

While some workmen were engaged in hoisting the main-top-mast aboard the new schooner Clara E. Simpson, at Fernald's ship yard, Friday afternoon, the ring through which the hawser ran gave way and the mast fell about thirty feet, breaking in the rail. The mast was broken in two in the middle, half of it going overboard, where it stuck in the mud. Mr. Joseph M. Rogers had his hand injured.

The High School exhibition will soon take place. There is to be but one for the girls and boys, who are now practically in one school. Sixteen girls will graduate in the four years' course, and six boys. In the three years' course four boys will graduate.

Somebody tapped a barrel of molasses on the sidewalk of J. Rider & Son, Penhallow street, Thursday night. The little Irish boys and girls thereabouts had a sweet time out of it. The lasses belonged to Wm. Plaisted of York.

A young Newfoundland dog at "The Wentworth," Newcastle, bit Mr. Jewett, one of the clerks of the house, in the left hand, Friday afternoon, inflicting a severe wound. Mr. Campbell had the dog killed. Mr. Jewett says he spoke to the dog as the latter came near him, and the fierce brute sprang on him.

The Resolute base ball club of this city played a game with the Athletes of Kittery, Friday afternoon, resulting in a victory for the Athletes by a score of 42 to 20; Justin Spinney, umpire. On account of the rain game was called at the close of the eighth inning.

Capt. N. Parker Simes was recently bitten severely in the hand by a large dog.

The Unitarian church will be ready for occupancy on the second Sunday in July, probably.

Considerable interest is felt among the clerks, writers and others, employed at the navy yard under the appropriation "Civil Establishment" to know just how the proposed reduction, after this month, will effect them. Without doubt several will be discharged, while the salaries of those who are fortunate enough to be retained will be materially reduced. No orders have, as yet, been issued.

Of the schooners arriving at this port on Friday, the B. C. Terry split main-sail and fore-sail, the Addie Todd lost her jibs, and the Lizzie M. Stewart, having struck a rock on her passage from Bangor, leaks badly.

Schooner Charles Upton, wrecked last Fall on the Western Sisters, and towed into this harbor in a sunken condition, has been thoroughly repaired at a cost of $3000 by Mr. Daniel Littlefield, of this city, and looks as good as new. She will slide into the water from the ways at Kittery today. Hall Bros., of Chelsea, are the owners.

Neatly Put.

[Concord Monitor.]

During the animated debate, June 24th, in the House over the Portsmouth gerrymander, the republican members from that city who took a leading part in the discussion, Messrs. Emery and Kent, acquitted themselves handsomely. The democrats brought out their heavie st gun, (Mr. Sinclair,) to aid their hardly pressed champions, Hatch and Marcy, but even then the two latter were put hors du combat. Mr. Kent was particularly felicitous in his impromptu reply to the passionate harangue of Mr. Hatch, who had much to say about political proscription in the Navy Yard. "If," retorted Mr. Kent, "it is wrong to dismiss voters from the Navy Yard for political reasons, is it not equally wrong to dismiss solicitors, judges of probate and justices of the peace, for the same and no other reason?" This was a settler. It cannot, of course, be said of the Speaker, as of the member of the Society on the Stanislaus, when hit by the "junk of old red sandstone," viz: that "the subsequent proceedings interested him no more," but he was so preoccupied there after that he did not attempt to solve his colleague's conundrum.

A Hard Head and a Harder Story.

[St. Joe (Mo.) Herald.]

A gentleman who came in from St. Louis yesterday on the St. Louis, Kansas City and Northern Line, tells us a story, and we give it just as we received it, without endorsing. It is like this:

As the west-bound passenger train on the road was some eight miles east of Carrollton, and just as it was running around a curve, the engineer saw some object lying on the track. It wasn't more than fifty yards ahead, and it was useless to talk of stopping the train, even with the splendid new brakes. Still he blew the whistle, applied the brake, threw out sand, and did everything an engineer could do. The speed wasn't reduced to less than twenty miles an hour when the cowcatcher struck the suspicious looking object. It went flying into the air, and as the clothing came from around it, proved to be a darkey boy about nineteen years old. He landed about twenty-five yards off in a neighboring cornfield, and was pretty generally supposed to be dead: There was no time for inquiry on this point, however. The train was already behind time and between stations, and had to run to avoid a collision with the train due from Carrollton east. The conductor went ahead, and on reaching the latter station at once sent word to the Coroner of Carroll County of what had occurred.

The Coroner waited a couple of hours until No. 2, bound East, came along; boarded it, in company with the Constable and a jury that had been summoned, and all the party were put off at the scene of the accident. They found the body of the colored boy lying exactly where it had been thrown by the cowcatcher. There was a pretty large gash running between the eyes to the centre of the head, but no bones were broken, and there were no other marks of violence perceivable. The boy was apparently stone dead. The heart had ceased to beat, there was no pulse in the wrists, and the whole system was clammy and cold.

The Coroner at once proceeded to discharge his duty. The jury were sworn, took a careful view of the subject, and then retired a short distance to deliberate on their verdict. This was speedily agreed upon, and they returned to the spot only to discover that the "deceased" had vanished. A careful search discovered the chap seated on a fence near the railroad, wanting to know who had disturbed his slumbers, and when the next train would be along.

The Coroner and jury adjourned for refreshments.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

THE new two-story DWELLING HOUSE No. 3 Rockingham street, containing seven rooms, with a good Stable and Garden on the premises.

Price, $2500.00; apply to ADAMS PERRY, JR. m29 1mo d

For Sale in Greenland.
THE fine country residence and farm formerly occupied by Rev. John F. Adams,—buildings in thorough repair, land well divided into mowing and tillage; fine fruit orchard, etc., well known for the large quantity of pleasant strawberries produced.

The house has an evergreen hedge around it and the buildings are in thorough repair. There is a fruit orchard of 300 apple trees, 20 cherry trees and as many pear trees—and a nursery with 1500 young apple trees. From the grape vines on the place fifteen bushels of fruit have been sold in a season, besides abundance retained for home use. Part of the land heavily wooded and there is a great quantity of muck on the estate. In the pasture there is a never-failing spring. The farm is situated midway between depots of Eastern and Concord railroads. For sale at a bargain, if enquired for immediately.—of O. G. ROBINSON, on the premises, or Butler & Laighton, Market Square, or Bailey & Co., Market street. je1

Why the Amerique was Abandoned.

The investigation into the disaster to the transatlantic steamer L'Amerique has just been concluded by the committee appointed by the French government. According to the report of the committee the vessel was not weakened by the lengthening process, and is even now perfectly sound. It appears that the vessel had on board a new English double circulation pump, a piece of machinery concerning whose operation the Chief Engineer was so ignorant that all the time he was trying to pump the water out of the hold he was diligently pumping it in at the rate of two hundred cubic metres an hour. Under these circumstances it was not remarkable that the vessel should have filled rapidly; and if the officers had not given it up and abandoned the ship, they would doubtless have succeeded in sinking her, by continuing their intelligent use of the pump a while longer. That chap is a nice kind of chief engineer to have 'round.

Business Notices.

Life Without Enjoyment.

No human being whose stomach and liver are disordered can enjoy life. Business is a fatigue and a bore, and all amusements "flat and unprofitable," to the victim of indigestion, billiousness, and disturbances of the bowels and nerves which always accompany them. The shortest, surest, safest way to get rid of these evils, and of the mental despondency which grows out of them, is to tone and regulate the system with Hostetler's Stomach Bitters. Of all stimulants it is the purest, of all vegetable tonics the most active, of all cathartics the mildest, of all anti-bilious preparations the most swift and certain in its operation. During the twenty odd years that it has been in use it has lived down professional prejudices, distanced competition, and taken rank as the standard restorative of the age.

For Moth Patches, Freckles and Tan

Ask your Druggist for Perry's Moth and Freckle Lotion, which is harmless and in every case infallible. Or for his Improved COMEDONE and PIMPLE REMEDY, the great SKIN MEDICINE for Pimples, Black Heads or Flesh Worms. Or consult B. C. PERRY, the noted Skin Doctor, 49 Bond St., New York. a 19 D 6m

The "Gentleman in Black," who is the tutelar demon of dram-shops, assumes his sourest aspect when the rapid progress of VINEGAR BITTERS is reported "down below." The People's Vegetable Tonic is playing the mischief with his bitters fired with rum. All diseases which these demoniac nostrums aggravate, under pretence of relieving, such as indigestion, sick-headache, constipation, rheumatism, gout, and intermittent fevers are cured by it. je24 4w

What is the matter?—Your hair looks dry and dead, it breaks off, and is falling out. You dress it with an alcohol and oil mixture or some well advertised Hair Restorer.. The hair is poisoned, it is killed. If you would restore it, cast away these things, go buy a bottle of Bearine which can be had of any Druggist, and we will guarantee a change for the better at once! 9

ANAKESIS is without doubt, the most infallible, easy and scientific cure for PILES ever discovered. 20,000 greatful patients attest its virtue, and physicians of all schools endorse it unequivocally. Lotions, ointments, and electuaries are only a waste of time and money. ANAKESIS relieves pain at once and cures absolutely. It is the discovery of Dr. Silsbee, a scientific physician and has been pronounced the greatest contribution to medicine of the age.—Price $1.00. Sold by druggists everywhere. Depot, 46 Walker street, New York.

Helmbold's Buchu is still in the zenith of its popularity. Notwithstanding the absence of Dr. Helmbold, the celebrated medicine is still manufactured at the laboratory at Philadelphia, and is sold by all respectable druggists. It is warranted for all diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs. Beware of counterfeits. Genuine has proprietor's private stamp. John F. Henry, New York, Sole Agent.

Baker's Chocolate, so noted for its nutritive, salutary, and delicious qualities, hardly needs our endorsement after the awards made to its excellence at the leading Fairs in both hemispheres. A trial is all that is needed to convince any one of its great merit, and since 1780 this test has been applied.

The American House, Boston, commends itself to the public which has so long known it as the leading New England hotel, by making a large reduction on transient rates for rooms according to size and location. First-class as ever, with Passenger Elevator and an excellent table, $3.00 to $4.00 per day.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic

CURING

are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a modern store polish, far better than any other in existence. Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used. Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish. In each box are 4 sticks; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove thus all waste is saved

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Bluing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, dandruff and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it invigorates the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA- DEBILITY DROPSY AND HUMORS.

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with truly expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

HENDERSON & CO.,

ANNOUNCE THEIR

SPRING OPENING

—OF—

Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons.

The Largest Stock, The Latest Styles, The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that we are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bennets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

And five dollar Trimmed Hats will compare favorably with any ten dollar one in the city.

State News.

The Nashua Telegraph, we are sorry to say, announces that next year, though the republicans carry the State, it shall advocate the idea that the democrats now being appointed shall remain in office notwithstanding good men and true are being removed daily by the democratic legislature to make room for them. Out upon such a skim-milk doctrine that has no idea of justice about it, but only sickly sentimentalism.

Dr. Rufus Carter, a resident of Keene, while at work in his garden last week, unearthed a Spanish coin, the value of a dollar, and bearing the date of 1771. The lettering and emblematic design upon the coin are perfectly clear. The piece is a rare specimen of silver, and will be of interest to the numismatist.

Mrs. John Presby, who lives with Mrs. Wingate Wiggin in Newmarket, was startled, on looking up from her knitting, to see a large black snake snugly coiled up not two feet from her chair. Her screams brought Mrs. Wiggin to the rescue, and together they dispatched the serpent, which measured three feet two inches in length.

The Alpine House, Gorham, is to be rebuilt.

A Gorham goose has deserted a lot of goslings aged two weeks, and gone to laying, having committed her progeny to the tender mercies of a gander.

Freddie Prescott, of Manchester, exploded a fire cracker in his right eye on the 23d and may lose the sight in consequence.

Mrs. Harriet Gray, of Peterborough, aged 82, started for Salt Lake recently. She became a convert to Mormonism thirty years ago, and goes to the "holy land" as a pilgrim. She expects to return in September.

Rev. Geo. T. Day, D. D., of Dover, has been appointed President of Hillsdale College.

The republican State committee will issue the minority report in the case of Mr. Caverly, of Rochester, as a campaign document. It is an able defence.

The act in relation to the Probate Courts in this county fixes the terms as follows: at Exeter, on the Wednesday next following the third Tuesday of February, March and August, on the Wednesday next following the first Tuesday of April, and on the Wednesday next following the second Tuesday of every other month; at Portsmouth on the second Tuesday of January, May, July, September and November; at Derry, on the third Tuesday of February, and on the second Tuesday of June and October; at Raymond, on the first Tuesday of April, on the third Tuesday of August, and on the second Tuesday of December. Raymond, by reason of its railroad facilities, will be a more convenient place than Deerfield where the court has been held three times a year.

A year-old child of John Hamilton, of Manchester, fell from a third-story window to the pavement on Saturday and was fatally injured.

Readables.

A Biddeford boy named O'Rourke took a flask of powder, poured it into a bottle and touched it off. Besides burning his face, it set fire to his clothing. He was fortunately near a stream or small pond, and had the presence of mind to jump in, and thus extinguished the flames.

An amendment to the omnibus bill, passed at the closing session of Congress, repeals the law retiring naval constructors till the age of sixty-five years. This amended law will cause the services of such men as Wm. L. Hanscom, Naval Constructor at Brooklyn Navy Yard, and Commodore Hanscom, Chief of Bureau of Construction at Washington, to be a benefit to the naval service for several years to come.

The Chicago Times' correspondent at Washington, despairing of ever getting rid of Secretary Delano by other means, suggests that he be sent to Europe "on a lengthened steamer."

The Rio Grande has overflowed its banks in New Mexico, causing damages estimated at $2,000,000.

Hugh Donohue has succeeded in walking 1000 miles in 1000 consecutive hours at Springfield, Mass.

The official vote in Oregon for candidates for Congress, was as follows: LaDow, democrat, 9,642; Williams, republican, 6,340; Davenport, independent, 6,350.

The Rhode Island legislature has adjourned without electing anybody to the United States Senate,—six months' pay lost to somebody, as that legislature does not meet again until January.

Boston 8, Chicagos 7; Bostons 29, Chicagos 6.

The Spanish Carlists have raised the siege of Figueras, near the French frontier. General Concha's attack on Estella is hourly expected. Don Carlos directs the defence in person.

Mr. Beecher's friends flatly deny that he ever wrote any such letter as Mr. Tilton published bearing Beecher's alleged signature, saying that "Mr. Beecher never wrote any such letter, Mr. Tilton knows that he did not, and there is no such letter in existence." It is further stated that "Mrs. Tilton has repeatedly and emphatically denied" having ever charged Mr. Beecher with making dishonorable proposals to her. There's a discrepancy adrift somewhere.

and the whole affair is queer to the last degree. The huge scandal which has done so much harm and caused so much talk is now narrowed down to very small proportions. Both Tilton and Beecher, either personally or through the medium of friends, have said that consideration for others only forced them to keep silent, but Beecher has kept silent while Tilton has not, which gives Beecher's side the advantage at present.

MONDAY, JUNE 29, 1874.

The Legislature.

On Friday, Mr. Hoitt of Durham presented an address for the removal of James H. Edgerly, Judge of Probate, and Joseph R. Varney, Register of Probate, and Joseph Jones, Sheriff for the County of Strafford.

Mr. Jenks of Concord, called for a division of the question.

Mr. Briggs of Manchester, moved it be indefinitely postponed. The motion was put and lost.

Mr. Jenks called for the yeas and nays when there were 152 nays to 104 yeas.

Mr. Bingham moved the previous question, and the House voted that the main question be put.

Mr. Emery called for the yeas and nays. Yeas 157, and nays 106.

The question relating to the removal of James H. Edgerly was then put, when Mr. Kent called for the yeas and nays. Carried by 160 to 109.

On the question relating to John R. Varney, Mr. Newell of Manchester called for the yeas and nays. Carried by 150 to 100.

The question relating to Joseph Jones was then put. The yeas and nays were called when it was carried by 161 yeas to 107 nays, so the address passed.

On motion of Mr. Blodgett of Franklin, the address for removal of Lyman T. Flint, Solicitor for Merrimack county was taken up.

Mr. Kent of Portsmouth, said that inasmuch as he believed he had a right to know for what cause he was removed, and as Mr. Sinclair of Littleton had stated that these officers were removed for political reasons, he moved to amend by striking out of the addresses the words "for the public good," and insert "for the political purposes of the democratic party." (Laughter.)

The amendment of Mr. Kent was rejected on a division by 150 to 91.

Mr. Jewell of Lancaster, called for the yeas and nays on the question of adopting the addresses, which was carried by 158 to 108.

By Mr. Hoitt of Durham—An address for the removal of Daniel Hall, Judge of the Police Court of Dover.

Mr. Emery called for the yeas and nays, when the address was adopted by 162 to 115.

By Mr. Wadleigh of Laconia—An address for the removal of David C. Batchellor, Sheriff of Belknap county.

Mr. Durgin of Concord called for the yeas and nays when the address was adopted by 151 to 99.

By Mr. Edgerly of Haverhill—An address for the removal of David R. Lang, Judge of Probate, Tyler Westgate, Register of Probate, Evarts W. Farr, Solicitor, Manson S. Brown, Sheriff for Grafton county.

The motion on a division was rejected by 150 to 91.

Mr. Sanborn of Franklin, called for a division of the question, and Mr. Healy of Keene, for the yeas and nays, when so much of the address as related to David R. Lang, was adopted by 162 to 112.

The question relating to Tyler Westgate was on a call of the yeas and nays adopted by 158 to 107.

On the question relating to Evarts W. Farr, Mr. Kent called for the yeas and nays.

Mr. Briggs said before the vote was taken, he wished to make a suggestion. He was heartily sick of this partisan legislation. He believed it was not what the sober second thought of the honest people of New Hampshire demanded at the hands of the majority of the House. But if it was the settled purpose of the majority, without regard to the character of these men, to sweep away every individual of republican politics from public office he wished the House and people of the State and country to understand something of the character of these men. Mr. Farr was a young man of unquestioned uprightness and intelligence, whose fitness for the office was undoubted. In the late war he served his country gallantly and lost an arm at the battle of Williamsburg. If, therefore, the majority were to strike this blow at this disabled man, they must do so with their eyes open.

Mr. Bingham of Littleton, said he did not see the propriety of defending the character of these men, since no one assailed it. Nobody questioned but Mr. Lang was a good Judge of Probate, Mr. Westgate a good Register, and that Major Farr lost an arm in doing his duty to his country. Nobody would suppose that Mr. Farr was entitled to any particular sympathy for the loss of his present office. He had enough to attend to without it and he had for four years enjoyed pretty extensively the emoluments of office. Although he had lost an arm he had plenty of money and could still carry on his business. There were other young men just as capable as Major Farr, and who need the office a great deal more, so the claim for sympathy was the other way.

The removal of Mr. Farr was carried by 158 yeas to 104 nays.

Mr. Sanborn: As we have done a very bad day's work, and are going from bad to worse, I move the House do now adjourn.

The motion was rejected by a viva voce vote and a division.

Mr. Bailey of Hopkinton, moved that when the house adjourne it be to 8 o'clock P. M.

Mr. Sanborn called for the yeas and nays, when the motion was carried by 156 to 83.

Mr. Briggs moved that the House adjourn.

On a division the motion was lost, and on the yeas and nays being called, it was rejected by 152 to 54.

Mr. Pierce of Orford, moved a reconsideration of the vote by which the House voted to adjourn to 8 o'clock.

The Chair ruled it was out of order.

Mr. Sanborn said Mr. Bailey had said, that if the House would allow one more vote to be taken, he would move to adjourn. He objected to that. They had chopped off more heads than had ever been done in New Hampshire before in the same time. At a reasonable hour the minority respectfully asked to adjourn, only to be voted out of sight by majority. That being so, what other return could they expect from the minority but delays and stumbling blocks.

Mr. Sinclair of Littleton (with a sanguinary glance in his eye), let us take off one more head.

Mr. Sanborn—I will not yield one inch. I call for my motion.

Mr. Sinclair—It is a pity to divide these friends of Grafton county. They have lived so comfortably in life together it is a pity to separate them; we wish to bury them all in one grave. (Laughter by the majority).

The House refused to adjourn by 165 nays to 32 yeas.

The question as to Manson S. Brown then came up, when Mr. Emery moved to indefinitely postpone it.

Mr. Bingham moved the previous question.

Mr. Emery moved to lay it on the table.

Mr. Bingham: That has been made once.

On the question, shall the main question be put, Mr. Briggs called for the yeas and nays, when there were 154 yeas to 31 nays.

On the question of the removal of Manson S. Brown, Mr. Emery called for the yeas and nays, when it was carried by 150 to 31.

At 9:45 o'clock Mr. Kent moved to adjourn and called again for the yeas and nays but the House refused—51 to 158.

An address for the removal of David Cross, Judge of Probate; Cornelius V. Dearborn, Register of Probate; Charles Scott, Sheriff, all of Hillsborough county; Samuel Upton, Justice, and Henry E. Burnham, Special Justice of the Manchester Police Court; Edward Emerson, Justice, and Henry Parkinson, Special Justice of the Nashua Police Court was then considered. On this Mr. Sinclair called for the previous question, and the opponents of the address interposed the usual motions to delay action. A motion to adjourn was rejected—17 to 162.

A lively scene now came up. Mr. Sinclair said that there appeared to be no quorum and moved a call of the House. Mr. Bingham said that there was an evident intention on the part of the republican members to absent themselves and prevent the transaction of business.

Mr. Sanborn of Franklin said that it was high time honest men should be in bed, and called for the yeas and nays on Mr. Sinclair's motion. The vote stood, yeas, 147; nays, 6; showing that nearly all the republican members had left the hall.

Mr. Briggs moved to adjourn, as there was no quorum voting. The Speaker decided that, no quorum being present, no business could be done by a vote of the House, and that the motion was out of order, but that he himself could adjourn the House if it was not possible to transact business. He also gave his opinion that wilful absence of members was in violation of the rules and disrespectful, and would subject them to punishment by a vote of the House. It was now nearly eleven o'clock and business had come to a dead lock, there being much confusion. The speaker ordered all spectators on the floor of the House to leave the Hall. The members were then counted to see if a quorum was present, and it appeared that there was.

Mr. Bingham desired that the doors might be locked.

Mr. Kent objected, and hoped that the motion might be withdrawn.

The Speaker read the rule requiring members to be punctual in attending to their duties.

The call for the previous question was sustained—yeas, 164, nays, 12; and the work of decapitating the several officers was proceeded with and completed at 12.30 o'clock, with barely a quorum to do business. The highest republican vote was 19 and the highest democratic 165. A quorum is 172. When full the House has 343 members—179 democrats and 164 republicans.

At 12:30 A. M., Saturday Mr. Sinclair moved to adjourn, and the House refused.

At 1:15 A. M., the session was adjourned by the Speaker (no quorum voting) to 10 o'clock, the roll having been called some forty times since 5 P. M. of Friday.

At 10 o'clock Saturday forenoon only about twenty members appeared, and the House was adjourned by the Speaker to 4 P. M., Monday.

The Railroad Committee, by their chairman, Mr. Sinclair, reported eleven to one against the charter of the Spicket River Railroad. The House, after a sharp debate, took a different view of the matter and almost unanimously rejected the report and granted the charter. The report was sustained by Messrs. Sinclair, Sanborn and Rolles, and opposed by Messrs. Leavitt, Lyman, Jenks, Briggs, Hall, Kent and Brown. Another report from the Railroad Committee against granting a charter for the Nashua and Plaistow Railroad was unanimously rejected, even Mr. Sinclair voting against his own report, declaring that he was bound to "go with the crowd." Probably there is not on record a similar instance of a unanimous report of a committee unanimously rejected. Certainly the legislation of New Hampshire furnishes no parallel.

Who's Running This Thing.

(Cor. Manchester Mirror.)

How sad it is that success always begets jealousy and engenders strife. When the democracy was out of power and needed doughty fighting men to save it from going wholly out of existence, it thought Warren Daniell and A. W. Sulloway were just about the most deserving young men the State could boast, and Franklin by far the best democratic town which had a place upon the map; but now, if you keep your ears open when in the presence of the slate makers, you will hear such talk as this; "well, we'd better sell out and let Franklin run this thing. There's Gilchrist and Sulloway Railroad Commissioners, Warren Daniell Senator, Blodgett is going to be Judge, Simonds wants to be Superintendent of Public Instruction, and pretty soon Daniel will have to be Governor; and now the other Franklin democrat, Ed. Junkins, has got to be made High Sheriff. Oh, that's a nice, modest town, that Franklin." Of course these growls come from those who want to see somebody else made High Sheriff, Robertson of Warren for instance, but there is some cause for them after all. The Franklin boys are running this democratic machine, and it's going to grind out just about what they say. If they decide to make their faithful follower, Junkins, Sheriff, they'll do it in spite of all Robertson's friends, money and good looks.

Business Notices.

Life Without Enjoyment.

No human being whose stomach and liver are disordered can enjoy life. Business is a fatigue and a bore, and all amusements "flat and unprofitable," to the victim of indigestion, billiousness, and disturbances of the bowels and nerves which always accompany them. The shortest, surest, safest way to get rid of these evils, and of the mental despondency which grows out of them, is to tone and regulate the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Of all stimulants it is the purest, of all vegetable tonics the most active, of all cathartics the mildest, of all anti-bilious preparations the most swift and certain in its operation. During the twenty odd years that it has been in use it has lived down professional prejudices, distanced competitors, and taken rank as the standard restorative of the age.

The "Gentleman in Black," who is the tutelar demon of dram-shops, assumes his sourest aspect when the rapid progress of VINEGAR BITTERS is reported "down below." The People's Vegetable Tonic is playing the mischief with his bitters fired with rum. All diseases which those demonic nostrums aggravate, under pretense of relieving, such as indigestion, sick-headache, constipation, rheumatism, gout, and intermittent fevers are cured by it. je24 4w

ANAKESIS is without doubt, the most infallible, easy and scientific cure for PILES ever discovered. 20,000 greatful patients attest its virtue, and physicians of all schools endorse it unequivocally. Lotions, ointments, and electuaries are only a waste of time and money. ANAKESIS relieves pain at once and cures absolutely. It is the discovery of Dr. Sisbee, a scientific physician and has been pronounced the greatest contribution to medicine of the age.—Price $1.00. Sold by druggists everywhere. Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

Local Matters.

That Whistle.

Mr. Marcellus Eldredge explains the reason for the blowing of the whistle at his brewery in one long hoot instead of seven short ones, to give the alarm of fire on Thursday morning,—that it was not intended as a signal to the city and fire department, but as a private signal to him and his employes, and residents in the immediate neighborhood of the Creek. If we understand the matter right, no arrangement has been made by the city with Mr. Eldredge for the blowing of the brewery whistle as a fire alarm, beyond sending him a circular stating that the alarm from his brewery would be seven distinct whistles; and while he is perfectly willing to have the whistle blown seven times or seventy in case of fire, if thought advisable for the interest and protection of the city, he considers himself at least entitled to be consulted in the premises before arrangements are authoritatively announced for the management of any part of his private property. We do not know as there is anything very unreasonable in his view of the matter.

A Presentation.

A very pleasant episode occurred at the Kearsarge Mills, last Saturday afternoon. Just after the closing of the Mills the Superintendent, Mr. Robert B. Adams, asked Mr. Ammi R. H. Fernald, the paymaster, to go into the mill with him. On ascending the elevator to the fourth floor, Mr. Fernald was completely taken by surprise at seeing about three hundred of the employes gathered at that unusual time, and asked Mr. Adams what it all meant. For a reply he was ushered out upon the floor, when Miss Mary Lizzie Dennett stepped forward and addressed him as follows:

"Mr. Fernald—Dear Sir: In behalf of your many friends of the Kearsarge Mills here assembled, as a slight token of their esteem, permit me to present to you this Turkish easy chair, footstool and meerschaum pipe. As you have for so many years discharged your duties so faithfully as paymaster of this Mill, we deem it a great privilege to contribute our mite in these offerings, hoping that you may live to enjoy the comforts of them for many years; and when the sands of your life shall have run out, may you enter that haven of rest where all is comfort and peace."

Mr. Fernald made a short and appropriate response. Mr. Adams then removed a covering and exhibited a Turkish chair upholstered in crimson Terry, corded and frilled, and an Ottoman or footstool to match, all of which the operatives had purchased for the occasion, instructing the agent to get the best in the market, and the articles gave proof of how well he had obeyed his instructions. Mr. Fernald was first employed by the Mill Co. Aug. 13th, 1845, before a sod was turned or a brush cut, preparatory to the building of the mill. The ground was first broken August 22nd, 1845, and the corner stone laid Sept. 1st of the same year. Mr. Fernald has been Paymaster ever since—and has justly earned not only the ease and comfort of the articles presented but the high esteem shown by the gift.

The Portsmouth Gerrymander

Has been accomplished by the democratic majority in the legislature, according to caucus programme arranged long before the legislature met, (except that the mayor's veto power was retained in road and railroad matters, and the name of a republican inserted in place of a democratic name among the selectmen in each of the new wards,—the caucus proposition to take every one of the election officers of a republican city from the democratic party being too outrageously unfair for even the partizan committee on towns and parishes,) by a "strict party vote." The Portsmouth republican delegation (particularly Messrs. Emery and Kent) made a gallant fight, but of course an unsuccessful one, as the whole thing was cut and dried beforehand, the committee on towns and parishes and the Speaker of the House having been chosen with especial reference to just such unscrupulous partizan work as this, to carry out which they are the willing tools. That the gerrymander bill would pass was a foregone conclusion; but that our republican representatives would be able to make any show at all against the immense odds opposed to them had hardly been hoped for, though their ability and zeal were unquestioned.

Mr. Kent's speech on the question of the final passage of the bill was simply a fair and temperate statement of the facts in the case.

Then Capt. Marcy spoke the stereotyped piece about democratic difficulties in the way of getting voters' names on check-lists in republican hands, gave as a reason why the democrats should take the full veto power from a republican mayor that the republicans had done the same thing with a democratic mayor, and pitched into the navy yard, alleging that private ship-building firms could not compete with the government under the eight-hour system. [This seems to us very like a plea that the government pays working men too high wages: but that won't be any objection "when we get a democratic Congress," which—according to Mr. Marcy—will not spend so much money on the navy yard, to the injury of private shipbuilders,—and of course to the injury of the working men, who, according to the "private shipbuilders," are now paid too much for their labor in the government service.]

After Capt. Marcy came the "Honorable" Speaker of the House, Albert R. Hatch, who had previously appeared before the gerrymandering committee as the special advocate of the bill. He gravely announced that he supported the bill on its merits, and not merely on account of its partizan character! that many abuses existed, one of them being that the democrats were entitled to four-tenths of the representation yet had but two-tenths, etc., and that this bill was designed to overcome these evils. He enlarged upon the enormity of dismissing workmen from the navy yard for political reasons, and said (vide Times) "the men in the navy yard were marched to the polls as though they were the actual slaves of those under whose charge they were." In reference to the proposal to remit the whole question to the people of Portsmouth, he said it would not be "a fair tribunal, as the people of the whole State were interested in the integrity of the representation from Portsmouth!"

'Squire Hatch's declaration that he supported the bill "on its merits and not merely on account of its partizan character," will excite only derision with those who understand the bill and the man; the skillful disingenuousness of his pretence that the bill was designed to secure the democrats a fair representation is shown by the fact that it gives the democrats twenty-nine election officers (counting clerks and moderators) out of thirty-five, and aims to give them seven-tenths of the legislative representation, when according to his own showing they number but four-tenths of the voters; his navy-yard-outrages and procession-to-the-polls allusions called forth such a "hot one" from Mr. Kent, that we will only add that while everybody has heard the democratic talk about processions of voters from the navy yard to the polls neither Hatch nor any one else ever saw such a procession; and if, as he argued, the people of the State and not the people of Portsmouth are the ones to rightfully decide as to what the people of Portsmouth want, we should like to be informed what opinion he entertains of the eternal twaddle of the democrats about "local self-government!" And if it is not a particular secret, we would like to have him explain exactly how much "integrity" will be secured to "the representation from Portsmouth" by giving the voters of one party double the representation they are entitled to, and the other party only a third of what they are entitled to?

Mr. Emery said that if the republicans had used peculiar ballots the democrats had counterfeited them! And he certainly had 'em there, for if the use of peculiar ballots by one party, to avoid mistakes, is a sin, the counterfeiting of such ballots by another party, to promote mistakes, cannot be much of a virtue. And the name of 'Square Hatch himself, as candidate for representative, has been placed on these democratic counterfeits of such objectionable rebublican tickets!

As we shall print the various speeches in full we forbear further comment for the present.

Laconics.

The ladies of the Uuiversalist Parish are to hold a Strawberry Festival at the church vestry Tuesday evening, June 30. Besides strawberries, there will be cake, confectionery, ice cream, coffee and lemonade in abundance. There will also be a well-filled apron table, and a variety of articles in fancy work, desirable and useful. Admission for adults, 15 cents; children 10 cts. Doors open at half past 6.

Some extensive building of vessels must be contemplated by the Navy Department, for at no time for many years has there been such an immense quantity of ship timber at the Navy Yard as at the present time. For several months schooners, two and three at a time, have been discharging timber, and nearly all available space is now covered with their cargoes.

There are serious apprehensions in the minds of those directly interested in the new cable enterprise in regard to the whereabouts of the Faraday. Making liberal allowance for detention or ordinary accident, she was five days overdue, on Saturday.

The road-bed of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad has been materially improved of late.

During the debate on the Manchester bill in the House, Mr. Sinclair declared it the policy of the democratic party to strictly adhere to the eighth commandment. Mr. Emery replied that the course of the democrats had been so different that it now takes an announcement from one of the leaders to make it understood that they have concluded to keep the commandment hereafter.

Secretary Robeson and Hon. Wm. E. Chandler were in town on Saturday.

Base Ball.

The Resolute base ball club of this city object to the statement that they were defeated on Saturday by the Athlete club of Kittery,—a statement given us by one of the Athletes. The Resolutes say that several members of their club visited Kittery to witness a game between the Athletes and the Minies of South Berwick, but the latter not appearing some of the Resolutes merely helped make up a "scrub nine" for the sake of having a game, their club as an organization having nothing to do with it.

The Granite State club played a game with the Flyaways on Saturday, the latter club receiving nine runs to start with, and making nine more by play, the Granite States scoring thirty-five runs and winning the game. The following shows the score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	Total
Granite State	9	5	3	6	1	1	5	4	——	35
Flyaway	10	0	1	1	0	1	0	0	5 ——	18

Frank Taylor of the Granite States made a clean score,—six runs and no outs; umpire, Andrew Turner.

Baker's Chocolate, so noted for its nutritive, salutary, and delicious qualities, hardly needs our endorsement after the awards made to its excellence at the leading Fairs in both hemispheres. A trial is all that is needed to convince any one of its great merit, and since 1780 this test has been applied.

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. George Francis Train

Is returning to his senses. He has written to the New York Sun the following astounding proposition, which is certain of general acceptance: "I am willing to make this offensive and defensive compact with the newspapers. If they will let me severely alone I will agree never to speak again in public, to publish another book, or write another letter to a newspaper.

I am now satisfied that the many strange events of my ever changing life which I supposed I was enacting out of some grand principle to benefit humanity, had no motive higher than that thing they call fame, ambition, popularity, self, or a morbid love of notoriety! I did not know this at the time, and only discovered it since abstaining from all kinds of animal food.

Should the coming disasters elevate the moral sense of the people to my standard, I am willing to shake hands with them again. Meanwhile I am not at home to friends or foes, simply asking to be let alone.

GEO. FRANCIS TRAIN."

[Louisville Courrier-Journal.]

The Detroit Free Press: "Come now, let's say no more about Laura Fair. When one remembers that it was a lawyer she shot the crime is robbed of its rough edges." All that we ever blamed her for was that she shot a lawyer when she could just as easily have shot a carpet-bag Congressman.

—Of a housemaid who slipped from a table on which she was standing and fell head foremost into a barrel of flour, it was said that her hair became white in a single night.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence. Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used. Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish. In each box are 1 stick; 1 stick is enough for any stove and thus all waste is saved.

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Hartlett's Blacking and Pearl Blueing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing!

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN

HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all dandruff, itching and scaly humors; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard, from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

[Reported for the CHRONICLE by George Manson.]

Debate on the bill in amendment of the charter of the city of Portsmouth, in the House of Representatives, Wednesday, June 24th, 1874.

At 11 o'clock Mr. Kent of Portsmouth called up the special order of the day, being the bill in amendment of the charter of the city of Portsmouth. (Mr. Blodgett of Franklin in the Chair.)

The Speaker put the question on ordering the bill to be read a third time and it was so ordered.

Mr. Kent offered the following amendments, which were read by the clerk:

1. To amend the bill by striking out all that part of the bill which provides for holding the annual meeting in September, namely, sections 4, 5, 6 and 7.

2. Mr. Kent further moves to amend the bill by striking out section 9 and insert instead thereof the following:—Section 9. After this act takes effect and between the first and tenth days of August next, the Mayor and Aldermen of Portsmouth shall call a meeting of the legal voters in each ward, except ward 3, at some convenient time and place to be designated in the warrant. Said meeting shall be called in the same manner that town meetings are called by selectmen. The Mayor and Aldermen of Portsmouth shall prepare, post up, and correct for each ward a check-list in the same manner as the selectmen of towns are required to do at the meetings for the choice of State officers.

The meeting shall be called to order by one of the Aldermen of Portsmouth, or if none of the Aldermen be present, by the Justice of the Peace for the county of Rockingham, who shall preside until a moderator is chosen. At said meeting in each ward a moderator, town clerk and three selectmen shall be chosen by ballot. The officers so chosen shall from and after that time and until others are chosen in their stead, perform all the duties assigned them by law.

3. Mr. Kent further moves to amend the bill by striking out the thirteenth section.

4. Mr. Kent further moves to amend the bill by striking out the fourteenth section, and insert instead thereof the following:—Within ten days from and after the passage of this act, the selectmen of the several wards of the city of Portsmouth shall issue their warrant for a legal meeting of the voters of said wards, to be holden at some convenient time at the wardrooms in said wards within fifteen days from the issue of said warrant. The check lists for said meetings shall be prepared, posted up, corrected and used in the same manner as is by law provided for the choice of State officers. The moderator and selectmen of said wards shall conduct said meetings, and the polls shall then be open for taking the question on the adoption of this act, and shall continue open for the space of six hours and no more. Each voter shall then and there express his opinion on the adoption of this act by a written or printed ballot containing the word yes or no. The votes shall be sorted, counted and declared in open town-meeting and a record thereof made by the clerk of said meeting, and a copy of said record shall be delivered to the city clerk within twenty-four hours after each of said meetings. The city clerk shall immediately after receiving said copies enter the same on the city records and then lay the said copies before the Mayor and Aldermen, who shall thereupon examine the same, and if by said records it appears that a majority of the votes thrown have the word yes thereon they shall declare the same, and cause a record thereof to be made by the city clerk, and this act shall be in force from and after the day of said meetings in said wards, but otherwise be null and void.

Mr. Kent moves further to amend the bill by adding a new section.—Section 15. All voters living or having a house in either of said wards at the time this act takes effect shall be entitled to vote in said ward at the next election held therein after the passage of this act.

Mr. Marcy of Portsmouth— I object to those amendments.

Mr. Kent called for the reading of a remonstrance lying on the speaker's table, from the citizens of Portsmouth, which was read by the clerk.

Mr. Kent—Mr. Speaker and gentlemen. Judging from the action of the majority of this House heretofore in all matters of a political nature it would seem that there would be no power on earth that would change the result of the action on such a bill as this; but, sir, I should not think I was doing justice to my constituents, did I not earnestly protest against it as much as in me lies. The bill in its details will be ably reviewed by my colleague (Mr. Emery,) and that he will do justice to it I have no doubt; I desire to detain the House a short time in order to make some remarks about the bill. I hold in my hand, Mr. Speaker, a petition signed by several hundred of the citizens of Portsmouth whose respectability, intellect, and wealth will be admitted by parties on both sides. (Mr. Kent read the petition.) This petition, as I stated, is signed by Wm. Simes, E. P. Kimball, and several hundred of the best men of Portsmouth. I do not know that there are any democrats on it; I have not looked over the list. I understood there were some who were willing to sign it, and I have no doubt, and have it from the best authority that there are democrats in Portsmouth, who do not approve of this bill. (The Speaker here explained two maps hanging on the wall, one showing Portsmouth as at present divided, and the other as it would be by the bill.)

Now then as to the representation in these wards. At the present time we have eight aldermen; three in ward 1, republicans, three in ward 2, republicans,—with ordinarily the same number of voters, not more than fifteen or twenty difference any time—and in ward 3 two aldermen, making eight altogether. This bill proposes that ward 1 is to have one alderman, democratic; ward 2, one alderman, democratic; ward 3, two aldermen, democratic; ward 4, one alderman, democratic; ward 6, two aldermen, democratic, making seven democratic aldermen. In ward 2 we are to have two aldermen, republican; and in ward 7, one alderman republican; which makes three republican aldermen. This computation is made, as near as I can learn it from the other side of the House; if I am wrong I hope to be corrected. The representatives, of course would be the same. Now then in relation to these two wards when they are cut up, and to show why this representation was made in this manner: Ward 1 is cut up into 3 wards as you will observe, viz: 1, 2, and 7, and has as many votes as ward 2—, which is also cut up into an equal number of wards. Ward 1 with the 3 wards has three aldermen, while ward 2 has 3 wards with five aldermen, you will observe, 2 more, and both have an equal number of votes. That is accounted for, I presume, from the fact that ward 2 will have five democratic aldermen, while ward 1 only three; keeping out one ward makes the democracy have a majority of two alderman. Ward 4 has less than 200 rateable polls, while wards 1, 2, and 7 (two of them you will recollect are to be republican) each containing nearly 400 rateable polls have but one alderman each. That is the way the bill provides and is undoubtedly for the purpose of giving them the balance of power in the city councils. Now, in relation to the ward-rooms. In our ward we have a ward-room which can not only be used for political purposes but for meetings of other kinds. In ward 3, the ward in which Mr. Marcy resides, they have an excellent ward-room, which he will admit. In ward 1 they have a very good one. It is true it is not quite as large as the other two, but has for several years answered all purposes. Those are in excellent order and all paid for I presume. Now then the cutting up of the city into 7 wards of course makes it necessary to have 4 more ward-rooms at an expense of several thousand dollars.

Mr. Marcy—Will the gentleman allow me to interrupt? I would say that there are school-houses which can take the place of these ward-rooms without the expense of a dollar.

Mr. Kent—In relation to these school-houses you all know that school committees are rather jealous of them, and another thing they are not adapted for the style of elections we are apt to have in Portsmouth; and I have no doubt that the Speaker of this House, who is a prominent man in school matters in Portsmouth, would object to the High School building, or any other building which he has charge of, being used for election purposes. But, admitting that it is so, you will see what an inconvenience it is, and sooner or later, if this act remains in force, we must have four additional ward-rooms at a very large expense. There is no doubt about that at all. Now, sir, in relation to the increase of officers. You will find by this bill that it provides for 20 councilmen, as the remonstrance states here. The councilmen have already been reduced from 24 to 11, and even now with 11 it is almost impossible to get a quorum. They are to be increased to twenty. That we hold is entirely unnecessary. We have now three selectmen, making 9 in the total; the seven wards will make 21, and of course increase the number of other officers. The originators of the bill have inserted that the selectmen and the election officers shall have no pay, a very meritorious section, so far as that is concerned. There is another point in this bill which the highest authorities question; that is the right to legislate out of office next September officers who have been elected by the people of Portsmouth to hold office for a term of one year. That is a mooted question, and I say that some of the highest authorities say there is no right legally to do that, and, in the event that this bill should pass there would undoubtedly be litigation, expense and trouble relative to that subject; also there is a question whether or not this House or this legislature has a right to legislate into office selectmen for the purpose of conducting this first election. The bill provides, as you see, (and the amendment which I have offered is to strike it out) "section 9: That the following named persons, being first duly sworn may call the first meeting of the legal voters." Those persons are named therein three in each ward, 2 democrats in the original bill. Before it was amended they were all three democrats, with the exception of ward 3 and that remained as they were elected last year, but they selected 3 democrats in each ward to arrange for the first election under this bill. The chairman of the committee on Towns and Parishes very magnanimously selected one republican to place with the two democrats in each ward, but I regret to say, in my own ward, I know it to be a fact, the selection was not made of the person whom we wanted.

Mr. Bailey of Hopkinton—Will the gentleman allow me to explain? The gentlemen who appeared before the committee to oppose and the gentleman who appeared to advocate the bill both together sat down and made a list which they mutually agreed upon as satisfactory, and those were the names reported by the committee.

Mr. Kent—I beg the gentleman's pardon if I have mis-stated the facts, but I handed a name to the committee to be selected for my ward and found that he was not put in and asked why and they said that he was objected to and some one entered the name of another gentleman who was accepted in his place. There were several gentleman whom we knew to be familiar with correcting the check lists, etc., and they objected to them. There is no doubt about that. I say, then, there is a legal objection to that, and if there is no legal objection there are certainly several others that could be mentioned, which could be obviated by the amendment I have proposed.

How this bill was got up, I cannot tell. Perhaps somebody can. In Portsmouth we knew nothing of it, as I said in the early part of the session when the bill was introduced; that was the first I had seen of the bill or heard of its provisions. I have understood that it was got up in Star Chamber style by five or six gentlemen, but, as yet, I have not been able and don't know as I ever shall be, to know the father of the bill. It may have several but I have not found them. It is supposed to have been gotten up by two or three gentlemen in Portsmouth who heretofore have not been very active in politics but who now propose to come to the front.

Now, sir, in relation to turning out our selectmen and our officers who were elected for one year, the bill provides that the Mayor and all other officers in power shall be legislated out upon the officers being elected under this bill in September. Now let us see the difference. In 1871, if I am correctly informed my friend from ward 3 (Mr. Marcy) was in the Senate, and you will recollect that everything was brought to bear on that gentleman that could be to remove Mr. Smith from his office. At 12 or 1 o'clock at night the gentleman was interviewed at his rooms by committees urging him to turn Smith out of office. The gentleman as persistently objected, (and it is to be said to his credit,) and said unless they could show him some good cause that he would never vote to turn him or any other man out of office. How is it now? Is there any good cause for turning these men out of office other than partisan causes? No, sir, and the gentleman will admit that himself. It is most astonishing that in the course of these few years the gentleman has changed and now asks you to turn men out for no cause. But when it is proposed to turn any one out it is speedily done here by the majority, no question being asked. The question arises, then, whether these men will go out or not. I want to make one honorable exception, as far as this matter of turning out is concerned. The other day when these addresses were presented the gentleman from Franklin (Mr. Blodgett) who now occupies the chair, moved that an address be referred to the Judiciary Committee, saying that he desired to give everybody a fair chance. In justice to him I make that statement.

Now one word in relation to the section referring to the closing of the polls. Those representatives who were here last year are aware that I drew a bill at the solicitation of the people of Portsmouth, and the Aldermen and Common Councilmen who had passed resolutions to that effect, for the close of the polls at six o'clock P. M. Previous to that time the polls had been closed whenever the voters in the several wards voted to close them. We had had trouble at various times in relation to the polls being kept open. In the year previous, as has been stated, our mayor was defeated by one majority after having had 88 majority in wards 1 and 2. The polls were kept open until 9 or 10 o'clock and he was defeated by one majority. Now whether that was done properly or not is not for me to discuss, but that he was beaten there is no doubt. After closing our polls at seven o'clock they knew that they had 88 majority to overcome. They did it bravely and overcame it by one, but it would have looked a little better if their majority had been a little more. I said the other day the reason of their remaining open was that a lot of voters hung around to the last, waiting to see how the cat was going to jump, and when they found out who wants them that they can be had by a certain means. Whether that is so or not I will leave the rest to judge. It is in ward 3, the democratic ward, they propose to keep open at that late hour. It is also said that some voters do not come—the sick and lame—and when it is absolutely necessary they can bring them up in an ambulance. That may be the case; but last year when this question of closing the polls was brought up the Speaker (who was then a member) and myself consulted and it was agreed by him and me, he objecting to six o'clock and preferring half-past-six inasmuch as the train came in late, to close them at half-past-six o'clock; and the bill was brought into the House, and after some debate on an amendment which was offered in relation to the ballot, the bill was passed. Last election it worked admirably. There is no doubt about that. I do not think any democrat will say that it did not work splendidly. Even this year Mr. Marcy of Portsmouth said that he had no particular objection to this close of balloting at a stated hour, and talked of a general law to be passed to that effect. I think I have heard him make such statement; if I am not correct I desire to be corrected. Inasmuch as we passed this law last year and it has worked first rate I hope this provision will be put in the bill as our citizens, of both parties, earnestly want it. I will briefly remark, as I said before, my colleague (Mr. Emery) proposes to go over this bill in detail, and I hope it will not pass without the amendments I have proposed. Such legislation as is proposed by this bill is to be condemned, and it will be as certain as the sun shines. I only ask you, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen, to look upon this picture and then on that, (pointing to the two maps on the wall.) Read, mark, learn and inwardly digest, and if knowledge is power I think our wishes will be gratified, but if might makes right we shall not.

One word as to my friend from Portsmouth (Mr. Marcy.) He pretends to be somewhat familiar with the manipulations of the Navy Yard, so notorious in this State and all others, and I suppose he will endeavor to explain to you some terrible things that have been done there. Perhaps he will say men have been tied hand and foot and carried to the polls to vote the republican ticket, under penalty of death. (Laughter.) So far as that is concerned I am willing to admit that the gentleman from Portsmouth (Mr. Marcy) is a pretty zealous man in politics, and so is my friend and his friend, the Speaker (Mr. Hatch) and other democrats, and perhaps there are an equal number if not more on the other side of the House who are equally zealous; but so far as any fraud being committed or anything out of the way done in relation to the Navy Yard that would not be done anywhere, under the same circumstances by any party, I totally deny. And should that subject come up I think we can show to the satisfaction of this House, and the satisfaction of the people at large, that our hands are as clean of any wrong as are those of the opposite party. We deny in toto that we have done anything wrong in that respect.

The Beecher Expose.

The Brooklyn Union has the following: The interest in the Tilton Beecher scandal continues. The refusal of Mr. Beecher to say anything, either in refutation or confirmation of the story seems to have had two opposite effects. Some persons are strengthened in their belief in Beecher's innocence, while others are more inclined than ever to believe Mr. Tilton's story, and the worst that may be inferred from it. In relation to that story a gentleman who has all along taken great interest in the matter, and at present leans toward Mr. Tilton's side of the trouble, made the following important statement to a Union reporter this morning: That Mr. Tilton has only told a portion of the story in his possession is certainly no secret to a pretty large "handful" of citizens of Brooklyn. There are a number of people who have had confidentially read to them, many months ago, a large sized roll of manuscripts which contained ostensibly the true story of the scandal, which dated back a decade, and which it took Mr. Tilton two hours to read. On one of these occasions when Mr. Tilton read his report of this matter to a party of two or three gentlemen, one of them said to him, "I will give you $2500, Tilton, for the exclusive use of that manuscript." Mr. Tilton declined the offer. The next morning the gentleman proposed to give Mr. Tilton $5000 for the story, but Mr. Tilton politely informed him that money would not buy it. This incident to my mind, corroborated by other facts, proves that Mr. Tilton has been wronged by those who have charged him with mercenary motives in his relations to the wretched business. This same incident, corroborated in other private circles of this city, convinces me that Mr. Tilton has something more in his mind than a mere scare when he says "I shall say no more now." The gentleman whose speculative thought was to secure the manuscript is reported as saying, "I could make $50,000 out of it." Notwithstanding this offer, which would have been, I think, quickly accepted by any one whose desire was to make money out of the story, Mr. Tilton refused to sell it; and has only now, when he deems that absolute jusice to himself demands it, made it public.

The Union also prints the following statement: Another gentleman, well known in this city, whose name cannot be given at present, relates that after Mr. Tilton had been informed of Mr. Beecher's offence he (Tilton) went immediately to Mr. Frank Moulton and told him of it, expressing his sense of shame and sorrow. Mr. Moulton, says the same authority, sent for Mr. Beecher, who was immediately confronted with the charge and the accuser. The pastor of Plymouth Church is reported to have fallen upon his knees and exclaimed with an emotion that convulsed his whole frame: "Theodore, this is true. I confess it. I am guilty." Then, turning despairingly to another witness of the painful scene, he continued: "I married these people; they are my children. I do not know, before God, why I did it." This is the relation, said the informant, of what is reported to have occurred some time ago. It may not be in precisely the words then uttered, but it is a substantial presentation of the matter.

A Sunday paper says that behind the present aspect of the Beecher-Tilton scandal there is a young lady of Brooklyn involved, whose name is not yet brought before the public in connection with the case. She is handsome, accomplished, wealthy, occupying a high social position, and strenuous efforts are being made to save her from disgrace. Certain parties now assailed in the case are bearing odium to shield her. Tilton, on being questioned respecting the young lady, declined to converse on the subject.

Gen. Hunt Miscarries.

[Nashua Telegraph.]

The yesterday's adventure of our ancient friend, the great pillar, of strength in the democratic party, Gen. Israel Hunt, was a matter of street mirth, last night and foreboding this morning. It seems that the General is what railroad officials call a deadbeat, i. e., a man who never pays his fare but who invariably cheaks to his destination on his respectibility and age. Yesterday he started from Concord without a ticket and when the conductor appeared, he told the old, old story. It would not go down. The General said, "perhaps you don't know who I am!" The conductor replied that he "didn't care who he was" and demanded his fare. The General wouldn't pay and hence, although he doubled up his fist and made a fuss, he was moved from the car and left at Suncook. As it was the last train south that passed through Suncook, the General was left in a bad fix. How he got out of it is yet to be told. We only know that he was missing last night and up to noon to-day had not been heard from. Everybody says it served him right.

Two Turkish villages, one having a population of 500 or 600, and the other 2500, lately met with utter destruction by earthquakes, and twenty lives were lost. It is said that undulations of the earth, several feet high, like the waves of the sea, ran through the largest village. The American missionaries make an appeal in behalf of the sufferers.

Business Notices.

Life Without Enjoyment.

No human being whose stomach and liver are disordered can enjoy life. Business is a fatigue and a bore, and all amusements "dull and unprofitable," to the victim of indigestion, billiousness and disturbances of the bowels and nerves which always accompany them. The shortest, surest, safest way to get rid of these evils, and of the mental despondency which grows out of them, is to tone and regulate the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Of all stimulants it is the purest, of all vegetable tonics the most active, of all cathartics the mildest, of all anti-billious preparations the most swift and certain in its operation. During the twenty odd years that it has been in use it has lived down professional prejudices, distanced competitors, and taken rank as the standard restorative of the age.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on, or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

"The Wentworth."

No hotel in the vicinity of the beaches is more attractive than "The Wentworth," the elegantly furnished summer resort which is the pioneer of its kind at Newcastle. Situated on the highest eminence of the island, it affords the finest landscape and water views within scores of miles. It overlooks the sea, Little Harbor is at its base, and looking north and westerly the view is enchanting, embracing the clusters of islands between "Great Island" and Portsmouth, the bridges connecting them, the city in the distance, and the Piscataqua. Kittery Point, the coasts of Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine; and far away the White Mountains, Pawtuckaway and the Blue Hills can be easily seen. The scene at sunrise and sunset is wonderful as fairy land. The light-houses, twinkling in the distance, the sails far and near reflecting the rays of the sun, the many attractions that at such hours of the day present themselves can better be realized than described. "The Wentworth" itself is a place for rest and quiet enjoyment. Facilities for bathing and fishing are close at hand, and a fine grove in the rear of the house furnishes a picnic ground. Near by is a sandy beach. "The Wentworth" is rapidly filling up, all but a half-dozen of the best rooms being already engaged. The bridge across Little Harbor will be finished during the season and the ride to Portsmouth be shortened a mile. Mr. Chas. E. Campbell, proprietor of "The Wentworth," is doing all in his power to add to the comfort of his guests, and already the transient visitors are daily increasing in numbers. On Saturday they included J. E. Dennett, B. R. Russell and Rufus Parks, Portsmouth; Mrs. Woodhull, Miss Woodhull, C. H. Woodhull, Washington, D. C.; J. R. Harris, H. G. Waldron, Boston; on Sunday, E. P. Dorr, Buffalo, N. Y.; G. W. Johnson, H. B. Parker, Kittery, Me.; Waterman K. Pryor, Portsmouth.

Base Ball.

On Saturday, we published a report of a game between the Resolutes of this city and the Athletes of Kittery,—said report being given us by a member of the Athlete club; Monday we published an explanation of the affair, given us by one of the Resolute club, denying the correctness of the first statement; and now we give place to a note from the secretary pro tem. (Mr. R. G. Magill) of the Athletes, dated June 29, which reads as follows:

Eds. Chronicle: We were very much surprised on reading your valuable journal of this morning to see that the Resolute base ball club of your city deny having played our nine on Friday, the 29th inst. We admit our intention of playing the "Minnies" of South Berwick that day, but as it was impossible for them to put in an appearance, certain parties representing themselves as members of the Resolute club offered to play us on the spot, which offer we accepted with pleasure,—and won the game as reported. If there is another base ball organization in Portsmouth calling themselves the Resolutes we will be only too happy to play them a friendly game on any ground between Portland and Boston, Portsmouth ground excepted.

A Deceitful Currency.

Messrs. Editors: Allow me to express my disgust at the new issues of the ten-cent and twenty-five-cent scrip, and the errors into which an honest man may be inveigled by their close resemblance, in size and appearance, to the new fifty-cent scrip. A case in point: On Saturday I bought twenty cents' worth of something, somewhere, and tendered a dollar bill in payment. The store-keeper gave me in change one ten-cent and one twenty-five-cent scrip and one five-cent nickel, and thinking I had got two fifty-cent scrip and a nickel, thereby being twenty-five-cents "in," I hastily stuffed the money into my vest pocket lest the trader should discover his mistake before I got clear of his store. An hour later, when I found I had only received forty cents in change instead of the eighty I was entitled to, I went back and the store-keeper would not make up the difference, saying I should have looked at my change before I left the store. Some people never will learn that "Honesty is the best policy," and that store-keeper is one of 'em. CASH.

Laconics.

The ladies of the Universalist Parish are to hold a Strawberry Festival at the church vestry Tuesday evening, June 30. Besides strawberries, there will be cake, confectionery, ice cream, coffee and lemonade in abundance. There will also be a well-filled apron table, and a variety of articles in fancy work, desirable and useful. Admission for adults, 15 cents; children 10 cts. Doors open at half past 6.

Pullman cars now run on the 8:20 P. M. train to Portland, Tuesdays and Fridays. On and after July 6, Pullman cars will run to and from North Conway morning and afternoon.

Joseph P. Morse, Esq., sold at auction on Wednesday of last week, dwelling house No. 2 Summer street, to Mrs. Jane Rider, for $4485; and on Saturday, house No. 70 Islington street, to Nathan Jones, for $2550.

An immense stick of live oak timber was landed at the navy yard on Monday, and attracted much attention. It is about twenty-five feet long, and squared to five feet in width and depth. It is believed to be the largest piece of live oak ever landed at this navy yard.

While the schooner Louisa Smith, with coal, for Messrs. C. E. Walker & Co., was making a landing at Pier wharf, Monday morning, she ran into the wharf, and carried away her jibboom and head gear.

On Monday afternoon, while workmen were engaged in discharging coal from a schooner at the navy yard, the staging gave way, precipitating three men, David Webber of York, James Baker of Newcastle and Oliver Moody of Kittery to the vessel's deck, a distance of twenty feet. All were severely injured, and after being cared for by the yard surgeon were taken to their respective homes.

It costs not a cent a day to take your weekly paper—so says the Cape Ann Advertiser—less than a diligent hen could earn in a year at the market price of eggs, less than one cigar a week, and a very cheap one at that; less than the barber would charge by the year to keep one's hair trimmed; less than a good sized thanksgiving turkey; less than an energetic kitchen girl will waste in a week. A penny a day can be saved in many a better way than by neglecting to take a family newspaper.

"Our First Hundred Years" is a title of a historical work to be completed in twelve monthly parts. Its purpose is to illustrate the life of the Republic in four great periods—colonization, consolidation, development and achievement. Written by C. Edwards Lester; published by the United States Publishing Company, New York. Part 1 opens vigorously.

Dr. Lawrence and wife, who have been giving very interesting lectures in this section for some time past and who spoke here last Sunday, have been requested to hold an out-door meeting this evening on Market Square. Their subject will be "The way out." Mrs. L. will discuss the woman's temperance crusade and relate some of her experience in New York, Baltimore and other cities. Lectures to commence at quarter to eight.

—Otago is sacred to Scotchmen. Not long since bids were asked for a piece of public work, and one Macpherson was successful. Mr. Macpherson was accordingly invited to attend and complete his contract. To the amazement of all the officials a full-blooded Chinaman with a noble pigtail put in an appearence. "Where's Mr. Macpherson?" asked the clerk. "Me!" replied John. "How came you to be called Macpherson?" "Oh, nobody get nothing in Otago if he not a Mac," answered the Celestial.

—A correspondent of the Scientific American says that the worst toothache or neuralgia coming from the teeth may be speedily and delightfully ended by the application of a small bit of clean cotton saturated in a strong solution of ammonia to the defective tooth. Sometimes the late sufferer is prompted to momentary nervous laughter by the application, but the pain has disappeared.

—A Chicago clergyman relates the following anecdote: "I once married a handsome young couple, and as I took the bride by the hand, at the close of the ceremony, and gave her my warmest congratulations, she tossed her pretty face, and, pointing to the bridegroom, replied, 'I think he is the one to be congratulated.'" —Says an Arizona paper: "Smallpox need not be feared here—it will not come here. The gnats and mosquitoes are occupying the entire ground, and are now working it vigorously, and under the mining law extension no relocations can be made before winter."

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

NO. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unusual success proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART,"

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence. Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used. Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish. In each box are 1 sticks; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove thus all waste is saved

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Bluing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care. Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean. By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong. As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable. Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS. This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and efficiently produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off. MANUFACTURED BY R. P. HALL & CO., NASHUA, N. H. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine. 8-sep2-cao

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR. Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus healthy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible. As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts. PREPARED BY DR. J. C. AYER & CO., LOWELL, MASS., Practical and Analytical Chemists. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine. 4aug26-eodao

HENDERSON & CO.,

ANNOUNCE THEIR SPRING OPENING —OF— Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons. The Largest Stock, The Latest Styles, The Lowest Prices. The beauty of Henderson's openings you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a NEW BONNET. It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer: First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Mill nery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively in millinery business. Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the six months of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers. Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

And five dollar Trimmed Hats will compare favorably with any ten dollar one in the city.

N. H. Legislature.

[Reported for the CHRONICLE by George Manson.]

Debate on the bill in amendment of the charter of the city of Portsmouth, in the House of Representatives, Wednesday, June 24th, 1874.

Continued.

Mr. Marcy—As is well known I do not talk much in the House, but think more. The gentleman from Portsmouth (Mr. Kent) stands on this floor and virtually says Portsmouth is going to be wiped out. When I presented that petition the gentleman said they had not time enough given them. I had it laid on his table for him to examine at his pleasure and I believe no man in Portsmouth knows more about Portsmouth than our friend Kent. I think he knows more about it than I do. There was time given a committee appointed in Portsmouth, guns were fired and every thing done that could be done to look after Portsmouth. These horrid democrats were going to carry it off. (Laughter.) well it is the place I was born in and, Mr. Speaker, I love it, and love it more and more every day. The whole world I have traveled o'er and I have never found a place like Portsmouth, even if you make it democratic, but my own opinion is that when those wards are divided they will be equal. The committee came up here it is true. The selectmen were all democrats. The Committee on the opposite side came to me and requested to have one put on from each party. My friend from Portsmouth (Mr. Emery) and myself consented to it. They put some republicans on that committee. There was a committee came up here and what did it consist of. The Committee consisted of Mr. Pierce, Postmaster of the Port, at a salary of $3500, Mr. Pender, a Custom House officer, at $5 a day, and I think Mr. Whitehouse of the Navy Yard, and I think he holds another office under the government. We thought it was a pretty fair committee, about even, and we were satisfied with it. My friend never came there but a lawyer was employed, a Mr. Rolfe, who I thought was a very fair man; he was a delegate with me to the Philadelphia Convention. And I think the committee were willing to give everything that was fair and just in regard to the selectmen. Then my friend (Mr. Kent) comes up and talks about the veto power and the change in the City government said they were going to resist it at all hazards. But one special feature of the bill which judiciously provides that the city election shall be on the second Monday of September and that the term of office of the present incumbents shall expire on the fourth Tuesday of September next, is to the local leaders of Grantism the direful spring of woes unnumbered.

These strict constructionists of the constitution and the laws seem to have entirely forgotten that republican legislatures have dosed the citizens of Portsmouth with the same medicine before. Mayor Reding, in obedience to such a law, vacated his office, together with the other city officials, January 1st, 1859, nine months after they had been qualified. And in 1872 the term of the city officers qualified January 1, 1872, was extended by a similar law to April, 1873. It strikes us that it is a poor rule that will not work both ways.

Now as far as the redistricting of that City and making seven wards, we do it because we think we shall have a better chance to have our rights. I ask no favors, and whenever any committee shall take those papers (check lists) they shall be all republicans. Take those papers and investigate them carefully and look at the names on those papers, note the number that are non residents, and I will take the result whatever the report may be. I should say they would be all republicans and not one democrat in them. I have not opened them. There they lay just as they came. We have in the city of Portsmouth 2800 and odd polls; subtract 50 for men over 70 years of age and 449 from whom no poll-tax has been collected. We desire to alter the time of holding the election to September. The object of that is because the election is held in March and we think we will have a better chance because persons cannot vote in both places. The gentleman speaks of the veto-power. It is well known that Hon. Frank Jones, some three years ago, was elected Mayor of that city, a man that did not take a dollar of salary but gave it for the school purposes. Who took the veto-power away from him the very first day of the Legislature? Now, Mr. Speaker, I have no doubt we may have a republican Mayor, and if he is elected he will have my support. I do not suppose there is any chance for it but we may have more Aldermen; that will keep him in check and give us our rights, and that is all we ask.

For the last ten years the Czar never ruled Russia as two wards in that city have been ruled. We have asked over and over again to have the check-list rectified. The check-list contains names on it of persons that have been dead several years. They are on these papers I hold in my hand but I will not read them for I should like the Speaker to appoint a committee of republicans to look at them (laughter). In the session of 1871, when an investigation was had, 300 men, by unanimous consent of the committee, were not entitled to vote. We contended that there were not voters enough to send one from each ward and one from each ward was sent home, and to-day I do not believe we have a right to more than 9 representatives to this general court. We have in Portsmouth a total for representation 2803; nearly 65 are 70 years of age; the whole number from whom tax is collected is 2304 which leaves 479 as the poll-tax. Now, I have not much to say upon this subject, I only have the documents here which I suppose will be examined by-and-by. I think it was last year I was going through a little ward, one Saturday evening, the ward-room, I think, being a school-house where the revision of the check-list was generally made.

There were some 50 men there, I suppose, democrats I suppose. The room was not open; they had had no chance to make out a check-list and this check-list of wards one and two has been revised not in open meeting but in secret. All we have asked is give us a fair chance; give us so many days to revise the check-list.

Now, the gentleman says we are going to cut up the city into 7 wards. Take Keene, Concord, Manchester, take the city of Nashua and we have more in numbers in each ward than any one of those there, and why should we be singled out not to have as many as any other city? But in my opinion, I have not looked into it very deeply; my business won't allow me; the republicans will have a Mayor and the wards will be divided. The gentleman spoke of the election of a Mayor, a year or two ago. Well, I did take a little interest in the matter. I wish gentlemen to understand they were both republicans. Mayor Marvin had been Mayor in 1872, a very fine, gentlemanly man. It appeared there had been some altercation as regards the polls and there was a feeling between him and the other republican Mayor. They threw Marvin overboard and put in Miller. I sustain the man that I think is right, even if he is not of my own politics. I went in for Marvin. The election was close and we felt a great interest in electing Marvin, and I have always been opposed to making politics a test in our city. I have always been ready to take the best men. I have always been ready to take republicans as honorable men. Some years ago when a republican Mayor was elected, there was not a dissenting voice. For the last eight years since these people have got into power they have not been willing to give an advantage to a democrat. I am willing to sanction a measure that will lose sight of public opinion and be managed on ordinary business principles. Look at the city of Boston; the democratic candidate for Mayor only got 500 votes; and gentlemen you have got to come to this sometime—to take these things out of the hands of political parties. I have been on the board of Assessors and always used my own horse and never took a cent from the city of Portsmouth in any shape or form. Since I have been in that city I have always advocated the keeping down of political power and the electing of our best men. When Mr. Simes was Mayor, $67,000 was appropriated to the city and we saved $7,000. Has he ever been nominated since? No, sir. Why can't he get the nomination? Because he had an independent course for himself; and the action of our present Mayor is such as to show that he will not be led if others are. As far as the citizens of Portsmouth are concerned I have no other interest than their welfare. I am one of them, brought up with them, but still I think the treatment of the republican party has not been right when we have requested time and time again to have those check-lists admitted for examination and it has been refused. When you examine the check-list, particularly of wards one and two and see the names of men on the front and back, some of whom have not been in the city for 7 years, you will think that it is not right to have the present number of representatives from wards 1 and 2, and I hope the gentlemen will investigate this matter. I have been in this House for 19 years and have always been treated well, but when it comes to a matter of this kind we have to take what is given us. Now I hope the minority will not think that because we have the power we are going to wrong the city of Portsmouth. That city will never be wronged for anything I will do for her.

Instead of three or four pilots as we used to have in Portsmouth they have been increased to 11 and there has been a pilotage law passed providing that no man shall come in there that has not a vessel of about 150 tons. I do not believe there is a man on this floor but what feels the interest of the city of Portsmouth and the maintainance of the interests of its shipping. Gentlemen, I have a pride in that city and I would make her the pride of our State and of our country if I could do it. Within the last two years our moderators and selectmen have all had a good salary. If we created more wards we have cut off some men for doing nothing. There is the expense. It has amounted to $30,000 and $40,000, when in my own times it never amounted to that. It cannot be charged on the democratic party that they are now creating offices to make money.

I wish to say one thing more in regard to the navy yard and the officers. I have been a seafaring man myself for over 20 years. They have always treated me with the greatest respect. I never asked a favor of them either here or in any part of the world but it has always been granted. Even at Portsmouth, where I belong, I understand it has been said that the government has granted me favors in my ship-building business. What right has the republican party to say they shall not? And gentlemen, I wish there were more independent men and if there were more who could act independently we would have a different order of things in Portsmouth. I merely speak of this to show that I have no ill-feeling against the officers of the navy yard, but I do say that of the many employed at the navy yard to-day as clerks not more than one half are necessary, as there is not enough of work to be done. Why do I speak of the navy yard? You and I, and everybody knows I cannot, when I am building a ship compete with the government. If they take our men away we have to go somewhere else. No city in the State has such natural facilities as Portsmouth. Nature has done much for her and her prosperity and progress will always be the dearest wish of my heart.

Mr. Sinclair of Littleton—It is my misfortune to stand upon this floor as a humble representative of that party for which my friend (Mr. Kent) who represents the navy yard upon this floor, had such a profound contempt. And I am sure, sir, if the kind-hearted gentlemen only knew how badly our people are feeling from Upper Coos to Strawberry Bank he would be more guarded in the expression of his disapprobation. But it affords us some pleasure amid this general denunciation to know that there is yet a respectable portion of the party in the city of Portsmouth, and that that respectable portion is opposed to the passage of this bill. Our only wonder is that when the whole power of the Federal government is at his disposal, when the marines at the navy yard and even the gunboats are available that the gentleman and his friends have not captured one and brought it here. (Laughter and applause.) We have not been able to see yet any democrat from the city of Portsmouth remonstrating against the passage of this bill. The gentleman stands up and asks where does this legislature get the right to create a Board of Selectmen and other officers to carry into operation the provisions of this bill. I suppose the doubt in the gentleman's mind is as to whether that right belongs to the State of New Hampshire, or should be exercised by the general government, through the power of the navy yard at Kittery, in the State of Maine. (Applause.) And I wish here to call the attention of the gentleman to the foundation upon which we stand when we propose this legislation in regard to these selectmen. It is found in the constitution of the State of New Hampshire and also in the constitution of the United States.

"The people of this State have the sole and exclusive right of governing themselves as a free sovereign and independent State, and do, and forever after shall, exercise and enjoy every power, jurisdiction and right pertaining thereto, which is not or may not hereafter be by them expressly delegated to the United States of America, in Congress assembled."

That, sir, is from our State constitution. Now, then, from our United States constitution.

"The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people."

This may be a new doctrine to the gentleman from Portsmouth representing the navy yard here but it is known to the democratic party of New Hampshire and they propose to stand or fall upon it. (Applause.) Our walls are hung here, sir, with maps and gentlemen cry out that the geographical construction of these wards is bad; that they are not symmetrical in their shape. Years ago, sir, when our fathers made and protested in the Declaration of Independence against the oppression of a king, they did not stop to enquire, when they asserted that they had been robbed of the great right of representation, a right which they declared inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only—they did not stop to inquire what the geographical boundaries of the Colonies were which had thus been oppressed by the King of England. No, sir; but they declared that this right of representation was inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only. And we stand here to-day, sir, to enact that part of the Declaration of Independence into law; and I say to the gentleman from Portsmouth if the geography stands in the way of that, so much the worse for the geography.

The Chief Gerrymanders.

The bill now before the legislature to gerrymander the Councillor and Senatorial Districts, provides that Councillor District No. 1 shall contain the County of Strafford and the County of Rockingham, except the towns of Middleton, New Durham and Strafford, in the County of Strafford, and Auburn, Candia, Deerfield, Derry, Londonderry, Northwood, Nottingham and Windham, in the County of Rockingham.

District Number 2 contains the county of Carroll, the county of Belknap, and the towns of Middleton, New Durham, Strafford, Deerfield, Northwood, Nottingham, Hill, Franklin, Northfield, Boscawen, Webster, Canterbury, Concord, London, Chichester, Pembroke, Pittsfield, Epsom and Allenstown.

Senatorial District Number 1 contains Exeter, Greenland, Gosport, Hampton, Hampton Falls, Kensington, New Castle, North Hampton, Portsmouth, Seabrook, Stratham and Rye.

Things do turn out oddly. A few weeks since Henry Ward Beecher prayed that the Presbytery of Chicago might acquit David Swing of the charge of heresy. Thirty years or more ago David Swing's uncle, Rev. Sayers Gazely, of Ohio, voted to convict the father of Henry Ward Beecher, who was arraigned before the Presbytery of Cincinnati by Dr. Wilson for heresy.

Letter from Concord.

CONCORD, N. H., JUNE 29.

This afternoon the "reform" legislature of New Hampshire will commence its fifth week's work. The valuable (?) services it rendered the State last week are already known to your readers, and I will content myself with some general observations regarding them. Possibly they might have done certain it is they did all the harm they could, and only desisted from their partisan labor when compelled to. I have an indistinct recollection of a passage in a play something after this wise: The wounded man is asked if he is much hurt, after being struck down with a sword, and the reply comes promptly, "It is not as deep as a well, nor as but it will do, it will do." So possibly the wounds done by our "reform" legislature to good government and common decency are not as bad as they might be, but yet I imagine every Bourbon democrat in the State—every man who by word, vote or influence, opposed the rebellion, and did all in his power to crush the government that now protects him—is ready to say, as he reviews the partisan work of last week, "it will do—it will do." Why, have not these loud-mouthed croakers about "popular government" overthrown the legally-elected officers of your own city, and placed it temporarily in the hands of democrats? Have they not redistricted Manchester in such a way that the naturalized and unnaturalized are expected to overrun the entire city on next election day? Have they not done all in their power to make Dover and Nashua democratic cities? Have they not unjustly deprived men of seats in the legislature honestly held, and when they accomplished enough in this direction to make their majority sure on all party questions, did they not refuse to investigate charges against democratic members who are as much entitled to seats in the British Parliament as in the New Hampshire Legislature? Have they not removed from office every republican that time allowed, regardless of his character and qualifications, striking down men who lost arms to save the country from dismemberment and death, while these same men were shouting "revolution," "revolution," in our legislative halls, and publicly proclaiming their sympathy with the Southern cause? Surely, as the record of last week's work is read, once more, and the emaciated form of Alexander H. Stephens will find renewed strength and vitality. The simple fact is, New Hampshire to-day is in the hands of men, who, had they been in power in 1862, would have trampled upon the Constitution and openly given aid and comfort to the Southern rebels, and they are determined upon doing all in their power to punish and humiliate the men who were true to the government in its days of trial and sore distress.

A WORSE WEEK'S WORK—

HORDES OF WARD FIVE

JEFF DAVIS' FACE WILL BRIGHTEN

Your readers have already been informed how Bingham last week played the bully while temporarily occupying the Speaker's chair, in a new role, refusing to instruct the clerk to call the name of a republican member when requested so to do, and ordering Mr. Hull of Dover into the custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms when he undertook to protest against the high-handed outrage. They are also familiar with the fact that the dignified (?) and ambitious Speaker of the House appeared before a committee as counsel for a partisan measure, and vacated the chair to repeat and reiterate the absurd story about the Navy Yard voters. They are likewise conversant with the fact that the legislature was kept in session until 1.30 A. M. Saturday, for the simple purpose of accomplishing a certain amount of partisan legislation that had been assigned for that day. The democratic caucus decreed that certain republican office-holders should be removed on Friday, and accordingly both food and sleep became matters of secondary concern to these admirers of "popular government." There is one fact, however, not generally known, and that is, that the legislation accomplished after 10 o'clock P. M. Friday was done without a quorum being present, the Speaker and Clerk to meet the emergencies of the occasion. And this leads me to say that while Clerk Smith is a very genial and a remarkably good-looking young man, he is not quite smart enough to accurately call the roll of the New Hampshire legislature in seven and a half minutes, a feat that he prides himself upon having repeatedly accomplished, and if the republican members were watchful of their rights they would speedily put an end to that method of calling the roll. His familiarity with democratic names is shown in the habit of repeating the call when the "faithful" do not answer, while the republican names are whisked through his teeth with the speed of a

DOCTORING THE ROLL-CALL

CRAZY LOCOMOTIVE.

Do, dear Charles, put on the brakes a little, else a smash-up is inevitable before the session closes.

I will only add that Messrs. Briggs of Manchester, Kent and Emery of Portsmouth, Sanborn of Franklin, and Jenks of Concord, seem to be the republicans who are most vigilant in opposing the partisan schemes of the revolutionists, while Sinclair and Bingham of Littleton, Burrows of Plymouth, Blodgett of Franklin, Bailey of Concord, and Mellows of Newmarket are captains of the army of the "great unwashed. Of course Bingham directs the democratic forces, not one of whom dares to rebel against the meanest and most contemptible tyranny ever exercised in a legislative assembly. But then the party always believed in the lash, when southern slavery was an idol of theirs, and they cannot consistently complain if the Boss transplants the practice to the soil of New Hampshire. Like faithful dogs they lick the hand that strikes them, and find no work too mean to be done if it only pleases him who directs their political destiny.

STARK.

Readables.

A democratic Congressman from Alabama, named J. H. Sloss, just home from Washington, shot Geo. F. Long, his daughter's former lover, at Tuscumbia, on Sunday evening; Sloss had forbidden Long having any communication with his daughter, and Long slandered her.

Myron H. Clark, whom the temperance men of New York have nominated for Governor, occupied that position in 1855-'6, and left a very poor record behind him. He was elected over Horatio Seymour by a union of Whigs and Know-Nothings, with the aid of the temperance influence. The Troy Whig recalls the following about his administration: "He was a simple, well-meaning man, without knowledge of human character, and was easily deceived and misled. His first public act was to appoint a drunken, dishonest creature to an office and to put all his nominations in the hands of this knave and hypocrite. His whole administration was a series of blunders and mistakes, and he left the Governor's chair with the reputation of being the weakest man who had ever sat in it."

A fragment of a vessel bearing the name of the missing barque "Mary E. Libby," was picked up on the shore near Portland harbor Monday.

Mr. Joseph Sprague of West Medford, Mass., and in the employ of Bolles & Co., State street, Boston, killed his little daughter and then himself on Sunday night.

—There is a clever lad "down East" who will get his living in this world. For playing truant maternal authority cut off his supper. Casting one fond look at the authoress of his existence, he paused at the door to say, "Mother, I am going to die, and when I am no more. I wish the doctor to cut me open and look at my stomach." The maternal mind was filled with awful forebodings, and the maternal heart asked what he meant. "I wish it to be known," he answered, "that I died from starvation." This was enough. The small boy was triumphant, and retired to his little bed gorged to repletion.

Business Notices.

Cracked Cocoa is not as well known as some other preparations of this delightful beverage, though it retains in a marked degree the freshness, aroma, and nutritious properties of the nut. Walter Baker & Co., Boston, furnish this brand in super-excellent quality, and those wishing a choice drink should ask their grocer for goods bearing the stamp of that leading house.

Life Without Enjoyment.

No human being whose stomach and liver are disordered can enjoy life. Business is a fatigue and a bore, and all amusements "flat and unprofitable," to the victim of indigestion, billiousness, and disturbances of the bowels and nerves which always accompany them. The shortest, surest, safest way to get rid of these evils, and of the mental despondency which grows out of them, is to tone and regulate the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Of all stimulants it is the purest, of all vegetable tonics the most active, of all cathartics the mildest, of all anti-bilious preparations the most swift and certain in its operation. During the twenty odd years that it has been in use it has lived down professional prejudices, distanced competitors, and taken rank as the standard restorative of the age.

The People's Vegetable Tonic is playing the mischief with his bitters fired with rum. All diseases which those demoniac nostrums aggravate, under pretense of relieving, such as indigestion, sick-headache, constipation, rheumatism, gout, and intermittent fevers are cured by it. je24 4w

Baker's Chocolate, so noted for its nutritive, salutary, and delicious qualities, hardly needs our endorsement after the awards made to its excellence at the leading Fairs in both hemispheres. A trial is all that is needed to convince any one of its great merit, and since 1780 this test has been applied.

ANAKESIS is without doubt, the most infallible, easy and scientific cure for PILES ever discovered. 20,000 greateful patients attest its virtue, and physicians of all schools endorse it unequivocally. Lotions, ointments, and electuaries are only a waste of time and money. ANAKESIS relieves pain at once and cures absolutely. It is the discovery of Dr. Silsbee, a scientific physician and has been pronounced the greatest contribution to medicine of the age.—Price $1.00. Sold by druggists everywhere. Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of Ale Wort, for you, and have seen the practical working of McCormick's purifying process.

The small proportion of decomposing matter (the germs of acetification and mould) which exist in wort as it comes from the malt and hops, and which is not visible, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the IMPURITIES, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall be fined and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stoves over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

The Same Old Party.

Democratic writers and speakers are fond of referring to the "ancient principles" of the democratic party, and the unchanging devotion to those principles of the party which to-day calls itself democratic. Any assertion that the party has abandoned the "principles" of years ago is indignantly denied, and the modern organization is claimed to be the same conservator of purity in politics, and the same defender of the right, that the old party was in the happy days before villainous and corrupt black republicanism kicked purity and honor—that means the old democratic party—from power in State and nation. Aside from the facts that for many years the fundamental "principle" of democratic faith was abject subserviency to the dictates of the slave-power, and that as there is now no slave-power to kneel to that "principle" is obsolete, we don't know but the modern democratic party is right in claiming to be just as unscrupulous as the old one was, at least in this State; for the past professions of the New Hampshire democracy, and their present conduct, shows that they still copy closely from the earliest democrats, who first got into power on the war-cry of "Reform," and then marched bodily to the assault of the treasury, keeping step to that cheerful democratic tune "To the Victors belong the Spoils." Except in the matter of slavery-worship we are willing to acknowledge that the democratic party is indeed the same as ever, a party caring only for power and plunder, and utterly regardless not only of the "rights" and "liberties" of which they prate so loudly, but of even keeping up a show of decency, when it stands in the way of any of their partisan schemes.

The democratic musicians in this State (since that party first lost it) have never tired of harping on the "partisan legislation" string; barrels of ink and hogsheads of tears have they shed over the alleged misdeeds of the republicans in legislating for party interests and ignoring the general welfare, and much disinterested advice have they given as to the only possible way in which an effectual stop could be put to such revolutionary and liberty-destroying outrages, viz., by restoring their virtuous selves to power! Now that they are restored to power, what has become of their virtuous aspirations and loud promises? We don't know, really; but we do know that their legislation thus far in the session has been marked by a reckless and shameless partisanship very much worse than can justly be charged against any republican legislature, worse even than any whig legislature was ever guilty of, and we are not sure that it is not worse than any previous exhibition of a similar character by even a democratic legislature, and the force of language can no farther go than that. The democratic papers, which wailed so piteously for years over the political degeneracy of the times as indicated by republican partisan legislation, either maintain a discreet silence concerning the extravagant doings of their own party, or openly defend them; not one of all the democratic sheets which so earnestly advocated political purity and denounced partisan proscription has uttered a word in reprobation of or remonstrance against democratic partisanship, though it has been and is being carried to lengths never before known in this State.

The democratic organs do indeed attempt to justify the conduct of their party by saying to the republicans, "You legislated in the interests of your party, and we are only following your example." This excuse for inexcusable outrages, considered in connection with the democratic pretension that the entire stock of political purity in the State has always been in democratic hands, can only be characterized as utterly shameless, —worse even than the bolder utterances of more incautious democrats, "We have got the State and we mean to keep it, if fixing it so that ten thousand popular majority in the State won't give the republicans the legislature will do it." Further, the statement that the democrats are only following the example set them by the republicans is untrue, as the democrats well know; not that the republican party is free from the reproach of partisan legislation, but the democrats are doing many things for which they cannot even plead a bad example in excuse. Two instances will suffice to substantiate this assertion.

The city of Nashua was laid out in wards by the democrats, twenty-one years ago, the ward lines being straight and the wards compact; those ward-lines have never been disturbed until the present year, notwithstanding the republicans have ruled the State so long; but this year, though Nashua has five democrats in the legislature and but one republican, it was considered "necessary for the party interests" to gerrymander the wards so that the republicans should have get less chance to secure a fair representation, and accordingly this has been done, and by the very men who have whined the loudest about "the rights of minorities," when they were in a minority.

Again, Portsmouth was laid out in three wards by democrats; the number of wards has never been changed, and but one ward-line altered (and that slightly) by the republicans. The republican majority is from three to four hundred; yet notwithstanding the ease with which the democratic majority in ward three could have been wiped out by a gerrymander, and the repeated provocations received from the unscrupulous wire-pullers and skillful counters in that ward, nothing which could be construed into a gerrymander can be charged against the republicans. But no sooner did the democrats accidentally gain the power that they went in for a most outrageous gerrymander, and now openly boast that they have "fixed things" so justly and honestly that with four-tenths of the voters they will have seven-tenths of the legislative representation and a controlling majority in the city government!

We have never been deceived as to the value of democratic professions of admiration for honesty and fair play, having always considered them entirely worthless; but it is some satisfaction to have their worthlessness demonstrated by the acts of the democrats themselves. The leopard may change his spots or the Ethiop his skin, but the democratic party will never learn that trickery and reckless partisanship may be carried too far to benefit even the perpetrators.

Base Ball.

Messrs. Editors: In your issue of Tuesday we noticed a letter from the Athlete B. B. C. of Kittery asserting that the Resolutes of this city played them on Friday and were defeated. Now, we emphatically deny that the Resolute B. B. C. of this city played any match or friendly game of ball on Friday last (June 26) with the Athlete club of Kittery or any other club in this vicinity, and our reasons for denial are such as would convince anybody. On the 26th (Friday) the catcher, centerfield and another of the Resolutes, with some small boys went over to Kittery, as before stated, to see the long-talked-of match between the Minnies of South Berwick and the Athletes. After they had arrived at the grounds, they found the Minnies were not coming. One of the Resolutes was asked by one of the Athletes to pick up a scrub nine and play them, which he did and was beaten. Now if the Athletes consider that a match game of ball they had better study the base ball rules of 1874 a little longer. The letter finished with these words: "If there is another base ball organization in Portsmouth calling themselves the Resolutes we will be only too happy to play them a friendly game on any ground between Portland and Boston, Portsmouth ground excepted." Now if the Athletes want to play us so bad as to refuse to play on our grounds, we will play them a series of three games,—the first game to be played in Kittery, the second in Portsmouth and the third in Kittery. Will the Athletes agree to this? All we have to say is "put up or shut up."

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal advice advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence.

Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used.

Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish.

In each box are 1 sticks; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove thus all waste is saved

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUT CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Blueing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility; and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

WHERE DO YOU

BUY PAPER?

Of the Manufacturer or of "Middlemen"?—that's the question. While you are pondering it remember that we still make it out of RAGS, which is good enough for Newspapers or Books. And, besides making to order, we keep quite a lot on hand, of which we will send you a list, from time to time, if you will favor us with your address. The best looking Newspapers in New Hampshire and Vermont are Printed on paper made by

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN

HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures scandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its graceful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

HENDERSON & CO.,

ANNOUNCE THEIR

SPRING OPENING

—OF—

Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons.

The Largest Stock,
The Latest Styles,
The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is, you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the money prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest sale in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

And five dollar Trimmed Hats will compare favorably with any ten dollar one in the city.

SASH RIBBONS, ... 25 cents per yard.
SILK TIES . . . . . 50 cents each.
FRAMES . . . . . 15 cents each.

Debate on the bill in amendment of the charter of the city of Portsmouth, in the House of Representatives, Wednesday, June 24th, 1874.

Continued.

Mr. Emery of Portsmouth—I desire to make a few remarks upon the amendments that have been proposed and then upon the general tenor of the bill. I will endeavor, sir, not to go back 100 years, or to talk about the time of our Revolutionary fathers, but will confine myself as briefly as I can simply to this bill. I have no skill to undertake to compete with the gentleman from Littleton—Mr. Sinclair—in highfalutin talk and will therefore stick as closely as possible to the matter now before us. The first amendment proposed by the gentleman from Portsmouth—Mr. Kent— is to strike out all that part of the bill providing for the election taking place in September. Now, sir, the usual time for elections in New Hampshire is in March. In other parts of the State and in other cities they have their city elections during that month of the year: Here comes a proposition to change it, and what for? What reason is there assigned for it? I have heard only one and that is that they hope they will not be so much interfered with by the parties who are at work upon the navy yard in September as they allege they are in the month of March.

Now, sir, some of these gentlemen who come up from Portsmouth here representing the other party seem to have navy yard on the brain. It is nothing, nothing but the interference from the navy yard and the influence of the government. Well, sir, I know or I am informed that they are pretty well posted upon this matter. I know nothing about it myself, but I am told that my friend from Portsmouth (Mr. Marcy) the representative from Ward Three, at a certain time of his life had the honor to be President of a Johnson club, and during that time he and his friends manipulated the navy yard, and some say that during that time that under the administration of the gentleman and his friends in the navy yard they learned some matters which they have since found very useful. Now, sir, if there is anything wrong in that matter, why it comes from the teachings which these gentlemen themselves have given, and the parties that have been employed there.

Mr. Marcy—Will the gentleman allow me one minute?

Mr. Emery—No, sir; I have the floor and I propose to keep it until I get through. Now, sir, they are at work on the navy yard at different times of the year and at different seasons a large number of people are employed, but that number is constantly varying according to the preparations being made and according to the work that is done. If you open your statute-book you will find a provision that requires a person, before he can be a voter, to be an inhabitant of the State of New Hampshire, and you have a definition by which an inhabitant is defined to be a person dwelling, or having his home in any particular place. And you have also a provision that he must be there six months before an election. Now if any person who does not find favor with the gentlemen who are employing people in Portsmouth in building ships or otherwise can find favor so as to get employment on the navy yard, why, in Heaven's name, shouldn't he go there and get employment? Is he, because he is employed in the navy yard to be disfranchised and not to have any right to vote? Is he to be expelled because he is employed by the United States government in building ships and is not employed by my friend Marcy in Ward Three? Is that to deprive him of his right to vote, and can he vote unless he produces evidence that he is a citizen of New Hampshire and been a resident therein for six months?

But, sir, it is alleged here that the check-lists are tampered with. Well, now, the persons who are appointed to look over the check-lists have been in this municipal government, people who have been elected in the several wards, and it is claimed here that persons have attempted to get their names put on the check-lists and had not an opportunity. Now the law provides, if I do not misunderstand it, that the selectmen of each ward must give a certain time before the election to putting names on the check-list, and I have been told that the selectmen in these wards, one and two, have been at their posts during the time assigned by the statute, have staid there for hours and no person has come in, but everybody, as usual in matters of that kind, postponed it to the last moment. But, during the morning of election day there may have been a crowded time because they have neglected to appear, and more time has been wanted to complete the lists than they have had. That is not the fault of the selectmen; it is not the fault of the law; it is the fault of the parties themselves.

Now, sir, in relation to this amendment proposing to change the time of holding the election in September, I have to say this: I would very cheerfully, with the gentleman from ward 3 (Mr. Marcy) favor having an election for the good of the city and take the candidates from the "good men and true" of both political parties. That have been tried over and over again in our city, and I presume tried in every place, and it never could be carried out. Whenever you sit down and undertake to make such an arrangement, either one party or the other desires to have an advantage, and whenever it has occurred in Portsmouth in years past our republican friends always thought, I won't say whether correctly or not, but they always thought and alleged that the democrats desired to get the advantage, and they never could successfully carry it out; and I do not believe that it has been carried out in any city. Here, cities naturally run into parties, and perhaps it is advisable that they should, because when one party has the control they are watched by the other, and they must necessarily not do anything very far out of the way, because if they do, their opponents will take hold of it, and turn it to their disadvantage, — whereas, if you put in one of these high-minded individuals selected from both parties they are not responsible to anybody and more liable to be extravagant than when the officials were elected from either party. There is no reason then, in this view of the case, why this change should be made, unless it is the reason to give the party who are not in power in Portsmouth an opportunity to come in power and by this change to get some undue advantage. You may be sure that the change would not be proposed unless they supposed it would be for their advantage, for never is anything of this kind proposed unless an advantage is proposed to be gained by it. I think, then, this amendment should be adopted. The time should not be changed, but if we must take these amendments to the charter as they say we must, let it come in the ordinary way as it has heretofore. I hope that the good sense of the House will see the propriety of adopting this amendment and allowing the election to take place in the month of March.

The second amendment proposed by the gentleman is to strike out the ninth section of the bill and insert a substitute therefor. The ninth section provides for the appointment and does appoint three selectmen in each of the proposed wards, who are to hold an election in those wards of the officers to be elected in September. Well, now, to show how exceedingly generous these people are, and as an illustration of the remarks I have before made that when they make a proposition they desire to get an advantage, they come here and as a matter of grace, as a matter of favor, they permit us to have one republican upon those several boards of selectmen. They say that they give us these and we have agreed upon the men. We have agreed on the men that we had to take. They would not agree on the men we wanted and of course we agreed on such men as we could have rather than not have any. I admit that the men put into that bill were agreed upon; they say they were agreed upon, but I say further that I am told they were not the men we desired or would have selected if the matter had been left to us; but we have such men as could be agreed upon by the council of the two parties. Perhaps the committee know nothing of that matter, I dare say they do not, but such is the fact notwithstanding.

Now, sir, we hear a great deal here, and the House has been brought down with applause on this occasion, about the people ruling because the constitution of this State and the United States provides that the people shall govern themselves, and that in all powers that are not delegated by the State to the general government we are free and independent, and here upon this floor they claim that the people of New Hampshire shall exercise that power when appointing this municipal government which is created for the purpose of governing its municipal affairs, which governs its own local matters; they are thrusting these men upon us whether we will or not. They claim that they are acting in the name of the people and are carrying out the wishes of the people. Now, sir, we have a complication of governments here. We have the United States government which is supreme in a certain circle, in the matters delegated to it. We have the State government which is supreme in its circle and all matters delegated to it. Then we have our city governments which are supreme in their circle and the matters given to them. And this charter is granted to Portsmouth that the city, in relation to their municipal affairs or anything relating to themselves shall have a right to judge for themselves and of their own affairs; they are "the people." But the gentleman from Littleton (Mr. Sinclair) says they have the constitutional power to put such men in there in those wards as they see fit, to take charge of this first election and manipulate the check-lists, and this too when at the election in 1873 on the vote for Governor there was 153 republican majority; when in the election of 1874 upon the vote for Mayor there was 343 republican majority, and when they have made two wards in this city where they themselves admit there is a strong republican majority and upon that question I will have something to say hereafter. In these very wards they put in their own men to take charge of the election in this case and to manipulate those check-lists, and of those men, one, I am told, has not paid a tax in the city of Portsmouth for ten years. It is of those rateable polls which have not paid a tax and which are on the list of which the gentleman complains. There are others now engaged in keeping tippling shops. Those are the men that these people now give us, and that they choose to force upon us to govern our election, make out the check-lists, and fix it so that if they can by any possibility they will get some advantage. These are the "tricks" which I hope will turn out to be "vain." Apply this doctrine. I go for it. I say the people should rule. I am willing they should rule in all matters relating to the government because I am willing that they should rule in all matters of State. I am willing that they should rule in all matters particularly delegated, and I desire that they should rule in all matters that particularly relate to themselves in municipalities, and the amendment proposed is one that provides for this very ruling. It provides that a meeting shall be had in the wards to choose the selectmen that shall control the annual meetings, and control them forever afterward. If there is any reason that those men should be put in at this time why don't they put in that these same individuals shall have control of the check-lists of the wards during their natural lives; why not for all time as for a particular occasion? Why is this departure made in this particular case rather than any other? There is no reason unless there is some advantage expected to be gained by it. I hope, sir, that this amendment will prevail.

In making these amendments the provision has been taken from the charter of 1849 as near as it could be and adopted for this occasion and put in this bill in order that the first meeting should be called and held in the manner proposed by that charter. It was then thought to be right and proper under democratic rule and I cannot see why it is not right and proper now.

Now, sir, as to the fourth amendment. The act as it now stands repeals two or three provisions of law; one of them relates to the closing of the polls. Upon that question I desire to be heard. If there could be any fairer proposition made than to fix a time at which the polls should be closed, a definite time, and everybody know that the election is through and done with, I do not know how it could be made. I do not care, sir, whether the poll is closed at six o'clock, half-past six or seven—any reasonable time. When the charter was granted in 1849 it was provided that there should be no voting before sunrise and after sunset. That was a good and sound provision. Then our city and our State were under democratic rule. In 1850, I presume because it was found that it did not work to the advantage of some parties who might have had an eye to "the ways that are dark," it was repealed and remained repealed for some years. Again it was adopted and again it was left out in 1867. Well, we found in 1873 that there was an abuse of this privilege in the election of Mayor. I do not know that anything absolutely wrong was done excepting that as the result was, we supposed there was an unfair advantage taken, if the facts have been correctly stated to me. The votings in wards one and two were closed in the neighborhood of 7 o'clock and the vote was known throughout the whole city. It was then stated and supposed, as the vote then stood that Mr. Miller was elected Mayor, but in the morning of the next day it turned out that he was not elected but his opponent, Mr. Marvin was elected by one majority. And how was that done? I am told that the vote was passed in ward 3 to close the polls and that vote was carried, and it was supposed that the polls were closed, and that being the case, the members of the republican party went away to their homes. I am told that the polls were kept open from one to three hours after that time and votes were received and that efforts were being made, and principally by my friend from ward 3 (Mr. Marcy) as he admits to get people there, legal voters, I dare say, to put in their votes, so that Mayor Marvin was elected by one majority. Well, now, it may be all right. It may be according to the poetical views, so eloquently given by the gentleman from Littleton (Mr. Sinclair) all right to perform a trick of that character, but if it is, it certainly shows the parties that perform it as skillful in "the ways that are dark." (Laughter.) Now, sir, all we ask for is perfectly fair dealing, fair to each other. If you do not choose to close the polls but keep them open until 12 o'clock, fix that as a time; or if you will close them earlier fix it so that every person can have a fair opportunity to deposit his ballot and then close the whole of the polls; it is so in many other cities and should be so everywhere. But it has been said that this is selecting Portsmouth out and making an example for it, and that there would be no objection if it was made a general law. Now, I see no objection to this being made a general law, but, as it is not made a general law, and as the correction seemed necessary in the city of Portsmouth it was made to apply there last year. We desire that that law should stand and this amendment that has been proposed is for the purpose of letting it stand.

Now, sir, another amendment, and that in substance provides for submitting the question whether or not this proposed act shall go into force, shall be submitted to the citizens of Portsmouth. Now here comes in again, I cannot repeat it, I cannot say it with one-half the eloquence that the gentleman from Littleton (Mr. Sinclair) said it—the rights of the people; I refer you to his speech on that matter; that the people should in these matters that peculiarly refer to themselves have a right to govern themselves in their own way and that this ought to be submitted to the people. But it is said if you submit it to the people of Portsmouth under the present state of affairs in the city it will not be adopted. Well, why should not such be the result? If there is a clear decided majority which is opposed to this charter why should that majority not have an opportunity to express its opinion and why should it not have an opportunity to be heard on the question? Why, sir, the reason is plain that then this act would not be adopted. Then the democratic selectmen would not come into power in the several wards to control the check-lists as they desire them to be controlled, and then there would not be that opportunity to make themselves by some hocus-pocus operation—I wish I could think of the word that a gentleman (Mr. Bingham) used the other day.

Mr. Sanborn of Franklin—sotto-voce—Bumfuzzle.

Mr. Emery—By this bumfuzzle operation to make themselves into a democratic majority. (Laughter.) If there is anything whatever in the doctrine that the people are to govern, and if the sentiments are true that were uttered by the Governor in his message that we are here for the purpose of recording the will of the people, and doing what they shall desire, nothing more and nothing less; if there is any truth in the remarks of the Speaker when he took his chair, to the same effect that we should regard the wishes of the people; if there is anything in the remarks of the gentleman from Littleton (Mr. Sinclair) that the people should rule; if this is not a mere holding out of something to the eye or something to the ear which is to be false in the performance, why, then let this matter be submitted to the people of Portsmouth to see whether they will or will not adopt this act. Why, sir, I cannot see why this talk is made in relation to the will of the people and that the will of the people must govern, and the majority say that they are here representing the will of the people of the State. They now are here representing a minority of the people, and they come up here and say that their rights have been invaded, that they have not an opportunity to be heard and want these various matters to be put through in the name of the people as the representatives of the people when, in fact they are not their representatives to the full extent; because if we are to take the will of the people it is the will of the whole people expressed by a majority of the whole people, and they are not here for that purpose, and have not that majority. But still, sir, they say that because they now have the power that we must take in Portsmouth, whether we will or not, this act as they have drawn it; it is not to be altered by so much as the crossing of a t, or the dotting of an i, if that alteration is proposed by one of the republican party. Because they have the power it must be put down our throats whether we desire it or not. Now, sir, men that come with such specious representations, and make such specious arguments, remind me of the description of the man who with one hand would put a penny in the Urn of Poverty and, with the other at the same time, take a shilling out. (Laughter.) Now, sir, there is another amendment here and that is who are to be voters in these several wards. The act is to take effect on its passage and who are to be the voters in those wards? Are the parties to reside in the ward and have their home there at the time this act takes effect, or must they reside in the ward six months? The effect will be to disfranchise various people that have moved from one portion of the ward now existing to another portion of the same ward, but who will not be in the ward to which they are assigned by this act. They have resided in Portsmouth, they have always voted in Portsmouth, they have resided in the ward, but they move from one portion of ward 2, as it now exists, to another portion of ward 2 within a very short time before the passage of this act; can they vote in their new ward or can they not? I suppose to make this plain the fifth amendment is suggested. I suppose there could be no question about it, or doubt about the propriety of it, but it would save all questions that could arise. "Every person now residing in the city and having a right to vote shall have a right to vote in the ward where he is found when this act passes, or takes effect."

It seems to me but reasonable and proper and that it will have a tendency to settle many disputes. Thus much for the amendments.

Now, sir, upon the general principles of this bill. In discussing these amendments I have mentioned many points that have arisen, but there are one or two others to which I desire to call the attention of the House. When the charter was originally granted the city was divided into three wards. Those wards were so constituted at the time as to make one very large ward (ward 2) and on the outskirts on each side ward 1 and ward 3. They were so arranged and that I presume was done purposely, at any rate they were so arranged that whatever might be the general majority in the city there would be a majority of democrats in ward 1 and in ward 3, and if the city was carried by a majority of 200 or 300 that whole majority was thrown into ward 2. Perhaps that was fair to so distribute the voters, in the estimation of those gentlemen who want their rights; it certainly gives them the power. Now afterward, in 1856 I think it was, there was an alteration made in the lines between wards 1 and 2; there was a petition here for that purpose from the citizens of those wards, and it was carried into effect; but, sir, if it was designed at that time to have those wards so made as to make some of a republican majority the republicans entirely failed in accomplishing their object. For two years after the alteration then made democratic representatives were elected and sent to the legislature from ward 1, and the democratic officers were all elected, and it was not until after 1860, until after circumstances arose to make a change in a great many people's minds that republicans were able to carry ward 1. The division as it was, made ward 1 and ward 2 nearly equal. The vote in 1873 in ward 1 and ward 2 was very nearly equal; I haven't it added up so as to give you the figures, but it was very nearly equal. Dividing the city into two equal wards and one ward by itself we had not so many voters; now the proposition before the House is to divide it into seven wards, and although as I said before there was 343 majority on the question of Mayor at the last election, that whole majority is put into two wards so that what would be the result? Why the result would be that if the city was carried and a republican Mayor was elected by 300 or 400 majority still there would be a democratic majority of aldermen and a democratic majority of Common Councilmen, and it is in a city where the republicans carry over 1200 votes, and the democrats but 800 votes. If you are going for minority representation they would have 4-10, according to the vote, when there are 6-10 of the voters on the other side. This is what the gentleman says was fair. That is the way that they propose to get their rights, by taking away the rights of other parties. That is the rule which the gentleman (Mr. Marcy) says he proposes to put us under. He complains that he has been under a rule in Portsmouth worse than that of the Czar of Russia. Now I don't believe for the last ten years that St. Nicholas, the Czar of all the Russias, ever ruled with so arbitrary a power as we shall have to submit to for the next ten years if this act takes effect. They may profess to be very honorable, they may profess that they will rule very fairly, but when it comes to their acts we know that their professions are not within 100 miles of what they do. (Applause.) Sir, according to the views of my friend from Portsmouth (Mr. Marcy) the republican party is to be held responsible for the misfortunes which occur to him when he undertakes to build a ship and the men run away from his ship-yard when they get better pay at the navy yard. I do not see how we can remedy it. If he will confer the power on the republican party in Portsmouth we will endeavor to make an improvement in that matter; we will see he is fairly treated; but I do not see what those matters have to do with this question at all. I know that there is a difference of opinion whether or not the navy yard is, on the whole, a benefit to that portion of the State or not, but it is there. It has been there ever since the government has been there. The republican party are no more responsible for its being there than the democratic party, and they are not responsible for the natural results which take place in consequence of its being there. And, sir, I cannot see how there is any case made out that any injustice has been done in consequence of any acts in relation to the navy yard. I dare say there are zealous people who talk on this subject but I am told that no person has been promised a position on the yard for his vote by any person who has any authority to make such a promise, or could by any possibility carry it out. I certainly myself, in my own experience, have never in my life made a promise of anything to any man for his vote. I have always discountenanced such a thing. I would just as soon cut off my right hand as to offer a man any money for his vote, or any promise of anything in any form. I hold that every man has the right and should be allowed to vote and go to the polls and vote as he pleases. I feel entirely free from all blame that can possibly adhere in regard to that matter. I never offered a man any money and I hope that every person in this House, whether he comes from our ward or not, can put his hand upon his heart and swear by the Eternal God of Heaven that he never offered any man money for his vote. I hope every man is as free and clear as that. And if there is any man here that is not free and clear from that, all I can say is I hope that he may be found out and I hope that the penalty for bribery now existing in the statutes will be imposed upon him, I hope that these amendments will be adopted and I hope, further, that this bill will not be adopted.

On motion of Mr. Bingham of Littleton the House adjourned till 2 o'clock P. M.

20 State Street, Boston,

MESSRS. Isaac Cook & Co.

Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of Ale Wort, for you, and have seen the practical working of McCormick's purifying process.

The small proportion of decomposing matter (the germs of acetification and mould) which exist in wort as it comes from the malt and hops, and which is not viable, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up, in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the IMPURITIES, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. Respectfully,

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physicium shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

Local Matters.

The Sea View House.

At Rye Beach, constructed by Mr. George G. Lougee, in 1870, amply justifies its name for no more delightful ocean scenery can be witnessed than from the rooms of this hotel. It contains about 95 rooms, with accommodations for more than 200 guests, and all of the apartments are convenient, large, airy and well-furnished. Mr. Lougee has completed a large addition to the hotel, which has been fitted up as a billiard hall, and opened for the use of guests and the public last month. Croquet grounds, a thoroughly good livery, an observatory and other desiderata have been provided at the Sea View, and nothing will be left undone to render the sojourn of either pleasure or health seekers as pleasant and profitable as can be expected. It is the largest hotel in Rye, the table is good, the charges reasonable, and the attention shown guests all that can be asked; so it is not to be wondered at that the numbers who visit the house to spend the summer months, in a spot where the beach and country drives and boating and sea-bathing facilities cannot be surpassed, should increase yearly and tax the accommodations of the hotel to the utmost. Many of the regular patrons of the Sea View are already in their summer quarters, and after the 4th the number of unengaged rooms will be small.

One for "Our" Band.

[Springfield Republican.]

The Newburyport commandery of Knights Templar arrived in this city by the "owl" last night, and marched down Main street to the Haynes House, to the magnificent music of the Portsmouth navy yard band. Rarely have we heard such finely harmonious and spirited playing, and we could comfortably have listened to a far longer concert by such masterly musicians.

A dispatch from Halifax, Wednesday, that the cable steamer Faraday ran on an iceberg a week ago and became a total wreck, is not credited here. Col. Eastman received a dispatch last evening from the operator at Halifax, stating that there was no truth in the report.

State News.

Newmarket has $10,000 to spend for a new school house.

A lad named Mahoney, about fourteen years old, fell from the train at the Boston and Maine station at Dover, and the car wheels passed over his foot, cutting it half off and otherwise injuring him. He will probably recover.

During the heavy thunder storm of Monday evening, the 27th ult., lightning struck the house of Mr. Nathan Barker, Stratham, entering by the chimney and passing out of an open window where a young lady had been sitting two minutes before.

The Bribery Bill.

On Tuesday, in the House, the bill to punish bribery was brought up.

Mr. Kent moved to amend by adding a new section that no person should intimidate or influence the vote of any member in either branch of the legislature by means of numbers, tags or otherwise, or by compelling them to use numbered or colored votes, or should try to intimidate any member by using loud and boisterous language in conversation in the House, or marching up or down the aisles when voting is in progress, or by compelling any member to change his vote on division or on calling of the yeas and nays, on penalty of expulsion from the House for the first offence, and for the second a fine of $500, or one year in the State Prison.

Mr. Sanborn of Franklin thought that the bill was a reflection on the members of the House, who voted for Secretary of State with a green ballot, and for Treasurer with a yellow one, and different colors for other officers. He offered an amendment that the bill should not be considered a reflection on the members of the House on account of the above facts.

Mr. Jenks of Concord, made a few satirical remarks at the expense of the majority. After using colored papers in the House their pretensions reminded him of the old saying, "The pot calling the kettle black."

Mr. Sanborn withdrew his amendment and would vote for the bill which he never intended to laugh down; still, however, the acts of the majority in the House at the beginning of the session, which were inconsistent with the bill, would recur to the memory.

Mr. Kent said that in order that the bill might not be defeated by any action of his, he would withdraw his amendment.

Mr. Dunbar moved to add a new section that the Selectmen at every meeting for elections before the votes are taken, read the act to the meeting. Adopted.

Mr. Jenks moved to amend by adding a new section that hereafter all balloting in the House be on plain white paper, unmarked and unnumbered, all violations to be punished in the same way as provided in the bill.

Mr. Hatch of Portsmouth argued that the amendment was out of place and was evidently intended to overload the bill.

Mr. Jenks thought the representatives should themselves set an example of purity of balloting.

Mr. Bailey of Hopkinton moved the previous question.

The amendment of Mr. Jenks was rejected and the bill was ordered to a third reading.

Self-Defence.

To a criminal neglect of preventive medication may be ascribed a majority of the ailments which afflict humanity. It is a well ascertained fact, resting on the experience of twenty years, that a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will put even a naturally feeble system in such a state of defence that it will be competent to resist the most prevalent causes of disease, such as the malign influence of miasma, unwholesome water, excessive heat, damp, cold, sudden changes of temperature, &c. Yet there are thousands of persons living in perpetual peril from one or more of these causes, who recklessly omit to avail themselves of the absolute protection which this famous vegetable antidote affords. Intermittent and bilious remittent fevers, rheumatism, general debility, nervous weakness, and irregularities of the stomach, bowels and liver, would be comparatively unknown if this palatable specific were in universal use in the districts where they principally prevail.

The Second and last Grand Gift Concert, in aid of the MASONIC RELIEF ASSOCIATION, of Norfolk, Va., is advertised to take place September 30, 1874. At the first Concert, on the 5th of May last, this Association distributed to its patrons the sum of $37,687.50 in excess of its published agreement, dividing on a sale of one third of the tickets advertised the same amount as if they had sold one-half.

Helmbold's Buchu is still in the zenith of its popularity. Notwithstanding the absence of Dr. Helmbold, the celebrated medicine is still manufactured at the laboratory at Philadelphia, and is sold by all respectable druggists. It is warranted for all diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs. Beware of counterfeits. Genuine has Dr. Helmbold's private stamp. John F. Henry, New York, Sole Agent.

The Great PILE Remedy, ANAKESIS, the discovery of Dr. Silsbee, is entitled to be called the wonder of the age. 20,000 grateful sufferers bless the only infallible remedy for PILES ever introduced; only those who have used lotions, ointments, and internal remedies in vain, will understand the grateful feeling of instant relief from pain and blissful hope of certain cure for this terrible disease, that ANAKESIS secures. It is used by doctors of all schools.—Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Depot, 46 Walker St., New York.

Teeth in Ruins

Are a sure drawback on personal appearance and personal comfort. Therefore, keep them in good repair with that established antidote for all the diseases that assail them, fragrant SOZODONT.

The "Gentleman in Black," who is the tutelar demon of dram-shops, assumes his sourest aspect when the rapid progress of VINEGAR BITTERS is reported "down below." The People's Vegetable Tonic is playing the mischief with his bitters fired with rum. All diseases which those demoniac nostrums aggravate, under pretense of relieving, such as indigestion, sick-headache, constipation, rheumatism, gout, and intermittent fevers are cured by it. je24 4w

What is the matter?—Your hair looks dry and dead, it breaks off and is falling out. Your locks in vain with an alcohol and oil mixture or some well advertised Hair Restorer. The hair is poisoned, it is killed. If you would restore it, cast away these things, go buy a bottle of Bearine which can be had of any Druggist, and we will guarantee a change for the better at once! 9

Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

SUMMER is coming! I want a piece of ICE; where can I get it? Why, just send a boy to Perkins', No. 30 South St., and you are sure of it. The Subscriber, having purchased the entire interest of the Portsmouth Ice Co., would take this opportunity to thank his old customers for their past patronage, and would solicit the continuance of the same as well as that of the public generally. Situated as I am, with a large Ice House on Mt. Vernon St., I am prepared to deliver ICE cut from pure spring water, in any part of the city, on the shortest possible notice. By strict attention to the wants of the public and by selecting honest and accommodating drivers, I mean to merit and hope to receive a large share of the public patronage. Special attention given to delivering ICE to the Sick. Orders from Fishermen promptly attended to.

N. B. Hoping all misdemeanors of drivers will be reported to the subscriber before other steps are taken, I promise that all complaints will receive immediate attention. ORDER SLATE at H. M. Clark's provision store,—or orders may be left with the subscriber at No. 30 South St., or sent through the post-office. dawtf GEORGE A. PERKINS.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for the intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

ANNOUNCE THEIR

SPRING OPENING

—OF—

Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons.

The Largest Stock,
The Latest Styles,
The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

She knows full well that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay as the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge, you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the most as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

Daily Chronicle.

N. H. Legislature.

[Reported for the CHRONICLE by George Manson.]

Debate on the bill in amendment of the charter of the city of Portsmouth, in the House of Representatives, Wednesday, June 24th, 1874.

Concluded.

At 2 o'clock, P. M., the House reassembled pursuant to adjournment, [Mr. Blodgett of Franklin in the chair.]

[Mr. Hatch made a long speech with which we will not afflict our readers, as it would occupy seven columns of this paper. He reviewed the political history of Portsmouth, declared that he was "afraid to do wrong," went back to whig times and the adoption of the city charter, and finally made a statement that at the last election navy yard workmen "were permitted to leave the navy yard at noon and were marched up in platoons or droves to vote. They came across from the navy yard as the British came across from Boston to Bunker Hill in bodies that almost filled the river, and as they landed at the wharves they were formed in procession with a leader at the head, others at the foot, others at the sides, with navy yard officials standing at the check-lists checking the manner in which every man voted." The only way to answer such foolish talk is to say that neither Albert R. Hatch nor any other person saw any such "procession with a leader at the head, others at the foot and others at the side" marching to the polls in the city of Portsmouth at the last or any preceding election since the republicans have existed as a party.]

Mr. Sanborn of Franklin—I do not propose to enter into this discussion of the charter of the city of Portsmouth. The interests of that city are confided to two able hands and I doubt not that her cause will be properly sustained on this floor. There was one remark made by the gentleman who has just addressed the House (Mr. Hatch) which, if I understood him correctly shows a mis-recollection upon his part, and if I misunderstand him, there are others near me who are laboring under the same misapprehension. I understood him to say that at the last session a bill was introduced into this House which provided that all votes hereafter should be printed upon white paper, and that that bill did not pass the House.

Mr. Hatch—I beg my friend's pardon, Mr. Speaker. What I said and what I mean to say is this; that I attempted to amend the bill relating to the city of Portsmouth by inserting such an amendment and was defeated upon the amendment. That is what I said.

Mr. Sanborn—The impression made will be the same, and I desire, Mr. Speaker, to correct that part of it. A bill was introduced here that provided that all ballots shall be written or printed on plain white paper, and by reference to the journal of the House it will be found that after an amendment which was offered for the purpose of correcting an objection which some gentleman might have in case a soiled white ballot should be offered, and which I had myself the honor to introduce and in which I employed the word which the gentleman from Portsmouth (Mr. Hatch) himself suggested, was adopted, the bill on a suspension of the rules passed the House in that form.

Mr. Kent of Portsmouth—There are one or two things that I desire to refer to and to which my attention has been called by the remarks on the part of the gentlemen on the opposite side. My friend from Littleton (Mr. Sinclair) in justification of this bill referred to the Bill of Rights and read Article 7 of the constitution wherein it says:

ART. 7. The people of this State have the sole and exclusive right of governing themselves as a free, sovereign and independent State, and do, and forever hereafter shall exercise and enjoy every power, jurisdiction and right pertaining thereto, which is not or may not hereafter be by them expressly delegated to the United States of America, in Congress assembled.

But he did not read the first article which reads as follows:

ART. 1. All men are born equally free and independent; therefore, all government of right originates from the people, is founded in consent, and instituted for the general good.

And he did not read article 11:

ART. 11 All elections ought to be free, and every inhabitant of the State, having the proper qualifications, has equal right to elect and be elected into office.

That was what I said this morning, that the people of Portsmouth desire to govern themselves. Now I do not think there is any gentleman on this floor, on either side of the House, that will make any pretence that the majority of this House is a true representation of the people of this State at the last election. It is what has been several times termed here "an accidental majority." By the vote of some 2000 or more, and the non-election of several representatives from towns which had they elected, the majority would have been in a minority, the majority of this House was made. Hence the majority here now do not represent the people of the State. That is the way I look at that.

Now, in relation to these rateable polls that are detailed on the check-list in Portsmouth which do not appear on the Assessors' books. The gentleman (Mr. Hatch) has stated correctly, as I am informed, there are some 499 more names on our check-list than there are on the Assessors' books this year. As it is known in all towns these selectmen and others are anxious to have as many names on their check-list as they think will vote. For example a man moves into the town. His name is placed on the check-list. He goes away and if he does not come back it is not known whether he is dead or gone. Last year the Assessors, who are entirely independent of the selectmen of the city of Portsmouth, struck off a very large list of the non-tax-payers without consulting the check-list at all and these men still remain on the check-list. That accounts in a great measure for the present state of affairs and I am informed, but I do not know whether it is true or not but it came from the city authorities, that over 100 of these names that are on the check-list and did not pay the taxes are in ward 3 which is the democratic ward of the city. I do not desire to be personal, but I am also informed that one of the gentlemen who is named here as a supervisor to be legislated into office by this bill, has not paid a tax for 16 years. His name is not only on the check-list but they see proper to make him an officer of the city. I do not say it in any disrespect to him but I am informed that that is the fact.

Now, in relation to the taxes increasing as my friend (Mr. Hatch) has stated. No doubt the taxes have increased from 50 cents up to 245 cents. But as we all know everything else has increased in proportion. The city has been improving. Last year it was 245: this year it is 230. In relation to the city being in a dormant condition, I have resided there 8 or 9 years and at no time since I have been there, have I known the city of Portsmouth to be in such a promising condition as it is at the present time. There have been great improvements made; new buildings, new streets, new side-walks, new docks, and the marginal railroad the bill to incorporate which was passed last year. Mr. Marcy built many ships last year, and has more in view. Mr. Hatch alluded to the representation, that the democracy were entitled to 4-10 representation. That is substantially correct. The votes I think would number 2000, 800 democratic and 1200 republican. They do not vary much from that, and I am free to admit that two representatives in the House is not enough of a proportion to them. But turn it right around; by this bill we shall have 3 representatives and they take 7. Is that right? We get 3-10 of the representation, when you have 7-10; I ask the gentleman if that is correct according to his own views.

The gentleman also alluded to these workmen being turned off from the navy yard for failing to vote. I told you in the early part of the day that that would probably be alluded to, and he has told you about the procession which came up from the yard to the polls, something I never saw in my life. I have no doubt the gentleman has been informed that that is the fact, but I never saw it, and the gentleman is the only one that I ever heard allude to it. He has forgotten to tell you of the magnificent brewery team with four horses, with 20, 30, and 40 voters at a time going during election day from one poll to the other, not for the purpose of entertainment but for the purpose of celebrating and voting. As I told you before there is a great deal of zeal, in both parties, and we have to fight hand to hand; there is no doubt about that.

Let me ask also if he thinks it is wrong to turn men off from the navy yard for political views, if it is not equally as wrong to turn out sheriffs, registers of probate, solicitors, judges of probate, etc., for political purposes? (Laughter and immense applause.) For this, and no other reason? I ask him to answer that, and I think he, or his friends in the House at least will answer it before 12 o'clock tonight; [alluding to a proposed evening session to consider principally removal addresses;] this much I have to say and no more. I hope these amendments will prevail.

Mr. Mellows of Newmarket—In the acquaintance that I have had with the gentleman from Portsmouth (Mr. Kent) I have found in him one commendable trait of character, notwithstanding his political faults, and that is his honesty. In the midst of our political fighting I would say to him

I thank thee, Saxon, for teaching me this word;
It nerves my arm, it fires my blood.

[Laughter.] And while on that point, and as quotations have been the order of the day, I will quote to him a little further and say that I think he stands here advocating this cause for his party, because they feel disposed to

Atone for sins they are inclined to,
By damning those they have no mind to.

[Laughter.] There has been something said about the constitution and I find there is in the hearts of some the same feeling that we have seen exhibited here before when the constitution has been alluded to and which I must say is the only safeguard that stands between the people and arbitrary power, but which has been characterized here to-day, as "highfaluten talk." But I wish to say as far as the people of New Hampshire are concerned, as long as the party now in power can do it, that they will uphold and sustain the constitution, both State and national for the protection of the people.

Much, sir, has been said about the oppression of this legislature taking the liberty, as they call it, in dividing the wards of the city of Portsmouth.

I ask if the people of the city of Portsmouth have that power by the laws; and why it is not just as legal, as necessary, and as right for this legislature to re-ward a city, as it is to divide a town. I think that this matter has been very clearly stated upon both sides, and there can no longer be any mistake in regard to it. It must be that the House will reject these amendments, and adopt the original bill as reported.

Mr. Emery of Portsmouth—I regret very much indeed to detain the House another moment but I do feel it necessary; I feel I should not perform my duty to my constituents if I did not attempt to make a short answer to some of the positions that were assumed by the gentleman from Portsmouth (Mr. Hatch) from ward 3. He stands here before you and says he does not want to do any wrong; that this is no partisan measure. He comes here for the people of Portsmouth and in their name asks to have wrongs which they have done, righted. Well, now, I stand here also as a representative from the people of Portsmouth, and these wrongs which he wants righted I never have heard about. I never have heard any complaint made and I know that if the people of Portsmouth, when there are 1200 on one side, and 800 on the other—if the 1200 can be at all considered as representing the people of Portsmouth, then, I say that these wrongs which the gentlemen have so vigorously presented to you are almost entirely imaginary.

Again, the gentleman says that we are prohibited, I suppose estopped from undertaking to claim that it is right that this act should be submitted to the people; that in 1857 and at other times when other measures were passed in relation to the alteration of the charter, propositions were then made by a representative from his ward—who, I thinks, if I remember right, and what I heard at the time never resided in his ward but just one night, and that night slept at my friend's house—he came here and desired that the amendments that were then proposed should be submitted to the people; and he says that by a party vote then taken the proposition was refused. If, then, the democratic party believed it right to submit it to the people I should like to know at what time they changed their minds and now think it is wrong to submit the same proposition to the people? And it is not for them to say that because we did wrong when we were in power, therefore they will do wrong when they have the power. They have undertaken to say that it was right that those propositions should be submitted to the people; they had voted on that question, and now they undertake to say that it is not necessary and they are going to vote the other way. Very well, if they chose to do so and prefer to take that horn of the dilemma, I do not know that I can help them.

Again, we have had held up here this same vote that was put up last year and another put in this year, a red vote or a small vote. Did it ever occur to the gentleman that there might be entirely different reasons from those suggested here which rendered it expedient to have a vote of that character? Let me say to you and the members of this House, that on that very piece of pasteboard complained of the opposite party counterfeited so nearly like the original that they deceived republicans into whose hands the votes came. It is to obviate such little tricks as these that the party in ward 3 have found it necessary to protect themselves and get the votes in this form. But let me say further, is this an unpardonable offence? Is it a crime for which the republican party should be arraigned before this House and condemned in New Hampshire? If it be so then I ask you and the gentlemen of this House to turn their attention to the kind of votes by which every single officer who holds an office in the gift of this House this session was voted for. Was it not a colored ballot and for what purpose but for the sole purpose that the party that introduced that ballot might know who cast it, who promised to cast the ballot, and who refrained from doing so. The offence, if it is one, is an offence that has been committed here by the gentlemen of that party during the session of the legislature. And how was it in 1871 when it was deemed necessary that every man should come up to the polls and carry his vote according to the dictates of the leaders at that time? Why, sir, every man was chalked; his number was taken; the number of the ballot that he carried was taken and he was followed up day and night until it was made certain that he carried a vote accordng to the dictates of his party. Now, sir, I do not say this in any offensive spirit, but I say it because if we are to be arraigned here for having colored ballots, or with any particular device on them, it is a crime, or it is a fault, if it is a fault, that has been committed by the other party. Also the same reason that will apply to us in regard to submitting this matter to the people of Portsmouth, will apply to them.

Now as to the pretence that this act is only to correct the evil of voting by large wards, in the check list. Why, sir, the whole number of votes thrown in ward 1 in 1873 was 793; ward 2, 753; ward 3, 412. In 1874 the whole number of votes polled in ward 1 was 819; ward 2, 816; ward 3, 444. Is there any such number of votes as to make it inconvenient to receive and count them? Many towns in this State cast a vote as large as that. It is a mere pretence in undertaking to say that the same reasons that applied in 1849 to change the city, apply now to make the same wards in the city. In 1849 there were some 1500 voters; now there are 2000 odd. In either of these wards no inconvenience can be felt, and there is no reason why the city cannot do as well with three wards as with seven. I will not, at this stage of the debate, take up any further time of the House. I only ask if this is a political question it should be decided on political grounds. If it is not a political question, if the parties are so desirous that no wrong shall be done, I ask them then to put their hands on their hearts and according to their consciences vote what is right and proper and submit this matter to the decision of the people of Portsmouth.

Mr. Bingham of Littleton hoped the question would now be taken.

Mr. Emery--I desire a division of the question and a vote taken on each amendment.

A yea and nay vote was then taken on each of the amendments, which were all rejected. The bill was then ordered to a third reading.

Daily Chronicle.

FRIDAY, JULY 3, 1874.

Acting The Ostrich.

The Nashua Telegraph denies that it has announced that it will advocate the idea that the democrats now being appointed shall remain in office after the republicans regain the State. We are glad to find we are misled in our interpretation of the meaning of the Telegraph's editorial on the subject, but think we were not alone in misunderstanding it, inasmuch as the Telegraph mentions "the whole pack of yelpers in the republican party snarling at it." After denying the truth of our inference from its first editorial on the subject the Telegraph says: "If the CHRONICLE believes that indiscriminate removals are the just and sensible thing to do on the accidental accession of a party to power in this State, why does it make any fuss over the present slaughter of the innocents?" Will the Telegraph point out a single line we have published opposing the "slaughter" in any way? It is the gerrymandering business we ventilate, and should the republicans regain possession of the State next year, even the Telegraph cannot rightly call it an "accidental accession of a party to power."

The Telegraph has a nice plan laid out which it says "is sustained by the best and broadest minds on both the democratic and republican sides." There's to be an explosion on the following principles:

1. All annual elective offices to be filled by the party in power.

2. All vacancies arising in offices of Executive appointment to be filled in the same manner, except as to commissions and boards, which are even now made up from both parties.

3. No removals from office except for incompetency and dishonesty.

Very good, as far as heard from. But pending the arrival of the millenium, which all of us long for as earnestly as the Telegraph, will that paper please inform us, if by the removal of every democratic official appointed by Governor Weston this month and next, the election of Harry Bingham or John G. Sinclair to the U. S. Senate could be prevented, whether the Telegraph would consider such indiscriminate removals justifiable?

The Legislature.

The Senate passed the bill amending the charter of the city of Portsmouth on the 1st.

The House defeated the bill restraining officers of railroads from issuing passes, and members of the legislature from receiving them.

A bill assessing a State tax of $400,000 was passed.

The bill authorizing the Lowell & Nashua and Boston & Lowell Railroads to unite was passed to a third reading by a vote of 154 to 150, after a long debate. It was favored by Messrs. Emery, Sinclair, Rolles, Sanborn, Kent, Corning, Jackson and Merrill, and opposed by Messrs. Hoitt, Mellows, Briggs, Hall and Bingham.

Self-Defence.

To a criminal neglect of preventive medication may be ascribed a majority of the ailments which affect humanity. It is a well ascertained fact, resting on the experience of twenty years, that a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will put even a naturally feeble system in such a state of defence that it will be competent to resist the most prevalent causes of disease, such as the malign influence of miasma, unwholesome water, excessive heat, damp, cold, sudden changes of temperature, &c. Yet there are thousands of persons living in perpetual peril from one or more of these causes, who recklessly omit to avail themselves of the absolute protection which this famous vegetable antidote affords. Intermittent and bilious remittent fevers, rheumatism, general debility, nervous weakness, and irregularities of the stomach, bowels and liver, would be comparatively unknown if this palatable specific were in universal use in the districts where they principally prevail.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for tying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 13. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

Local Matters.

Daniel Come To Judgment.

If we were politically friendly to Hon. Daniel Marcy, and a little advice would be taken kindly when in the distant future he should find time to stop thinking and essay a public expression of his wise and important opinions, we should advise him to confine his remarks to a statement of facts, that he might not be guilty of such blundering departures from the truth as occurred in his speech on the bill amending the city charter, as faithfully and literally reported by the best democratic reporter in the State and published in our account of the debate. Mr. Marcy was inclined to be facetious at the outset, and spoke of guns being fired in Portsmouth and a meeting held to prevent the democrats carrying it off. Funny idea, wasn't it—but Daniel must have his little joke!

How refreshing to the members of the legislature, sweltering in their seats at the Capitol, to listen as Daniel went on: "I was born in it, (Portsmouth,) and, Mr. Speaker, I love it, and love it more and more every day." Touching tribute of affection and appreciation! And then how kind of him to inform those countrymen of the legislature that the "whole world I have travelled o'er." He endeavored to sneer at Messrs. Peirce, Pender and "Whitehouse" because they held positions under government, as if inclined to think their opinions and statements not worthy of consideration, as they had never been elected to Congress by bribed votes and did not belong to the accidental majority in the present legislature.

Referring to the check-lists, Daniel showed his verdancy by expressing his opinion that there were some non-residents on them, all republicans and not one democrat; which only goes to show that he isn't as well posted as he might be. We venture to say that if there are any non-residents on the check-lists in this city, nine-tenths of them are on the check-list of Ward Three, which has been in the hands of Mr. Marcy's confreres for seventeen of the past nineteen years! Of the voters who have not paid poll taxes for the past decade in this city a large majority voted the democratic ticket, and several of the democrats appointed to conduct the election in the proposed new wards have not paid a poll tax for twelve years, and none of them are seventy years of age.

Why didn't the ex-Congressman tell the whole truth in the matter when he stated that he did not think Portsmouth entitled to more than nine representatives? Why not admit that the assessors do not do their whole duty? The evil of all others not brought to light by Mr. Marcy is that the assessors of taxes do not canvass the city for poll taxes, but sit quietly in their cosy chairs, evening after evening, assessing taxes. The politician, desiring to know his own and his opponents' strength, goes from house to house and thoroughly canvasses his ward. By so doing he learns the politics of nearly every voter, and acts accordingly. The republicans of Portsmouth made very accurate canvasses. Their opponents, too indolent to do the same thing, know only their own voters. The same is true of the entire State. The republicans canvass the State and find 37,000 democratic voters and 2000 more republicans. Straightway the democratic leaders say that if they have 37,000 voters they have a majority. They would not suspect that they had 37,000 in their ranks were they not told so by republican canvasses. Mr. Marcy knows no more about the check-lists than he does of the canvassing. Some person told him that things were as he chose to state them, and he adopted the ideas and made them his own. It is safe to say that his informant was a democrat.

The statement in Mr. Marcy's speech that the check-lists of the first and second wards are not revised in open meeting is as untrue as it is absurd. In direct accord with the law, the selectmen have always given notice that they will hold meetings in the ward-rooms twice before election. These meetings are public, and there is ample time to strike off and add all the names that should be stricken from or added to the check-lists. The same time has been allowed by the republican selectmen of the first and second wards as is allowed by the democratic selectmen of the third. Why Mr. Marcy should deliberately make false statements, even though told to do so by some one else, is beyond our ken.

In the course of his remarks, he stated that it was his opinion that the republicans would elect the Mayor and "the wards would be divided," thus acknowledging that the republicans have a majority in the city; yet the bill Mr. Marcy advocated gives the democrats control of every check-list!

We would like to inquire of Capt. Marcy who the republican Mayor was who was elected without a dissenting vote. No one in Portsmouth knows. And were Mr. Simes to accept the republican nomination, which has been urged upon him nearly every year for the past ten, would the innocent and confiding member of the legislature from the third ward vote for him? True it is that Mr. Marcy's vote elected Mr. Marvin, and under Mr. Marvin's Mayorship the city debt was virtually increased $800,000 for the sake of Marcy, Jones & Co.'s Portsmouth & Dover Railroad.

And now we come to the point where the Captain introduces our worthy Ex-Mayor, William Simes. He says while Mr. Simes was Mayor "67,000 was appropriated and we saved $7000. Has he ever been nominated since? No, sir. Why can't he get the nomination? Because he had an independent course for himself; and the action of our present Mayor is such as to show that he will not be led, if others are." Very complimentary to Ex-Mayor Simes and Mayor Miller, two staunch opponents of the charter amendments. But what does Daniel mean by his figures? Did he intend to say that the expenses of the city were $67,000 per annum under Mayor Simes and that the debt was reduced $7000? Does he wish to be understood that Mr. Simes has been denied a re-election? If, so how treacherous a memory is our legislator from the third ward possessed of. The records say that the city debt when Mr. Simes took the office of Mayor was $73,893.56. The debt was reduced just $420 that year—1861. The actual expenses during the year were $62,004.51. According to Marcy Mr. Simes has not been nominated since. Our files show that Mr. Simes received his first election at republican hands Nov. 27, 1860, receiving 642 votes. Peter Jenness had 508. Again our files of the following year show that Nov. 26, 1861, Mr. Simes was again elected as the rebublican candidate, receiving 591 votes. John R. Reding had 381, and Jeremiah Johnson 34. This directly contradicts Mr. Marcy's statements. During Mr. Simes second year in office the city debt was increased $57,855.15. Now how was that $7000 saved? The city expenses in 1870 were $56,930.37; in 1861 $62,004.51; in 1862, $119,191.42. The city debt in 1860 was $73,893.56; in 1861, $73, 473.56; in 1862, $131,328.71. The cause of the increase in expenses and the corresponding increase of debt was the rebellion which Mr. Marcy's democratic allies at the South were engaged in. Mr. Simes was an economical Mayor and left the office with no taint or suspicion of unfulfilled duty. He declined a re-election in 1862, sending a letter to that effect to the republican caucus. Since then he has been urgently besought to again take the nomination, but year after year has positively declined to allow the use of his name. We hope, however, that when the necessities of the republican party demand a sacrifice at his hands, he will no longer refuse to lead its hosts to victory. The motives Mr. Marcy could have in making such statements before the legislature as we have quoted, can well be imagined by those who have observed his actions on election day when he has been a candidate for office. He seems to have been very wild in other and less important assertions. If any person can understand what he meant by saying that a pilotage law has been passed "providing that no man shall come in there (Portsmouth) that has not a vessel of 150 tons," we will reward that person; and if Mr. Marcy will inform a suffering public what connection there was between the bill he was attempting to discuss and pilotage business, he will confer a great favor on an ever-patient community.

It was well he acknowledged receiving navy yard favors—favors that would have cost him hundreds of dollars outside the yard, but really cost him nothing; but had it been a republican who received these favors how Daniel would have howled in his indignation! The officers of the navy yard must feel very much relieved now to learn that after the favors he has received at their hands he has no ill-feeling against them! Noble, generous hearted, magnanimous Daniel! And the workmen he is anxious to secure (about election time) for a democratic ward, must be especially pleased at his growl over the fact that when they can obtain better wages at the navy yard they will not hesitate to leave his employment. This tallies so exactly with his statement made a few days ago to a prominent republican in Concord that when we get a democratic Congress there'll be no more appropriation for this navy yard, that we congratulate working men not possessed of oblique political vision that in the plainest of plain speech Mr. Marcy desires it understood that a democrat should be sent to Congress from this district, who shall oppose appropriations for navy yard work. If successful, poor working men will have nothing to do but to wander about the streets idly or to go to work for Daniel Marcy if he finds it convenient to build ships and profit by their reduced pay. If Mr. Marcy thinks he is to increase democratic enthusiasm in Portsmouth by such an argument, he makes what he usually does when he "stops thinking" and speaks his mind, a great mistake.

Laconics.

The selectmen of Newcastle and Rye have awarded the contract for building the bridge between the two towns, across Little Harbor, to Mr. Joseph R. Holmes of this city, whose bid was $6325.

On Sunday a Shaker meeting will be held at 10:30, A. M., in Beck's grove, Sagamore road, and in Mechanics' Hall at 8 P. M., by members of the Canterbury society.

The Times says "the democratic party has got rid of the incubus of corrupt men that clung to it as long as there was any chance to enrich themselves at the expense of the country." So glad!

The long absence of shows from our city has been the subject of general remark; at last, however, it seems that the people are to have an opportunity for an evening's entertainment and amusement, to be given by Washburn's Last Sensation, which is to appear at the Temple Monday evening. This company is already well known here, but now appears with increased attractions, having over forty first class artists and a troupe of Warm Spring Indians. The entertainment promises to be a good one and it is probable that a generous patronage will be extended to it.

At a meeting of the Governor and Council on the 1st, Charles H. Chase, William H. Sise and Nathan F. Mathes were removed from the office of pilotage commissioners of Portsmouth harbor, and Ebenezer G. Adams, J. Gilman Moses and Richard Walden were appointed in their places.

The fine ship Ericsson, belonging to Messrs. Howes & Crowell of Boston, and commanded by Capt. J. Touro Marcy of this city, arrived at Liverpool, June 3d, from San Francisco, and discharged 2000 tons of wheat, took on board a cargo of coal and sailed on the 24th on her return to California, the day of her sailing being just 124 days after her departure from the golden State. If she has good luck on her outward passage she will complete the round voyage in eight months.

Col. John H. Jackson of this city, who has held the position of weigher in the Boston custom house for many years, has been promoted to foreman of weighers, a very responsible position.

Boatswain Joseph McDonald, U. S. N., has reported for duty at this naval station.

The Portsmouth correspondent of the Dover Democrat understands that the democratic slate proposes Capt. Marcy for Mayor, (how he is to be elected no one knows;) John R. Reding or Gideon H. Rundlett, city clerk; Frank W. Rand, city messenger; Israel Marden, city marshal; George S. Leach, assistant marshal; Wm. B. Grogan, chief engineer; and John Marden, city treasurer.

The certificates of stock of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad will soon be issued, the interest being guaranteed by the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire, and it is said the interest to July 1st will be immediately paid.

Ex-Conductors Philbrook and Sawyer are thinking of running a Portsmouth and Boston express line.

Certificates of prize money are being issued by the Treasury Department for the capture of New Orleans.

Schooner Hattie N. Bangs, Capt. Bangs, of Provincetown, Mass., arrived at this port on Thursday with 912 tons of coal on board—probably the largest cargo of coal ever brought here in a sailing vessel.

The funeral of the late Miss Sarah C. Cutts takes place from the Kittery Point church this forenoon at 11 o'clock. She was about 80 years old at the time of her death, and widely known for her harmless eccentricities.

Fourteen schooners and one sloop arrived at this port between daylight and 4 o'clock P. M., Thursday.

The bells will be rung at sunrise, noon and sunset to-morrow. The Naval Band will give a concert in the evening on Market Square. There will be a trot at the Park in the afternoon at two o'clock.

A heavy thunder shower passed over this city, Thursday evening.

Mr. Joseph Hiller Foster, who has been connected with the Unitarian Sunday school as pupil, teacher and superintendent for 43 years, has resigned his situation as superintendent. The past and present teachers improved the opportunity to present him, as a slight acknowledgment of their appreciation of his untiring services for so many years, with a beautiful marble mantel clock ornamented with a bronze figure of Sappho.

H. S. Vanderbilt, Esq., has resigned the position of Appointment Clerk in the Treasury department.

Mr. John H. Moses, son of J. Woodman Moses, Esq., Chelsea and Everett expressman, had three ribs broken recently by the fall of a heavy table which he was hoisting to an upper story of a store. He was taken to his home in Everett, the surgeon in attendance pronouncing his injuries from the depression of the broken ribs quite severe, though not necessarily fatal.

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs
No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE ELIOT ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.

20 State Street, Boston.

Messrs. Isaac Cook & Co.

Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of Ale Wort, for you, and have seen the peculiar working of McCormick's purifying process.

The small proportion of decomposing matter (the germs of acetification and mould) which exist in wort as it comes from the malt and hops, and which is just visible, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the impurities, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. Respectfully,

THE fine country residence and farm formerly occupied by Rev. John F. Adams,—buildings in thorough repair, land well divided into mowing and tillage; fine fruit orchard, etc., well known for the large quantity of plendid strawberries produced. The house has an evergreen hedge around it and the buildings are in thorough repair. There is a full orchard of 300 apple trees, 20 cherry trees and as many pear trees—and a nursery with 1300 young apple trees. From the grape vines on the place fifteen bushels of grapes have been sold in a season, besides abundance retained for home use. Part of the land heavily wooded and there is a great quantity of muck on the estate. In the pasture there is a never-failing spring. The farm is situated midway between depots of Eastern and Concord railroads. For sale at a bargain, if enquired for immediately,—of O. G. CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other is existence.

Are better because they give a finer glossy than any other polish.

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used.

Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish.

In each box are 1 stick; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove thus all waste is saved

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 20 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Bluing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA. DEBILITY. DROPSY AND HUMORS.

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an almost as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. Increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills" simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for diseases to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

Be sure that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN

HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus beauty, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons.

The Largest Stock,

The Latest Styles,

The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that we are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

Daily Chronicle.

Presidential Senators.

[Stillman B. Allen, in Boston Globe.]

A proposition to elect the present President for a third term has been made by some of his friends. General Grant has not expressed a desire for another nomination, but if convinced that the people desired his re-election his consent may be assumed. Our whole form of Government, not yet a hundred years old, is, to some extent, an experiment, and grave questions are constantly arising. That of a third, or even of a second term, is an important one. It is not alone whether the administration of the present incumbent shall be prolonged, but whether a precedent shall be made for others to follow, or try to follow in years to come.

It is argued by the friends of the measure that there is nothing in the law or Constitution to prevent such action; that the experience gained by eight years' service and the knowledge of the wants and capacity of the nation and of its prominent men would make the President a more valuable officer for the last term than for either of the others, and that, if a majority of the people prefer to retain him, neither he nor the minority ought to object. On the other hand, it is claimed that prolonging the term of the executive has been the precursor to the ruin of other republics, and that, although there is nothing in the Constitution directly prohibiting such an election, there has been from the days of Washington until now, a general understanding, a kind of lex non scripta, that no President shall serve more than eight years, and if, for the reasons given, another term should be added, the same argument would be yet stronger for a fourth and fifth election, and even a continuance for life. From this to a monarchy, the step is short.

Without doubt, if a man could be found who was perfect in knowledge, in patriotism and in discretion this might be well; but, unfortunately, Presidents are but men and those who would strive most earnestly and with the greatest possibility of success for the office might not be the best men to hold it. And then it is not easy to ascertain the real choice and wish of the people. There are many thousands of salaried officials, a large number of whom receive fortunes from the perquisites of their offices. They are appointed directly or indirectly by the executive, and his re-election would increase the chances of their own continuance in place. They and their subordinates can afford to attend primary meetings and to bring in enough dependents and friends to control them and elect delegates. Although the "outs" are more numerous, the "ins" are better supplied with money and better organized, and for a number of years State and national conventions have been largely influenced by them.

The average American citizen is too busy about his own personal affairs to take much trouble concerning public matters, and though, during the excitement of a political contest, he may attend public meetings and manifest some interest in the election of the regular standard-bearer of his party, he shows but little in nominating the right man for the place. But even the second term is not without its dangers. The history of the last twenty years shows that, with the possible exception of Mr. Lincoln, every President, as soon as inaugurated, has seemed to be possessed with the idea that the country needed his services another term, and at once commenced laying plans for a re-election; and his usefulness has been greatly hindered by his efforts in that direction. It is said that Buchanan never appointed an officer of high or low degree without first calculating how it would probably affect his chance for another nomination, and better men than he have appointed men to responsible positions with the same object in view.

The inquiry arises, Is there no way in which the country can avail itself of all the best qualities of mind and heart of its executive without the faults and weaknesses which so seriously mar his usefulness? We read in history that 2500 years ago the Archons or rulers of Athens, at the expiration of their year of office, became members of the Senate, and a suggestion is made that our Constitution should be so amended that no President should ever be reelected—the term could be increased to six years or remain at four—and that, at the expiration of his term, the retiring President should become a member of the Senate for life, subject to impeachment, of course, like all other officers. As he would represent no particular State, his title might be Presidential Senator and his compensation, rights and powers like those of all other members of that body.

If it be said that electing officers for life is not in accordance with our democratic Government, we answer that the Judges of our Supreme Court and many State courts are appointed for life or during good behavior, which practically amounts to the same thing, without objection; so are nearly all the officers of the army and navy, and no danger is feared from such appointments. The Senators are the Constitutional advisers of the President, this change would give to each executive the full benefit of all the knowledge add experience of his living predecessors, and would be a safeguard against many of the evils and dangers which threaten each administration and aid in selecting good men for office.

Under our laws, much is left to the judgment and discretion of United States attorneys, marshals, collectors, assessors and other officers, who must often decide and act summarily, and upon their good judgment and wisdom the integrity of the law and the interests of the State and of business men depend. Lord Camden once said: "Judicial discretion is the law of tyrants. It is always unknown; it is different in different men; it is carnal, and depends upon constitution, temper and passion; in the best, it is oftentimes caprice; in the worst, it is every vice, folly and passion to which human nature is liable." If this discretion is so dangerous in judges, what must it be in executive officers, appointed because of political services, comparatively inexperienced and subjected to temptations unknown to most judges? And how valuable, in making and confirming appointments, must be the counsel of those who have been in a position to know most public men, and have borne the responsibility of the acts of others holding the same offices.

Presidents would, then, from the day of their election, feel a sense of high responsibility to their country. Thenceforth, to be before the eyes of the world for life, never need the votes of men again, they would be independent and conservative in action; and, representing no State or section, but the nation at large, they would, as Presidents and as legislators, be uninfluenced by local or partizan prejudice, and safe advisers in all matters concerning which the interests of different States were at variance with each other. In a body now consisting of more than seventy members, the number of Presidential Senators could scarcely be so large as to disturb the relative power of political parties. If that branch of Congress were ever so evenly divided that two or three Presidential Senators would hold the balance of power, with a probability that their former political leaning and associations would offset each other, would it not be safe and well for the decision to rest in such hands?

Washington would have been a good Senator until his death, and the feud between Adams and Jefferson would have been sooner healed had the latter entered Congress. Both Adams and Jefferson, with the responsibility of life-Senators upon them, would have forgotten their dislikes and made the hands of Madison stronger during the trials of the war of 1812; and, a few years later, they, with Madison, would have had weight in the Congress which formed the Missouri Compromise. The change from republican simplicity to the support of the National Bank and State banks, the large appropriations for public works and improvements, and the high tariff imposed under John Quincy Adams might all have been modified had the counsels of his four predecessors been listened to in the Senate; and the sweeping removals from office, the preference for State banks to the National, and other measures of the rough, honest but despotic Jackson might have been softened and a hostile Senate appeased, could it have numbered among its members the ex-Presidents. Prudent and careful Van Buren would have had the counsel of John Quincy Adams during the financial crisis of 1837, when all the boasting State banks suspended, and would himself have been a wise counsellor of the five following Presidents.

During the administrations of Pierce and Buchanan, might not the voice and influence of cautious Van Buren, selfish Tyler and conservative Fillmore have prevented some of the legislation which has since borne such bitter fruit? Mr. Fillmore would have been an honor to the present Senate, and in these days of salary grabs, Credit Mobilier and moieties, the inflexible personal honesty of Andrew Johnson would be of worth; and the recent action of the silent general gives promise that in years to come he would be a wise legislator and a safe and prudent counsellor. Let it be known that Presidents cannot be re-elected, but after their retirement must represent the whole country in the Senate for life, and no more James K. Polks and Franklin Pierces will be nominated. Another and higher motive than mere availability will animate the conventions of all political parties and greater care be taken in the selection of candidates. A deeper responsibility will rest upon the new executive, and from the day of his election all his hopes and efforts and life will be devoted to the good of his country.

Daily Chronicle.

SATURDAY, JULY 4, 1874.

The Legislature.

On Thursday, the House postponed to the next session a bill regulating railroad fares.

The bill to abolish the Board of Agriculture was indefinitely postponed.

The address for the removal of Sheriff James W. Odlin of Rockingham county was adopted, 164 to 148.

An appropriation of $5000 for repairs of Normal School at Plymouth was passed.

After debating the bill to reorganize the judiciary, the daily pay of referees was fixed at $6.

On the question of the passage of the bill to unite the Nashua & Lowell and the Boston & Lowell Railroads there were 139 yeas and 149 nays.

The bill to gerrymander Dover passed, 158 to 136. The unrepublican character of the bill was so obviously flagrant that the committee on towns and parishes were startled into a halt, and agreed to accept an amendment that removed one of the worst features of the bill. When the bill reached the House however, an effort was made to break the agreement, but it failed.

In the evening the committee on railroads reported bills incorporating one from Conway westward up the Swift River valley to Waterville; also the Pemigewasset Valley Railroad from Plymouth to Franconia Notch, which was ordered to a third reading.

A bill to prevent a monopoly of offices in railroad corporations was indefinitely postponed.

Reports were received from the committees on State reform school and the National Savings Bank at Concord. The latter reports that payment in said bank will soon be resumed in full, and that the losses from the late defalcation of the treasurer, W. W. Storrs, have been made up within $15,000. The majority think that no further legislation is required. One of the committee made a minority report, recommending a committee of three, to be appointed by the speaker, to investigate the affairs of the National Savings Bank, and sit during the recess of the legislature.

It was moved to substitute the minority report for the majority. This motion was offered by Messrs. Jenks of Concord and Lyman of Exeter, who was one of the commissioners and examined the affairs of the bank, and supported by Mr. Sanborn. After a warm debate the minority resolution to investigate was agreed to.

The bill restraining the sale and use of intoxicating liquors, known as the license bill, was taken up at 10:30 o'clock. The previous question was moved by Mr. Hayes of Dover, and the yeas and nays being called, the motion was lost—yeas 120, nays 122. Mr. Weeks of Winchester proposed an amendment submitting the bill to a vote of the people, but before the question was taken the House adjourned, at 10 minutes before eleven o'clock.

The legislature did not adjourn sine die Friday, but did adjourn until Monday, much to Bingham's chagrin. The license bill was called up Friday morning by Sinclair. Mr. Weeks of Winchester, democrat, offered an amendment submittiug the bill to the people. This was voted down. Mr. Briggs, republican, made a telling speech against the bill. Sinclair spoke briefly and a motion to indefinitely postpone was pending at the time of adjournment. There is disaffection among the democrats on this bill, and the adjournment till Monday was a rebuke to Bingham, the motion being made by Mr. Kent.

The Tuinan Murder.

Miss Clara Fletcher, a young woman occupying a room in the rear of that occupied by Miss Tuinan says that at about eleven o'clock, Tuesday night, the door bell rang; she answered the call, and there found a young man whom she did not recognize. He desired in a rather emphatic manner to be admitted to Miss Tuinan's room. The door was locked, and the occupant appeared to be asleep—at least no answer was made to the repeated summons, and the attempt to enter was abandoned. As the man turned away from the door he said, with a fearful oath, "I will get in," and with these words he went outside. Afterward Miss Fletcher thought she heard him climbing into the south front window, and in fact had no doubt at the time that he did climb in there. Nine blows were struck, five of which caused punctures of the skull.

Let Us Have the Facts.

Under the above heading the Morning Star says: "Is the Beecher-Tilton scandal never to cease its disgusting parade? How many lives has it? Just as we think it utterly dead, it arises again, and in no more welcome shape than when it last disappeared. This time Mr. Tilton published in the Golden Age a long letter addressed to Rev. Dr. Bacon, moderator of the late Congregational council at Brooklyn, in which he charges his former pastor with having committed a personal offence toward himself of a grave character, substantiating the same by what purports to be correspondence between himself and Mr. Beecher in relation to the matter. It is time that the world knew the truth of this matter. Is Mr. Beecher a hypocrite? If so, let us know it, and act accordingly. Is Mr. Tilton a liar? If so, in decency's name let us know that. To the Court-room at once!"

The Brooklyn Eagle publishes a letter from F. B. Carpenter, saying that his interview with Mr. Beecher took place on the 19th of April. The matter of an increase in the capital of the Golden Age and Mr. Tilton's going to Europe were not the occasion of the interview, but were incidents thereof. Mr. Beecher did not couple the statement. "If Mr. Tilton would go to Europe, the means would be provided," at that time with any conditions, but he requested me before taking any steps in that matter to see H. M. Cleveland. I saw Mr. Cleveland the following Thursday and told him what Mr. Beecher had said. He made an appointment to see me next day at his office in New York. I went to see Mr. Cleveland next day, and he told me that the money could be had only on condition that Mr. Tilton would go to Europe with his family and bind himself to stay two years. He said that Mr. Tilton must also make a public disavowal of sympathy with Mrs. Woodhull's views. I instantly declined all further negotiations on the subject.

The Golden Age in an editorial on the Tilton-Beecher scandal, says: "Tilton's letter to Bacon met with quite as favorable a reception as he or his friends could reasonably expect. It did not raise an unpleasant controversy from the grave in which it had been buried, for its controversy had not died, and never was more truly alive than when the letter was penned. The letter stands on its own merits and tells its own tale. Tilton intentionally avoided bringing any specific charge against Beecher, and only alluded to his offence in the most indefinite possible terms, because it was absolutely necessary for him to do so in self-vindication. The aspersions from Dr. Bacon's pen are of too serious a character to be borne silently or passed by. Tilton's character and standing were involved. One sentence from Beecher would have drawn the poisoned arrow and healed the smart. Tilton called Beecher's attention to the offensive statements, and, in the presence of two witnesses, told him that, unless he corrected the misrepresentations, it would be necessary for him, Tilton, to correct them in his own way, which would be severe. Weeks passed, and no correction was made. Longer silence on Tilton's part was impossible. Tilton's letter was not printed till it had been submitted to Dr. Bacon, who failed to suggest any other method of righting the wrong, although asked to do so."

The article denies that Tilton meant to strike Beecher a fatal blow. It say: "His sole purpose was to save himself and vindicate himself. If Beecher wishes to exculpate himself, and if Plymouth Church wishes to vindicate the character of its pastor, its way is open, and the world will await the issue with anxious solicitude. If Beecher is smitten, he has only himself and friends to blame for the blow, but the essential point in the controversy remains untouched. With the scandal itself, we have nothing to do. That is a matter for Plymouth Church and its pastor to deal with. If there is a skeleton in their closet, they will probably hasten to open the door. There are circumstances when silence is suicide. One thing in this matter is so conspicuous and grand that it deserves notice. We refer to the toleration, sympathy and solicitude of the American people for the great and useful man under a cloud of suspicions, thick and heavy enough to crush an ordinary character beyond recovery. Had this thing happened, twenty-five years ago, Beecher would have been dragged before an ecclesiastical tribunal for trial in less then a month after the accusations, and had he tried to preach before the trial he might have been mobbed. To-day, there is scarcely a man or woman in America but hopes he is innocent of any wrong and tries to believe him so, spite of circumstantial evidence, confirmed by his own course. If they condemn at all, it will be for efforts to conceal and avoid what should have been frankly acknowledged to his own people at least. This is the terrible injustice of weighing a whole life of unequalled serviceableness against a momentary infatuation, and throwing thirty-five years of consecrated efforts for highest ends utterly away for what may be done in a fit of frenzy."

The article concludes by declaring that all that Tilton asks is justice. He has been guilty of nothing but too great confidence in unworthy people and mistakes of judgment that were prompted by an impulsive temperament and warm, kind heart.

Congressmen are greatly surprised to ascertain the effect of one of their reductions of force and appropriations. The twenty quartermasters' clerks who have been engaged in examining the claims for forage and kindred property taken from Union men during the war in the border States, were legislated out. Their work covered claims in Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and Missouri. By another part of the law all unexpended balances made two years ago were turned into the treasury yesterday. So Congressmen on applying find that no claims can be raised and none pending can be paid. There is considerable commotion in consequence among the border State members.

The New York jury in the case of Gill, tried for murdering Sullivan, were unable to agree, when Recorder Hackett rebuked them severely, saying it was the clearest case of premeditated murder he ever knew. Finally the district attorney accepted a plea of murder in the second degree, and the recorder sentenced Gill to prison for life. This was the case where Gill deliberately shot Sullivan dead in a saloon, after having worked with him during the morning.

Superintendent A. A. Folsom, of Boston, was called upon the other day by a rugged looking Irish woman, who demanded a free pass. On being asked what claim she had for such a favor, she replied that she "washed Mike Riley's shirts." Mike is a switchman on the Boston and Providence road.

Self Defence.

To a criminal neglect of preventive medication may be ascribed a majority of the ailments which affect humanity. It is a well ascertained fact, resting on the experience of twenty years, that a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will put even a naturally feeble system in such a state of defence that it will be competent to resist the most prevalent causes of disease, such as the malign influence of miasma, unwholesome water, excessive heat, damp, cold, sudden changes of temperature, &c. Yet there are thousands of persons living in perpetual peril from one or more of these causes, who recklessly omit to avail themselves of the absolute protection which this famous vegetable antidote affords. Intermittent and bilious remittent fevers, rheumatism, general debility, nervous weakness, and irregularities of the stomach, bowels and liver, would be comparatively unknown if this palatable specific were in universal use in the districts where they principally prevail.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1874.

An Army Medical Board will meet at New York City, and a similar board at San Francisco, on the 4th of August next, for the examination of candidates for admission into the medical Staff of the U. S. Army.

Applications for permission to appear before these Boards should be addressed to the Secretary of War, through the Surgeon General, U. S. Army.

The application must be in the hand-writing of the candidate, and must state the full name, residence, age, and date and place of birth. Candidates must be between 21 and 28 years of age, and graduates of a Medical College having a thorough and complete course of medical instruction—evidence of which must be submitted to the Board.

Testimonials as to character and qualifications must be furnished.

If the applicant has been in the medical service of the army the fact should be stated, and in such case the limit of age may be extended, subject to the decision of the Secretary of War in each special case.

No allowance is made for travel or other expenses of persons undergoing examination, as it is an indispensible prerequisite to appointment.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall carry them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No owner of neat cattle or stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

Local Matters.

The Glorious Fourth.

To-day being Independence Day our compositors will duly celebrate the same, and consequently we shall issue no CHRONICLE on Monday; and as our editorial associate and the financial manager of the establishment both start on Monday morning to make the printers' grand tour, the CHRONICLE's patrons need not look with too much confidence for any paper at all during the whole week, though we promise to do our level best in the premises. P.

There will be a Union prayer meeting at sunrise in the Pearl street vestry; the bells of the city will be rung at sunrise, noon and sunset; a horse-trot will come off at the Park in the afternoon; and the Marine Band will give an open air concert on Market Square in the evening. An exhibition of the working of the Eagle mowing machine will commence at 10 o'clock, A. M., at the Hayes farm at the Plains, and will doubtless attract many farmers. Boys will fire the usual quantity of crackers and pistols during the day and evening. Further than this the celebration of the day will not be of a public nature.

The 1873 Re-Union committee has a meeting adjourned from last year, at the Common Council room this morning at eleven o'clock.

The Methodists have a picnic at Spruce Creek, Kittery, to-day. The Universalists have a picnic and strawberry festival at Traipp's grove.

Washburn's Last Sensation

Appears at the Temple on Monday evening, the 6th. The company is a large one and gives a good entertainment, as those who attended the last show given by the troupe in this city will testify. The Warm Spring Indians are without doubt what they are represented to be, the gymnastic performances are the best given by any travelling company, and the musical part of the entertainment is fine. There is fun in the show, but nothing indelicate or improper in act or allusion. See Advertisement.

City Council.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, Joseph P. Morse was appointed constable without pay.

Petition of Joseph H. Foster for gravel sidewalk on eastern side of Miller avenue, between Middle street and Lincoln avenue, was granted.

E. H. Balch's order in favor of Woodbury Locke was accepted, to be paid when due.

Jonathan Dearborn was appointed health officer.

Joint resolution repealing the ordinance defining duties of harbor master was read a second time, and passed.

Alderman Garrett, for the committee on claims, reported on C. W. Shannon's bill for witness fees, recommending that the bill be brought to the notice of the County Commissioners. Report accepted and recommendation adopted.

Committee on fire department were granted further time on subject of lot for engine house.

Voted, That surveyor of District No., 1 be directed to put Gravelly Ridge road in proper order.

Voted, That the attention of health officers be called to the Creek nuisance.

The committee on streets, to whom was referred the subject of widening Woodbury street, at land of Daniel J. Ayers and heirs Amos Twombly, reported in favor of the widening. Accepted.

Voted, That the committee on streets be authorized to widen the highway at said point, when the land can be obtained without claim for land damages.

Voted, That the Mayor be requested to consult with the Eastern and Concord railroads and see what arrangements can be made to protect the public at street crossings.

The Portsmouth Grangers have been visiting their Stratham brethren and were finely received at the residence of Abednego Robinson, Esq.

Col. Eastman received a telegram Friday, announcing that the Faraday had been heard from and was safe. A telegram from London countermanding the order to send the Ambassador in search of the Faraday was received a few minutes too late, the messenger arriving at Newcastle a short time after the Ambassador's departure. The Faraday left Torbay June 30th for this port.

Henry Grinnell, Esq., the old head of the firm of Grinnell, Minturn & Co., of New York, and who fitted out the expedition in search of Sir John Franklin, died in New York June 30, aged 75 years. Mr. Grinnell was well known to many of the older residents of this city, having often visited this place and made lengthened stays here years ago. The late George Raynes built several clipper ships for Mr. Grinnell's firm, who were among the earliest to adopt the clipper model for their vessels, and entertained the highest opinion of New Hampshire oak as a material for shipbuilding and of Piscataqua ship-builders as able and faithful mechanics.

Dr. Dehms has been promoted, the Times speaking of him as "Dr. Dehims, surgeon of the Faraday." His position when he arrived here was that of Consulting Electrician of the Direct United States Cable Company,—about the most important post to have ably filled in the whole concern. The doctor's fame as the first electrician and one of the first scientists of Germany and the world is thoroughly established, but we question if he knows enough about surgery to set the leg of a chair.

Dr. A. P. Stevens being in ill health is meditating a trip to the Sandwich Islands, where his host of personal friends wish him the utmost success.

Trying to "Sell" a Washoe Coroner.

[Virginia Enterprise.]

Yesterday afternoon an excited individual, with his hat standing on two hairs and his eyes projecting from his head like the horns of a snail, rushed into the office of Coroner Holmes. The Coroner is by profession a dentist, and his first thought, as he glanced at the man, was that he was well-nigh distracted with toothache. He was soon undeceived, however, as the frenzied individual cried out, as soon as he could catch his breath after running up the stairs, "Been a man murdered!"

"A man murdered?" cried the Coroner; "how? where?"

"In a garding, I believe; with a club or a rock."

"How long ago?" cried the Coroner, seizing his hat and cane.

"Been done a good while, and no police nor constables has never done nothin' about it. Never been no Coroner set on the body, nor nothin' of the kind; no verdict—"

"What's the dead man's name? Who was he?" cried the Coroner.

"His name was Abel."

"Abel! Abel who?"

"Don't know. Never heard nothin' but his first name."

"Well, what is the name of the man who killed him? Do they know? Any one suspected?"

"Well, I've heard that a fellow named Cain put out his light. Cain was the brother of Abel, and—"

Coroner smells a mice, and, flourishing his cane, cries: "You git down them stairs, my fine fellow. Git, and don't you show yourself here again!" With a loud guffaw the fellow went down the stairs three steps at a time, the Doctor calling out after him: "How dare you trifle with an officer in this way sir?"

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART,"

Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of Ale Wort, for you, and have seen the practical working of McCormick's purifying process.

The small proportion of decomposing matter (the germs of acetification and mould) which exist in wort as it comes from the malt and hops, and which is not visible, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the impurities, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. By Uncle Joseph.

From the settlement of the country to the year 1727 there had been three considerable earthquakes. For more than one hundred years past there has been none so great as these. The last of the three was in 1670; then fifty-seven years passed, and then there was one the like of which had not been known in our land, and with one exception (to be mentioned hereafter) nothing has been like it since.

It was October 29, 1727, in the evening, at a little later than half-past ten o'clock. The evening was clear and remarkably still. Quite a portion of the people had retired and many had fallen asleep. Just as the earthquake began, perhaps a few seconds before, flashes of electrical light seemed to pass the windows of dwellings and illuminate the skies. Some who not long after gave an account of what was witnessed, believed these flashes broke out of the earth. The shake was very hard and lasted a minute and a half, but seemed much longer; the noise was terrible, and resembled thunder. The alarm was great; brutes as well as men were in consternation; cattle ran about, roaring as if in distress; dogs barked or howled; the people were afraid, some turned pale and some, aroused from sleep, flew out of doors to learn if possible what was meant.

The effect in different localities cannot be described in full. In Boston, Haverhill and other places in Massachusetts, dwellings were shaken and the tops of chimneys thrown off; at Newburyport the ground so heaved as to open in five or six places, mud and water being thrown out; along the shore of the ocean the bottom of the water seemed to heave, and the waves rose so high that some persons near feared they should be taken into the sea by them.

Rev. Nathaniel Gookin, of Hampton, in sermons preached and printed soon after, says three chimneys at the Hill, in Hampton Falls, had their tops broken off. The alarm of this earthquake was improved religiously; it was regarded as a warning for a better life, and ministers taught that it was the voice of the Lord from the deep places of the earth. In Boston a Fast was appointed, and churches were thronged; in Haverhill there was a Fast on two different days, and in three weeks one hundred and fifty persons were proposed for admission to the church; in Amesbury meetings were held several days, and business was mostly suspended; in Exeter forty persons united with the church in three weeks; and in Hampton, Rev. N. Gookin stated that penitence and reform took place in a number. These are specimens of its effect in many places, only a few of which we have mentioned.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence. Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used. Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish. In each box are 1 stick; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove thus all waste is saved.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 23 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Have just taken the 1st premium, at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you new boxes, and samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Blushing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

and all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the private name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY AND HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protoxide Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron, in the blood, and cures a thousand ills, simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot occasionally hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care. Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, fetching and dandruff, and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean. By its tonic properties, it restores its capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong. As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable. Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray, or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, and all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions disease of the scalp are impossible. As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

ANNOUNCE THEIR SPRING OPENING —OF— Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons. The Largest Stock, The Latest Styles, The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside-out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer: First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for living. We do much more business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business. Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers. Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know this alone is one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

Daily Chronicle.

Get Out.

A genuine mad-dog epidemic is now going the rounds,—not among the dogs but among the humans. Fabulous numbers of rabid canines are slain daily, according to the papers, and the crowds of men, women and children bitten and of course doomed to a terrible death are enough to appal the heart of an oak and fill the eyes of a potato with tears. One McCormick, who recently died of hydrophobia (so-called) in New York, has been taken all apart by men learned in the science of surgery and medicine, who have decided that hydrophobia is not blood poisoning but a lesion of the medulla oblongata or the nerve centres or something. (we are happy to inform our friends that no such horrible things exist in our anatomy,) caused by the punctures of a dog's teeth in another part of the body, and that a perfectly healthy dog may do the damage. As the researches of the learned (and they are learned) doctors goes to prove that the disease of hydrophobia, if it exists, is due to mechanical and not to chemical causes, we don't see why a splinter of wood in the finger may not induce it as well as a bite in the calf of the leg from a dog. It is pleasant to have this question finally settled. As the vicious little beast which bit McCormick is still alive and shows no signs of rabies, we must conclude that if the McCormick inquest has not shown that hydrophobia is really a disease among dogs, it has at least shown that panic is a fatal disease among human beings.

TUESDAY, JULY 7, 1874.

Death of Anson S. Marshall.

Anson S. Marshall, for many years prominent in democratic councils in this State, and highly esteemed by hundreds of his political opponents as well as friends, was fatally shot near Long Pond, Concord, at about 1 o'clock P. M. on the 4th, and died at about 1 o'clock Sunday morning.

Long Pond, three miles from Concord, is a resort for pleasure-seekers, and frequent excursions are made thither by families and societies to spend the day. On Saturday a chowder was to be served, and many parties had gone thither to enjoy a quiet day. Mr. Marshall, with his family, were at their dinner there, and just as he was standing opening a box of sardines, a ball suddenly struck him in the abdomen and he fell to the ground, exclaiming, "I am shot." It seems the City Guard, a military company recently organized in the city, were practising target shooting at a distance, and it is supposed that a ball from one of their guns struck him. Mr. Marshall, it is said, had cautioned them to be more careful, as so many different parties were in the woods. It is not known that any especial blame attaches to any one, though it is agreed that it was culpable for any one to be shooting in a place of such public resort.

Mr. Marshall was about fifty years old, a native of Lyme, and was a graduate of Dartmouth College, of the class of 1848. After graduation, he taught school in Fitchburg, Mass., and then read law in Concord, where he has practised and lived ever since. He was the senior partner of the well known firm of Marshall & Chase, and a leading member of the bar in New Hampshire. He has been long prominent in politics, was United States District Attorney under President Buchanan, and was several years a member of the democratic State Central Committee. He was also intimately connected with the railroad interests of the State; for some years he has been clerk of the Concord Railroad. Mr. Marshall leaves a wife and one child to mourn his loss, and a very large circle of friends who will share their sorrow. In him the bar has lost an able lawyer, Concord an honored citizen, and the family a good husband and father.

The Apothecaries' Bill.

On Thursday a bill to prevent incompetent persons from conducting the business of apothecaries and druggists came up. Mr. Kent offered an amendment by striking out the following italicised words in the sixth section:

Section 6. "All pharmacists that shall be registered according to the provisions of this act, are hereby authorized to keep and use spirituous liquors for compounding and dispensing medicines for physicians' prescriptions, and to sell spirituous liquors for medicinal purposes, on the prescription of a physician, and for chemical, mechanical and sacramental uses, and for no other purposes."

He stated that he especially objected to the latter claim; he thought that water was as near the blood of Christ as fermented wine; and that he was further opposed to a portion of the bill allowing druggists to sell indiscriminately upon physicians' prescriptions; certain restrictions should be placed on that portion of the section. The amendment was adopted.

Mr. Bailey of Hopkinton called attention to the remainder of this section. If it was to remain, it was likely to be very sickly in this State the coming summer. (Laughter.)

Mr. Briggs of Manchester moved to further amend section 6 by striking out the words, "and to sell spirituous liquors for medicinal purposes, on the prescription of a physician."

Messrs. Hildreth of Allenstown and Cummings of Fitzwilliam opposed the amendment, and Mr. Briggs spoke in favor of it.

On a division of the House, the amendment was lost by 116 yeas to 98 nays, no quorum voting.

Mr. Kent of Portsmouth moved that the bill lie on the table. Carried, on a division, 134 yeas to 120 nays.

Mr. Kent has prepared an amendment to the bill, in relation to physicians' prescriptions, and will at the proper time call up the bill and offer it; and if accepted it will probably be satisfactory to all concerned.

The deputy-collector of the Rockland, Me., district seized an illicit still near Windsor, on Thursday. He, with other officers, had been searching for the apparatus for a week, and on the day named succeeded in finding in the woods, near a pond, on the road from Cooper's Mills to Somerville, five gallons of New England rum, and nearly all the utensils for making the article. James Brown of Windsor, who is suspected of being the person at the head of the establishment, had hid the worm of the still in the woods, and that could not be found. The rum was seized. The still was of thirty gallons capacity, and had probably been in operation for some time. This is the second mill of the kind that has been seized in the district within a year.

A tremendous storm passed over Washington, New Jersey and part of Pennsylvania on the 4th. Near Lewiston, Pa., the railroad bridge spanning the Juniata River was blown down entirely. Several boys had taken refuge on the bridge. Two were killed, and an old man, and five others injured. A train of twenty-three empty freight cars was blown off the track a few miles west of Lewiston. In New Jersey much damage was done by hail-stones, some of which measured two and a half inches. In Washington large signs were blown down, the flag-staff of the National Hotel prostrated, trees destroyed and heavy plate glass shop-windows broken, and the steeple of the Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal church, at least one hundred feet high, much shattered, having been moved five feet from the perpendicular and left in a dangerous condition, which may require rebuilding. Many houses were unroofed, and four colored children somewhat injured. A Pennsylvania-avenue car was blown ten feet from the track and shutters ripped from dwellings innumerable. There was much anxiety for the river excursionists, about 3000 in number, but all returned safely. The dust for a time was terrific, followed by heavy rain.

Hon. Marshall Jewell, minister to Russia, has been appointed Postmaster General. He will arrive home about August 1st, and in the meanwhile the duties of the position will be performed by the First Assistant.

Lower Minnesota is over-run with grasshoppers, and there is great destitution among the inhabitants.

The verdict of the coroner's jury in the case of the Mill River disaster censures the legislature, county commissioners, mill-owners, contractors and engineers.

The trial of William E. Sturtevant, in Plymouth, Mass., for murder, closed with a verdict of murder in the first degree. He was tried for the murder of the two old men Sturtevant, his uncles, and their aged housekeeper, in Halifax, Mass., last spring.

Barnum's project to send a balloon across the Atlantic is beginning to take shape in an experimental way. His faith in an easterly current is not quite fixed and abiding, and so he has determined to test the matter thoroughly before building the large balloon which is to undertake the transatlantic journey. With this view a balloon of smaller dimensions has been built, and Mr. Donaldson has been entrusted with the guidance of the affair. The balloon was made at Syracuse, N. Y., is constructed of silk and will contain about 30,000 cubic feet of gas. It is the intention of Mr. Donaldson to make twelve experimental trips in this balloon, with the view of determining the question as to the existence of an easterly current, remaining up each time from twenty-four to forty-eight hours.

Boston got over the 4th pretty well. There were several alarms of fire, but no fires of any account; John Fitzgerald hit Peter Riley in the forehead with a brick, injuring him badly; several police officers were assaulted by roughs, and the roughs locked up; and a police officer named Bearse shot and probably fatally wounded a boy of seventeen years, named Dennie Connolly. The boy is said to bear an excellent character, to be very industrious, and the main support of his invalid mother and her six children.

Much dissatisfaction is expressed in New York over Mayor Havemeyer's reappointment to office of the convicted Police Commissioners, Charlick and Gardner.

A piano manufactory in Hudson, Mass., was burned on the 4th, one man being fatally injured by the flames while trying to save his tools. Loss $55,000 on building, on which there was $20,000 insurance. The workmen lost all their tools, on which there was no insurance.

Eight young men and as many young women were thrown into the waters of Lake Erie, Saturday evening, by the capsizing of a boat in which they were taking a sail. Two men and two women were drowned, the remaining twelve being rescued by a tug after holding on the boat an hour and a half.

At Alleghany City, Penn., on the 4th, a fire-cracker started a conflagration which destroyed a square and a half of buildings before it was stopped. Loss $300,000.

Three hundred convicts at Bissau, Senegambia, lately invaded the Portuguese territory and burned eighteen villages.

Gen. Howard is assigned to the command of the department of Columbia, with headquarters at Portland, Oregon.

A burglar entered the house of Hon. Wm. Chase, at Providence, R. I., on the night of the 4th, and attacked and badly hurt Mrs. Chase's brother, an old man. Mrs. Chase, 71 years old, was so frightened at the noise that she died immediately. The burglar escaped, leaving his hat and booty.

The New York World, commenting on the Beecher-Tilton scandal, delivers "a sockdologer straight from the shoulder," as follows: "It is the fashion of the average editor to speak of the average juryman as an ass. But we regret to be obliged to confess that the average juryman would shrink from convicting a notorious pick-pocket of the larceny of a paper of pins without better and plainer testimony to the larceny than has sufficed in too many instances to satisfy the average editor that the most eminent Christian clergyman in America has trampled under foot his own self-respect, the rights of another man and the most sacred commandments of the religion he professes."

A Keen Retort.

[Concord Monitor.]

That was a keen reply which Mr. Kent of Portsmouth made to Mr. Bailey of Hopkinton, during the evening session of Wednesday, when the latter with a self complacent air and consequential tone, remarked in regard to the appropriation for the State Normal School that he hoped that it might pass just to show the minority, whose measure it was, that the "oppressive majority" could, upon occasion, display a magnanimous disposition. Mr. Kent at once remarked that if, as appeared from the gentleman's remarks, the majority were ashamed of this bill, he would assure them the minority were quite willing to father it, and all other methods calculated to promote education. Applause followed this sally, and although Mr. Bailey arose in reply, he could only say that he should vote for the bill. His defeat was complete, and his chagrin apparent even to the rank and file of his own party.

Coggia's Comet.

The following is the material portion of Mr. Henry M. Parkhurst's statement of his observations of the approach of the comet:

Permit me again to congratulate Prof. Swift, upon the re-discovery of what now promises to be the most wonderful and instructive comet in the history of the world. Having ascertained that the nucleus of the comet was moving in satisfactory accordance with the orbit which I had computed, I proceeded on June 26th to compute the position and probable apparent magnitude of the tail, in order to learn whether it would be long enough to extend beyond the earth's orbit, so as to be visible at all after the head of the comet disappears in the west. From my own estimate of its length on the morning of the 25th, after the moon had set, I determined its actual length at that time to be certainly over 3,000,000 miles. I then assumed an increase of length of one-tenth each day, and reached the startling result that upon July 20 its tail would actually strike our earth. But knowing that if the tail should not be long enough to reach our orbit, it would fade away in the twilight without making any unusual display, I would not venture to publish any results without further examination.

With later observations of greater accuracy, I have repeated and extended my computations, and I am confirmed in the opinion that we shall be either so near the tail of the comet as it sweeps across the ecliptic, that it will fill a large portion of the heavens, or, if its curvature is not too great, shall be completely enveloped within it; and the phenomenon may be visible in the northern hemisphere, although it is too early yet to determine whether it may not be during the hours of daylight in this country. At the risk of having erred in my judgment, that the brightness and condensation of the nucleus and attendant coma indicate the formation of a tail equal to that of Donati's comet, which I watched with so much care, I will venture some predictions, trusting that they may be received with more confidence than my early predictions of the future Donati's comet, and that they may be as fully confirmed.

On Tuesday evening, June 30, and on the following evening, the moon will rise before the twilight fairly ends; but on Thursday, July 2, at 9 1-2 o'clock, the comet will be easily seen by the naked eye in the northwestern sky (no other description will be needed) with a tail about 5 degrees in length. On succeeding evenings the nucleus will move towards the south, while the tail will increase in length, so as to bring its extremity gradually northward. On the 14th of July the head of the comet will have reached the horizon in the northwest at the end of twilight, so that it will not easily be visible after that date; but the tail will extend nearly to the pole star.

Donati's comet had a retrograde motion, and when the earth met it, and the tail was most brilliant, it was placed nearly at right angles with the line of vision. On the other hand, this comet, whose perihelion distance is very little greater, coming just within the orbit of Venus, moves in the same direction with the earth, and nearly with the same velocity (reduced to the plane of the equator), in consequence of which the tail, which is now nearly at right angles with the line of vision, will gradually turn toward us, still apparently pointing nearly in the same direction. It will be remembered that Donati's comet was curved like a soldier's plume; but Coggia's is now and will remain nearly straight, because the curvature will be directly from us, and therefore imperceptible. Another striking difference from the tails of comets generally is that it will be so foreshortened as to be remarkably wide at the end.

On July 16, the tail will extend far beyond the pole and develop a new characteristic, tapering off rapidly toward the end. Within three or four days after! he 16th, the tail will have become so expanded in the neighborhood of the pole as to fill a large part of the northern heavens. Yet it will not be a conspicuous object, because it will be so faint as to look rather like an immense cloud, or a new milky way, than what it really is. By this time we shall have solved the question whether the tail is hollow, or has a radiated structure, or what is its constitution.

Of the way in which this will end, it is not safe yet to speak with definiteness: for although, if the tail were straight, we should be almost certainly near the middle of it on July 20, yet its curvature will probably delay it two or three days, and even until the earth has passed beyond its path. Taking the best value I can from the records of the previous comets, I should expect the earth on July 22 to be wholly within the eastern edge of the comet's tail; and I will assume this to be the case. The comet will then disappear to us, but then the inhabitants of the Southern Hemisphere, who may be ignorant of the cause of the luminosity of the evening sky, will see it gradually rise and pass away, and will be amazed by the sudden apparition of a comet of extraordinary size and brilliancy, which will burst upon their vision as unforseen as the great comet of 1861. The gradual diminution and final disappearance of the comet will be so nearly the converse of what we have witnessed here that it needs no description.

What will be the effect upon the earth? I dare not predict the effect upon the minds of men, especially of the ignorant; but I do not anticipate any appreciable physical effect further than possible electrical phenomena like the aurora. It will of course leave us a portion of its atmosphere when it departs, but, probably, not enough to affect the barometer, or to come within the cognizance even of scientists. But there may be, by possibility, one permanent affect of scientific interest and curiosity. If the earth should not entirely escape, the moon will also probably be involved, and it will also retain a portion of the cometary substance. As the amount of the atmosphere upon the moon's surface is now so small, if, indeed, there is any at all, that it is unrecognizable by the nicest astronomical scrutiny, perhaps after the passage of the comet we shall find that henceforth the moon will have an atmosphere, of a greater or less density, which will materially modify the phenomena of occultations and solar eclipses. I will add that Venus is safely out of the way, so that the transit expedition will not be interfered with by the great comet of 1874.

Self-Defence.

To a criminal neglect of preventive medication may be ascribed a majority of the ailments which afflict humanity. It is a well ascertained fact, resting on the experience of twenty years, that a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will put even a naturally feeble system in such a state of defence that it will be competent to resist the most prevalent causes of disease, such as the malign influence of miasma, unwholesome water, excessive heat, damp, cold, sudden changes of temperature, &c. Yet there are thousands of persons living in perpetual peril from one or more of these causes, who recklessly omit to avail themselves of the absolute protection which this famous vegetable antidote affords. Intermittent and bilious remittent fevers, rheumatism, general debility, nervous weakness, and irregularities of the stomach, bowels and liver, would be comparatively unknown if this palatable specific were in universal use in the districts where they principally prevail.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things discovered by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for curying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. 1025 d3m

Was anything but glorious so far as weather is concerned, it having been dull and cheerless, and so cold that heavy clothing was comfortable all day; and overcoats and waterproofs were a common sight in the evening, before the rain drove every one indoors. All other Fourths of July which we can remember have been the hottest on record; but this one was the coldest.

There being no set public celebration in this city, each individual who chose got up a private celebration on his own hook and in his own way. An unusually large number of men and boys chose to celebrate by getting drunk and in consequence fights and brawls were not so rare as they should have been, though nothing very serious in the fighting line has come to our knowledge. The police were kept pretty busy most of the time, in carrying off and locking up persons who had so much to do to take care of the grog they had swallowed that they couldn't take any care of themselves; and when a quart of fighting rum inside of one man would meet another quart of fighting rum inside another man, and the two fighting rums impelled their holders to a collision, the police would have another job,—and such jobs they had altogether too often. Their captures were so numerous as to fill the city game-bag to overflowing; but as fast as the foolish creatures became sober enough to be trusted to take care of themselves they were let out, with an injunction not to come back there any more that day. The larger part of the drunkenness was on the night before the Fourth and the evening of the day, the day itself being rather quiet in that particular part of the celebrating business.

The noise of guns, pistols and crackers commenced at an early hour on the evening of the third; as the night advanced the din increased, bands of tin-hornologians adding their melodious strains to the grand chorus, and by the time the regular bon-fire was kindled on Market square, at about midnight, the general racket was fully up to anything we ever heard in this city. The church bell at Kittery Foreside and the Franklin schoolhouse bell at Christian Shore clanged away vigorously for some time, and a steam-whistle hooted out a fire alarm by way of variety. There was a bon-fire at Christian Shore and a fog-horn band on the North Millbridge, which with the bell and a liberal allowance of guns and crackers, and an occasional beer-chorus, served to prevent the residents of that quarter from sleeping so soundly as to have headaches in the morning. Hundreds of small boys carried small but noisy pistols; and occasionally an old flint-lock horse pistol or a musket which might have done good service in Queen Anne's wars, went off with a roar which would do no discredit to a modern howitzer. Big cannon crackers—dangerous things indeed in a dry day and a high wind—small crackers and torpedoes could be heard in all directions and at all times, and the air was heavy with gunpowder-smoke until the rain "laid" the smoke and the noise together, at about 10 o'clock in the evening.

Just at midnight an alarm of fire brought out the department, but their services were not required. The occasion was an incendiary attempt to burn the carriage manufactory on Hanover street, (formerly Came Brothers' establishment,) some combustibles in the wood-shop having been ignited; but the fortunate discovery of the fire by Mr. Kennedy, of the firm of Peyser & Kennedy, and the prompt arrival of buckets of water in the hands of the neighbors, stopped what might have been a disastrous conflagration before it had got fairly under way.

An attempt was made to burn the slaughter-house of Sheldon & Goodrich, on Richards avenue, at about 4 o'clock in the morning. Shavings were taken from the new building near by, placed under the northeast corner of the slaughter-house and set on fire; but owing to the timbers and boards being saturated with pickle the fire would not readily take hold, but streamed up outside. On Messrs. Sheldon and Goodrich visiting the place at an earlier hour than usual, to get their meat, they discovered the fire and put it out before much damage was done. Overhead of where the fire was set two tons of hay are stored. Large and small tracks were found around the place, indicating that at least two persons were engaged in the attempt to burn the building.

The bells of the city were rung at sunrise, noon and sunset, and the usual salutes were fired at the navy yard. The Receiving Ship "Sabine" was gaily decorated with flags, and the stars and stripes floated from many flag-staffs in this city.

An enthusiastic meeting of the general committee having charge of the reception of the Sons in 1873 was held at the Council room at 11 o'clock A. M., there being a large attendance. Col. Sise presided. A telegram from Mr. Samuel J. Nowell, on behalf of the executive committee of Sons resident in the Empire State, was read and cheered. It reads as follows: "We acknowledge your letter, with thanks. Thousands of hearts filled with delightful memories, march with you again to-day and look forward with glad impatience to the next reunion." The president announced the death of Mr. Howard M. Messer, one of the earnest workers of the 1873 reception, and Mr. John Laighton was elected to the vacancy. The committee then adjourned to meet at the same place July 4, 1875, at 11 o'clock, A. M.

There was considerable sport on the North Millpond, occasioned by a series of boat races got up by some of the Eastern Railroad men. The "Wild Mac," pulled by Engineer Johnson, won most of the races, the competing craft being the "White Harry," pulled by the owner, Mr. Harry Booth, and the "Dolly Varden," a punt, pulled by Mr. Coleman. There were many spectators, who enjoyed the fun as much did the contestants, and the hastily improvised Millpond regatta was one of the pleasantest features in the amusements of the day.

There were three horse trots at Rockingham Park in the afternoon. The first was for a purse of $50, open to all horses; $25 to first, $15 to second, $10 to third. The race was won by Paul Brittain, Nelly second, Dan third; best time 3.02. The second race, for $20, "best horse takes all the money," was won by Frank Temple, Topsey second; best time 3.04. The third race, for $10, to horse trotting nearest to 3.15, was won by Harry Gray, the contestants being Spy, Topsey and Dan. The attendance on the sport was not large.

The whistling of the Shoals steamers caused an alarm of fire shortly before five o'clock, P. M., and the engines were hauled out and hauled back again.

Early in the evening another alarm was raised, caused by the burning of a curtain or screen in Davis Bros. Photograph Saloon; but the fire was extinguished with trifling damage, without the services of the fire department being needed.

The rain, which commenced to fall gently before dark, with promise of more, caused the band-concert on Market Square to be postponed; and shortly after nine o'clock a very heavy shower came to close up the day and still the noise which had continued with little cessation for over twenty-four hours. Tired boys and girls went to sleep to fire guns, pistols and crackers over again in their dreams, and wearied men and women thanked Providence the day was over and a good night's rest possible once more. No serious accidents have been reported to us, and we feel safe in saying that no buildings were burned, no eyes put out and no hands blown off in this city, in honor of the nation's birth-day.

The Shakers

Held a meeting in Mechanics' Hall at 8 o'clock Sunday evening, as previously announced, the proposed open air service Sunday forenoon, in Beck's grove on Sagamore road, having to be given up on account of the weather. The Hall was crowded with ladies and gentlemen, who were greatly interested by the quaint simplicity of the service and the quiet fervor and evident sincerity of the Shakers, who were nine in number, five men and four women. Leading Elder Blinn briefly explained their object in departing from their usual stay-at-home habits,—that Shaker customs and beliefs might be better understood, as they had been misrepresented at various times; and that the Shakers themselves might the better be able to correct any erroneous impressions they might entertain concerning the outside world, as it was not impossible they might have erroneous ideas on subjects outside the routine of their daily life. The service opened with reading of the Scriptures, followed by a hymn sung in unison; then a prayer, likewise sung. The Elder then explained the objects of the Society, the fundamental principles of the Shakers' faith, etc. The address was followed by another hymn; then short, earnest exhortations by one of the ladies and Elder Hartley; the service closing with the "Hymn of Love."

Many queer ideas of Shaker meetings were upset Sunday evening; and no one could look at and listen to those men and women without feeling that they lead pure lives and are earnest in their religious belief, whether "the world" can or should imitate them them or not.

Rockingham County Commissioners.

The new Board of County Commissioners has been organized by the choice of Frank W. Miller of Portsmouth as chairman, and Woodbury M. Durgin of Northwood, clerk. Capt. Nathaniel H. Brown of Derry takes the place in the Board of Mr. Pollard, who will continue as Superintendent of the County Farm at Brentwood, for which position both he and his wife have proved themselves exceedingly well qualified and successful. Mr. Pollard may also very naturally congratulate himself on his record as Commissioner, seeing that with all the costly improvements made at the Farm during his term, and the expensive jail repairs, etc., the county debt has been largely reduced, being now $104,000 in round numbers.

The County Convention (of which John D. Lyman of Exeter was chairman and J. Horace Kent of Portsmouth, secretary) at their recent legislative sessions,—after thorough discussion of the Commissioners' report and recommendations, and after reference of the matter of appropriations to a special committee, of which Speaker Hatch was chairman,—complimented the Commissioners by adopting and passing the appropriations, $59,000, just as they requested, including the large amount of $12,000 for new buildings at the Farm—$4,000 for enlarging insane asylum, $3,000 for boiler house and piping, $4,000 for new house of correction, and $1,000 for piggery. The amount of county tax this year is $70,000; and as it will be but $59,000 next year, there will be a very satisfactory reduction of the county tax, as well as lessening of the debt,—which should be entirely liquidated as soon as may be, for what good reason is there why the county should owe a dollar?

Messrs. J. H. Kent of Portsmouth and Ephraim G. Hill of South Newmarket, were elected County Auditors for the ensuing year. The Brentwood school question, after much discussion, was left to the County Commissioners.

As some allusion has been made by certain parties to the amount of purchases in Portsmouth by the Commissioners, we have had the curiosity to add the items enumerated in the Treasurer's report; and we find that of the total amount of payments during the year, being $86,000 in round numbers, $22,000 was paid to citizens of Portsmouth in one form or other, while the county tax paid by the city was $19,000; not so bad a showing, after all. The Commissioners naturally purchase most supplies at the lowest wholesale Boston prices, believing that the interest of the whole public is best promoted by keeping expenses and taxes down in this way, though they prefer to patronize home dealers when practicable.

Laconics.

The open-air concert by the Marine Band, postponed from the evening of the 4th, will be given on Wednesday evening, if fair weather. It was proposed to have it on Monday evening, but on account of an entertainment at the Temple on that evening a change was made, as above.

The Eben Simpson fire company of Biddeford will visit this city on the 1st of September, as guests of Kearsarge S. F. E. Co., No. 3.

A writer in the New York World locates Rye Beach in North Hampton.

At Kittery Point, on the 4th, there were two church picnics, both of which were well attended.

At Kittery Foreside, the projected picnic and strawberry festival in Traip's grove, by the Universalists, was given up on account of the cheerless and threatening weather.

The society at Rye Beach will be more fashionable than ever, this season.

The Boston Herald's special says that a few minutes after the adjournment of the legislature, Friday, the members leaving the State House met the democratic leaders on the stairway, astonished and discomfited. The adjournment, which was managed by Mr. Kent, is conceded to be the smartest thing of the session.

On Saturday afternoon, as Messrs. Uriah Blaisdell and James Knight were driving toward Christian Shore, their horse took fright at an engine near the Eastern depot, and ran away. In turning the sharp corner near the ward-room building a wheel of the wagon struck the curb-stone, the shock throwing out the seat and the two gentlemen. Mr. Blaisdell was badly bruised and jarred, and it was at first feared he was seriously injured; but on Monday he was quite comfortable and will probably soon be all right. Mr. Knight escaped with trifling hurts.

The Canterbury Shakers desire to express their hearty thanks to the citizens of Portsmouth and to the Press for the hospitality and kindness which they have received. They hope that their visit will be pleasantly remembered by all.

The proposed excursion of steamer Appledore on Sunday did not come off, owing to the unfavorable weather.

Not many months ago two enterprising young men of this city entered into a business partnership under the firm name of James & Matthew,—at least that title will do for this occasion. About a week ago Mrs. James presented her share of the firm with two fine babies, both girls and each of them a twin; and two days later Mrs. Matthew, not to be outdone, made a similar donation of twin girls to her husband. We are informed that the ladies had intended to celebrate the Glorious Fourth by the addition of four to the city's population, but finally concluded to leave the celebration entirely to the men-folk, as they are the only ones who are allowed to vote.

Mr. Alfred R. Goodwin, who was burnt and smoked and washed out at the time of the fire in the five-tenement block at the foot of State street some days ago, does not want the fire department and citizens who aided on that occasion to think him lacking in gratitude for what was done and attempted by them, and hereby tenders his earnest thanks therefor.

Schooner Fanny Hazard, Capt. Emmons, from New York for Exeter with a cargo of moulding sand, foundered about eight miles off the Shoals at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. All hands saved.

Mr. John E. Morrison accomplished the feat of walking 100 miles in 21 hours and 40 minutes, commencing at noon on Friday, in Sanborn's hall on Daniel street. He was quite fresh on finishing.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessary for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,

Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.

Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of your Porter, ale and beer, and have seen the, practical working of McCormick's purifying process.

The small proportion of decomposing matter (the germs of acetification and mould) which exist in wort as it comes from the mash and hops, and which is not visible, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the impurities, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. Portsmouth Chronicle.

Don't Let 'Em Do It.

The Christian Union is stirred by a recent corner-stone laying in Chicago, "under Masonic auspices," to state thusly:

"Whatever may be the merits or demerits of Freemasonry, it is a private and not a public institution, and embraces in its membership but a fraction of the male inhabitants of the country. We are, therefore, at a loss to understand on what principle of propriety or common sense this secret fraternity is so often intrusted with the duty of laying the corner-stones of public buildings, to be devoted to purposes in which all classes of the community, without regard to sex or party, have a common interest."

Commenting on the above the Morning Star says:

"If anybody could satisfactorily explain that matter it would be a fine thing. 'Under Masonic Auspices' enters into the account of the laying of almost every important corner-stone now-a-days. To our mind it represents both an assumption and a concession,—something that the Masons have generally no business to request, and that the other parties have no business to allow."

We agree with the Morning Star that "the Masons generally have no business to request" that they be allowed to lay corner-stones, etc.,—and we also believe the Masons, themselves think so, too, as they never do request anything of the kind, the "request" invariably coming from the other side of the house. If "the other parties" do not request Masonic ceremonies they won't be troubled with them.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few competitions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured a wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long-continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most efficient cures of COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well-founded, if taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

WAR DEPARTMENT,

SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1874.

An Army Medical Board will meet at New York City, and a similar board at San Francisco, on the 4th of August next, for the examination of candidates for admission into the medical Staff of the U. S. Army.

Applications for permission to appear before these Boards should be addressed to the Secretary of War, through the Surgeon General, U. S. Army.

The application must be in the hand-writing of the candidate, and must state his full name, residence, age, and date and place of birth. Candidates must be between 21 and 26 years of age, and graduates of a Medical College having a thorough and complete course of medical education—evidence of which must be submitted to the Board.

Testimonials as to character and qualifications must be furnished.

If the applicant has been in the medical service of the army the fact should be stated, and in such cases the limit of age may be extended, subject to the decision of the Secretary of War in each special case.

No allowance is made for travel or other expenses of persons attending examination, as it is an indispensible prerequisite to appointment.

CRUMBS

Are a modern store polish, far better than any other in existence. OF Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

COMFORT

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

CRUMBS

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used. OF Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

COMFORT

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS

Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish. OF In each box are 1 sticks; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove; thus all waste is saved

COMFORT

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, OF in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

COMFORT

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you six boxes, and samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Blueing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as it proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA- DEBILITY- DROPSY AND HUMORS.

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, scarching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and sceptics cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN

HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores hair to its youthful color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both hair and its beauty. Thus beauty, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lest hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

N. H. Legislature.

On Tuesday the Free Rum bill was brought up in the House, when Mr. Kent of this city spoke as follows:

Mr. Speaker and gentlemen: I cannot let this bill go to the question of its passage, without at least uttering some words of protest against it. I do not propose to and shall not go particularly into the details of the measure, though I believe they will not bear examination; but the principles of the bill constitute its chief objection to my mind. Here, in an age enlightened far beyond any that has preceded it; in New England, which leads the world in matters of education and morality, where our motto is always "upward and onward,"—here, in this favored spot of all places on earth, respecting the use of intoxicating liquors, of all subjects one of the most vital importance, it is proposed to take a step backward in our legislation.

For more than twenty years last past, New Hampshire has stood shoulder to shoulder with contiguous States in declaring it to be illegal to sell any intoxicating liquor to be used as a beverage. And now it is proposed to abandon that principle and to go back a quarter of a century and resume the principle that was then discarded as not up to the spirit of the age, which allows the sale of intoxicating drinks for all purposes. It matters not, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen, how you disguise the change; local option and submission to the people do not alter the distinctive feature of the law, which is to legalize the sale of liquor as a beverage, and that, Mr. Speaker, I repeat, is a step backwardly in civilization and morals.

Now, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of this House, what reasons are given for going back to this discarded principle? Why, sirs, one is because it is said the law of prohibition is not enforced. Of course it is not pretended that it is never enforced; no term of the court in any county passes without indictments and convictions for its violations. The meaning can only truly be that the law is not fully enforced; enforced in all cases, so as to prevent violations of it entirely. But, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen, is that any proper cause for repealing the law, and replacing it with another of the character here proposed? We have laws against adultery and fornication and gaming. There is no pretence that these laws are enforced in all cases; on the contrary, sir, you know and we know that they are constantly set at naught. But sir, will any man in this House or elsewhere stand up and say that that is sufficient or proper cause for striking these prohibitory laws from our statute books and enacting laws to license adultery and fornication and gaming.

Mr. Speaker and members of this House, you may have an opportunity before this bill is disposed of to see whether it is not as well and proper to license houses of ill-fame as houses for the sale of intoxicating liquors. But, Mr. Speaker, what reason have we to suppose that a law to license the sale of intoxicating liquors will be any better enforced than a prohibitory law? The statute that we had in this State before the adoption of the prohibitory principle, provided for licenses, and was based on the same general idea as the bill now before this House. There is no reason to doubt that the public opinion was fully up to the law and desired that it should be carried into complete effect. Was it enforced in all cases? No; the records of the courts and the recollection of our oldest inhabitants alike will bear testimony that that law was disregarded quite as widely, and considering the difference in the distribution of the population, was far less successful in accomplishing even its limited purposes, than the prohibitory law has been in effecting its more difficult and restrictive objects.

But a most pertinent question in this connection is, how far did this license law avail to cure the admitted evils of intemperance? On that question we have the best and most conclusive testimony that the State can furnish. The system of general licenses, such as are contemplated in the present bill before us, was abandoned near half a century ago, by general consent as would appear; for the laws have been rendered more and more stringent from time to time ever since. First it was provided that only taverners should be licensed to sell liquors to be drank on the premises, no others were licensed to sell at all, except in larger quantities, to be carried away; next, no person, not even a taverner, was licensed to sell liquors to be used as a beverage, but only for medicinal, mechanical and chemical purposes; and after that came the Maine law, as it is called, of prohibition.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I say that we have the best proof that the old license system or law did not answer the purpose of staying the destructive torrent of intemperance; if it had done so, it would have stood to this day. The House of Representatives of New Hampshire by the repeal of that law and the adoption of more stringent enactments in its place testified that it was insufficient; the Honorable Senate by their concurrence testified the same; and the Governor by his approval, gave the same and additional evidence; and it is not only that single legislature and that single executive of the State who practically condemned the license law; but each successive general court and each successive Governor afterward, who well remembered what license was, add weight to the testimony.

I could quote from the addresses of the various Governors, but I will only speak of one, it being brief and to the point. Gov. Goodwin, in his inaugural in 1859, says: "The law providing against the sale of spirituous liquors is in my judgment salutary and ought not to be disturbed, although it would be impossible to carry fully into effect, to the degree desired by the friends of temperance, this or any other similar enactment; it nevertheless enables the philanthropic workers in this great reform to wield a much more powerful influence than would be possible for them without its aid. I believe it an agent of good in the suppression of the great evil of intemperance."

Much additional proof could be furnished that the license system has not and will not stop the progress of intemperance. President Wayland, after a long and able argument upon the moral and political relations of men in regard to the traffic in strong drink, said: "I think the prohibition of the traffic in ardent spirits a fit subject for legislative enactment, and I believe the most happy results would flow from such prohibition." Hon. Mark Doolittle said: "Laws authorizing the traffic in ardent spirits are morally wrong. In whatever aspect this subject is viewed, by whatever course of reasoning we are guided in our inquiries, we are brought to the same conclusion. The question arises, what ought legislators to do on this subject? I answer, place the article on the contraband list and make the traffic in it penal, as clearly to the best interests of men."

Hon. Theodore Frelinghuysen said: "We owe it to our history, to our free institutions, and above all we owe it to Him whose benignant providence has so richly blessed us, that we purify our laws,—and if men will engage in this destructive traffic, if they will stoop to degrade their reason, and reap the wages of iniquity, let them no longer have the law book as a pillow, nor quiet conscience by the opiate of a court license."

These were the sayings of some of the early workers in this cause; and now, after years of enlightenment, are we to turn back and license an immoral traffic and thus teach to the community that it is right? If so, New Hampshire never stood in the way of temperance more than she will when that shall have been accomplished.

Now, sir, who brings this bill forward? There is but one answer to that, and it is this,—the liquor dealers of this State and elsewhere. And, sir, who promotes it? They, sir, and their supporters. Aye, sir, these men, whose business and occupations and interests are in conflict with the law of this State,—who have been engaged and wish to be engaged in the future in the business of violating not only the laws of the State but of God, humanity and benevolence. And has it come to this, that the malefactors of society are to determine what the law shall be in regard to crimes!

"No rogue e'er felt the halter draw,
With good opinion of the law."

I do not wonder that they want to give respectability to the traffic in which they are engaged, to cover it with some sort of endorsement. But no necromancy,—no legerdemain of manipulating statutes in the name of temperance but in the interests of rum will accomplish that; no cunningly devised legislation to give the traffic the protection and immunity of the law,—ostensibly in the interest of sobriety, but really giving free rein to rum drinking, and opening the flood gates to ruin,—can give respectability to the traffic of ministering to men's baser desires. It amounts to naught else but to "steal the livery of Heaven to serve the devil in."

Why do I say that the liquor dealers are the promoters of the bill? This is why: our memories are not so short that we do not remember the incidents of our last campaign. Previous to the nominations by either of the two great political parties, the liquor dealers of the State assembled together, here in Concord, in secret conclave, to "consider the situation and to rid themselves of the disabilities under which the law placed them in New Hampshire." This was what my friend Mr. Page, who I understand presided over the body on that occasion, told me on that day, I happening to be in the city at that time. As subsequently appeared the result of their deliberations was a committee to wait upon the republican and democratic conventions, and ask for the insertion in their platforms of a plank in favor of a license law,—a stringent, judicious one, with local option, etc. The republican convention was held first, and at that convention the liquor dealers' committee waited upon the committee on resolutions appointed by the convention. I will not say that they were spurned from the convention, for that would not be true; they were respectfully received—their wishes and suggestions and demands were attentively listened to—even discussed—but when the matter was voted upon not a man of that committee was in favor of yielding to their demands. They determined to stand by the prohibitory law—and they put in their platform an unmistakable resolution to that effect, pledging the party to stand by the prohibitory legislation which it had previously enacted. The liquor dealers retired from that convention in discomforture. But, Mr. Speaker, they had one other sure resort; they waited upon the democratic convention the next day, with a very different result. They went there, graciously received by the committee on resolutions, with the gentleman from Hopkinton, (Mr. Bailey) if I am informed correctly, at its head. How did they fare there? Even if their demands had not been in perfect harmony with the wishes, the interests and the traditions of the democratic party, such an opportunity of catching a few votes by pandering to the baser passions of the liquor dealers for avarice and of their unfortunate customers for drink, was not to be lost,—and so the committee greedily devoured the chance of commending themselves anew to this diabolical traffic, and its funds. They passed a resolution, as they were required to do, recommending in the glaring phrase in which it was drawn a judicious license law with local prohibition.

Mr. Speaker and Representatives of this House, what was the next step in this programme? The nine weeks which succeeded we all remember, and it decieved nobody; every man of intelligence saw that the democratic party was given over body and soul to the control of the Liquor Alliance, so called. Their orators peregrinated the State, fulminating against temperance fanatics, sumptuary laws, violations of private rights, outrages upon Magna Charta and the like, while they were applauded to the echo by all that class who wished to defraud the poor of the means of subsistence and education for their families, and by means of the unfortunate victims' passion for liquor. I have no doubt, Mr. Speaker, and I believe no man of sense in the State has any doubt that the money of the liquor dealers of Boston was brought in here to carry the election against the republican party, and even to subsidize a priest, since unfrocked and coming to his masters and corrupters in vain for reward. He ought to have known, sir, that there could be no honor in men leagued to do injustice.

We all know the result, sir, and some of us most painfully experience it; the combined elements of democracy, liquor, and the impractibility and infatuation of two thousand temperance men who did not go with the republican party, who had pledged themselves to maintain the prohibitory principle, brought about this so-called democratic victory and really accidental majority. It is true, Mr. Speaker, that the republican party lost power,—but it kept its integrity and its character. The motto of the regiment of which I was a member during the rebellion was "Death or an honorable life;" and, sir, a heroic death is better than a dishonorable life. I remember, sir, that incident of the ship Cumberland when sunk by the Merrimack in Hampton Roads, when she had received her fatal wound, the gunners threw their arms lovingly around their faithful pieces and went down with their guns clasped in their arms and their eyes and their voices saluting their flag. So I thank God to-day that the republican party chose to be faithful to its principles and its honorable record, even at the expense of losing power in New Hampshire. Such a party cannot die; it may suffer temporary defeat, but it will spring up again into new life and power, and take control of the destinies of the State. I thank God that it resisted the temptation to pander to the interests of the Liquor Alliance, and said "Get thee behind me, Satan."

I scout the idea that these men who bring this bill in here and ask for its passage, represent the moral sentiment of this State—the moral sentiment that ought to be respected by this House. No, sir; these men are habitually, deliberately, solely, and not as a matter of sudden temptation, engaged in a business the following of which is the ministering to the base and degrading passions and ruining of their fellow men; and I repeat they represent not the moral sentiment of nor the majority of the people of this State. But instead thereof, Mr. Speaker, this measure is proposed here in fulfillment of the compact made by the democratic State convention with the Liquor Alliance. Is it not, sir, and gentlemen, at their own bidding and in their interest that this is to be done? Aye, sir; they have come for their "bond" and for their "pound of flesh" and they desire it cut nearest the heart of the people of New Hampshire, and it is of the democracy they ask it.

A word as to the intent and meaning of this bill. I undertake to say, sir, that it is a piece of effrontery to call this an act for the suppression of the sale of intoxicating liquor.—or rum-selling, as it is more familiarly called! It would be better, sir, did it have the title, "An act for the unrestricted traffic in intoxicating liquors." Look at its severe penalties, its labored accumulation of different offences, its multiplication of crimes, and then look about you in and out of this House and see who are here advising, promoting and recommending these stringent penalties? It is the liquor dealers themselves,—and that explains the whole thing. The meaning of all this stage play is that no provision of this law is ever to be enforced. The Attorney General is a democrat and in the nature of things will not enforce this law; the solicitors are to be democrats and knowing their creators and to whom they are indebted for all they are and all they hope to be will not think of enforcing it. This appears to be perfectly understood between the different performers in this first-class farce, and there is no man so ignorant that he does not know that the passage of this bill will be hailed throughout the State and country as a triumph for the liquor powers. Therefore I say boldly, Mr. Speaker, that all this array of penalties is a hypocritical pretence, too transparent to decieve any but the simple and those who wish to be decieved. Argue this as you may, prove it as ingeniously as if it were a mathematicial problem, the common sense and the common speech of the great body of the people is more to be depended upon than all your reasonings. The mass of the people know what this bill means, and they say it is "Free Rum." I know, sir, and gentlemen, that it has been and will be argued with much plausibility that the proposed law is not a retrograde movement, and all the arts of logic and rhetoric will be employed to prove that it is really a movement in advance, and more likely to foward the cause of temperance, than the prohibitory laws. Indeed, sir, this bill I learn when first drawn was entitled "An act for the promotion of temperance." It has also been stated, sir, and it is true and it is used in argument, that the amiable and popular chief magistrate of the State, His Excellency Gov. Weston, recommends this in the interests of temperance. A temperance measure, forsooth! Mr. Speaker and gentlemen, does not the Governor know by what means and by whose votes he was elected? Does he not know the history of the last campaign,—that from first to last all the liquor forces,—their influence, power and money,—were arrayed for him? The eminent position which he holds and the respect due to his high office does not permit me to characterize such an assumption in the language which it deserves, but the Governor must pardon me for saying from the independent seat I occupy as a member of a coordinate branch of the Government, that the people of the State who have dispassionately read his message do not, will not endorse the claim therein set forth, that this change is demanded by those who wish to devise better means of suppressing the liquor traffic. And, sir, when these temporary excitements are over and the next generations are freed from this turmoil; in the gladsome light there will be one period at least which the Governor's friends will wish had never found a place in the public papers of their honored ancestor.

My esteemed friend, the gentleman from Littleton (Mr. Sinclair), to whom credit is given for the paternity of this bill, is usually straightforward and sincere in his language and purposes; but Mr. Speaker and gentlemen, I must be pardoned for thinking that in this business he is departing and playing a different role. I have seen it stated in public print that he is a temperance man, and put this measure forward as a real means of repressing the sale of liquor. It occurs to me, sir, as a most singular state of things, that the very measure which the gentleman thinks calculated to diminish and restrain the liquor traffic is the very measure which the liquor dealers have been clamoring for, as one calculated to promote their business and make it respectable; and, sir, when you add to this remarkable phenonemon the fact that almost the entire temperance sentiment of this State and all other parts of New England is thoroughly opposed to this bill and its leading idea, and heartily in favor of the prohibitory principle, it is evident that my friend, Mr. Sinclair, has, as I previously intimated, mistaken the title of his bill: "A bill to make rum selling respectable by giving it the sanction of the law," "A bill to secure the redemption of democratic promises," "A bill to insult the prohibitionists, by whose assistance the democratic party came into power," "A bill to legalize the evils of intemperance,"—any of these, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen, would have been a little more to the purpose; and I respectfully suggest to the gentlemen when this bill of abominations shall have been read a third time and passed, and the House shall be called upon to attend the title of the bill, that he change it in that respect and christen the bantling in a manner conformable to its character and real purpose.

If the license law was unwisely repealed in some fit of temporary excitement, it would have been restored again in the course of a few years, after the transient feeling had passed away,—if the law was really desirable, efficient and satisfactory. But restored, it never was; every change was a wider removal from the principle of license, and it has been blotted from our statute book for nearly a quarter of a century. What a time is this to revise a principle which our fathers rejected after a long and patient trial! What a time to turn back the hands on the dead of progress!

Within the past year there has been an extraordinary—a tidal wave of feeling, running over our land, on the subject of temperance. So many of the young and gifted have fallen victims to the thirst for alcoholic stimulants; so many in prominent stations in society have injured their influence, and spread the contagion of their example over those around them, by their habits of indulging in strong drinks; so many sons and husbands and fathers have made their homes wretched and wives and mothers broken-hearted, all over this great country, that an organized effort of a novel character has been resorted to in many sections East and West, to put a stop to the fell destroyer intemperance. Woman, always ready for every good work,—woman, the chief sufferer from the curse of rum, in the degradation and ruin of sons, fathers and husbands,—has devoted herself to the work of exterminating the traffic in liquid poisons. The movement is in its infancy yet, but its success has been considerable already. Whether that particular mode of organizing the crusade against the demon alcohol is to be successful or not, it is safe to say that the feeling, the zeal and energy which prompted it will never fail, but will continue to be exerted in one form or another against the monster evil of the land, until it is extirpated. It is in the very midst of this current of feeling, when all good men and women are looking hopefully for a step forward in the temperance movement, that New Hampshire proposes to take this fatal step back.

Pass this law and a shout of joy will go up through the whole body of the liquor interest, from one end of the country to the other. Pass this law and a new corps of runners from every distillery within five hundred miles will start with their samples of liquid fire, to furnish afresh the means to corrode the vitals of our people. Pass this law, and you enact drunkenness, poverty and degradation to thousands of our citizens who might otherwise live in comfort and respectability. Pass this law, and you make a host of new tenants for our almshouses and hospitals, and plant want and wretchedness in hundreds and thousands of homes. New Hampshire has heretofore been among the foremost in every movement for the reformation of morals; in Heaven's name do not let her be the first to abandon the principle of prohibition, which under the circumstances I believe to be our best and surest bulwark against the inroads of that worst and wickedest destroyer of all prosperity and happiness, the fiend of drunkenness; and to the friends of temperance in this House my appeal is in the words of the Catholic poet,

"And Right is Right, since God is God;
And Right the day must win;
To doubt would be disloyalty,
To falter would be sin."

By concurrence of circumstances, with the power of the liquor interest and its blood-money from Massachusetts added thereto, we are to-day overpowered by this accidental majority in this House; but, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the minority, the respect and gratitude of our constituents will be measured in accordance with our devotion to the principles on which we were elected. Let us but be true to those questions and principles that lie at the foundation of the public weal; let no political arts or words of intimidation swerve us a hair's breadth from the path of duty, and we shall have vindicated the established principles of our party, as against the funds of a liquor license law, and as I have substantially said, on some glorious, not far distant day of that hereafter which I see in vision, the flag of republicanism and temperance will once more be uplifted, and once more float over the dome of this capitol.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 8, 1874.

The Legislature.

On Friday the judiciary committee reported the bill to enable the city of Portsmouth to purchase the bridge leading to Kittery, Me. On motion of Mr. Emery the bill, under suspension of the rules, was read a third time and passed.

The committee on claims reported a joint resolution in favor of the claim of W. F. O'Neil for $466.56. The resolution was at first refused a second reading, but Mr. Marcy of Portsmouth moved a reconsideration, when Mr. Briggs of Manchester further explained the matter and the resolution was ordered to a second reading.

On Monday a joint resolution in favor of a return to specie payments was called up, when Mr. Sanborn of Franklin moved that the resolution be put back to its second reading for amendment. He then moved to amend by adding the following:

Resolved: That the House approves of the veto of the inflation bill, so-called, by the President of the United States.

Mr. Bailey opposed the amendment as it seemed of a political character, while the other resolutions were not so. Although he was very glad that President Grant had done one good thing, he would not commit the House to the amendment.

Mr. McQuesten of Nashua, moved to substitute the word "Legislature" instead of "House" in the amendment. Accepted.

Mr. Bingham of Littleton, moved that the whole matter lie on the table. Carried.

A joint resolution deprecating interference by the Federal Government in elections, was read a third time and passed.

The bill to abolish the present judiciary system and establish a new one was read a third time, and then, on motion of Mr. Bingham, laid on the table.

"Kent" telegraghed us from Concord, Tuesday evening, that the reconsideration of the bill permitting the consolidation of the Boston & Lowell and Lowell & Nashua railroads was under discussion in the House Tuesday forenoon; the yeas and nays were called six times and the question was still pending at adjournment. The license bill also was still pending.

Advices from Spain state that the Carlist forces are threatening Santander, Castro, Urdiales and Laredo.

Philip C. Besson, of Marblehead, Mass., was found dead in a well on Monday, having fallen in the night before, during the intense darkness.

The dead body of Frank Young, of North Andover, Mass., was found in the water under a bridge at Danversport on Monday, with a terrible wound in his head, having evidently been murdered. An Irishman named Kelly and a negro named Freeman have been arrested as the suspected murderers.

The Shore Line train from New London to New Haven, Conn., was thrown from the track at Stony Creek on Monday by the careless handling of a switch by a station agent named Black. Superintendent Wilcox was instantly killed, two or three other persons dangerously wounded and over one hundred slightly hurt.

A burglar attempted to rob the house of Alderman Clements of Portland, Me., on Sunday morning, but was frightened away by a young lady, the alderman's daughter.

Ex-judge George M. Curtis of the New York Marine Court was fatally wounded by two gamblers at Long Island on the 4th, while protecting two ladies from their insults.

Thomas Kemp of New Brunswick, N. J., on Monday threw his three children into a canal and then jumped in himself. Kemp and his oldest girl, aged nine, lost their lives, but the other two children have recovered. A drunken wife and wretched home had driven Kemp to despair.

Richard Schuyler, Alfred Cross, and Schuyler Long, living four miles west of Fonda, N. Y., were struck by lightning on Sunday. Schuyler was killed, and the others were seriously injured.

The severest northeaster ever known at this season prevailed at Newburyport, Mass., from Saturday evening to Sunday evening. Several boats were swamped and trees and awnings damaged. A number of parties down the river were unable to return.

Mrs. George Drury, aged nineteen, wife of the assistant baggage master at Worcester Junction, Mass., while trying to attract his attention, on Saturday evening, fell from the car and received injuries which necessitated the amputation of her left leg just below the knee joint.

Mary Tulnan, the victim of the Oxford street tragedy in Boston, is still alive and may possibly recover, notwithstanding her fearful wounds. Her brutal assailant is yet unknown.

The first reports concerning the damage done by the furious storm of Saturday were not at all exaggerated. In Baltimore a dozen houses were unroofed, and a man was killed by a shed being blown down upon him. On Chesapeake Bay the effect of the storm was more disastrous. A great number of excursion steamers were caught in the tornado, and two ladies died from absolute fright while the boats were laboring under the tremendous sea. There were many yachts in the bay; those belonging to the city managed to make shelter in safety, but those sailing from below were caught in the gale, and there are reports of several vessels being capsized with the loss of at least a dozen lives. The Methodist church at Beltsville, Md., was destroyed. In Washington, D. C., over a hundred houses were unroofed and the Episcopal church destroyed; the loss is at least $1,000,000. The track of the storm is 12 miles wide.

State News.

The funeral of the late Anson S. Marshall took place on Tuesday, and was largely attended by prominent men of both political parties.

Two young men, named Melvin Martin of Canaan, Vt., and Barber of Cherryfield, Me., engaged in driving logs on the Connecticut River, were drowned at Alcott's Falls, West Lebanon, Friday.

A. M. Blood, of Stoddard, while on a visit to his sister in Marlow, July 4th, hung himself with a birch withe. He was a very eccentric man, and his absence did not cause alarm immediately. He was found Sunday forenoon.

The City Guard of Concord, one of whose members shot Anson S. Marshall, has been disbanded.

HENDERSON & CO.,

ANNOUNCE THEIR

SPRING OPENING

— OF —

Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons.

The Largest Stock, The Latest Styles, The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

And five dollar Trimmed Hats will compare favorably with any ten dollar one in the city.

SASH RIBBONS, - - - - - - - 25 cents per yard.
SILK TIES - - - - - - - - - - 20 cents each.
FRAMES - - - - - - - - - - - 15 cents each.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

Odd Fellows' Organizations.

The following are the officers of Mount Sinai Encampment, No. 19, I. O. O. F., for the term commencing July 1st:

Wm. W. Cotton, Chief Patriarch; John S. Perry, High Priest; E. L. F. Holbrook, Senior Warden; Joseph H. Gardiner, Scribe; Benjamin Plumer, Treasurer; Samuel Faulkner, Junior Warden; Charles Robinson, A. F. Craig, Matthew T. Betton, Trustees.

The officers of Piscataqua Lodge, No. 6, for the same term, are as follows:

John E. Calcord, Noble Grand; Charles H. Hutchings, Vice Grand; John H. Lowd, Secretary; Oliver H. Locke, Permanent Secretary; Isaac Dow, Treasurer; James M. Carr, James F. Shores, Charles Robinson, Trustees.

This is the twentieth year that Isaac Dow has been unanimously elected treasurer of Piscataqua Lodge, which position he has always filled with credit to himself and to the entire satisfaction of the lodge.

The following brethren have been chosen as officers of Strawberry Bank Encampment, No. 5, for the ensuing term:

Frank L. Berry, Chief Patriarch; John J. Laskey, High Priest; Albert W. Parsons, Senior Warden; James A. Rugg, Scribe; John M. Clark, Treasurer; John E. Colcord, Junior Warden.

The M. W. Grand Patriarch of New Hampshire will visit Strawberry Bank Encampment, No. 5, on Friday evening, July 10, for the purpose of installing their officers.

Washburn's Last Sensation

Drew a good audience at the Temple, Monday evening. The Warm Springs Indians appeared in all the glory of war paint and feathers, and gave their war dances as advertised. The band attached to this company is a really good one,—much better than travelling shows usually can boast, unless they lie about it. The gymnastics, which constitute a large part of the show, are first class, the horizontal-bar performance being unsurpassed and the jumping and somersaults (including a double somersault) the best and most daring we ever saw in a hall-show. The dangerous and not particularly pleasing turn-over in the air by a male performer, "on the fly" from one trapeze to another, was replaced by the more graceful if less sensational acts of a pretty little female trapezist.—a change which seemed to give every satisfaction. The double-song-and-dance part of the performance was good, and so was some of the singing, of which there is not a great deal; but there is one singer in the company who makes anything but music, and the closing farce was indeed a "roaring" one—all noise and no wit. With the exception of the singer referred to and the noisily-feeble closing farce, the entertainment is what it is claimed to be.

Navy Yard Matters.

Detective Parcher retires from duty at the navy yard, his office having been abolished; George A. Putnam, clerk in steam engineering department, Edward C. Moody, clerk in yards and docks, Edwin A. Tilton, clerk in yards and docks, and Mr. Bingham, executive officer's clerk, are all discharged; Charles H. Chase, store clerk, Edward P. Marden, clerk to chief engineer, and Timothy Dame, clerk in construction, have their pay reduced from $1500 to $1200 per year; Wm. W. Palfrey, clerk to civil engineer, has his pay reduced from $5 to $4 per day, and John Wentworth, slore clerk in yards and docks, has his pay reduced from $5 to $3.50 per day. A number of men have been set to work in steam engineering, to fit up the Plymouth's machinery, orders having been received to get her ready for sea.

Laconics.

J. Horace Kent, Esq., delivered a powerful speech in opposition to the free rum bill, in the legislature on Tuesday. We give it in full in another place. Read it.

The 4th-of-July-evening band concert will be given on Market square this evening, if the weather is half-way decent.

A young child named White, living on Market street, near Deer street, fell from a second story window on Monday morning; she was severely injured, but is recovering.

A boy named McCarthy lost a finger in the sawing machine at Thompson's woodyard, on Tuesday.

Steamer Ambassador, sent to look after the Faraday, arrived at Halifax at 5 o'clock P. M., Monday. Steamer Falmouth, which arrived at the same port on the morning of the same day, reported having sighted a brig-rigged steamer near Seal Island the day before, with cable-laying gear, and supposed her to be the Faraday. [The Ambassador is brig-rigged, but the Faraday is three-masted, so the latter vessel could not have been the one sighted by the Falmouth.]

Incidents of the Fourth.

At Concord, Mass., John Griffin, fourteen years old, lost the whole of his right hand and all but two fingers of the left, by a premature explosion of a gun with which he was celebrating the day.

Mrs. Kerns, residing on Bloomingdale road, in Worcester, Mass., was found near the wall, with a bullet wound in the back of her neck, supposed to have been an accidental shot from some pistol. A boy named James Gearing of the same city received a bullet in his left breast, caused by a careless shot of a French boy. Neither case is fatal as yet.

In Newburyport, Mass., on the Fourth, about thirty arrests were made for drunkenness and fighting.

Four Newburyport boys were slightly wounded by the bursting or careless handling of pistols, and one named John Crowly deliberately fired in the face of a girl named Harrington, badly burning her.

An emery roller substituted for a cannon, exploded at Chester, Mass.; one piece was hurled through a hotel window and another into Odd Fellows Hall.

Willie Anderson, aged thirteen, of Paterson, N. J., was killed while boating in the river, by the discharge of a pistol in the hands of one of his playmates celebrating the Fourth on the shore, one of whom, in fright, ran to the woods and has not yet been found.

In New York city one young man was found on the sidewalk wounded by a pistol ball, and died shortly after.

The casualties of the 4th in New York and Brooklyn are, one riot, six brutal affrays, thirty-five fires, forty children badly wounded, at least three persons killed outright, and one child burned to death.

There were several accidents in Chicago, from the use of pistols in firing salutes. Four persons are reported fatally hurt. One was killed and six seriously wounded by the explosion of a bottle of powder.

A young girl named Ada Houston, was fatally burned at Cincinnati, her clothes catching fire from fire-crackers.

Business Notices.

Self-Defence.

To a criminal neglect of preventive medication may be ascribed a majority of the ailments which afflict humanity. It is a well ascertained fact, resting on the experience of twenty years, that a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will put even a naturally feeble system in such a state of defence that it will be competent to resist the most prevalent causes of disease, such as the malign influence of miasms, unwholesome water, excessive heat, damp, cold, sudden changes of temperature, &c. Yet there are thousands of persons living in perpetual peril from one or more of these causes, who recklessly omit to avail themselves of the absolute protection which this famous vegetable antidote affords. Intermittent and bilious remittent fevers, rheumatism, general debility, nervous weakness, and irregularities of the stomach, bowels and liver, would be comparatively unknown if this palatable specific were in universal use in the districts where they principally prevail.

For Moth Patches, Freckles and Tan

Ask your Druggist for Perry's Moth and Freckle Lotion, which is harmless and in every case infallible. Or for his Improved COMEDONE and PIMPLE REMEDY, the great SKIN MEDICINE for Pimples, Black Heads or Flesh Worms. Or consult B. C. PERRY, the noted Skin Doctor, 49 Bond St., New York. n 19 1 6m

The "Gentleman in Black," who is the tutelar demon of drunkshops, assumes his sourest aspect when the rapid progress of VINEGAR BITTERS is reported "down below." The People's Vegetable Tonic is playing the mischief with his bitters fired with rum. All diseases which those demoniac nostrums aggravate, under pretense of relieving, such as indigestion, sick-headache, constipation, rheumatism, gout, and intermittent fevers are cured by it. je24 4w

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity, and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessary for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.

Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of Mr. Weeks' ale for you, and have seen the practical working of McCormick's purifying process.

The small proportion of decomposing matter (the germs of acetification and mould) which exist in wort as it comes from the malt and hops, and which is not visible, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the IMPURITIES, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured a wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well-founded, if taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

WAR DEPARTMENT,

SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE,

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1874.

An Army Medical Board will meet at New York City, and a similar board at San Francisco, on the 4th of August next, for the examination of candidates for admission into the medical Staff of the U. S. Army.

Applications for permission to appear before these Boards should be addressed to the Secretary of War, through the Surgeon General, U. S. Army.

The application must be in the hand-writing of the candidate, and must state his full name, residence, age, and date and place of birth. Candidates must be between 21 and 28 years of age, and graduates of a Medical College having a thorough and complete course of medical education—evidence of which must be submitted to the Board.

Testimonials as to character and qualifications must be furnished.

If the applicant has been in the medical service of the army the fact should be stated, and in such cases the limit of age may be extended, subject to the decision of the Secretary of War in each special case.

No allowance is made for travel or other expenses of persons undergoing examination, as it is an indispensible prerequisite to appointment.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence. Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used. Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish. In each box are 1 stick; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove thus all waste is saved

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 15 cents will polish as much surface as 75 cents' worth of the old polish.

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Barllett's Blacking and Pearl Bluing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signatures of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing!

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA- DEBILITY- DROPSY AND HUMORS.

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, so easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the ordinary food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon a iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Among the most secured a wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long-continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, for a great cure, and even a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well-founded, if taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the speedy and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dyspepsia, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, and Dinner Pill, and purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects are so decidedly superior and so far above all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take, and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it renews the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and the scalp healthy. The brand weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and lasting perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

A Persistent Hen.

[N. Y. Tribune.]

We want a new Henriade. The heroine—or, as Charles Lamb would have mildly corrected us, the sheroine—is a hen who made herself famous at the Mill river flood. She has put out of joint—to employ the slang of the nursery—the noses of two persons hitherto famous. Archimedes and the hen who insisted on laying her daily egg on the best bed in Mr. Beecher's farmhouse. Everybody has heard how Archimedes sat on brood on his mathematical conundrums in the very midst of the hurly-burly of Syracuse siege, and how the hatch and disclose of his abstraction did prove some danger to him in the shape of a cracked crown. We would repeat the story of Mr. Beecher's hen, if the poet-preacher had not already told it in his own inimitably delightful way. We believe it originally came in as an episode in a sermon of his "On the Perseverance of the Saints." But our Mill river hen set a larger example than did this tempestuous creature, and in a nobler way. We know few details of her history. Biddy was her name, and America her nation; Williamsburg was her dwelling place, and as the sequel will show, presence of mind her salvation. She had laid seventeen eggs in a barrel, and having done her level best in that line, she was setting on them when the mill dam burst. In spite of her teeth, the flood bore her along with the awful wreck—with horses and barns, trees and fences, and the bodies of men and beasts—but this steadfast creature never stirred. She knew that Massachusetts expected every hen to do her duty. She was clear grit. So long as her barrel kept out of water she would be hanged if she would drown. No one of her sex ever had such confidence in hoops. "Sink or swim," she cried, "survive or perish, I don't give up the ship." What outsiders were doing was none of her business. She was too busy keeping the beams out of her own eye to look after the motes in the eyes of other people. What thoughts may have passed through her mind! Perhaps she whistled as she went, for want of thought. Who knows? How her mother's heart must have trembled! "What," she cried, "must I lose all my pretty chickens by that dam?" If she did, she could have sung, no doubt she would have clucked to herself some ancient lay. Until the barrel was stove she would not deny herself the comfort of a stave. "Give me but what that barrel hoop bound, take all the rest the sun goes round." Or something else appropriate. Our hen was carried five miles, and at length the fates, snubbed and disappointed, bumped the barrel ashore and left it high and dry. What did the hen do? Did she jump out, and crow and cackle over her ride like a man? Did she scratch off a letter to Barnum offering to make a 'show' of herself? No, she just went on minding her own business, and in due time hatched out every one of her seventeen eggs. Oh, fowl most fair! How meekly did'st thou bear thy yoke! Many hens have done excellently, but thou excellest them all.

The Able Compositor.

[Rochester Dem. Chron.]

A good compositor on a daily journal never corrects his "revise." He deems it an insult to mark a revise, so far as he is concerned; and retiring his countenance underneath his case he swears to himself in an artistic and generally beautiful manner at the insufferable stupidity of the man who marked the revise, permitting the detestable thing to go its way. A "revise," as we have been in the habit of looking at it, is an editor's insurance against deprivation of life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness. Your good compositor doesn't think so, however. He simply mounts his ear—and it must be said that it is a pretty good sort of ear as a general thing—and he says that that infernal ass has been putting up another job on his mightiness.

The editor remarked in his luminous chirography, and with a startling originality peculiar only to himself, "The weather appears to be very beautiful." The good compositor put it, "The wether sneers at the very dutiful." The editor said, "The condition of things in France is rapidly growing incomprehensible." The good compositor put it, "The sedition of mules in prance is most damnable." The editor, in a moment of inspiration, used the expression, "And still the eagle, glorious bird of freedom, exalts his voice." The good compositor said, "And will the beadle, stertorous firm of bleedem, exert his nose?" The editor quoted from Whittier, "The pines were dark on Ramoth hill," etc. The good compositor quoted it from Milton, and put it, "The whines were bark on Manmoth pills," etc. The editor said, in the language of our late lamented friend Mr. Webster, "The Union now and forever, one and inseparable." The good compositor remarked "The minions once and together, now and immediately."

Let it be stated, however, that these mistakes are generally corrected in one way and another. It is the man of the "revise" we particularly allude to, the man of the apparently small but the most infernal mistakes. He can scarcely think it necessary to put in so small a thing as a comma, or to take out one. He apparently scorns the change of a single letter. He assuredly elevates his back whenever a transposition of words is necessary or advisable. He can take a word out of his matter under no circumstances, though the superfluous word make the most wretched sense and grammar. "It is a slight thing," says this good compositor; or rather "It is a 'pass,' and curse the difference;" or rather the "galley" doesn't come to him anyhow, for some remarkable reason never to be fairly understood. We merely mention it. We don't care to have credit for the beautiful originality of the truly good compositor. But at the same time, it must be conscientiously stated that there is no such man. He was a "sub," dammim, and he went away last night.

Daily Chronicle.

THURSDAY, JULY 9, 1874.

The Legislature.

On the 7th, in the House, Mr. Kent of Portsmouth moved to amend the bill to prevent incompetent persons from conducting the business of apothecaries, by adding after the word "liquors," "as they keep and use other poisons." Also by striking out the words "spirituous liquors" and inserting "alcoholic poisons." Carried.

Also, to add an amendment that such sales shall be recorded (and be open to the inspection of the legal authorities) with the name of the physician prescribing and the name of the party receiving, with the class and quantity of alcoholic poisons thus sold, with penalties for non-compliance of $50 for the first and $100 for the second offence or imprisonment not exceeding three months.

Mr. Kent said that the bill was approved by druggists.

Mr. Mellows of Newmarket, objected to the last amendment which he said would nullify the bill and prevent a druggist selling an ounce of essence of peppermint without a prescription.

Mr. Kent replied to Mr. Mellows and called for a division on the amendment, when no quorum voted.

Mr. Emery of Portsmouth explained the provisions of the bill, stating that it required no more of druggists than was required of them with regard to other prescriptions under the present law. He thought the amendment ought to pass.

On another division the amendment was adopted by 179 to 4.

On motion of Mr. Burrows of Plymouth, the bill was read a third time and passed.

The vote declaring it inexpedient to legislate concerning a new State prison was reconsidered, and the resolution to appoint a commission was ordered to its third reading.

The question of disbanding the Concord City Guards was referred to committee.

An act to establish a railroad police, was passed.

The bill reorganizing the judiciary, was passed.

There was a sharp discussion and much fillibustering over the railroad corruption business, and the House adjourned with the question pending.

The bill uniting the Boston & Lowell and Lowell & Nashua railroads came before the House on a motion for reconsideration. In the forenoon Mr. Mellows of Newmarket introduced a preamble and resolution declaring that corrupt means were being used to secure the passage of the bill, and ordering a committee of investigation; which resolution was adopted, and a committee appointed. The vote to reconsider prevailed by a small majority, whereupon a call for the previous question was made by the friends of the bill, which was stoutly resisted by the opposition. Speeches were made in favor of the measure by Messrs. Sinclair of Littleton and Sanborn of Franklin, and in opposition by Messrs. Briggs of Manchester, Bingham of Littleton and Hall of Dover. The latter gentleman moved to adjourn, which was negatived by 114 to 186. A motion to lay on the table was also defeated by 123 to 173, and a second motion to adjourn was lost by 121 to 146. At this point Mr. Hutchinson of Milford rose to a question of privilege, and said that he had, after entering the hall, been offered by the lobby in favor of the bill $25 to absent himself from the hall. This announcement created intense excitement, and was followed by caustic speeches by Messrs. Hall of Dover and others against the measure; when the vote was taken on ordering the main question, and decided in the negative by 143 to 163, which result was vociferously applauded by the anti-consolidationists, after which the house adjourned.

Concerning this railroad fight (now called "The Battle of the Wilderness,") the able Concord correspondent of the Manchester Mirror says it is really "a fight for the control of the democratic organization," by the leaders of that party, and adds: "On one hand are John H. George, John G. Sinclair, Frank Jones, John E. Lyon, Josiah Minot, Burrows, Blodgett, Salloway and Daniell and their followers. On the other are John H. Pearson, Harry Bingham and Edmund Burke and their adherents. Each of these parties has a candidate for Senator, for Governor and for every other office. Each has also a railroad policy which it intends to pledge the party to, and each hates the other beyond measure. In the House the leaders are Bingham and Sinclair, the two candidates for Senator. Sinclair favors the Lowell Railroad bill; Bingham leads the opposition to it; but, as noted above, this is lost sight of now, and the hot discussions which one hears at every turn, do not, as a rule, contain any reference to railroads or consolidations, but are made up of vigorous defence of the two leaders."

In the evening the bribery investigating committee held a session, at which no evidence was of importance save Mr. Hutchinson's.

(Special dispatch to the Chronicle.)

CONCORD, July 8, 7 o'clock P. M.

The license bill has been under discussion all day. The vote to indefinitely postpone it stood 154 yeas to 159 nays. The bill was then ordered to its third reading by the casting vote of Speaker Hatch, the vote being 160 to 160. The bill comes up for its final passage to-morrow forenoon.

Capt. Peach, of schooner St. Mary, of Provincetown, Mass., is under a cloud in consequence of having killed the vessel's cook, King Rogers, on the 3d, in a quarrel at sea. The cook was the aggressor and tried to stab the captain, who broke his skull with an oar.

Another Indian war is imminent in Kansas, hostile bands of Cheyennes and Kiowas having commenced depredations. Wm. Watkins was killed and scalped within thirty miles of the Cheyenne agency, on the 2d; Baker's ranch has been attacked, and four men killed near it, one of them having been tied to his wagon and burned; and at St. Joseph, about twenty-seven miles west of Pembina, a large band of Cathead Sioux murdered an entire family of six or eight persons. John D. Miles, the agent in charge of the station, and a Quaker, calls earnestly on the government for troops to administer summary punishment on the murderers.

At a "poor children's excursion" from Boston to Silver Lake Grove, Monday, there was a small war of races, some Irish gamins provoking the colored children to a fight, when a colored girl of fifteen years drew some sharp instrument and wounded several of the aggressors. All the parties were arrested, and also an Irish man and woman who instigated the annoyance.

A new air machine was lately put into opperation in the British House of Commons. By means of this apparatus a constant supply of air, cooled to any required degree, even in the warmest weather, can be supplied at the rate of from 60,000 to 90,000 gallons per minute. The house contains about 900,000 gallons of air, so that when the apparatus is working at its maximum, it is possible to renew the air without sensible draught every ten minutes.

A serious riot occurred in Fredericton, N. B., Monday night, on the occasion of the performance of Lent's circus. A large number of lumbermen were present, and some dispute arising at the ticket office on the subject of change, a row took place, which ended in the circus people drawing revolvers and firing among the crowd. This, instead of intimidating, only served to incense those present, and as fast as those wounded were carried away others took their places, until the circus people were overpowered and some of their wagons run into the river. At this time the riot assumed an alarming aspect. Fire bells were rung, and the mayor with a body of special constables hastily sworn in, after some trouble, succeeded in clearing the ground. Thirteen of the circus men were arrested. It being rumored next morning that the circus was about to leave for St. Stephen, a large body of lumbermen assembled at the station threatening to tear up the rails. An injunction from the supreme court, however, being served in time, the circus was detained till a full investigation can be made. Much excitement prevails over the affair.

The convicted New York police commissioners, Charlick and Gardner, have resigned, and new appointments have been made by the mayor.

Four thousand Carlists attacked Temel, Spain, on last Saturday. After an engagement, lasting twelve hours, they were obliged to retire, with a loss of forty killed, sixty seriously wounded and two hundred prisoners. The republicans lost nine killed and fifteen wounded.

By a collision on the Lancashire (Eng.) Railway, Tuesday morning, five persons were killed and several wounded.

State News.

Rev. Dr. Bay, editor of the Morning Star, of Dover, declines the call to the Presidency of Hillsdale (Mich.) College.

During a shower Friday night, lightning struck the barn of Charles W. Wiggins on Franklin street, Dover, passing from roof to cellar, through a mow of hay, and two or three scaffolds. In the barn were three stalls, side by side, two of which contained valuable horses, leaving the third vacant, which the lightning entered, completely wrecking it. Close behind the horses were two hay forks, both of which were drawn from the handles, a tine of one being melted. The floors were thoroughly shaken up, and a foot square beam was broken. The lightning demolished an expensive vane and ventilator, on the roof, but without setting the barn on fire, nor injuring any of the numerous persons around it.

Congressman Pike of this State has been notified that a vacancy exists at West Point, to fill which he is expected to make a nomination by August 25th, next. Congressman Small has been notified that a vacancy for him to fill will occur by graduation next June.

The Milford Enterprise says the 4th was observed in a very orderly manner in that town, generally, though one man did get so drunk as to lose his wife. While hunting for her in the crowd he was asked to describe her, and answered: "Oh! it's easy to tell her—she's all-fired homely!" That chap will be sorry he got drunk, after his wife reads the Enterprise.

The Boston Globe says: "The New Hampshire Legislature contains some curious statesmen. Mr. Bailey of Hopkinton says he is opposed to any change in the liquor law and shall vote against license in his own town if the pending bill passes. Mr. Bailey of Hopkinton travelled about the State during the last campaign for the special purpose of denouncing the existing law and advocating license. He was in the pay of the License Alliance, and, probably, when his contract with that concern ended, he had no further use for his principles; and yet these New Hampshire democrats don't like to be told that they make merchandise of their principles."

Truly farming is a fearful and wonderful pursuit.

Self-Defence.

To a criminal neglect of preventive medication may be ascribed a majority of the ailments which affect humanity. It is a well ascertained fact, resting on the experience of twenty years, that a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will put even a naturally feeble system in such a state of defence that it will be competent to resist the most prevalent causes of disease, such as the malign influence of miasma, unwholesome water, excessive heat, damp, cold, sudden changes of temperature, &c. Yet there are thousands of persons living in perpetual peril from one or more of these causes, who recklessly omit to avail themselves of the absolute protection which this famous vegetable antidote affords. Intermittent and bilious remittent fevers, rheumatism, general debility, nervous weakness, and irregularities of the stomach, bowels and liver, would be comparatively unknown if this palatable specific were in universal use in the districts where they principally prevail.

The largest of her species ever captured, who has attained the extraordinary age of 130 years, stands eleven feet and six inches high, and weighs 8 tons, 480 pounds, will lead the grand caravan in procession. The only RHINOCEROS ever subdued to perform in the Amphitheatre, and ridden by a native. The wonderful Talking Horse, "Stephen A. Douglass." The great performing Mules, "Brick Pomeroy," and "Bess Butler." The smallest Elephant in the world, only 2 years of age. The most gorgeous street display ever conceived. The streets crowded with Massive Glittering Dens filled with LIVING WILD BEASTS.

Every cage is adorned with silk and golden Banners, representing the climates of all nations, heralded by the monster CORNET BAND, of 25 thorough Musicians. This is the only Menagerie that will visit the New England States this season.

Doors open at 1 and 7 P. M., giving all an opportunity to visit the pavilions devoted to the Museum, Menagerie and Mechanical department, before the Hippodrome begins. ADMISSION TO ALL, 50 CENTS. Children under 9 years of age, 25 cents.

Will exhibit at Great Falls July 13th, Saco 14th, Portland 15th, and all the principal cities and towns in New England. jly 9 10 11

SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE,

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1874.

An Army Medical Board will meet at New York City, and a similar board at San Francisco, on the 4th of August next, for the examination of candidates for admission into the medical Staff of the U. S. Army.

Applications for permission to appear before these Boards should be addressed to the Secretary of War, through the Surgeon General, U. S. Army.

The application must be in the hand-writing of the candidate, and must state the full name, residence, age, and date and place of birth. Candidates must be between 21 and 28 years of age, and graduates of a Medical College having a thorough and complete course of medical education—evidence of which must be submitted to the Board.

Testimonials as to character and qualifications must be furnished.

If the applicant has been in the medical service of the army the fact should be stated, and in such cases the limit of age may be extended, subject to the decision of the Secretary of War in each special case.

No allowance is made for travel or other expenses of persons undergoing examination, as it is an indispensible prerequisite to appointment.

HENDERSON & CO.,

ANNOUNCE THEIR

SPRING OPENING

— OF —

Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons,

The Largest Stock, The Latest Styles, The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

And five dollar Trimmed Hats will compare favorably with any ten dollar one in the city.

SASH RIBBONS, - - - - - - - 25 cents per yard.
SILK TIES - - - - - - - - - 20 cents each.

H. S. Vanderbilt, Esq., formerly of this city, where all who were acquainted with him are his friends, has accepted a re-appointment as Appointment Clerk of the Treasury department. He had previously declined to remain and the Washington Republican paid him the following compliment:

Mr. James Gilfillan has been designated by Secretary Bristow to occupy the onerous and disagreeable position so long and ably filled by the gracefully suave Vanderbilt, that of appointment clerk. If all the romantically distressing stories which have been poured into the ears of Mr. Vanderbilt by those who have sought appointments in the Treasury could be printed in the New York Ledger they would insure its existence many thousand years. It must be remembered that the grievances of the disappointed as well as those of the appointed are obliged to be heard. Perhaps in the green old age of the future he may recall and preserve some of the true strange stories of his official life in literature. At all events, his retirement from office, which has long been foreshadowed and which is imperiously demanded by important private business, is deeply regretted by all whose affairs brought them in contact with him. If Mr. Gilfillan shall bring and preserve such an even temper and engaging manner, prompted by a really kind heart, as have been exhibited by his predecessor many prayers will ascend for his lengthy sojourn in that office.

Laconics.

The Bangor express train from Boston, over the Eastern Railroad, Monday evening, passed through this city with sixteen cars, four of them being Pullman cars. The train was drawn by two locomotives. Every car was crowded, most of the occupants being through passengers.

The proprietors of the Oceanic hotel at Star Island, Isles of Shoals, are making arrangements for a yacht race, which will take place during the latter part of the present month, at that place. This race, to which all boats will be admitted, will be the first of a contemplated series of annual yacht regattas at Star Island. The prizes will be what are known as the Oceanic Cups, with three for each race. The first prize will be valued at $200, the second at $150, and the third at $100. The cups are now being made. The race promises to be a lively one, as the owners of several fine yachts have already signified their intention to compete.

We are informed that matters at the navy yard are now in much the same condition they were in Paris during the Reign of Terror and the guillotine.—the first thing every man does when he wakes in the morning, is to put his hands up to his head, to see whether it still remains on his shoulders or some rude practical joker has walked off with it in a basket.

The keel for a new ship of about 1125 tons burthen, to be owned by Charles H. Mendum and others, is being laid at Raynes' ship yard by Mr. William F. Fernald.

A series of tent meetings commenced in Newcastle, Monday evening, to continue ten days, services being held each afternoon at half-past 2 o'clock and each evening at half-past 7, under conduct of Elders John G. T. Cruse and G. L. Mussey.

Mr. Balch has purchased several pairs of fine, large horses, for drawing the steam fire engines and sprinkling carts, and is sprinkling the streets in a faithful and satisfactory manner, as heretofore, having powerful teams and good drivers.

A lady who moved from the country into one of the houses nearest the carriage manufactory on Hanover street, on the day before the 4th, was very kindly warned by a lady neighbor that "the boys" in Portsmouth kicked up an awful noise on the night before the 4th and were sometimes assisted by the men, so she need not be at all alarmed if she heard guns and pistols and crackers fired, and men and boys howling all sorts of things, as no one would be harmed and the police would soon quiet matters down. When the alarm of fire was given the lady first mentioned had retired, and supposing all the uproar was only the regular Portsmouth style of celebrating the 4th she did not even get up to look out of her window, which was almost over the fire; and when the efforts of the first arrivals had extinguished the flames and the noise in consequence ceased, she supposed the police had quelled the disturbance and quietly went to sleep, in blissful ignorance that she had been nearly burned out of house and home.

A yearling colt belonging to a gentleman residing in the outskirts of the city, recently made its way into a pasture adjoining its own, where there was a big two-years-old colt. The latter resented the intrusion, drove the little colt into a corner, and finally gave him a "riser" in the ribs with both heels, kicking him over a three-rail fence and into a ditch, where he landed on his back and was unable to get out. Some men who saw the affair rescued the unlucky animal, which did not seem to be harmed much by the rough usage; but the hint that his society isn't wanted in the big colt's pasture has proved sufficient to keep him on his own premises since then.

The annual exhibition of the High School will take place on Friday afternoon, commencing at half-past 2 o'clock.

A special dispatch from Halifax, under date of July 7, says the cable steamer Ambassador would leave there on the 8th. The captain of the German war brig Rover, which arrived at Halifax June 28, went on board the Ambassador on the 7th of July and reported that he passed the Faraday on the 27th of June, she being engaged in picking up the cable, ninety miles southeast of Halifax. Although more than a week in the harbor while the world was excited over the rumors of the loss of the Faraday, he had never thought it worth while reporting the matter before. A truly Teutonic mariner.

Maginley's Royal Circus

And Mammoth Menagerie, British Museum, and school of educated animals, will spread their pavilion in Portsmouth on Saturday, July 11, and give two performances—afternoon and evening. This establishment is pronounced to be one of the finest ever on the road, not excepting the "great Barnum's," with his "world's fair on wheels." The show includes the mammoth elephant "Empress," said to be the largest ever captured and to have attained the age of 130 years; the only performing rhinoceros ever ridden in the ring; the wonderful talking horse, "Stephen A. Douglass;" the human anaconda prince, Sadi di Jalma; the Carroll family (eight in number) champion bareback riders, with four of the best clowns in the profession, besides a complete troupe of gymnasts, trapeze performers, acrobats, rope and wire walkers, and the school of educated animals. Aside from the Menagerie of rare wild beasts, the British Museum, and the extra performance of "Putnam, the Iron Son of '76," with Ben Maginley as the hero, this dramatic spectacle is presented every evening in the Hippodrome, giving an extra performance free of charge. The street parade presents forty horses driven by one man, and the huge elephant leading the grand cavalcade, conducted by the Band, Herr Adolph Nichols, leader. See advertisement.

Newcastle.

A special correspondent of the Boston Traveller gives the following description of the town which should be the "island ward" of Portsmouth:

"This old town, which was incorporated in 1673, in the reign of William and Mary, for a consideration of three pepper corns annually to be paid, has very many curious relics of the past, rewarding alike the antiquarian and those who seek Newcastle alone for pleasure. In shape it is something like a fort with jutting points of land as bastions at the corners, and at its eastern end is a quaint old fishing village of perhaps fifty houses divided by narrow streets in which the grass has grown for years. The style of architecture is primitive and queer. Old-fashioned brass knockers and latches are upon many of the outer doors, and the outbuildings are of a rambling character in some places quite interesting. Jaffrey's Point, at the extremity of the town, is the location of the old 'Fort Constitution, built in 1808,' the wooden portcullis of which still remains intact as does its masonry and walls. New earthworks are now being constructed here for the defence of the harbor. An old roundhouse, called Walbach Tower, with deep embrasures, constructed of brick and earth, is fast going to decay near Fort Constitution."

That's a pretty good description of the place, but we don't see what motive the correspondent could have had in moving Fort Constitution from the place where it was "built in 1808" to Jaffrey's Point, at the other extreme of the island. However, as it is wholly useless anywhere, we don't know as it matters much where he locates it. He says of "The Wentworth," that it "is located on Little Harbor, a portion of Newcastle, and fittingly crowns a wooded eminence. At its right is a magnificent beach for bathing; and another beach with smooth, hard sand, lies behind the beautiful grove which nearly surrounds the house. Strikingly well located, with electric bells, gas and all the modern improvements, billiard halls, hardwood furniture with spring beds and hair mattresses, it offers every luxury of a metropolitan hotel. 'The Wentworth' is under the management of Mr. Charles E. Campbell, whose large experience enables him to have everything perfect. Every room has been engaged, among the guests being Rev. Dr. Francis Hodge of Brooklyn, Prof. Peabody of Harvard College, Rev. Mr. De Normandie and family of Portsmouth, Admiral Bailey, Commodore Woodhull and family, and other notabilities."

—That was an expressive remark of a practical man regarding the women of the period, "They don't know enough to bile hot water."

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are hereby saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MAGN, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. SUMMER is coming! I want a piece of ICE; where is one I gotting? Why, just send a boy to Perkins', No. 30 South St., and you are sure of it. The Subscriber, having purchased the entire interest of the Portsmouth Ice Co., would take this opportunity to thank his old customers for their past patronage, and would solicit the continuance of the same as well as that of the public generally. Situated as I am, with a large Ice House on Mt. Vernon St., I am prepared to deliver ICE cut from pure spring water, in any part of the city, on the shortest possible notice. By strict attention to the wants of the public and by selecting honest and accommodating drivers, I mean to merit and hope to receive a large share of the public patronage. Special attention given to delivering ICE to the SICK. Orders from Fishermen promptly attended to.

N. B. Hoping all misdemeanors of drivers will be reported to the subscriber before other steps are taken, I promise that all complaints will receive immediate attention. ORDER SLATE at H. M. Clark's provision store,—or orders may be left with the subscriber at No. 30 South St., or sent through the post-office. dawtf GEORGE A. PERKINS.

Messrs. Isaac Cook & Co.

Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of Ale Wort, for you, and have seen the practical working of McCormick's purifying process.

The small proportion of decomposing matter (the germs of acetification and mould) which exist in wort as it comes from the malt and hops, and which is not visible, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the impurities, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. Respectfully,

"Kurridge dis way—25 cents to any part ob de city."

This was the theme of a sable hackman at a recent public gathering.

"Only 25 cents to any part ob de city. Hab a kurridge, sah?" And thus he accosted every passing gentleman.

Presently a well-dressed, gentlemanly-appearing colored man came up, when, all of a sudden the hackman ceased to call out the "quarters," and turned so as not to look the gentleman in the face.

"I would like a carriage," said the gentleman.

No response.

"I would like to ride to the Boody House," stepping nearer and speaking louder.

"Sah?"

"Is this a hack?"

"No, sah; it's a private kurridge."

"Don't you carry passengers?"

"Some times I does, sah, and sometimes I don't, sah," turning away again.

"How much to drive me to the Boody?"

"Three dollahs, sah!"

But the gentleman got in, and seemed to display his face at the window as much as possible as they drove along the streets. But imagine the driver's disgusted look when the gentleman helped himself out and handed a quarter for his fare, and, with a smile, passed into the hotel.

He was no other than Professor Larcome, of Washington, whose life has been spent in teaching, and in efforts to elevate his race.

An Unlucky Locomotive.

[Hackensack Republican.]

Engine No. 70—the Passaic—on which John Williams was killed last week, is termed by railroad men an "unlucky machine." This engine was formerly the C. A. Wortendyke, and was built in the Rogers Shops, at Paterson. After being finished it was hauled up to be tested in the shops, when it fell down and killed two men. This gave it the title of unlucky, which it has since maintained. Its first trick was to fall through the Saddle River bridge at Rochelle Park. After that it engaged in a smash-up at the West End, and in another up the road. Its last caper, it seems, was to cause the death of John Williams by the imperfect working of the draughts. Wherever there is any trouble on the road, there engine No. 70 can be found.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 2. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future once before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 18. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed, and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for curying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 15. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 17. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for such refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

CRUMBS Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence. OF Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish. COMFORT Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

CRUMBS Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used. OF Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets. COMFORT Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish. OF In each box are 1 sticks; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove and thus all waste is saved. COMFORT Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition. OF In competition with several of the best old stove polishes. COMFORT

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper. If he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and assortment of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Blueing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

'Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry'

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA- DEBILITY- DROPSY AND HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, imparting strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured a wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long-continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still awakes the most confident trust of COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed the most dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well-founded, if taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic

PROPRIETORS.

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and purifying the Blood,

are the most consenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefit they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

RHYTHMICS of many Moods and Quantities, Wise and Otherwise. By B. P. Shillaber. Subscribers, copies ready for delivery, by JOSEPH H. FOSTER.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, its use is free from all injurious ingredients.

By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S

CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilous, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humor and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and cause it then incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often restores the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus it renders weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

A Smart Girl.

[Newburyport Herald.]

Woodchucks are a most intolerable nuisance in Rowley, some years cutting off half the pumpkin crop. One enterprising farmer made a formal declaration of war against them, and bought a "yaller dorg" that was reputed to be the champion woodchuckist. Bose did shake the life out of half a dozen of the varmints, just to show what might be done, in case of an emergency, but his interest declined, and he didn't seem to take much stock in woodchucks. One morning at breakfast the farmer's little daughter, 9 years old, told her father that she believed that she could beat the dog at his own game, and he replied that she should have a quarter apiece for all she would catch and the champion's belt, if she brought home more chucks for the next week than Bose did. Accordingly after breakfast she went out with no arms except what nature endowed her with, and no traps but her cunning hand, and within an hour returned holding what appeared to be the grandfather of all woodchucks, a perfect monster, by the hind legs, carrying him at arms' length, while he struggled to get free, and scratched and bit to the best of his ability. The farmer patted his daughter on the head in appreciation of her prowess, and then patted the woodchuck on the head also. The girl caught another in the afternoon, and within a week caught five, beat the dog and claiming the championship. Her modus operandi was simply to lie down back of a hole and patiently watch the appearance of the tenant, grabbing him by the nape of the neck as soon as his head emerged above ground. The farmer would dispose of the dog at a reasonable price, but that girl isn't for sale.

A Managing Editor.

[Indianapolis Sunday Herald.]

We were elated when we heard of it. Better late than never. The Fishbacks all have a talent for managing newspapers, though none of them are so brilliantly gifted in this line as George. When we heard that John had taken the management of the Sentinel we felt that there was hope for that much-abused concern. A newspaper is not a tanyard, that's a fact; but when a fellow successfully edits a tanyard, sees that the bark is properly ground, the ooze of the required strength, the hides well handled, and the "bait" properly prepared, it is evidence, prima facie at least, that he is qualified to run a newspaper. So we rejoiced with an exceeding great joy when we learned that the good John had superseded the impostor Keenan.

Sunday night we went around to see how Mr. Fishback "managed." We took a seat on one of the chairs in front of the Circle House, and looked across the way at the new room in the south corner, which has been sumptuously fitted up for the managing editor. There he was. A pair of No. 10 oak-tanned boats, with a bit of white pantaloon in perspective, loomed up over the window-sill, while further to the westward there was a swelling protuberance of capon-lined abdomen, merging into white duck vesting. Further on the white and shining dome of thought glistened in the cool twilight, while wreaths of blue vapor, blown in fantastic rings, floated upward to the ceiling. Mr. Fishback's position was semi-horizontal—feet in the window, coccyx on the chair, head thrown back until the nose was almost on a line with the Websterian brow, eyes on the ceiling, and the fragrant smoke expelled vertically toward the zenith. We never saw a more vigorous display of managing ability, or a greater apparent self-confidence and self-possession.

We watched him manage the Sentinel for ten minutes by the clock, when he threw away the stump of his cigar, and, without changing his position, extended both hands above his head and stretched himself. At the distance the yawn was inaudible, but the manner in which it was done stamped Mr. Fishback as a man of genius. We have seen Murat Halstead and Jo. McCullagh yawn in that same manner. We have seen pretenders attempt it and fail miserably. To Mr. Fishback it seems to come naturally. As we before remarked, Mr. Fishback stretched and yawned, and then got up and walked out. In a few moments he returned, lit a fresh cigar, and proceeded to manage some more. You needn't tell us that he don't know how to manage a newspaper.

—A husband informed his wife that she did not know anything about Scripture, you know. The lady, being a Sunday-school teacher, thought she knew considerably better than that, and asked to be catechised. The man began with the first chapter of Genesis: "Who was the first man?" "Adam." "Who was the first woman?" "Eve." "Who killed Cain?" "Abel!" all delivered with vigor, and the answerer went to the foot.

—A tender-hearted little girl was distressed at seeing a motherly old hen about to fold her wings over a brood of chickens, and begun to pound on the window with her little fat fists, crying "Don't you sit down on all those pretty little birdies, you ugly old rooster!" And the little three-year-old, when discovered in the pantry systematically smashing eggs, replied to her mother's astonished inquiries, that she was "breakin' 'em open, so's to let the little chick'ns walk out!"

FRIDAY, JULY 10, 1874.

That Bribery.

The statement of Mr. B. F. Hutchinson, member of the House from Milford and a well known farmer and member of the State Board of Agriculture, that he was offered $25 for his vote (or for not voting, which amounts to the same thing in principle,) by a person acting in the railroad interest, who said he had already secured one man and was authorized to buy three more —all for $100—seems to show that the railroad men put our New Hampshire legislators down to a figure too contemptibly low. Why, even New York assemblymen never offered themselves for sale at less than $50, and there is no record of a Pennsylvania legislator being knocked down on a bid of less than $75. What will the people of other States think and say when they learn that "the railroads," popularly supposed to be the heaviest and most liberal investors in lobby speculations, appraise the vote of a member of the New Hampshire House of Representatives on an important railroad measure, at twenty-five dollars! Infamous! We want these railroad corruptionists to understand that our legislators are not that sort of men at all; they go to Concord to "do the will of the people"—they own up to that themselves, even when engaged in the most unscrupulous partisan work; besides, $25 isn't enough.

The Legislature.

On the 8th, the Senate passed the bill enabling the purchase of Portsmouth Bridge, and the joint resolution concerning Federal interference in elections.

The bill to prevent incompetent persons carrying on the business of druggists or apothecaries was referred to judiciary committee.

The joint resolution sent up from the House, that the legislature adjourn on the 9th, was laid on the table.

The bill upsetting the present judiciary system, and building up a new one on a sound democratic basis, was passed with amendments.

The Dover gerrymander bill was read a third time and passed, as was the one to punish and prevent bribery at elections.

The bill to place the inmates of insane asylums under the protection of the laws was read twice and referred.

In the House, only about sixty members were present when the session opened, a large number being in the room of the corruption-investigating committee.

Mr. Emery of Portsmouth, offered the following resolution: "Resolved, That the present session of this Legislature, the Honorable Senate concurring, be brought to a close on Thursday, the 9th day of July instant." Carried.

A bill in amendment of the act relating to insane persons was passed,—giving the Governor authority to appoint a commission with certain discretionary powers of enquiry.

Another bill, to place the inmates of insane asylums under the protection of the law, was passed after discussion.

A resolution was offered by Mr. Kent, that all bills, resolutions and papers in the possession of committees or on the Speaker's table, and not finally acted on at the time the House adjourns be deposited in the office of the Secretary of State until next session. Adopted.

The free rum temperance bill took up most of the day. Messrs. Briggs and Nowell, of Manchester, Emery and Kent, of Portsmouth, Dunbar of Hillsborough, and others, opposed the bill, in its principles and details; Messrs. Bingham and Sinclair of Littleton, Jackson, of Manchester, Bailey of Hopkinton, and others, supported the bill "in the interests of temperance."

On the question to indefinitely postpone, free rum carried the day by a vote of 159 to 154,—five majority.

Mr. Huntley of Alstead moved to amend the bill so as to prevent innholders selling liquor to their guests between 11 o'clock at night and 5 o'clock next morning, or on Sundays, and limiting sales of liquor at those periods to apothecaries, on physicians' prescriptions.

Mr. Bingham favored the amendment, but it was rejected on a division by 128 to 47. Bingham called for the yeas and nays.

Mr. Brown, of Claremont, said the democratic party had the fixing up of the bill, and he hoped they would go on with it to the end; the republicans did not propose to father it, or any portion of it.

Bingham withdrew his call for the yeas and nays, and the amendment was adopted on a division, 136 to 46. Other amendments were rejected.

On the question of passing the bill to its third reading Mr. Emery called for the yeas and nays,—result, 160 on each side. Speaker Albert R. Hatch then sent the bill to its third reading by his casting vote.

The special committee appointed to make an investigation of the affairs of the National Saving's Bank, of Concord, reported the concern solvent, with a surplus of nearly $100,000, and that no further legislation was needed on the subject.

[Special to CHRONICLE.]

CONCORD, July 9, 5:30 P. M.

The license bill is defeated. The Lowell Railroad bill has passed. KENT.

CONCORD, 8 P. M.

The republicans are jubilant, and congratulating each other on the defeat of the license bill which the democracy pledged themselves to pass at this session, while the democrats are divided. Page of Concord is roaring mad, and Putnam, the chairman of the democratic State committee, is discouraged and predicts a first class democratic funeral next March. To say they are demoralized to-night is to speak the truth. The license bill gained several votes on account of the support by prominent democrats of the railroad bill. The license bill was defeated by a vote of 175 against it to 137 in its favor. The legislature will adjourn to-morrow. KENT.

State News.

The store of Frank Currier, in Canaan, was robbed on the 28th ult. of goods to the value of $200.

The house of R. E. Miller, in Claremont Lower Village, was nearly destroyed by fire Tuesday morning, 30th ult. Loss $2,500; insured, $1,200 in Cheshire Mutual.

An infant child of Mr. Fred Flanders, of Orange, was scalded to death Tuesday, June 30th. The mother had left the room for a few moments, leaving the child with one of the older children, who accidentally let it fall from her arms into a boiler of hot water. The little girl, with a heroism scarce to be expected, plunged her arms into the boiling water to rescue it, scalding them fearfully to the elbows. The babe lived only two hours after the accident.

Readables.

George Brown of Halifax, N. S., and William Scharff of Pittsburg, Penn., pulled a five-mile race on the Connecticut river at Springfield, Mass., on the 8th, for $2000 in gold a side, and the single-scull championship of America. Brown won the race by six seconds, doing the five miles in 36:25. An immense amount of money changed hands,—probably $150,000. Somebody and his money, etc.

A steamer with two hundred American tourists on board was run high and dry on a rock while shooting Cedar Rapids, on the St. Lawrence river, Wednesday. No lives lost.

A Mount Desert correspondent writes: "Bar Harbor, the chief summer resort on the coast of Maine, has just finished a line of water pipes to Eagle Lake, among the high mountains of the interior. Several large new boarding-houses have been built, and apparently all the others have been painted since the last season. Plank sidewalks also have been made through the entire settlement. This is the only point in the whole Atlantic coast of the United States where the mountains come down to the sea. It is glorious to view the ocean roll its waves high up against the cliffs of Great Head, and to breathe the mountain and ocean air at the same time. The mountains rise to an elevation of 1700 feet right up from the waves."

The Register-General of Great Britain and Ireland makes the following estimate of the population of the great towns of Great Britain and in the middle of this year, 1874:—London, 3,400,794; Liverpool, 510,-670; Glasgow, 508,109; Manchester, 355,-333; Salford, 133,068; Birmingham, 330,-882; Dublin, 314,666; Leeds, 273,793; Sheffield, 261,019; Edinburgh, 211,691; Bristol, 192,889; Bradford, 173,056; Newcastle-upon-Tyne, 135,438; Hull, 130,996; Portsmouth, 120,486; Brighton (with suburbs), 109,319; Leicester, 106,202; Sunderland, 104,378.

The stockholders of the Vermont & Canada Railroad held a special meeting at Bellows Falls, Vt., and voted to sell the road to the Central Vermont Railroad Company for $3,000,000, payable in bonds having thirty years to run, with interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum. An animated discussion took place upon the probity of the purchasers and their capability to pay the sum agreed upon. The stockholders of the Central Vermont also held a meeting at the same place, and concluded to ratify the action of both boards of directors.

Intelligence has just arrived that a detachment of soldiers had a fight with Sioux Indians, id Wyoming Territory, some days ago, and killed and wounded fifty of them. In Kansas a party of whites lost three of their number and killed eleven Indians, in a fight.

—Speaking of the white cravat Commodore Vanderbilt always wears, one of his friends asked him one day if it did not secure for him a good many clerical favors. The commodore replied that he did not remember of any important advantage that he had ever derived from wearing it; but said that he had sometimes been taken for a clergyman, and once rather ludicrously. He was coming down town in a Fourth Avenue car, when two young men entered, both drunk enough to be in a confiding mood. Perceiving the snowy locks and the white neckerchief on the other side of the car, one of them nudged the other with his elbow, and then moving down on the seat until he was directly opposite to the commodore, leaned over and said, in a maudlin whine: "I sposeyer think's I'm agoin' straight down h(hic)ell, don't yer?" "Why—no; I hope not," answered the commodore, deprecatingly. The young man edged back to the side of his companion. "He's Un'vers'list (hic)" he said, in a knowing tone.

—In the State of Ohio there resided a family consisting of an old man of the name of Beaver and his four sons, all of whom were hard "pets," who had often laughed to scorn the advice and entreaties of a pious, though very eccentric, minister who resided in the same town. It happened that one of the boys was bitten by a rattlesnake, and was expected to die, when the minister was sent for in great haste. On his arrival he found the young man very penitent and anxious to be prayed with. The minister, calling on the family, knelt down and prayed in this wise: "O Lord, we thank Thee for rattlesnakes. We thank Thee because a rattlesnake has bit Jim. We pray Thee to send a rattlesnake to bite John; send one to bite Bill; send one to bite Sam; and, O Lord, send the biggest of Thy rattlesnakes to bite the old man; for nothing but rattlesnakes will ever bring the Beaver family to repentance."

—The colored gentry at Long Branch are much pleased with "the white elements of the population" this season.

Damaging Disclosure.

[Baltimore American.]

A circumstance that has recently occurred in Cincinnati is somewhat damaging to the reputation of the medical gentlemen of that city for professional morality. At a meeting of the Academy of Medicine Dr. Reamy declared that members of the profession in high standing were guilty of the crime of abortion, and when stormed at by his colleagues for uttering a slander upon them, he reduced the charge to writing, with the addenda that the crime is committed by "the wives of respectable citizens, who are taught to do so by their family physicians." The accusation was so grave that it was reported to the Committee on Ethics for them to obtain the facts. From the testimony taken before them it appears that no less than eight reputable physicians admitted the knowledge of various numbers of cases, some knowing of but one, and others of a half dozen. Information of all these cases was obtained from the women concerned, who, in every instance except one, moved in respectable circles. Some procured the abortions to prevent exposure and shame, but the majority were married women, who risked death to avoid child-birth. The committee reported that, after a careful consideration of the testimony, they were of the opinion "that the proof presented is a sufficient justification of the language used by Dr. Reamy." They also denounced the practice, and insisted that the profession is not responsible for the secret doings of unworthy and unscrupulous members. After a long debate the Academy adopted the report by a considerable majority. But what a light this revelation lets in upon the rottenness of society! There is no exceptional wickedness in this regard in Cincinnati, but it was there that Asmodeus happened to lift the roof.

—Ice is bought in Maine for $1.50 a ton, and sold in New York for 1 cent a pound; scarcely 1,400 per cent. profit.

—A marriage was broken up in Duluth by the young man making an unexpected call and finding the poodle dog playing with his true love's glass eye.

—A poet recently sent a song entitled "What Shall My Love Wear?" to an editor. The latter regarded the question wholly in its moral aspect, and sat down and wrote a kind but firm article, recommending her to wear clothes.

—The pilgrimage mania is spreading. A pious man of Boston took a neighbor's wife, and started off on one the other day.

—Ladies who take no particular pleasure in the looking-glass are easily recognized by the fact of their wearing a gauze veil over their faces, even on the hottest summer day.

—Milwaukee wisdom: "When you see a young couple late at night on the lake bank chewing and biting and eating each other, just let 'em alone. They are only fooling."

It is a Crime

To exhaust still further the vitality of an already feeble invalid with sharp evacuants and other strength-destroying medicines. No case of dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation, nervous weakness or periodic fever was ever cured in that way. What the debilitated sufferer needs is a remedy in which the properties of an invigorant, a stimulant, a mild aperient, a sedative, and a blood depurifier are combined, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the only preparation before the world in which these essential sanitary elements are united in the proportions necessary to overcome disease without prostrating the patient. This agreeable and potent vegetable elixir is in the truest sense of the word a restorative, for it restores the strength of the body, re-establishes functional regularity, enriches the degenerated blood, and clears the clouded brain.

HENDERSON & CO.,

ANNOUNCE THEIR

SPRING OPENING

— OF —

Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons.

The Largest Stock,
The Latest Styles,
The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

And five dollar Trimmed Hats will compare favorably with any ten dollar one in the city.

SASH RIBBONS, ... 25 cents per yard.
SILK TIES . . . . . 20 cents each.
FRAMES . . . . . 15 cents each.

The New Census.

Edwin H. Leslie, Benjamin M. Parker, Henry H. Ham, Jr., Frank W. Rand, Augustus Walden and Charles W. Shannon have been appointed by the Mayor and special committee of the City Government, to retake the census of the city, and will commence their duties on Monday morning, July 13. The name, age, sex, color and place of birth of each person is desired, with the street and number of dwelling house of each; and all good citizens are requested to co-operate with the census takers in this work, that the returns may be as nearly correct as possible. That our city is decaying, and losing its population, as the last national census made out, is not believed; and to do away with the injurious impression that such is the case the city proposes to take its own census. If the municipal census does not give at least a thousand more population than the national one credited us with, we shall be disappointed.

Arrival of the Faraday.

The long-looked-for cable steamer Faraday has at last arrived, having reached this coast on Thursday afternoon. Pilot boat No. 1, Wm. B. Randall, hailed her about two o'clock, a few miles to the eastward of the Shoals and after taking the huge steamer almost into Lower Harbor to leave Mr. Carl Siemens, the contractor, turned her about and steamed out to the cable buoy off the Shoals to pick up the cable and communicated to Torbay the news of her arrival in Portsmouth. Mr. Siemens reports having encountered very dense fogs between Torbay and Newfoundland, which hindered the work of laying the cable and occasioned the prolonged absence of the Faraday. The Ambassador, which was sent to look after the Faraday, has not been seen by the latter vessel, and she is now probably off the Halifax coast, altho' she has doubtless ere this heard of the safety of the vessel for which she is in search.

The Faraday will await the arrival of the Ambassador, which latter vessel will probable reach here in a day or two at the farthest. As soon as is practicable after the two uessels communicate with each other, the work of completing the laying of the western end of the cable will take place.

Mr. Poor, of the Oceanic hotel, has tendered the officials of the expedition a dinner, with a "hop" in the evening.

The Shakers' Creed.

The visit of the Shakers to this city (on Sunday, July 5th,) was an event of rare occurrence, and had the weather been favorable a crowd would have attended their proposed morning service at Beck's Grove, Sagamore Road, which would have rivalled that of a modern campmeeting. As it was, the meeting at Mechanics' Hall in the evening was so crowded that unoccupied standing room was eagerly sought for. The quaintness of the style of dress (especially that of the ladies) together with their modest earnestness gave a novelty to the services that was in pleasing contrast to the constrained and conventional style of our churchly way of dispensing the Gospel. The singularly pure and spiritual type of feature of the females gave a stronger testimony in favor of their goodness than any amount of words could declare, and while perhaps none of their hearers at the close of the exercises on Sunday evening inclined to adopt their style of living or embrace their faith, no one could deny that they are living witnesses of their profession, having their characters written upon their countenances.

Elder Blinn, one of the most prominent among the elders of this people, gave a very interesting (altho' too brief) exposition of Shakerism, commencing with the statement that they claimed to be the followers of Jesus Christ, not in a literal sense in the observing of the sacraments of the church in the ordinance of baptism and other rites upon which so much stress is placed by Protestants, but in a spiritual sense, by self-denial, celibacy, and a crucifixion of the lusts of the flesh, all of which war against the welfare of the soul, or in other words conflict with the spiritual progression of the human race. The mere washing of a man by immersing him in water or sprinkling a few drops upon him is of no practical good. It only answered as a symbol, or a testimony to the world that the convert had resolved to lead a new life. As far as its efficacy was concerned he might just as well go into a field of corn (as Jesus did) pluck the ears and appropriate them,—an act that we should nowadays call theft! The Elder claimed that the Bible is a good book and that he loved to read it, but he also stated that he loved his dictionary and spelling-book, both of which were as essential as the Bible. He believed in the law of Moses, and assured his hearers that if they were obliged to live as rigidly as those commandments compelled the Israelites to live, there would be much complaint, and an improvement in the physique of the present generation. Christ always paid due respect to the laws of Moses, and frequently referred his followers to the necessity of a proper observance of the Mosaic code.

The doctrine of the resurrection was discussed at some length in a forcible and somewhat humorous style. The quaint fun of the Elder peeped forth while he ridiculed the commonly accepted doctrine of the resurrection of the literal body, when that body had become entirely extinct, having in the economy of nature been absorbed by trees, plants, flowers, and vegetation generally, and even by man himself, who had so utilized the human bones by gathering them from battlefields and grinding them to powder, thereby producing phosphates which fertilized the grain that ultimately went to nourish the human body, —and so some men would have to be annihilated in order to get the original person together in shape to be resurrected! He argued that we spend too much money in building monuments and in otherwise beautifying our cemeteries, in memory of the dead, while the living are suffering around us for the lack of this wasted treasure.

The true resurrection, and that intended to be understood by Jesus and his apostles, is a coming up from the graves of selfishness, of lechery, debauchery and sin of all kinds into the pure life of love, chastity, temperance and good will to men.

Elder Blinn further stated that the Shakers warred against no man's religion, their mission being founded upon the peaceable fruits of righteousness as taught by Jesus. He closed by modestly assuring his audience that he never felt so humble and so little as when he stood up before a mixed assembly, many of whom might be and doubtless were far better educated than himself; yet he knew that his strength came from a knowledge that his was the true doctrine and that belief which if adhered to will transform the present selfish, lustful, pandemoniac condition of some of the present age into a life of peace, of love and joy in holiness.

One of the females followed, exhorting very fervently for some minutes, alluding in the course of her remarks, in very warm and complimentary terms, to the life of the Elder who had just spoken as being of a character that, to her personal knowledge, did not give the lie to his profession. We hope they will come again. R.

Laconics.

The individual who was ringing the Christian Shore bell not long after midnight on the morning of the 4th, was in the bell tower; and hearing steps coming rapidly up the stairs he at once divined that the police were coming to put a stop to the noise he was making and escort him to the Jefferson Market barracks. Not liking the prospect he took hold of the bell-clapper, stuck his feet up on one side of it and his head on the other, and pulled himself up into the bell, where he remained concealed until the officers left, when he slid down the lightning-rod and made tracks for home, or somewhere else. We don't vouch for the truth of this story, but tell the tale as 'twas told to us.

Mr. Samuel Rowe, of this city, is to be Sheriff of Rockingham county for a while.

The annual exhibition of the High School takes place this afternoon, commencing at half-past 2 o'clock. The number of tickets issued is necessarily limited, and many who wish to attend will in consequence be disappointed.

Maginley & Co's great menagerie and circus will give two exhibitions in this city to-morrow,—afternoon and evening. This combination drew large audiences during its long stay in Boston, and gave general satisfaction. It is the only menagerie we are like to have here this season.

At a regular meeting of Union Rebekah Degree Lodge, No. 3, I. O. O. F., held July 7th, the following officers were installed for the ensuing term by John H. Stickney, District Deputy Grand Master; J. H. Stickney, Noble Grand; Mary A. Blaisdell, Vice Grand; Amanda Holbrook, Recording Secretary; Lizzie A. Perkins, Financial Secretary; Rebekah C. Emery, Treasurer.

Mr. Kent's Speech.

[Concord Monitor.]

The speech of J. Horace Kent, of Portsmouth, in the House, Tuesday, was a well considered argumentative effort. There were passages of much eloquence; and no one could doubt but that every word he uttered came from the depths of an honest and thorough conviction. It was most fitting that one who has himself suffered from the temptation offered by the unrestricted sale of intoxicating liquors, should utter this manly and most earnest protest against a repeal of the present prohibitory liquor law. Although by no means a fanatic, Mr. Kent knows full well by experience as a moral suasionist that prohibition is a potent ally thereof.

—Chewing gum is so cheap at Waterbury, Conn., that a female seminary is to be established there.

—At an exhibition of one of the Albany schools, a few evenings since, the following conversation took place: Young lady to young gentleman—"That piece just played was by Wagner; wasn't it too lovely for anything?" Young gentleman to young lady—"Yes; and ain't his palace cars just gay?" The music of the future won't be played for him on her piano.

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commr of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of Ale Wort, for you, and have seen the practical working of McCormick's purifying process.

The usual proportion of decomposing matter (the germs of acetification and mould) which exist in wort as it comes from the malt and hops, and which is not visible, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the impurities, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. An Editor in a Fix.

[Keokuk Gate City.]

Mr. E. G. Morton, of the Monroe Monitor, is not only a good-looking man, but he has a kind of genial face, and there have been instances where he has been taken for what he is not. One day, three or four years ago, when he was on a visit to some friends in a little town in Iowa, he attended an evening prayer-meeting in their company. The deacon who was conducting the meeting had either received a hint that the visitor was a minister, or else he so imagined from the editor's face, and getting his name, he waited until after the opening hymn, and then called out,

"Brother Morton, will you lead in prayer?"

"Brother Morton" hasn't a single bad habit in the world, but that request struck him on a weak point. Some of the people knelt down, others looked to see why he didn't follow, and the editor wished he was buried in a well. The pause was painful, and finally, rendered desperate, he rose up and said:

"I'd—I'd do it in a minute, but—but I've got the toothache."

Some one else was nominated, but when they all got engaged the doctor crept softly out; and during the remainder of his visit he went to bed at sundown on prayer meeting nights.

—The Portland papers announced on the morning of the Fourth that there would be a concert in the Park by an Italian band. The musicians turned out to be ten organ grinders imported from Boston by certain playful Portlanders, by way of burlesque, because the aldermen refused to concur with the common council in appropriating money to celebrate the day. In the evening the Italians were carted around to serenade the aldermen. When they reached the house of one of the city fathers who had unwittingly subscribed five dollars toward the cost of the music, the laugh of the following crowd was loud and long.

—It was with some astonishment that the good people of Pittsburgh read in one of their own papers, "The legislature pasted the bill over the governor's head!"

—A Vermont debating club is now struggling with the question, "which eats the most chickens—ministers or owls?"

—An old lady advises young girls who want to remember a thing to write it down and paste it on the looking-glass.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 2. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for such refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

CRUMBS Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other is existence. OF COMFORT Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

CRUMBS Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used. OF COMFORT Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish. OF COMFORT In each box are 1 sticks; 1 stick is suffi cient for one stove thus all waste is saved

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS Have just taken the premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, OF COMFORT in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Bluing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry!

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing!

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA. DEBILITY. DROPSY AND RUMORS.

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills" simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one people but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured a wide reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long-continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well-founded, if taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic

CURING

are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Cathartics. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

DR. WALKER'S

CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflamation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always merely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair recovers its lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

Daily Chronicle.

A Promising Life Blasted.

[Courier-Journal.]

In the Courier-Journal of a few days since, the following telegram from Baltimore was published: "During a drunken brawl in the Sherwood House, early this morning, Berry Amos, aged thirty-five, a well-known gambler, was fatally stabbed, as he alleged, by Sam McDonald, who was arrested. McDonald is supposed to be here on a visit from Indiana. He formerly resided near Baltimore, and is the son of William McDonald, the millionnaire, former owner of Flora Temple." The young man who stands charged with this atrocious crime is well known in the West, and has many friends in this city. Never did a career open more brightly than his, and never was the inevitable end of unbridled dissipation more clearly fulfilled than in the brief paragraph we have given above. His fall from a high estate, far beyond the common, has been so headlong and rapid that a brief recital of its incidents will be of interest to general readers, and will serve to point a sad moral that cannot be too often inculcated, and will not come amiss to some of our own jeunesse doree.

The Baltimore papers, in chronicling the incidents of the crime, have but briefly alluded to the previous career of the alleged murderer. Some acquaintance with its salient features enables the writer to present the facts as given below. The murder seems to have been the natural sequence of four years of the most extraordinary dissipation.

Three men were drinking together in a Baltimore bar-room in the early hours of the morning, and after a night spent in debauch. One of them was a noted gambler of that city, Berry Amos, whom the local paper describes as a fine looking man; at least, so far as the animal part was concerned; tall, erect, broad-chested and muscular, with sturdy lower limbs, and brawny arms, and all well rounded, he presented to the eye the very personification of physical strength and manly vigor. Another was a boon companion, and the third was Sam McDonald. The first two were at the bar, taking a drink together, and the third suddenly arose from his chair, and stabbed the gambler to the heart. The murder is said to have been done out of mere wantonness. The murderer was besotted with liquor, and had a bowie knife in his pocket. Rising from his seat, in alcoholic delirium, he singled his victim out simply because he was the taller man of the crowd before him. There is said to have been no cause for quarrel between the two, and that it is not probable the drunken man cherished any malice whatever toward his victim or any other person in the party. Such are the circumstances of one scene in this life-drama of which we write; the next must be left to the records of the courts to tell, and of that which preceded the bloody tragedy in its course we may briefly allude to here.

Sam McDonald was the son of a very wealthy man in Baltimore, whose family occupied the highest social position in that city. He himself was sent abroad to be educated, and spent several years at one of the schools in England. While still abroad his father died, leaving his immense fortune to be divided between his son and a daughter, his only children. Young McDonald's portion was something over $500,000, and, with proper management, would soon have advanced very greatly in value. Shortly after his father's death, the young man attained his majority. The family residence, just out of Baltimore, was one of the most elegant in the country. Here, on the night of his twenty-first birthday, he gave a grand dinner to various friends in the city, and the celebration is said to have been carried out in style of almost unparalleled magnificence. The spacious grounds were ablaze with light, and a fountain ran champagne in the yard. The night closed with an orgie of wine drinking, in which an amazing quantity was consumed. Thus he started out upon a career of dissipation which has hurried him in four years—he is now but twenty-five—to the horrible tragedy of last Wednesday night.

Young McDonald at this age was an extraordinary specimen of manly beauty. He was over six feet tall, straight as an arrow, broad chested and muscular, yet as graceful and agile as an athlete. A wealth of flaxen hair and a broad forehead, deep blue eyes and a noble mouth, with features perfectly classic in their outline—he was a perfect type of the Anglo-Saxon. Add to this the exuberant spirits which always attend good health and that nameless magnetism which so few men possess, and the possession of which may be the best or the worst of God's gifts, he was a most enjoyable companion, the life of the social circle, and as much admired by men as he was adored by women. Shortly after he attained his majority he came to Terre Haute, Ind., on a visit. He returned to that pleasant city a few months afterward, bought him a farm in the vicinity, stocked it with the finest horses and cattle, and there inaugurated a series of dissipations which shocked the goodly little city to its centre.

He was soon ostracised from the society of the town, and direful stories are told of the excesses into which he then plunged. There were two gamblers from the East whom he had brought West with him, and it is said that there were still more disreputable companions of another sex who lived in the same house with him. From this rendezvous he would take frequent hunting excursions into the neighboring prairies of Indiana and Illinois, the return to be always celebrated by a debauch. Wine flowed like water in this hunting lodge, as he called it, and cards followed the wine on the table. It was said, by those who professed to know, that young McDonald spent over $150,000 the first year he lived in Terre Haute. Here he has since lived, and we are told that most if not all of his original patrimony has been squandered. It was on a visit to Baltimore that the last fatal tragedy was enacted.

Editorial Jottings.

CALDWELL, N. Y., July 8.

If the readers of the CHRONICLE could be surfeited with enjoyment so completly as the Press Association has been thus far on its annual excursion, they would be as little inclined to letter writing as any one among us. It is even a matter of sacrifice, while briefly sojourning in this delightful region, to yield to the ever-compelling sense of duty and dash off a few lines which can be descriptive of but a small portion of the attractions which go to make this the most enjoyable because the New Hampshire Association has made since its existence. The party centred at Concord, Monday, and in charge of its worthy President, P. B. Cogswell, who has looked after each member with an interest that it is a perplex to the fraternity to account for his life of "single-blessedness," proceeded on.

SCRIBE

THE MOST DELIGHTFUL TRIP

A ride of 59 miles to Concord, where the excursionists had two special cars for their accommodation which came through to Burlington, and a jaunt of 59 miles farther to White River Junction superinduced excellent appetite for the dinner at the Junction House, where the rotund Col. Barron was welcomed as heartily as were the strawberries which found room for. The trip to Burlington over the Vermont Central, 105 miles, afforded grand and picturesque views over which the traveller goes into ecstacies and has no time nor space to enlarge thereafter. Sixty ladies and gentlemen of the party, thirty of each, rendezvoused at the Van Ness House, arriving at six o'clock, P. M., and leaving in the Champlain, Tuesday morning, at eleven o'clock. Burlington is a city-fied town of about the population of Portsmouth, and a far greater area. Lake Champlain at this point is ten miles wide and the loom up in the distance, appearing not five miles away. Burlington thrives on the lumber trade, is a quiet place and is beautifully situated on a hill sloping to the lake. Some of its residences are elegant, and all have plenty of breathing room, being the rule rather than the exception. The chief needs of the city are good roads and sidewalks, which are sadly neglected because there are so many miles of streets that to keep them in good condition would necessitate a large outlay. Aside from this the tourist can recall nothing but agreeable impressions of Burlington.

LARGE GARDENS AND GROTTOES

The trip down Lake Champlain, 56 miles, was made at the rate of fifteen miles an hour, touching at Essex, Westport, Port Henry, Crown Point and Larabee's, before the arrival at Ticonderoga. The dinners on Lake Champlain boats are widely heralded, and the party was by no means disappointed. As for no one seemed to indulge in a thought of it, although the wind was blowing a half-gale from the south, "right in the eyes" of the steamer. Ticonderoga's historic ground, where that sturdy Vermonter, Ethan Allen, remarked that the first, whose ruins still stand, might as well surrender "in the name of Jehovah and the Continental Congress," attracted much attention. Farther along on a nearly level plateau is the battle-ground where Gen. Montcalm's 4000 French troops and Indians of 16,000 English troops, July 8, 1758, when the

WARMED AN ARMY

was but 21 months old.

The Indians were the allies of the French and fought effectively. Montcalm was killed at Quebec the following year. Some of the Ticonderoga earth-works remain undisturbed to this day and a large sign-board points out the locality where Abercrombie's attack was made and frustrated, his army retreating with

A LOSS OF 2000 MEN.

The points of interest increased as the coaches proceeded from the landing through the town of "Ti" and on to the upper extremity of lake George, four miles, where a miniature steamer with the happy name "Minnehaha" took on board of five score men, women and children as ever took passage on its placid waters. The "Minnehaha" is a slow-going vessel, however, and steers badly in a heavy wind. The excursionists did not complaim at the delay in reaching Caldwell, although it was nearly eight o'clock when the Fort William Henry Hotel came in sight. Lake George runs for about thirty miles nearly parallel with Lake Champlain, a strip of land four miles in width separating them. Lake George is 200 feet higher than Lake Champlain, and is

AS HAPPY A PARTY

STUDDED WITH DIMINUTIVE ISLANDS.

Each second of the boat's progress down the Lake changes greatly the enchanting views which abound. The scenery is unsurpassed. Gigantic hills and mountains surround the Lake, and the constantly increasing attractions afford ample scope for a very proper use of the adjectives already in reach of the enthusiastic student of nature who realizes the beauty of this most remarkable of popular resorts.

Coming down the Lake, just after passing the half-way islands, the caps of thunder-clouds began peeping over the hill-tops. The first observers began predicting a stormy day on the morrow, and there were plenty of cavillers. Later, as the steamer sped on, reinforcements were seen scaling the mountain-tops on the west till a seemed established—and the subject of a nearer season of moistness became debatable. Parallel with the course of the steamer was the general direction of the clouds, yet a semi-lateral motion brought the ring-leaders over the Lake. Far away the lightning flashed and the thunder rumbled as if an enraged lion had been loosed and was anxious to wreak vengeance. The thunder-heads were succeeded by dense masses of blue-black clouds driven up over the mountains, followed by a lighter and brassy colored collection which

BODED MISCHIEF.

The south wind died away and the birds hushed their songs. It seemed as if Nature had united in arranging a special attraction for the benefit of the N. H. P. A. The spectacle was a grand and solemn one, lacking in no element requisite for its proper enjoyment. The scene was as terrific as one could imagine were the

at hand! Soon the calm was succeeded by a westerly gale resembling a tornado, the smooth waters of the Lake were disturbed and white capped waves came flying across. The rain fell in torrents, and went nearly all the inhabitants of that little steamer. We had caught the edge of the shower and some of the ladies indicated their opinion that there was a sufficient quadtity for practical purposes. An hour of unrest, and then the scream of the whistle, the bang of a cannon and the music of a band gave notice of our approach to Caldwell.

FORT WILLIAM HENRY HOTEL was directly at our prow, with accommundations for 1500 weary travellers, and from eight o'clock last evening until three o'clock this afternoon has been our shelter. There are many who do not wish to leave its hospitable doors till Gabriel winds his horn, deeming Saratoga and the Hudson to such enchantment as this. Roessle & Son have cared for the party famously; and all declare their contentment to wrestle with their accommodations "for three years or during the war" unless sooner expelled.

P. S. This last is a joke which lightened the originator's pocket to the tune of forty-five cents. We close the "jottings" for the present with due solemnity.

The Legislature.

On Thursday, the Senate passed a lot of addresses for the removal of officials, and reconsidered the bill to prevent and punish bribery at elections.

In the House, the railroad corruption investigating committee reported that after full examination they found the evidence insufficient to sustain the charges made. [Mr. Adams of Manchester, whom Mr. Hutchinson of Milford charged with the attempt at bribery, flatly contradicted the statement, and the clerk of the Lowell & Nashua Railroad sent a sworn statement—which was read in the House by Mr. Sinclair—that Mr. Hutchinson had unsuccessfully applied for a free pass over that road. Somebody lied about something, somewhere. This railroad war has been really a fight between Bingham and Sinclair for the democratic leadership, and Sinclair has beaten, —so far.]

A motion to postpone the consolidation bill to next session was defeated,—157 to 158; and it was finally passed by 169 yeas to 149 nays.

The license bill came up on the question of its final passage, the result being announced as 137 yeas and 155 nays,—afterward corrected to 175 nays. Twenty-three democrats voted against the bill, and three republicans for it.

Mr. Emery of Portsmouth presented a resolution that members have pay for thirty-eight days, which was adopted.

In the evening there was the usual mock session.

On Friday both branches met at 8 o'clock. The Senate gave notice that they had postponed to next session the apothecaries bill.

The House refused to concur in the Senate amendments to the bribery bill, so it was lost. A vote of thanks to the Speaker—a bit of courteous humbug—was passed. At 10 o'clock the legislature was adjourned to the last Wednesday in May next.

Thank Providence!

Readables.

During a game of base ball in the suburbs of Memphis, Tenn., on the evening of the 8th, a negro man who was in the way of Peter Meath, the catcher, was ordered out of the way, to which he responded with an oath, and drawing a pistol fired at Meath, who ran to his coat, and, getting a pistol, returned the fire. Some half a dozen shots were fired in the melee that ensued, the negro firing at other members of the club. Finally he was shot in the back, and then beaten terribly.

A party of Kansas buffalo hunters had a five days' fight with a party of Indians by whom they were surrounded, near Cammaron river. Six whites and sixteen Indians were killed.

The Sidney (Australia) Herald of June 5, in giving the particulars of the loss of the iron clipper ship British Admiral on the west side of Kings Island, says: "Out of eighty-eight persons on board only nine survived to tell the tale. The captain and principal officers were lost. The British Admiral is the eighteenth vessel wrecked on Kings Island since 1840, and over 800 persons have perished on its shores."

William Harris, a man of seventy, and Miss Lizzie Martin, daughter of W. B. Martin of Easthampton, Mass., were waiting in a phaeton near the railroad crossing in that town on Wednesday night for a train to pass, when the horse suddenly leaped in front of the engine and both were fatally injured.

John Woods was found in the river at Saybrook, Conn., on Monday. There was a bullet mark in the head, and it is supposed that he was murdered and then thrown into the water. He was last seen on the Fourth.

While tearing down the Nathan mansion in New York, a night shirt, saturated with blood and bearing Mr. Nathan's name under the collar, was found stowed away in the dumb waiter. It is supposed to be the one he had on when murdered, and is in the hands of the police. No other evidences of the mysterious crime were discovered.

Six buildings were struck by lightning and partly burned, and two persons killed, in Pearsalls, Long Island, on Thursday.

A trifling irregularity of $20,000 or so has been discovered in the accounts of John P. Parker, late cashier of the First National Bank of New Bedford.

State News.

John Currier and Joseph Ruff were arrested Thursday for placing ties and rails upon the track of the Ashuelot Railroad below Winchester, a few days since, by which the entire train was thrown off. Ruff confesses that he was hired by Currier to do it for two dollars.

Rev. J. K. Aldrich, pastor of the Congregational church at Rye, was thrown from his carriage on Thursday though the horse taking fright and running away. The carriage was pretty thoroughly smashed and Mr. Aldrich badly bruised, though he escaped serious injury.

A Clerical Stump Speech.

A correspondent of the Concord Patriot, writing from Milford under date of July 4, says:

The Baptist clergyman here, as orator of the day, July 4th, in delivering his oration uttered the following: "Thank God that the State government, now in session at Concord, has cut off the heads of all the thieves and burglars in the State, and we hope that honest Christians will be put in their places. Thank God we are safe for one year at least."

We are loath to believe that any clergyman in this State could make such an ass of himself in public as according to the Milford correspondent of the Patriot the Milford clergyman did; but that paper is democratic, the correspondent we presume is of the same political faith, and it seems hardly probable the Milford minister of the Gospel—Heaven save the mark!—would be wrongfully charged by those parties with the utterance of such wretchedly-partisan balderdash as that quoted above. If the correspondent's statement is correct the Milford minister must be credited with having produced the most remarkable mixture of "false witness against thy neighbor" and politico-religious twaddle, on record; and it proves that the State government did not "cut off the heads" of all the idiots in the State, whatever may have been done with the thieves and burglars. But why should the Milford spouter be so anxious to have "honest Christians" put in all the offices? Don't he want an office himself?

—Victor Hugo appeared at Janin's funeral, but would not follow to the cemetery, because the funeral was religious. This is as intolerant as the other side.

—Real bawl dresses—Baby clothes.

—When South Carolina papers talk about "the wicked Cain," they do not mean the great traveller who contracted a matrimonial alliance in the land of Nod, but their Congressman.

—The New York Tribune has the hydrophobia bad. It produces cuts of the disease in various stages, drawn and engraved by artists with the hydrophobia or the jim-jams. The most striking picture is that of a dog's face during the various stages of the disease, in which it becomes horribly distorted.

—Two St. Louis editors are said by a Cincinnatian to be disputing as to which of them is the "oldest citizen." One of them says, in answering to the other: "The 'writer' referred to was living in Missouri, while yet the editor of the Despatch was boring gimlet holes for wheat culture in the granite hills of the paternal New Hampshire farm, ere his silvery voice had wooed a rural congregation to slumber while he preached Swedenborgianism to a lost and ruined world, and ere he soaked his clothes in butternut to more fitly qualify himself for the editorship of a democratic organ in Dubuque."

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

To exhaust still further the vitality of an already feeble invalid with sharp evacuants and other strength-destroying medicines. No case of dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation, nervous weakness or periodic fever was ever cured in that way. What the debilitated sufferer needs is a remedy in which the properties of an invigorant, a stimulant, a mild aperient, a sedative, and a blood depurient are combined, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the only preparation before the world in which these essential sanitary elements are united in the proportions necessary to overcome disease without prostrating the patient. This agreeable and potent vegetable elixir is in the truest sense of the word a restorative, for it restores the strength of the body, re-establishes functional regularity, enriches the degenerated blood, and clears the clouded brain.

The Cable Steamer

Faraday left Portsmouth on the 10th of June and went to Halifax to take in coal, thence to Torbay to make preparations for landing the end of the Nova Scotia and Newfoundland section of the New Atlantic Cable. While at Torbay it was found that there was a slight irregularity in the electrical tests, indicating the existence of a small flaw in the cable laid to New Hampshire. It was decided to remove this flaw before returning to Portsmouth; the cable was grappled for and successfully recovered from a depth of six hundred fathoms at a place about 250 nautical miles from Torbay. The piece of cable containing the flaw was taken on board, and after removal of the flaw the electrical tests proved the cable to be perfect; it was then joined together again and consigned to the bottom of the sea. The flaw when cut out and examined proved to be a small injury to the gutta percha core, caused by some pointed instrument having penetrated the cable from the outside. The operations were greatly delayed by the prevalence of dense fogs, which compelled the Faraday to remain inactive for more than a fortnight after leaving Torbay.

On arriving here, Thursday, the Faraday's officers first learned (from the pilot) that the Ambassador had gone in search of her consort; and after the landing of Mr. Carl Siemans to telegraph to Halifax, the Faraday picked up the cable's end off the Shoals, and enquired of the operators at Torbay if the other steamer had been there, receiving an immediate answer that she had not yet been seen. Instructions were returned to Torbay, to be delivered to the captain of the Ambassador on his arrival there, to bring back the shore end of the New Hampshire section of the cable with all convenient dispatch. At the time of telegraphing, the Torbay people announced that they were enjoying a brief respite from fog, though a fog-bank was then approaching to put Torbay out of sight again, as usual. The Faraday returned to her moorings in the lower harbor at about 10 o'clock Thursday evening.

On Friday a party proceeded to Rye Beach to lay the under-ground section of the cable, from the instrument-house to the water line, which was successfully completed.

The High School Exhibition.

The annual exhibition of the High School was given on Friday afternoon, commencing at half-past 2 o'clock. There being but one exhibition for both boys' and girls' departments, this year, the number of interested visitors was very large; yet the number of disappointed ones was larger still, the size of the schoolhouse necessitating a limit to the number of tickets issued. The programme for the occasion was as follows:

MUSIC, "Greeting," Duet and Chorus, SCHOOL.

1. Salutatory, "Thought and Action," Chas. F. Shillaber.
2. Essay, "American Literature," Miss Mary A. Cartledge.
3. Recitation, "Curfew shall not ring to-night," Miss Mary Gay Goodrich.
4. Essay, "Modern Education," Edwin B. Rundlett.
5. Essay, "The Stars," Miss Lizzie H. Marston.

MUSIC, "All Together," SCHOOL.

6. Essay, "Silent Influences," Miss Abbie H. Langley.
7. Declamation, "Eulogy on Debt," W. E. Bartlett.
8. Essay, "Try Again," Miss Clara A. Hazel.
9. Recitation, "The Day is Done," Miss Mary L. Varrell.
10. Dialogue, "The Direct Atlantic Cable," Fourth Class of Young Gentlemen.

PIANO DUET, "La Chasse Infernale." MISSES FREEMAN.

11. Essay, "The Starry Heavens," Miss Lizzie M. Brackett.
12. Prose Rendering, "Dachel at the Well," Miss Olarvar Johnson.
13. Essay, "The Haunted House," Miss Emma L. Hayes.
14. Prose Rendering, "Morgan Stanwood," Miss Sarah M. Ayers.
15. Recitation, "Moise Sauve des Eaux," Miss Nellie M. Freeman.
16. Declamation, "New England Common Schools," Willis W. French.
17. Allegory, "The War of the Roses," Fourth Class of Young Ladies.
18. Essay, "How to use the Tongue," Mark E. Noble.
19. Essay, "Fashion," Miss Maybel Moses.

23. Essay, "Autumn Scenery," Miss Alice I. Freeman.
24. Oration, "The Dignity of Labor," Frank H. Neal.
25. Essay, "Education," Miss Nellie C. Moores.

MUSIC, "Scatter the Gems of the Beautiful," SCHOOL.

26. Valedictory, "From one School to Another," Miss Willimaetta Conn.

MUSIC, "CHARITY," SCHOOL.

AWARD OF MEDALS.

PRESENTATION OF DIPLOMAS.

MUSIC, "AMERICA." All are invited to join in singing.

The following is a list of the graduates of the school:

Four years course.—Sarah Melissa Ayers, Lizzie Mercie Brackett, Mary Alice Cartledge, Williametta Conn, Alice Isabella Freeman, Ellen March Freeman, Mary Gay Goodrich, Emma Lizzie Hayes, Clara Augusta Hazel, Laura Emma Morrill Hodgdon, Olarvar Johnson, Abbie Hannah Langley, Lizzie Holmes Marston, Nellie Cooper Mooers, Mabel Moses, Mary Lizzie Varrell, Willis Walton French, Frank Herbert Neal, Mark Elwyn Noble, Frank Wendell Pray, Edwin Bennett Rundlett, Charles Francis Shillaber.

Three years course,—Charles Sumner Austin, Wallace Elma Bartlett, Caleb Norris Lord, Edwin Wilbur Emery.

The Haven medals were awarded as follows:

Second year—For diligent application, good deportment, and general improvement in all the studies pursued, to Emma L. Church, Emma F. Johnson, Albert H. Baker and Edward H. Hall.

Third year—For book-keeping and mathematics, Carrie G. Neil and Frank H. Thompson; for diligent application, etc., Nellie E. Rand, Mary E. Stewart and J. Warren Davis; best scholar in English composition, Edwin W. Emery.

Fourth year—For diligent application, etc., Williametta Conn, Abbie H. Langley, Lizzie H. Marston and Nellie M. Freeman; English composition, Mary A. Cartledge; Latin, Charles F. Shillaber; mathematics, Edwin B. Rundlett; diligent application, etc., Mark E. Noble, Frank W. Pray.

"Good conduct taken into account" in awarding all the medals.

The essay of Miss Hazel was mentioned by the committee as being remarkable for its gracefulness and beauty of style. Miss Sarah M. Ayers has not been absent from school during the course of four years! Each of these young ladies was presented with a book, purchased by the committee at their own expense.

The consolidation of management of the High Schools, by which Mr. Stephen W. Clark was placed in charge, with Miss Sarah C. Bailey as Principal of the Girls' School, took effect about the middle of last May; and as all changes of school management are attended with more or less friction, this was considered at the time as an embarrassment and a movement which although in itself wise and proper yet might conflict somewhat with the success of the annual exhibition. But we have attended many of these gatherings and are free to admit that we could discern no evidence of interruption in the great work of teaching the young idea. The girls, or rather the young ladies, looked very pretty, especially the graduating class, who were duly adorned for the occasion. Again, we shall repeat our protest against this rivalry in the matter of dress at these exhibitions. It is useless and absurd, and we trust a graduating class may sometime be forthcoming who will be independent enough to introduce a reform in this direction, by appearing in a simple, modest attire that will be in keeping with that of the young men, who now present a queer contrast to those of the opposite sex.

The order of exercises was necessarily lengthy, but owing to the unusually convenient arrangements of Mr. Clark, the visitors were not uncomfortable and patiently sat it out. The sandwiching of the talent of the two sexes made a pleasant variety and afforded the auditors a good opportunity to judge of their comparative merits. The essays were especially good, all of them being original; and from some of them, now and then, a thought was thrown out that would reflect credit upon more mature minds.

A very clever bulesque by six young gentlemen, entitled the "Direct Atlantic Cable," was rendered in an easy, pleasant manner thoroughly in keeping with the spirit of the piece. Some sharp personal hits were made, which were received with considerable applause. A recitation in French, entitled "Moise Suave des Eaux," was well delivered, the pronunciation being careful and easy. The Allegory, "The War of Roses," was very pretty,—made so by the graduating class, who were well prepared, and acquitted themselves in an easy and graceful manner.

We must devote particular attention to the essay on "Fashion," because we thought we discerned in it a kindly thrust at the unfortunate reporter who "did" the Girls' High School Exhibition last year, in an allusion to the matter of dress, as referred to above. Without replying to her arguments here we feel constrained to compliment the young lady on her success in producing and well reciting an article on "fashion." It showed originality and a pleasant departure from the more sober and sentimental productions that preceeded and followed her.

"The Charcoalman" was well recited. The Valedictory was well written and remarkably well delivered, and we congratulate the author on the excellent style in which she acquitted herself; also, at the risk of being invidious, we must commend her taste in costume on this occasion. We allude to it particularly, because it will explain our idea of what is proper and fitting as a style of dress at such a time.

Remarks were made by Rev. Dr. Wm. H. Alden, Rev. A. C. Hardy, Prof. Frost, Rev. Mr. Goss, Ex-Mayor Marvin, and Collector Shannon. Herry C. Barnabee, Esq., was called up and he reluctantly responded by a song entitled "The Patent Arm," which kept the audience in a roar of laughter during its recital.

In closing, we cannot refrain from congratulating the school:—and that portion of the public interested in them—on their good fortune in securing a management that promises much for the future. Mr. Clark, the Principal in charge, is a gentleman of abilities and culture, and stands A 1 in his profession. His able coadjutor, Miss Sarah C. Bailey, Precepress of the Girls' School, is a lady of education and accomplishments, whose services the committee were fortunate in securing. And for her modest but thoroughly competent assistant, Miss Kate N. Hooper, a word of praise is deserved. So with this trio of teachers, so able and faithful, we predict a standing for our High Schools second to none in the State.

City Council.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, the committee on streets reported on petition of J. S. Hunt and others, for opening Mt. Vernon street to South Millpond, recommending that the petitioners have leave to withdraw; the report was adopted.

Voted, That the Police vacation be left with the Mayor and City Marshal.

Antoinette Brown's complaint of Wm. Sewell's pig was received, and it was Voted, That the City Marshal be directed to remove the pen complained of. Also to remove a similar nuisance on the Styles property in High street.

Committee on accounts reported bills approved by them to the amount of $4770.29, which were ordered to be paid. Same committee reported without recommendation a number of bills the principle of which were, from Samuel W. Moses, $33.50; Samuel A. Spinney, three bills amounting to $134.33; pay roll extra police $13; Robert N. Anderson $13; William H. Foster $26.50; Iohabod Goodwin $16.05; all which were ordered to be paid. D. G. Hanscom's bill, $3.12, was referred to committee on claims.

Bond of Joseph P. Morse as constable was accepted and approved.

Voted, That the City Clerk inform the City Marshal that no bills will be paid for horse hire for police except on written order of Mayor.

Voted, That the City Clerk draw up a petition to the Board of Engineers respecting Came's building and Cotton building.

Voted, That the City Marshal be directed to remove obstructions from Mt. Vernon street.

Voted, That the Committee on School Houses be authorized to alter the stairway and make two additional rooms in Haven School House.

"The Circus"

Always draws a good audience in the afternoon and a crowd in the evening, in this city, and probably Maginley & Co.'s big circus, museum, menagerie and school of trained animals will be no exception to the general rule. The establishment will be here to-day and give two shows—afternoon and evening; and fifty cents will admit to all departments of the exhibition. An elephant weighing over six tons, and a tame rhinoceros, "broken to saddle," are unique attractions, and with the hippodrome should give a satisfactory return for the expenditure of a half dollar. The show drew large audiences during the whole of its long stay in Boston, and we have seen nothing in any of the Boston papers to indicate that more is promised in the advertisement than is performed in the tents. For a more full account of the attractions offered see advertisement.

Laconics.

The fifteen cents additional to tariff rates between all stations on the Eastern railroad, without regard to distance, as has been published, does not affect those persons who purchase tickets at the stations, and applies only to those purchasing in the cars. In other words fares are fifteen cents higher when paid in the cars than if tickets are purchased at the railroad stations.

Baggage masters Alonzo Bedell, John Gilman and John Leavitt of the Eastern Railroad have been promoted to positions as conductors.

Deputy Sheriff Libbey, of Augusta, Me., arrived in this city Thursday morning with a warrant for the arrest of James Higgins, who was bound over in the sum of $200 a short time since on a charge of fornication. It will be remembered that at the time of his arrest a large amount of scrip and postage stamps was found in his possession. The warrant charges him with breaking and entering the stores of Moses S. Mayhew and Albion P. Cram, of Mt. Vernon, Me., on the night of June 9th. The property found in his possession exactly corresponds with a description of that taken from those parties.

The Concord Monitor of Thursday says: "The Portsmouth train, this morning, carried out four car loads of the Concord Odd Fellows with their wives and children. The party will go out to the Shoals and return at the usual hour in the evening. Under such auspices the success and enjoyability of the expedition is beyond doubt, for those whom salt water agrees with. To some, such a mere sniff of sea air would be an aggravation, but better a little than none."

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of Ale Wort, for you, and have seen the practical working of McCormick's purifying process.

The small proportion of nitrogenous matter (the germs of acetification and mould) which exist in wort as it comes from the malt and hops, and which is not visible, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the impurities, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. An Electrified Stove.

[Virginia Enterprise.]

During the past three nights the engineers and machinists at the round-house of the Virginia and Truckee Railroad Company, in this city, have been in a state of lively excitement about some strange electrical disturbances which have occurred there regularly every night. For three nights all hands have been engaged in trying to solve the mystery, but have only partially succeeded. The company erected a large smokestack, which rises to a considerable height above the roof of the round-house. At the base this smokestack is spread out in the shape of a tunnel. It was built in order that the locomotives may stand under it to cool off when they come in off the road, and also while being fired up in the morning. Into the side of this smokestack, three or four days ago, was run a stovepipe from a stove standing in a room about forty feet distant. It is about this stove that the electrical disturbances take place. The first that was observed of these was about 11 o'clock, four nights since, when P. Pippingham, a well known machinist, approached the stove for the purpose of putting a stick of wood into it. As the stick neared the stove he received such a shock that it fell from his hand and his arm was benumbed. He at first thought he had taken a sudden cramp in his arm. In trying again to put the wood in the stove he received a second shock. This time he observed a flash and heard a sharp snap which he at once recognized as a discharge of electricity. They tried all manner of experiments and found that the stove was fully and heavily charged with electricity, it giving out sparks and flashes when a piece of iron, steel, wood or the naked hand approached it. After an hour or two the phenomenon ceased. The next day nothing was seen of it; but the next night about 11 o'clock, shortly after a locomotive came in and stopped under the funnel of the smokestack, the stove was again charged and began snapping and crackling, sending out sparks and flashes on all sides. So it has been every night since. They now know that the heated locomotive causes this electrical display, but in just what way is that which is still puzzling them.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores on Saturday night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers, and by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for carrying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

CRUMBS Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence. OF Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish. COMFORT

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

CRUMBS Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used. OF Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing COMFORT furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish. OF In each box are 1 stick; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove. Thus all waste is saved COMFORT

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition. OF In competition with several of the best old stove polishes. COMFORT

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Bluing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing!

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong,

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an article as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, from the blood, and carries it to the child, simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.
